2021 COLORADO FOOTBALL SEASON NOTES

RELEASE NUMBER 13 (Updated January 20, 2022)

CUBUFFS.COM

BUFFALO BITS ...

The Colorado Buffaloes closed out their 132nd season of intercollegiate football with a 4-8 record, which included a 3-6 mark in Pac-12 play (tying for fourth in the South Division) ... Looking at preliminary numbers for next season, Colorado at present will return 56 lettermen for 2022 (24 offense, 29 defense, three specialists), including 11 starters (six on offense, five on defense); six others with significant starting experience will also return, as will 26 others with meaningful game experience. The Buffs lose 33 who lettered in 2021 (18 offense, 13 defense, two specialists) ... Thus far, Colorado has had 19 players enter the transfer portal after the regular season concluded (joining three that did so before the season came to a close; list on page 76) ... The Buffaloes played seven bowl teams in 2021 (combined record of 60-31, as six of the seven had at least eight wins) ... Colorado finished its 98th season in the history of Folsom Field in 2021; the stadium's 100th anniversary is in the near future (first game was on Oct. 11, 2024) ... Colorado was 4-2 at home in 2021, averaging 46,484 per game, which was 92.6 percent of Folsom's capacity (50,183) ... Spring football dates are tentatively set, with the first practice on March 30 and the spring game on April 23 ... The Pac-12 will release the 2022 conference schedules on Thursday; CU's has five home league games plus TCU in non-conference play (the first-ever game between the two); in addition, CU will play at Air Force for the first time since 1974 and at Minnesota for just the second time (the first was in 1992 at the now demolished Metrodome, CU's only regular season game in a dome) ... Other '22 schedule highlights will include Oregon to visit Folsom for the first time since 2015 and California for the first visit since 2017; CU hasn't traveled to Oregon State since 2017 and to Washington (2018) ... CUBuffs.com/media is all things Buff (on-line media guide, game notes, live stats, etc.).

STAT(S) OF THE YEAR

Turnovers & Interception Marks Set. CU shattered the school mark for fewest turnovers in a season with just seven (four lost fumbles, three interceptions); the old low was way back in 1956 (11; five fumbles, six picked). Also set was a school best for fewest interceptions thrown with just three, topping the previous low of four in 1994. The latter was set with more attempts: CU had 269 passing attempts this season compared to 256 in 1994. Thus, records were also set for lowest interception percentage by the team (0.11) and an individual (QB Brendon Lewis, 3 in 257, 0.12, besting QB Kordell Stewart's '94 number, 0.13).
► The seven turnovers tied for the fewest in the nation in 2021 (with Toledo), as did the three interceptions thrown.

Going other ways for a TD. Colorado had four touchdowns by return in 2021 — the most since four in 2016 — as they came four different ways: blocked punt, interception, fumble and kickoff (all adding to 274 total yards). The four in 2016 — two fumble, one punt, one pick — added to 118 yards. CU had five in 2013 (two interception, two fumble, one on-side kick), otherwise you have to go back to 2004 to find more (six, three pick-sixes, two punt, one fumble).

OBSCURE NOTE OF THE YEAR

Last & First & Back-to-Back. At Utah, PK Cole Becker made a 56-yard field goal as time ran out, and then on the opening second half kickoff, CB Nikko Reed returned it 100 yards for a touchdown (it amounted to 10 points in 15 seconds). Limited, yet exhaustive research indicates this is the first time CU scored on two touches that bookended halftime, going back to at least 1978. In 2021 against Arizona State, the Buffs scored a field goal with 13 seconds left in the first half and then scored a TD on its first second half possession, doing so for the first time since the 2019 season opener against CSU where the Buffs scored on their last first half and first second half drives.

EIGHTY-THREE PLAYERS LETTER IN 2021

Colorado had 83 players earn letters in 2021; they break down into 40 offensive players, 39 defensive players and 4 specialists; 22 players lettered for the first time. There are generally five ways a player has lettered historically at Colorado since the platoon era: participate in 100 plays (scrimmage snaps plus special teams; this was waived back in the 90s in favor of if they appeared for at least one play in one game); possess a special skill—punter/kicker/special teams; be a true freshman (or JUCO) who gave up his redshirt year for the benefit of the team (unless injured and can get a medical redshirt); being lost for the season due to injury without a redshirt year available; or be a senior in good academic standing. The 2018 NCAA redshirt rule will apply to the 2021 season (where it allows players to appear in up to four games and still earn a redshirt season if they have one available to them), many players will now letter five times. The 2021 lettermen (seniors/juniors graduating listed in bold; *—played in four or fewer games with a redshirt year available; ^—entered the transfer portal after the end of the season):

SANFORD NAME OFFENSIVE COORDINATOR

Mike Sanford, a veteran of 17 seasons as a college coach in assorted positions including six as an offensive coordinator, was named the latter for CU, head coach Karl Dorrell announced on Dec. 17. Sanford, 39, comes to Colorado from the University of Minnesota, where he was the Gophers' offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach for the last two seasons. His vast resume includes personally coaching almost every position at one time or another on offense, in addition to experience as a recruiting coordinator and two years as a head coach (at Western Kentucky). He has coached and/or recruited numerous players who have earned All-America honors and have gone on to play professionally in the National Football League.

He is returning to his western roots; he was a star quarterback at Los Alamitos High school (south of Los Angeles), lettered at quarterback at Boise State and has previously coached at his alma mater, Utah State and Stanford. He knows the west well, and as the recruiting coordinator for the Cardinal, he coordinated the school's 2012 class that was ranked first in the Pac-12 and fifth in the nation by Rivals.com.

He has also coached at Notre Dame, Yale and UNLV, and along the way has been on the coaching staffs of some of the most respected and successful coaches in the business including P.J. Fleck, Brian Kelly, David Shaw, Jim Harbaugh, Gary Andersen, Bryan Harsin, Willie Taggart and his father, Mike Sanford, Sr.; his offensive coordinator and position coach in college was Chris Petersen. All have had prolific offenses at one time or another.

He has had significant influence in developing offensive skill position players throughout his career. Those have included quarterbacks DeShone Kizer and Ian Book (Notre Dame), Kevin Hogan (Stanford), Jordan Love (Utah State), Ryan Finley and Grant Hedrick (Boise State) and Mike White and Brandon Doughty (Western Kentucky), receivers Ty Montgomery (Stanford), Will Fuller, Chase Claypool and Equanimeous St. Brown (Notre Dame), running backs Steffan Taylor and Tyler Gaffney (Stanford), Jay Ajayi (Boise State) and tight end Durham Smythe (Notre Dame).

Among his top recruits were running back Christian McCaffrey, who he helped land at Stanford prior to moving on to Boise State for his first coordinator position; quarterbacks Ian Book Phil Jurkovec, receiver Jacon McKinley and guard Aaron Banks (Notre Dame) and quarterback Brett Rypien (Boise State). And also at Stanford, as an offensive staff assistant early in his career and with no full-time quarterback coach on the staff at the time, he was instrumental in the recruitment and early development of Andrew Luck.

"Mike's extensive experience and pedigree speaks for itself," Dorrell said. "What attracted me to him was his familiarity with the Pac-12 and this part of the country, his coaching experience, success as a coordinator and developing players over his career. His journey through the profession has been solid, yet he is still a fairly young coach with great coaching experience at the Power 5 level. He has worked under some of the best in the business, has great knowledge of offensive football and in our discussions, has a great vision for Colorado football."

"The Colorado football program as well as the university itself stands for everything I value," Sanford said. "My family and I could not be more excited to return to our roots out west in Pac-12 country. The University of Colorado has been a dream destination of mine since I was a kid growing up in California in the early Nineties. I have the highest level of respect for Karl Dorrell as a football coach and for the man of integrity that he is. We will work tirelessly to build a championship offense that will make the CU family proud."

Though born in Lexington, Va., he considers himself to be a native of Seal Beach, Calif., as his family moved there before he was a year old. He was recruited out of Los Alamitos High School to Boise State, where he earned his bachelor's degree in Political Science in 2005. He is married to the former Anne-Marie Mitchell and they have two sons (Gunnar, Griffin) and one daughter (Peyton). He began his coaching career in 2005 at UNLV as a graduate assistant, with his first full-time job at Yale in 2009; as a full-timer, he has coached in 159 games, 149 in the Football Bowl Subdivision (FBS).

DeVAN NAMED OFFENSIVE LINE COACH

Kyle DeVan, who has offensive line coaching and playing experience both in college and the National Football League, was named offensive line coach at Colorado, head coach Karl Dorrell announced on Dec. 21. DeVan, 36, comes to Colorado from the University of Michigan, where he was an offensive analyst this fall, working particularly with the offensive line. He helped create weekly game plans for the run game, protection plans in the passing game, and worked with the coaches on game day field adjustments.

At Michigan, he worked closely with co-offensive coordinator and line coach Sherrone Moore. The Wolverines saw all five starting linemen earn some kind of All-Big Ten honors (one first-team, two second-team and two honorable mention), not easy to accomplish in a 14-team league with about 70 players competing for 15 spots. Right tackle Andrew Steuber earned second-team All-American honors, and center Andrew Vastardis was a second-team Academic All-American.

The Michigan line itself was just named Tuesday as the recipient of the Joe Moore Award, which is presented to the nation's top offensive line. When it announced the finalists, the committee noted of the Wolverines, "This group plays old school football with a physical edge. They faced stacked boxes as much as any group in the country, but still run with solid efficiency. They're the type of group that engulfs and prevents penetration, TFL's (tackles for losses) are rare and they adjust to the blitz well. They seem to play their best ball in the fourth quarter when it matters most."

The Wolverines are averaging 451.9 yards and 37.7 points per game on offense, while allowing only 10 quarterback sacks – the third-fewest in the nation – and 27 tackles for loss, easily the national low. Their running backs were stopped behind the line of scrimmage for only 40 negative yards as Michigan led the Big Ten and is 10th in the NCAA in rushing (223.8 yards per game).

"Kyle came highly recommended to me by several people," Dorrell said. "He is a rising up-and-comer in the coaching ranks, has a great personality and a lot of energy, and is someone his players enjoy playing for. He knows the Pac-12 from being a player and coach, and also has five years of NFL experience he brings to the position. He will be a great addition to our staff."

Dorrell actually coached against him three times when he was the head coach at UCLA (2003-07), the same seasons that DeVan was a center at Oregon State, where he played in 49 games, including 38 starts.

"I am really excited to be joining the Colorado football family, and I want to especially thank Karl Dorrell, (athletic director) Rick George and (CU Boulder chancellor) Phil DiStefano," DeVan said. "It will be special for my family and I to join the Pac-12 conference once again, where I have so many memories as a player and coach. I do want to thank (Michigan head coach) Jim Harbaugh and (athletic director) Warde Manuel for the opportunity they gave me and for my time here at Michigan."

As for what he foresees for CU's offensive line he said, "I want a (offensive line) room full of players who play smart, fast and physical. And above all, we will be a tough unit. It all starts in the trenches."

YOUNGINS'

With the NCAA granting all student-athletes an extra year of eligibility due to the COVID-19 pandemic, along with the 2018 rule where if you played four games or less, you don't lose a year, the number of underclassmen nationally skyrocketed. Of the 120 players on CU's opening 2021 roster, 68 were freshmen (42 first-year, 16 second-year, 10 third-year); when adding in 21 sophomores, that's added to 90 underclassmen. There were just 4 seniors in their final year of eligibility, with the other 3 graduate transfers (two of whom have one year of eligibility left). CU tied for the second-fewest seniors/graduates in the nation:

FEWEST SENIORS IN THE FBS IN 2021: BYU 3, Colorado 7, Northern Illinois 7, Oregon 7, Central Michigan 8, Old Dominion 9, Louisiana 10, Middle Tennessee 10, UConn 10, Utah 11, Southern Miss 12, Bowling Green 13, Georgia Tech 13.

SO'OTO HIRED AS DEFENSIVE LINE COACH

Karl Dorrell announced on December 30 that he has hired Vic So'oto to his staff as defensive line coach. So'oto, 34, is joining the CU program from the University of Southern California, where he coached the Trojan's defensive line the past two seasons (and the outside linebackers last fall) and was one of USC's top recruiters.

"Vic is an impressive young coach," Dorrell said. "He is a great communicator, teacher and developer who relates very well with his players. His body of work speaks volumes, and I know our players will gravitate to his teaching style."

"I am excited to become a part of Karl's staff at Colorado," So'oto said. "Teaching and building are my passions and I can't wait to get started in Boulder."

So'oto, who played three years in the National Football League, coached defensive lines on the FBS level the last five seasons, two at Southern California and three at Virginia. A fast-riser in the profession, he earned his first full-time position just two years after retiring from professional football.

In 2020, he coached defensive lineman Marlon Tuipulotu, who earned first-team All-Pac-12 honors and went on to be drafted in the sixth round by the Philadelphia Eagles; two others earned All-Conference accolades, Drake Jackson (second-team) and Nick Figuroa (honorable mention). Another of his players, Tuli Tuipulotu, was named a 2020 second-team Freshman All-American and was a first-team All-Pac-12 performer as a sophomore in 2021, when Jackson repeated as a second-teamer. He also recruiting and signed who many rated as the nation's top recruit, defensive lineman Korey Foreman from Corona, Calif., in USC's 2021 class.

In his three years (2017-19) coaching Virginia's defensive line under head coach Bronco Mendenhall (his college head coach as a player), UVA's defense ranked high nationally in several statistical categories. In 2019, when the Cavaliers won the Atlantic Coast Conference's Coastal Division and earned a berth against Florida in the Orange Bowl, UVA was ninth nationally in sacks (3.3) and 22nd in tackles for loss (7.1). In 2018, Virginia was 20th in the NCAA in total defense (330.5) and 21st in scoring defense (20.1), as well as 12th in passing efficiency defense (107.6) and 16th in pass defense (183.0). Virginia defeated South Carolina in the Belk Bowl, 28-0, the first time an SEC team was shut out in a bowl by a non-SEC school since 1975. In 2017, UVA's pass defense was seventh in the nation (165.8) when the Cavaliers lost to Navy in the Military Bowl.

So'oto began his coaching career as a defensive graduate assistant at Virginia in 2016, where he took postgraduate courses in Business Administration. In 2015, he was a football intern at Brigham Young, his alma mater, when the Cougars finished 9-4 and played rival Utah in the Las Vegas Bowl.

So'oto was a four-year (2005-07-09-10) letterman at BYU where he began his career as a tight end and finished his final three seasons on defense (linebacker and defensive end); he earned first-team All-Mountain West honors as a senior. During his career, he suffered two season-ending injuries (in 2006 and 2008) and was granted a sixth year of eligibility by the NCAA. He had 12 receptions for 124 yards on offense, and on defense, he recorded 65 tackles (16 for losses including six quarterback sacks), along with two forced fumbles and an interception. He earned his bachelor's degree in Geography from BYU in 2010.

So'oto played linebacker in the NFL, signing as an undrafted free agent with the Green Bay Packers, where he spent the better part of two seasons (2011-12). He also played with the Oakland Raiders (2012), Washington Redskins (2012) and Arizona Cardinals (2013). At Green Bay, two of his teammates included former Buffaloes Mason Crosby and Brad Jones. He also was picked up briefly by the New Orleans Saints in 2013 and Pittsburgh Steelers in 2014, but did not make the regular season roster.

A second cousin of the late Pro Football Hall of Fame linebacker Junior Seau, he played football and volleyball at Carlsbad (Calif.) High School. He is married to the former Ashley Moea'i, and the couple has five children, daughters Fia and Ave, and sons Tre, Samson and Mack. He was selected by the American Football Coaches Association to its 2020 35 Under 35 Coaches Leadership Institute. (Last name is pronounced so-oh-toe)

CHANCE JOINS STAFF AS CORNERBACKS COACH

On December 31, Karl Dorrell announced the addition of Rod Chance to his staff as the Buffaloes' new cornerbacks coach. Chance, 37, wrapped up two seasons as cornerbacks coach at the University of Oregon on Wednesday night in the Valero Alamo Bowl against Oklahoma. He first crossed paths with Dorrell at Vanderbilt University in 2014, when he was in defensive quality control and Dorrell the Commodores' offensive coordinator.

"Rod comes to us as a coach that can develop our corners and impact our defense right away," Dorrell said. "He is known as a developer, a strong recruiter and has the defensive knowledge to help our secondary improve and play at a high level."

"I'm excited and privileged to join such a great staff of good people," Chance said. "I am looking forward to get right to work and help the foundation that's being built in Boulder. At Vanderbilt, I had the privilege of learning and developing under Coach Dorrell and Coach (Brett) Maxie (CU's secondary coach) and it's exciting to be reuniting with them."

Chance has coached seven seasons at Power 5 schools in three conferences (Pac-12, SEC and Big Ten) with experience both as a defensive backs coach and a defensive coordinator. He completed two seasons at Oregon under head coach Mario Cristobal, with the Ducks winning the Pac-12 title in 2020 and the league's North Division in 2021. He actually returned to Oregon after spending the 2019 coaching the cornerbacks at Minnesota. He was a defensive analyst for Oregon in 2018.

In his second stint in Eugene, Chance helped the Ducks to their second straight Pac-12 Conference championship and a berth in the 2021 Fiesta Bowl opposite Iowa State. He had the task of coaching the cornerbacks in a secondary that lost three of its starters to opt-outs because of COVID-19, including corner Thomas Graham Jr., a three-year starter. The Ducks were 14-7 in his last two seasons, which also included the Pac-12 North Division title and a berth against Oklahoma in the Alamo Bowl.

Despite the absence of Graham, Chance coached a pair of corners in 2020 that earned All-Pac-12 honors. Mykael Wright, Graham's replacement, claimed first-team recognition from the Associated Press and the league coaches after leading the Pac-12 in passes defended with nine (1.29 per game).

In his one season at Minnesota, he helped the Gopher defense finish No. 9 nationally against the pass for in 2019. Minnesota finished 11-2, shared the Big Ten's West Division title, defeated Auburn in the Outback Bowl and finished No. 10 in final Associated Press poll, the school's highest finish since 1962. His guidance also helped Minnesota's defense finish tied for 10th nationally in passing touchdowns allowed (14), tied for eighth in fewest 20-yard pass plays allowed (30) and tied for 17th with 14 interceptions.

He originally joined Oregon from Southern Utah University, where he was the defensive coordinator for two seasons (20-16-17). In 2017, Chance's defensive unit finished third in the Big Sky Conference in scoring defense and forced 29 turnovers (including 15 interceptions) to help lead SUU to a 9-3 record and the league championship. Over his two seasons in Cedar City, 11 different players earned Big Sky All-Conference honors, including three first-teamers.

His first coaching opportunity in the collegiate ranks came at Rhode Island, his alma mater, for spring practices in 2013, where he coached and developed the cornerbacks. He had an opportunity to jump from the FCS to the FBS later that year, and joined the Vanderbilt University staff as an offensive quality control analyst for the 2013 season. He was hired by James Franklin at Vanderbilt, and worked daily with the offensive line and assisted in all on-campus recruiting efforts. After Franklin left for Penn State, Derek Mason took over the program in 2014 and retained Chance but switched him into defensive quality control.

Chance graduated from the University of Rhode Island with a bachelor's degree in Communication Studies in 2005. He was a four-year starter at cornerback, finishing his career with 108 tackles, 11 interceptions and nine pass deflections. He was a team captain as a senior, when he was voted URI's Defensive Back of the Year. In his final semester, he worked as an intern in the Ram's media relations office.

A native of Fort Lauderdale, he enjoyed a standout prep career at the city's St. Thomas Aquinas High School, as he lettered in football, basketball and track. He had two summer minority internships with NFL teams, with the Tennessee Titans in 2014 and the Tampa Bay Buccaneers in 2018. Prior to entering the teaching profession, he was the athletic coordinator for the City of Atlanta.

PATTERSON TO COACH TIGHT ENDS, COORDINATE PASSING GAME

Karl Dorrell announced on January 9 that he has added Clay Patterson to his staff as tight ends/passing game coordinator. Patterson, 39, joined the CU staff from the University of Minnesota, where he coached the tight ends the past four seasons. The last two years he worked under Mike Sanford, who Dorrell named as CU's new offensive coordinator on Dec. 17. The versatile Gopher tight ends played a vital role in Minnesota's offense, from robust blocking in the running game to thriving when their number was called in the passing game.

"Before accepting the position at Minnesota, Clay's background and experience was well documented in highly productive offenses," Dorrell said. "His knowledge with passing game concepts over his career will be a big benefit for us as we build a successful offense here at Colorado."

"Coach Dorrell is an outstanding football coach and man – I am very excited to work for and learn from him," Patterson said. "When the opportunity to continue to work with Mike Sanford and build an offense together came up, I was thrilled. Mike is great to work with and he has an excellent offensive mind."

This past season, he coached Ko Kieft, who was one of the top-rated tight ends by Pro Football Focus. In 2020, behind the offensive line and UM's bruising tight ends, Mohamed Ibrahim set school records in rushing yards per game (153.7), consecutive 100-yard games (8) and touchdowns in consecutive games (8). In 2019, Minnesota's tight ends excelled under Patterson as they were part of one of the most prolific offenses in school history. The Gophers amassed 5,616 yards of total offense (the school's third-most ever), threw for a school record 3,293 yards and scored their second-most points (443) in the modern era.

Patterson took his first FBS position at Minnesota after serving as the head coach at Northeastern Oklahoma A&M for the 2016 and 2017 seasons, where he led the Norsemen to a 14-8 record. After going 5-5 in his first season, NO A&M went 9-3 and claimed its first Southwest Junior College Football Conference (SWJCFC) title since 2003, along with playing in its first bowl game since 2012. Patterson was named as the conference's coach of the years, as his team was an offensive powerhouse in averaging 524.5 yards (253.8 rushing, 270.6 passing) and 36.2 points per game.

He had previously spent three years (2013-15) as the offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach at Trinity Valley Community College. He helped coach the team to five SWJCFC championships (three regular season and two playoff crowns), in addition to a pair of Heart of Texas Bowl championships. In 2015, his offense broke the all-time yards per game record at any level of football, averaging an astounding 656.1 yards per game.

Patterson was the offensive coordinator at Texas A&M University-Kingsville for six seasons (2007-12) before heading to Trinity Valley. His Javelina offense broke 28 individual and 17 team passing records, as it claimed a share of the Lone Star Conference championship in 2009 and made two playoff appearances. He had arrived at Kingsville after coaching the receivers for one year (2006) at Tarleton State.

As a player, he was a tight end at Northeastern Oklahoma A&M for the 1999 and 2000 seasons before finishing his career at Southeastern Oklahoma State University, where he played wide receiver the following two seasons and earned his bachelor's degree in Health, Human Performance and Recreation in 2003. He began his coaching career later that year as the Savage Storm's wide receiver coach, where he spent three seasons while earning his master's degree in Education Technology in 2005.

A native of Morris, Okla., he lettered in football and basketball at Morris High School. He is married to the former Ashley Holt.

McGEOGHAN TABBED AS RECEIVERS COACH

Phil McGeoghan was named CU's new receivers coach by Karl Dorrell on January 18, and in the process, completed his full-time staff of assistants for the 2022 season.

McGeoghan, 42, most recently was the wide receivers coach for three seasons with the Los Angeles Chargers (2018-20); he took off the 2021 season on personal leave urged by Chargers' head coach Anthony Lynn to care for some health issues in his immediate family.

A 15-year veteran in the coaching profession overall, he has about evenly split that time with three teams in the National Football League (eight years) and in the collegiate ranks (seven seasons). Among the players he has coached include Keenan Allen and Mike Williams (Chargers), Jarvis Landry and Brian Hartline (Miami Dolphins) and Zay Jones (East Carolina who now stars for the Las Vegas Raiders).

Dorrell has a previous relationship with McGeoghan, whom he coached while he was an assistant with the Denver Broncos from 2000-2002. "I first got to know Phil when he was on the roster with the Broncos and he was in my receivers room," Dorrell said. "I remember him as technician of the game, a very detail-oriented guy. He was someone who you felt that when he was done playing could become a really good coaching candidate in the profession. He's done a reputable job at developing players wherever he's been, and his body of work is very strong."

"Coach Dorrell was a very good teacher, he was very patient and knew how to develop his players through a positive and calming influence," McGeoghan recalled about his time with the Broncos. "There were a lot of talented players in that room, and he always found the right way to reach every player. Many of us have remained very close to him for the remainder of our lives, someone we could always count on as we grew older and had families and needed advice. He was always someone who was sincere about caring greatly about his former players."

"I'm very excited about being reunited with coach," he said. "I believe it's always a goal in life to be able to work for people who know you, trust you, and know what you can bring to the table every day. It will be a privilege to work for a man who has integrity like Karl, who is obviously very passionate about football. I love the state of Colorado, so to be reunited with a very special man, in a very exceptional place, to take on a job that I am really excited about doing, it's special for our family."

In his three seasons coach receivers for the Chargers, his top threat, Keenan Allen, was a two-time Pro Bowl selection and set numerous franchise records; Allen and Mike Williams both recorded 1,000-yards seasons in 2019. He was responsible for third down game planning and team presentation (the Chargers were sixth in third downs in 2019, converting at 44.3 percent), and other duties included coverage analysis and analyzing opponent personnel in the secondary. The '18 Chargers went 12-4 and advanced to the divisional round of the playoffs.

He spent the 2017 season as the receivers coach for the Buffalo Bills, helping the team finish 9-7 and earn their first playoff berth in 18 years (only the team's third winning season in that entire span as well). He had returned to the FBS ranks in college for the 2016 season, where he tutored the receivers at East Carolina University. His top performer was Zay Jones, who earned first-team All-America honors after leading the NCAA in receptions (158) and receiving yards (1,746), also leading in per game averages for those categories (13.2 and 145.5, respectively).

McGeoghan's first NFL position came with the Miami Dolphins for the 2012-15 seasons, finishing in the top third in the league in passing yards three of those four years. His top players were 1,000-yard receivers Jarvis Landry and Brian Hartline; Landry set the franchise record with 110 receptions in 2015 when he was selected to the Pro Bowl, a year after he set the Dolphin record for receptions by a rookie (84). Hartline had back-to-back 1,000-yard seasons in 2012 and 2013, just the second player in franchise history to accomplish the feat.

His first collegiate job on the FBS level came at the University of South Florida, where he coached the Bulls' receivers for three seasons (2009-11) and had his first real experience in recruiting, where he covered both Florida and Georgia. He coached the three leading receivers at the time in USF history, Andre Davis (who is still first), Dontavia Bogan and Carlton Mitchell, all of whom eventually played in the NFL.

A four-year letterman at wide receiver in college, first as a freshman at Boston University in 1997 and then three times for the University of Maine. He signed with the New York Jets as a free agent ahead of the 2001 season, but had not yet finished his degree; after he was done playing professional football in which he spent with the Jets, Broncos, New Orleans and Oakland as well as in Europe with the Berlin Thunder, he returned to Maine as the school's wide receivers and tight ends coach in 2007. He then completed his requirements for his bachelor's degree in Marketing, which he was awarded in 2008. After graduating, he served as the offensive coordinator at the Naval Academy Preparatory School that fall before moving on to USF.

A native of Agawam, Mass., he graduated from Agawam High School, where he lettered in football and was an All-American in track and field; he finished third in the nation in the high jump as a junior and senior (6-foot-11 best as a prep). He is married to the former Tori Schmitz and couple has two children, son Knox and daughter Morgan. (Last name is pronounced mick-gaig-in; gaig as in craig.)

THE BUFFS ON FRIDAY

Colorado will open the 2022 season on a Friday (Sept. 2 vs. TCU); the Buffaloes have played 45 times on “TGIF” (Friday), seven times to open the season; the Buffaloes are 19-26 on the last day of the work week (16-25 regular season, 3-1 bowl), 5-9 in Boulder, 7-13 on the road, 7-4 at neutral sites (including 4-2 in Denver), 7-9 since joining the Pac-12 Conference and 10-10 in night games. Colorado opened the 1908, 1964, 2014, 2016, 2017, 2018, 2019 and 2021 seasons on a Friday; CU’s second-ever night game was played on a Friday, against Oklahoma State in Stillwater in 1933. The Buffs have played three Friday night affairs in a season three times, in 2018, 2019 and 2021. The bulk of the games have been played in November (a 6-18 record), and the most common opponent has been Nebraska (15 times; 4-11). Here’s a look at the games:

FONTENOT A FIRST SINCE 2018 AND LIKELY A FIRST, PERIOD

In CU’s 52-29 loss at Oregon, junior TB Alex Fontenot scored two touchdowns, one on a 2-yard reception from QB Brendon Lewis and the other on a 1-yard run up the middle with a terrific block from TE Alec Pell, among others.

► His 2-yard reception on fourth down for CU’s second TD was the first receiving TD of his career ... and CU’s first receiving TD by a running back since Travon McMillian had a 57-yard one at Arizona on Nov. 2, 2018.

► He became the first Buff to have a rushing and receiving TD in the same game since WR Laviska Shenault had two of each versus Arizona State in 2018.

► It is highly likely that he is the first player to score two touchdowns on fourth down in the same game in school history; Colorado last had two touchdowns on fourth down plays in 2011, and the last player to score TDs on two fourth downs in the same season was WR Scotty McKnight in 2008 (in back-to-back games against Iowa State and Oklahoma State). TE Tyson DeVree had three coming in back-to-back-to-back games in 2007; Cody Hawkins was the QB throwing to both McKnight and DeVree.

FRESHMEN NET OVER 2,200 SNAPS ON DEFENSE

It surely must bode well for the future as the Buffs endure some growing pains at present. Freshmen played 2,225 out of 9,183 snaps on the defensive side of the ball, which represented 24.2 percent of all plays. And of those, 785 were by true (first-year) freshmen. At UCLA, frosh played 229 of 748 defensive plays — 31 percent — and versus Washington, frosh played 298 of 924 plays — 32 percent. In the season finale at Utah, frosh were in for 212 of 748 (28 percent).

RUSSELL MAKES A TIGHT END HAT TRICK

TE Brady Russell led the team in both receptions (25) and (307), edging WR Brenden Rice in each (21, 299). A tight end has led the team in catches 14 times, but just three times in the last 31 seasons (Daniel Graham in 2001, Riar Geer in 2006). The same duo also led the team in yards those seasons, the only two times since 1984, when TE Jon Embree topped the list (680).

OUT OF THE GATE

In 2021, there were just six scores by CU or its opponent on the game’s opening possession — four field goals by CU (versus Arizona, Oregon State and Washington at home and Utah on the road), and two scores by the opponent in their home stadiums (field goal by Cal, touchdown by Oregon). In the second half, neither team did so on the first drive of the third quarter until the Arizona State game, when both teams did it: CU marched 75 yards in eight plays to pull to within 14-10, and then ASU returned the favor by driving 71 yards in six plays to go back up by 11). Oregon, UCLA and Utah also scored a TDs on its first drive of the second half; these are only the nine times out of a possible 48 that CU or its opponent scored to open a half. There were 16 three-and-outs (8 for each team).

JOHNSON REINSTATED, MAKES MOST OF EXTRA YEAR

DL Mustafa Johnson regained his eligibility after going through the NCAA-mandated process to be reinstated after he wasn’t selected in the 2021 NFL Draft. After meeting those requirements and sitting out four games, he was able to play the last eight games as a second time senior. He said at the time, “I hope I can be an impact player again and do something that will help this team win in whatever facet of the game, whether it just be my energy of lifting up the team, being a leader again, doing those things, or whether it’s my play on the field, as well. Most definitely, this is a second chance opportunity that many people do not get, so I need to make the best of it. It’s a second chance to create better film, perfect techniques, change things that I didn’t do good in the last round this time around.”

► He responded with 28 tackles (23 solo, five for losses with two quarterback sacks), seven quarterback pressures, three third down stops and five tackles for zero. He started eight games and played 369 snaps all told.

Colorado Honor Candidates

Here are those CU Buffaloes worthy of consideration for postseason honors for 2021; for those of you who vote, please consider the below players (and coach) that are deserving. The list (ALPHABETICAL) and very quick hits on each (All-Pac 12 candidates range from first-team to honorable mention possibilities):

WORTHY OF SOME LEVEL OF ALL-AMERICAN CONSIDERATION:

- ✓ ILB NATE LANDMAN, Sr.-2 All-American & All-Pac-12 / Butkus Semifinalist; Bednarik & Nagurski Original Watch List
- Semifinalist: Butkus Award and LOTT Trophy for second straight year (essentially eliminated from both after missing last four games with a shoulder injury);
 - He returned from a torn Achilles tendon suffered last Dec. 12 to participate in August camp and start the season 100 percent;
 - Until he suffered a shoulder injury late in the game at Cal, he had recorded 71 tackles (52 solo, six for losses), with his usual assortment of “garnish” ... he had nine tackles for zero gains, seven third down stops (one on fourth), four passes broken up, a forced fumble and three quarterback pressures;
 - First-Team All-Pac-12 as a junior in 2019 and as senior in 2020 (thus this is his “super” senior year);
 - He became the sixth player in school history to record 400 tackles (409) and is second in all-time solo stops (285);
 - CU’s all-time leader in third down stops (53), fourth down stops (9) and tackles for zero (30).

- ✓ OLB CARSON WELLS, Jr.-2 All-American & All-Pac-12 Candidate
- Started all 12 games and was in for 712 snaps from scrimmage, playing at times outside linebacker and as an edge rusher ... Had 62 tackles (44 solo, 15 for losses including 5½ quarterback sacks) ... Led the team in quarterback pressures (17), third down stops (15) and fourth down stops (4) ... Also had three passes broken up, four tackles for zero (meaning 19 at or behind the line of scrimmage) .
 - Returned an interception 50 yards for a touchdown against Arizona (Giving CU a 20-0 lead at the time).
 - Has taken things up a notch the last three games with Nate Landman out; combined against Oregon State (W), UCLA (L), Washington (W) and Utah (L), he had 30 tackles (24 solo), six for losses (two-and-a-half sacks), 12 third down stops (four on fourth), a forced fumble and pass broken up that ended the UW game.
 - In 2020, he was the nation’s leader in tackles for losses at 2.7 per game (14); and was also 13th in quarterback sacks (4½, or 0.9/game).

WORTHY OF ALL-PAC-12 FIRST-, SECOND-, OR HONORABLE MENTION CONSIDERATION:

- ✓ ST DANIEL ARIAS, Jr.-2 All-Pac-12 Candidate (Special Teams, Non-Kicker/Returner Position)

- ✓ PK COLE BECKER, Fr. All-Pac-12 Candidate
- After a rough start, he has developed into a consistent performer ... Has scored 60 points on 25-of-25 PAT kicks and 14-of-20 field goals (he was 14-of-17 since opening 0-of-3) ... He became just the seventh freshman to lead CU in scoring dating back to 1946 (the 67 points are the second-most by a frosh) ... 29 of 47 kickoffs went for touchbacks; of 167 returns, nine did not reach the 25-yard line.

- ✓ TB JAREK BROUSSARD, Soph. All-Pac-12 Candidate
- Led the team in rushing (661 yards) ... averaged 4.65 yards per carry (142 attempts) ... had two 100-yard games (high of 151 against Oregon State) ... has earned 35 first downs (33 rushing 2 receiving).
 - The reigning Pac-12 Offensive Player of the Year and the co-winner of the 2020 Mayo Clinic Comeback Player of the Year Award

- ✓ CB CHRISTIAN GONZALEZ, Fr.-2 All-Pac-12 Candidate
- He played the most snaps on the team (781), and was in on 54 tackles (36 solo, five for losses). He had six passes broken up, six third down stops, a tackle for zero gain, a pressure and a team-high five touchdown saves.

- ✓ DL MUSTAFA JOHNSON, Sr.-2 All-Pac-12 Candidate
- Had to sit out the first four games while regaining his eligibility when he wasn’t drafted (and had to pay back around $20,000) ... was a key addition to bolster the defense, he played 369 snaps with 28 tackles (19 solo, five for losses with two quarterback sacks) ... had seven pressures, five tackles for zero gains and three third down stops.

Has two 100-yard games (3-111 vs. Arizona; 5-102 at Oregon) ... averaged 27.6 yards on kickoff returns (long of 67) and helped lead CU to a conference runner-up best 28.7.

- ✓ TE BRADY RUSSELL, Jr.-2 All-Pac-12 Candidate
- CU’s leading receiver (25-307, 12.3 avg., 0 TD) ... Had CU’s longest play of the year from scrimmage, a 65-yard reception against Southern California ... Earned 11 first downs ... targeted 32 times ... The first tight end since 2006 at Colorado to lead the Buffaloes in both receptions and yards.

FIFTH ANNIVERSARY MARKED ON DEC. 5

It doesn't seem like five years have passed since CU's (and the state's) only Heisman Trophy winner, TB Rashaan Salaam, took his own life in a park in west Boulder; he passed away on Dec. 5, 2016. Salaam has since had his number (19) retired by CU and was inducted into the Colorado Sports Hall of Fame; he's on the 2022 ballot for the College Football Hall of Fame, the class of which is scheduled to be announced sometime after the first of the year.

QUARTERBACK DEBUTS

A list of all quarterback starting debuts can be found in CU's media guide on page 168; Brendon Lewis became the 52nd player since 1959 to start a game at the position for the Buffs, the 20th in a season opener (27-24-1 record overall, 11-9 in the opener). He became the second freshman to start a season opener, joining Cody Hawkins in 2007 (he was a redshirt frosh); no true freshman has ever started a season opener for Colorado, and of the 52 players, only 13 were freshmen (six true, one second-year — Lewis — and six redshirts). Those performances (*—season opener):

2021 FRESHMAN STARTING QBs

CU's Brendon Lewis was one of over two dozen current starting quarterbacks who were classified as freshmen in the FBS (out of 130 schools; he was one of seven regulars at a Power-5 school). Comparisons among the group for those who have started at least six games in the 2021 regular season (as of Dec. 4; KEY: Fr.—true freshman; Fr.-2—second-time/super frosh; Fr.-3—third-time (benefitted from eligibility retention rule—four games or less—and NCAA COVID exception; Fr.-RS—redshirt; *—appeared in at least one game in 2020; ^--started at least one game in 2020):

FRESHMAN-TO-FRESHMEN

QB Brendon Lewis had 10 touchdown passes this season, seven of which were thrown to freshmen; that is two more than the entire total of TD passes previously thrown from a freshman to a freshman wide receiver in CU history, and one shy of the total of eight by a freshman to other freshmen (the three others were to running backs). Lewis passed Cody Hawkins for the most by quarterback to freshmen (who had completed his five to a receiver (four) and a running back (one). The list (*—denotes running back; rest are wide receivers):

Season	Quarterback	Receiver	TDs	Season	Quarterback	Receiver	TDs
1981	Randy Essington	Walter Stanley	1	2021	Brendon Lewis (7)	Brenden Rice	3
1986	Marc Walters	*O.C. Oliver	1			Montana Lemonious-Craig	2
2007	Cody Hawkins (5)	Scotty McKnight	4			Chase Penry	1
		*Demetrius Sumler	1			Ty Robinson	1
2013	Sefo Liufau	*Michael Adkins	1

SINGLE-SEASON TOUCHDOWN PASSES BY A FRESHMAN

Cody Hawkins 19 (2007); Sefo Liufau 12 (2013); Brendon Lewis 10 (2021); Steven Montez 9 (2016); Koy Detmer 8 (1992); Craig Ochs 7 (2000).

SINGLE-SEASON TOUCHDOWN RECEPTIONS BY A FRESHMAN

Paul Richardson 6 (2010); Michael Westbrook 5 (1991); Scotty McKnight 4 (2007); Don Holmes 3 (1979); Brenden Rice 3 (2021).

► Lewis came back after the bye week and posted his career-best single-game rating in CU's 34-0 win over Arizona. He completed 12-of-19 passes for career-highs of 248 yards and two touchdowns (no picks), with his rating of 207.5 the second-best by a freshman in CU history, behind only a 224.3 by Steven Montez against Idaho State in 2016 (6-of-10, 117 yards, 2 TDs); but that was in relief; the 207.5 is the best by a freshman who started a game. It was also the best by a Buff QB since Montez recorded a 246.8 figure in the 2018 season opener against Colorado State.

RICE CHECKS

Super frosh WR Brenden Rice has shown a pension for the long play in his short time as a Buffalo. Against Cal, he returned a kickoff 67 yards, the longest by a Buff since Marques Mosley returned one 100 yards for a touchdown against Utah in 2012. That was his fourth career play of 60 yards or longer: he has two touchdowns receptions of 61 yards (versus Utah last year) and 62 yards (vs. Arizona) and one punt return of 81 yards (versus Utah, also last year). He also had a 51-yard reception at Arizona and returned a kickoff 44 yards against Northern Colorado, and was a slip away from returning one to the house at Oregon.

Father-Son Comparison (in the making): When Jerry Rice played in the NFL, he had at least one reception of 60 or more yards in 14 different seasons and still holds the record for most 50-yard receptions.

► Rice had the 25th 250-yard all-purpose yards game in CU history against Oregon with 281 yards (which rank 13th on the all-time list). He did it with 12 touches: five receptions for 102 yards, one rush for 17 and six kickoff returns for 162. The last one occurred last Dec. 5, when TB Jarek Broussard had 301 yards at Arizona (all rushing); the last one with yards gained in all three areas was on Nov. 23, 2007 (Hugh Charles: 169 rushing, 33 receiving, 125 kickoff return vs. Nebraska in Boulder).

► The 162 kickoff return yards tied for the sixth most; the six KOR returns tied the 10th-most. He's already 26th all-time in kickoff returns yards (506).

► He has 53 touches in his career (6-54 rushing, 27-419 receptions, 20-587 returns) for 1,060 yards, an average of 20.0 per touch.

THIS-N-THAT

► In his 78th game as collegiate head coach, Karl Dorrell had his 2,000th point was scored on a 1-yard run by TB Alex Fontenot at UCLA.

► Colorado averaged a season-best 8.1 yards on first down plays (29 for 236 yards) against Oregon State; that was the best since 8.9 in the 2019 opener against CSU, and the fifth-best over the previous 111 games (high was 10.1 vs. Idaho State in 2016, then 8.3 vs. Arizona State in '16 and 8.2 vs. OSU in '18).

► Special Teams Spotlight. Prior to the bowl games being added in, Colorado stands second in the Pac-12 in kickoff returns (28.7 average) and third in punt returns (14.2). The last time the Buffs led a conference in those categories was 2001 in the Big 12 (punt returns), 1998 (kickoff returns).

► No Turnovers or Sacks. CU is now 20-4 dating back to 1972 when not committing a turnover or allowing a quarterback sack, of which neither happened in the Oregon State win. It was also the first time in 21 games that CU did not allow a sack (since the 2019 Arizona game in Boulder).

► Longest Conversion. The 16-yard TD pass from QB Brendon Lewis to WR Montana Lemonious-Craig that gave CU a 27-24 lead over Oregon State in the fourth quarter was the longest third down conversion (3rd-&-15) by Colorado this season.

► Injuries. This was the worst season for injuries since 1987, when such data started being maintained. CU lost 133 games by players projected to be or in the two-deep along with a handful that would rotate in; out of 576 possible games, that worked to 23.1 percent of games lost, which is the highest percentage since being tracked back to 1987. See full chart on page 35.

► 4-of-4 on 4th. The Buffs were 4-for-4 on fourth down at Oregon ... the last time CU converted that many was in 2017, when it also went 4-of-4 against Arizona; the most fourth down conversions in school history came in 1980, when the Buffs were 6-of-8 in a loss to Indiana (the eight is the all-time high for attempts).

► Back-to-Back. SS Isaiah Lewis had his first career interception at Oregon and then followed it up with another the next week against Oregon State. The last Buffalo to make picks in back-to-back games was ILB Nate Landman, who did so in the first two games of the 2018 season (versus Colorado State in Denver and at Nebraska). The last Buff to have one in three straight? CB Greg Henderson in 2013 (vs. Central Arkansas, at Oregon State and vs. Oregon).

► Freshmen. The assorted classifications of freshmen started 62 games (out of a possible 264 for 12 games); that represents 23.5 percent of the starts in 2021. That was the second-highest percentage of freshmen starters over the last 23 seasons, behind only 28.0 percent in 2012. Upperclassmen (juniors and seniors) started just 49.2 percent, the lowest over the same span, edging 49.6 in 2012 and 50.4 2014. See full chart on page 25.

► Final Season Attendance. For six home games in 2021, CU's attendance was 278,906 an average of 46,484.3 per game. CU finished the year 4-2 at home as the 98th season at Folsom Field came to a close.

► Buff-Utes. As it turned out, CU had one of the more competitive games with the eventual Pac-12 champions. Only BYU (17) and Washington State (24) gave up fewer points to Utah, and UU's margin of victory (15 points, 28-13) was its third smallest of its 10 wins; and as it often can be the case, the team that beat Utah (Oregon State, 42-34) is a team Colorado beat (37-34 in overtime).

SCORING IN ALL THREE PHASES

The Buffaloes scored touchdowns in all three phases of the game — offense, defense and special teams — in the 34-0 win over Arizona. It marked the first time CU had done that since twice during the 2004 season. It's happened to date on just 15 occasions in the FBS this season (11 with TDs, four unique ones):

► Non-Offensive Scores. CU had two non-offensive touchdowns in the same game for the first time since 2013 and for the seventh time this millennium. A look at all seven instances:

SHUTOUT ROLL CALL

Colorado's 34-0 win over Arizona on Oct. 16 was its first since a 48-0 blanking of Nicholls State on Sept. 26, 2015. And:

- It was the first and only shutout in Pac-12 conference play in 2021, with the only other since 2017 was in 2019 when Utah shutout Cal at home (35-0);
- It was CU's first shut out over an FBS opponent since a 34-0 win at Oklahoma State on Oct. 1, 2005 (the first in Boulder since three weeks earlier that year, 39-0 over New Mexico State on Sept. 10);
- It was the third time CU shutout an Arizona team (others: 14-0 in Boulder in 1955 and 18-0 at Tucson in 1959);
- It was only the second true shutout of a Pac-12 team as a conference member, with a 12-0 win at Washington State on Sept. 18, 1982 (Bill McCartney's first win); Arizona was not in the league in the 1950s and 13 shutouts over Utah all came prior to 1960;
- It was the first time an opponent had been shutout through three quarters since leading CSU 37-0 in Denver on Sept. 2, 2016;
- And it was the first FBS opponent not to score in the first half against CU since Washington on Nov. 23, 2019 (CU led that, 13-0 at half en route to a 20-14 win).

DEFENSIVE EFFORT AGAINST A&M NETS SECOND BEST PERFORMANCE

The 10 points No. 5 Texas A&M scored in its 10-7 win over the Buffs tied for the second fewest by a Top 5 team against a Colorado defense:

BECKER MAKES HISTORY ... A FEW TIMES

When Cole Becker trotted on to the field to try (and make) CU's first PAT kick of the season in CU's 35-7 win over Northern Colorado, he became just the fifth true freshman placekicker in school history to score at least one point in a Buff season opener. He joined Tom Field (1979 vs. Oregon), Mason Crosby (2003 vs. Colorado State), Will Oliver (2011 at Hawaii) and James Stefanou (2017 vs. Colorado State). He was bidding to tie the second-longest first career field goal made (53 yards), but the kick hit the crossbar. He missed his second try (a 46-yarder against Texas AM in Denver that sailed wide right), and also his third try (46 yards at Arizona State that was partially blocked). But when he did make his first kick, a 51-yarder at Arizona State, it registered as the fourth-longest in two different categories at Colorado, in first career field goal made and the longest by a freshman. He would go on later in the year to make the longest by a freshman (56 yards at Utah), and the most 50-yard makes in a season since 2005, when Crosby made 5-of-7 from 50-plus.

BECKER CLIMBING CHARTS ON FRESHMAN SCORING

True freshman PK Cole Becker became just the seventh freshman to lead the team in scoring, and also rose to score the second-most points by a Colorado freshman in a single season. He had 23 points in the last three games of the season (six field goals, five PATs) that vaulted him from eighth into second place. A closer look at both lists:

BECKER'S OT WINNER

True freshman PK Cole Becker made CU's fourth overtime game-winning field goal after the opponent failed to score in school annals when he drilled a 43-yarder to lead to CU to a 37-34 double-OT win over Oregon State. In addition to being the longest field goal to win an overtime game for Colorado, it is the fourth-longest to win a game in the final 2 minutes or in overtime. The lists:

Freshman S Trevor Woods blocked punt was CU's first since Alex Fontenot blocked punts at Cal (Nov. 24, 2018) and against Utah (Nov. 17, 2018), and his first blocked punt return for a TD since Lawrence Vickers recovered a punt in the end zone against Washington State in Seattle on Sept. 11, 2004.

► For the second straight season, Colorado will open the season in a game that will be first for the opponents' new head coach; Sonny Dykes was named TCU head coach on Nov. 30; he has coached against CU before, as when he was head coach at California (2013-16), he was 1-1 against the Buffaloes, the '15 win in Berkeley a wild double overtime affair that saw the Bears win, 59-56; CU won the year before in Boulder, 41-24.

TENTATIVE SPRING FOOTBALL DATES

Karl Dorrell's second spring football practice is tentatively set to begin the Wednesday following CU's spring break (March 30). The second and third practices are that same week – Friday, April 1 & Saturday, April 2, and then a set pattern of Tuesday-Wednesday-Friday Saturday for the remaining dozen over the next three weeks: April 5-6-8-9, April 12-13-15-16 and April 19-20-22-23. Weekday practices will be in the afternoons.

MR. 300 & 10

Congrats to CU alum Dave Logan ('75), as he won his 300th game as a high school football coach last Friday night when Cherry Creek defeated Mountain Vista, 34-0, in the second round of the Colorado state 5A playoffs. Creek then beat Regis in the quarterfinals which was his 100th win for the Bruins; Creek went on to defeat Valor Christian, 21-0, in the 5A title game, giving Logan his 10th state title, his fourth at CCHS. He is in his 29th season coaching prep football in the state and now owns a 303-67 overall record (an 81.9 winning percentage; he is 102-24 at Creek, 81.0). Logan, who coached several current and dozens of former Buffs, earned eight letters at CU, four in football as a wide receiver/kick returner and four in basketball as a forward as his was the first class back in 1972 when freshmen once again became eligible.

FOOTBALL > BASKETBALL; BASKETBALL > FOOTBALL

After the season in the first week of December, true freshman QB Drew Carter completed paperwork to join CU's basketball team, at least on a trial basis (he's technically a walk-on in basketball, as his scholarship still will go against the football count). Once commonplace in the first half of the last century, with notable CU Hall of Famers Lee Willard and Byron White among others lettering in both (along with baseball and in Willard's case, track as well), it's become rarer and rarer and the two-sport athlete (other than football and track) virtually disappeared after freshmen were declared ineligible from 1955-72 (with one notable major exception in that period: Hale Irwin, football & golf). The four most famous who did well in two team sports both were in the early-mid 70's: Dave Logan (football & basketball), Jay Sfera (basketball & baseball) and John Stearns and Mark Koncar (football & baseball). Many excelled in football and track (most notably Cliff Branch, most recent Davion Taylor). CU's two-team sport Buffaloes since 1972 once freshmen once again became eligible (must have played in at least one game; original sport signed in listed first, years listed are those lettered in football):

RECORD WATCH

The Buffaloes set 18 records and tied 2 others in 2021. NOTE: A reminder that CU did not adopt the NCAA 2002 policy of adding bowl game statistics in its season or career numbers, thus some may differ from NCAA totals.

CU COACHES VS. ALMA MATERS

21-13. That's the record of CU head coaches against their alma maters — five in all — as Karl Dorrell joined the previous four in coaching against the team he played for. And all five have taken the Buffs to the stadium they played in as player for those teams, Dorrell joining the group when CU fell 44-20 to UCLA at Rose Bowl (which made his record 1-1 against the school that awarded him a diploma; his first win at CU was against the Bruins in Boulder. Joe Mills (University of Denver) lost in 1918 at DU but won the next year in Boulder to go 1-1; Eddie Crowder (Oklahoma) lost his first game against the Sooners in 1963 in Norman, and would eventually go 4-7 overall; Bill McCartney (Missouri) lost in Columbia in 1982, and after dropping the first three, ended up with a 10-game winning streak to finish up 10-3; and Gary Barnett (Missouri) would go 6-1 against the Tigers; he won the first game in Boulder in overtime in 1999 and then won in his first time back at Columbia's Faurot Field, 28-18, in 2000 (in a game where CU set a still-school record 14 quarterback sacks).

IT TOOK A LOT OF TIME

Colorado did not commit a turnover in a season opener for the 11th time in its history (but have never opened with two games turnover-free). The first one in 2021 took place 2:28 into the second game (Texas A&M picked off a deflected Brendon Lewis pass), with the 62:28 into the season the 11th-longest on the clock before CU's first of a season. It took a similar deflected pass and then an interception by UMass early in the third quarter for CU to have its first in 2014, marking the longest CU had ever played into a season before committing its first (92 minutes, 28 seconds); the 11 season opener turnover-free seasons and when the first occurred:

FUN FOUR FACT. Four schools can boast that they have won a national championship in football, have had a Heisman Trophy winner, a U.S. Supreme Court Justice and at least one man that either walked on the Moon or traveled there to and from. Those are Colorado, Michigan, Texas and Army-West Point. For CU, that would be Rashaan Salaam (Heisman), Byron White (Supreme Court) and Apollo command module pilots Jack Swigert (Apollo 13) and Stuart Roosa (Apollo 14). Other schools that would join the above with at least one astronaut (who was not on an Apollo mission) include California, Navy, Stanford and Wisconsin. CARRY OUT TO FIVE: Throw in a U.S. Open (golf) winner, and the only schools with all five are CU (Hale Irwin, Steve Jones) and Texas.

OPENING DEPTH CHART NOTES

The Buffs released their season-opening depth chart on August 30, and for the seventh time in the last nine seasons, CU has more underclassmen than upperclassmen listed (though not a surprise with the NCAA granting an extra year of eligibility). Of the 69 players in the opening depth (who are not listed as being out for an extended period of time), 45 were underclassmen (31 freshmen, 14 sophomores); there are 19 juniors (16 second-time, three third-time), two “super” seniors and three graduate transfers (two first-year, one second-year).

► The 31 freshmen breakdown into four categories: true (13), redshirts (2), second-time (7, meaning they played as true freshmen in 2020) and third-time (9, which means they played less than four games in 2019 and then qualified for the extra year of eligibility due to the NCAA’s COVID exception).

► In both 2016 and 2017, CU did not start a true freshman in any game over the course of the season; that had not happened since 2005. In 2018, true freshmen collectively started 15 games, in 2019, 12 did so and last year, true frosh started seven games (CB Christian Gonzalez 6, WR Brenden Rice 1).

► Zero Again. As in zero starts by quarterbacks on the CU roster for the second straight season; it hadn’t happened since 2007 prior to last year. Only two players on the team have attempted passes in a game: QB Brendon Lewis was 6-of-10 for 95 yards last year when he replaced Sam Noyer in the Alamo Bowl (his only appearance of the season), and WR Dimitri Stanley, who was 0-of-1 on a trick play, also last season.

NON-CONFERENCE TWO-FERS

Not many teams in the so-called “Power 5” schedule two “Power 5” teams in their non-conference slates. Notre Dame technically leads the way with four, not including the agreement to play five ACC teams annually, which then puts it at nine total (but you would have to count all the conference games for the others listed below). Stanford has three scheduled and just 12 will line up against two, including Colorado. (For season total, add nine Power 5 opponents to the count below to any Pac-12, Big Ten or Big 12 team, and eight to any ACC or SEC team.) A look at who double dipped (or more) in 2021:

WILSON'S DC DEBUT A SUCCESS

New Colorado defensive coordinator Chris Wilson joined some fine company when the Buffaloes defeated Northern Colorado 35-7 in the 2021 season opener. The 7 points allowed tied for the third-fewest, while the 256 yards were the third-lowest (with 48 of those against second/third-teamers on UNC’s final possession). Here’s a look at CU’s top defensive efforts in the first game of a defensive coordinator since the position evolved in the late 1960s:

POSSESSIONS DOWN IN 2021

Colorado averaged just 11.3 offensive possessions a game, down nearly a full three from 2020 and around two fewer than what the Buffs have traditionally averaged. It was the fewest average possessions per game since 2006, when the Buffs also had 135 total in 12 games, or 11.25 per. We have tracked this statistic at Colorado since 1984; in 37 previous seasons, CU has averaged under 12 possessions per game just twice (2006, 2019). The high average was 15.2 in 1992, when CU had a great defense and got the ball back to the offense more than any other season. A year-by-year look:

In 1989, CU scored on over half of its possessions: 72 of 138 times, or 52.1 percent (with 59 touchdowns). No other team has eclipsed the 50 percent plateau.

STIFLE, EDITH! (I'm so 70s). Since losing in Lincoln on Nov. 12, 1988 against Nebraska by a 7-0 score, the Buffaloes had won 75 straight games when holding the opponent to 13 points or less until dropping a 10-7 decision to Texas A&M in Denver on Sept. 11. CU had also won 29 in a row when the enemy has scored 14 or fewer dating to a 14-13 setback at Georgia in 2006; and 24 straight when the opponent has been held to 17 or fewer points (dating to a 17-10 loss at Iowa State in 2009). Colorado’s last loss at home when allowing 13 points or less remains the 1987 season opener against Oregon, when the Ducks left Boulder with a 10-7 win.

BROUSSARD: BACKGROUND TO BRUISING & RECORD SETTING DEBUT

Background: Sophomore TB Jarek Broussard was a member of CU's 2018 recruiting class: he initially tore the ACL in his left knee in high school, but by the time he arrived on campus, he was still in the rehab progression; he thus redshirted that fall (2018). Then in 2019, near the end of CU's August camp, he again tore the ACL in the same knee and subsequently had a second surgery (on Sept. 6) and again missed the full season. He began a second rehabilitation immediately, and would spend the remainder of the fall, all of winter, and then the entire lockdown due to the COVID-19 pandemic in Boulder working with CU's sports medicine staff with his rehab. "He has done an incredible job with his rehab and is truly a lesson in delayed gratification," said Andrew Hamstra, Colorado's head football trainer. He finished as the third-leading rusher in 2020, averaging 149.2 yards per game and was a co-recipient of the Mayo Clinic Comeback Player of the Year Award.

When he was finally cleared to participate, he started showing flashes in CU's 2020 fall camp and emerged as the starter at tailback for the season opener. He came out raring to go in Colorado's 48-42 opening win over UCLA on its roster. Of the seven occasions where a player rushed for at least 100 yards in his first game in a CU uniform, he recorded the most yards (note: freshmen were ineligible from 1953-1971; #—in Denver):

Player, Class	Opponent	Date	Att.	Yards	TD
Jarek Broussard, Soph.	UCLA	11/07/20	31	187	3

Ron Rieger, Soph.	TULSA	9/20/69	23	100	1

As far as the first start at the tailback position, Broussard's effort ranked as the third-most yards gained (all other players in the top 10 appeared in games at previous positions (Pritchard started his only game at tailback in his career in the '90 season opener versus Tennessee (subbing for Eric Bieniemy; he and Flannigan appeared at halfback on several occasions before CU moved to the I-Bone in 1989 and went with one featured back instead of two halfbacks); Anderson was a quarterback for two-plus seasons who was moved to tailback the third game of the '69 season). The top efforts in a first start at tailback in CU history (a—first game in a CU uniform):

- ➔ Broussard earned the Pac-12 Conference's Offensive Player-of-the-Week honor for his efforts, just the second Buffalo running back to do so since CU joined the Pac-12 in 2011; Phillip Lindsay won in 2017 for the Arizona State game. Rodney Stewart won it twice in the Big 12 Conference (2009 vs. Kansas, 2010 vs. Kansas State), otherwise you have to go back to 2002 when Chris Brown earned it twice (against UCLA and Kansas).
- ➔ Not only did Broussard set the record for the most rushing yards gained (187) in the first game in a CU uniform, he also set the record for yards from scrimmage (208) and all-purpose yards (221).

BROUSSARD PART 2: JOINS MORE ELITE COMPANY

Broussard had a second 100-yard game at Stanford (27-121), and in the process became the seventh Buffalo (on eight occasions) to rush for 100 or more yards in the first two games of a season, and the first to do so in 15 years, or when TB Hugh Charles did it against Colorado State and New Mexico State to open the 2005 season. He joined TB Charlie Davis (1971) and TB Marcus Houston (2000) as the only three to do it in their first two career games,

- ▶ With 124 yards against San Diego State, he joined Davis as the only ones to rush for 100 or more in the first three games of a CU career.
- ▶ Then, with 301 yards at Arizona, he has now rushed for more yards in the first four games of a season than any player in Colorado history, and is the first to hit the century mark or more for the first four games of a CU career. He also became just the fourth player in Division I-A/FBS since 1996 to gain 100 or more yards in the first four games of his career (chart below).

- ▶ Against Arizona in 2020, his 155 yards in the second quarter (eight carries) set a CU record for rushing yards and for all-purpose yards in a quarter. His 184 rushing yards in the first half is the second-most for a half, behind 206 by Davis against Oklahoma State in Boulder on Nov. 13, 1971.
- ▶ And in the win over the Wildcats, he set the school record for most 50+ yard rushes in a game with three (75, 72, 59); several had two.
- ▶ Broussard accounted for 38.6 percent of CU's total offense in 2020 (813 of 2,105 yards); in 1994, CU's Heisman Trophy winner, Rashaan Salaam, ran for 2,055 yards, which was 37.7 percent of CU's 5,448 yards on offense.
- ▶ Broussard led the Pac-12 in rushing (149.2 yards per game, bowl game counted); the first Buff to lead a conference since 2002 (TB Chris Brown, 153.4, Big 12).

Broussard earned first-team All-Pac-12 honors (AP, Coaches), the first CU running back make first-team all-conference since Chris Brown in 2002. Also named the league's Offensive Player of the Year (Coaches, co-honors from the AP), he's the first since Brown to earn a similar honor (2002, Big 12 for Brown), and the sixth on offense in CU history, joining QB Darian Hagan (his position coach, 1989 Big 8), TB Eric Bieniemy (1990, Big 8), WR Charles E. Johnson (1993, Big 8), TB Rashaan Salaam (1994, Big 8, his Heisman Trophy Year) and Brown.

BROUSSARD EARNS MAYO CLINIC COMEBACK PLAYER OF THE YEAR HONORS

Sophomore tailback Jarek Broussard was named one of three annual recipients of the 2021 Mayo Clinic Comeback Player of the Year Award.

A member of CU's 2018 recruiting class, Broussard initially tore the anterior cruciate ligament (ACL) in his left knee in high school, but by the time he arrived on campus, he was still in the rehab progression; he thus redshirted that fall. Then in 2019, near the end of CU's August camp, he again tore the ACL in the same knee and subsequently had a second surgery and again missed the full season. He began a second rehabilitation immediately, and would spend the remainder of the fall, all of winter, and then the entire lockdown due to the COVID-19 pandemic in Boulder working with CU's sports medicine staff with his rehab.

After an injury sidelined Alex Fontenot, the returning starting tailback, Broussard moved from third on the depth chart into the top spot by the time CU opened its 2020 season against UCLA on Nov. 7. He would have a record-setting performance against the Bruins in CU's 48-42 win, rushing for the most yards (187) in the first game in a CU uniform, as well as for those for yards from scrimmage (208) and all-purpose yards (221). He was named the Pac-12 Offensive Player of the Week for his performance, an honor he would earn four weeks later when he rambled for 301 yards in a 24-13 Buff win at Arizona, just the third 300-yard single game rushing performance in school history.

Also named the Pac-12 Conference's Offensive Player of the Year (by both the AP and the league coaches), he finished the regular season as the NCAA's second-leading rusher, averaging 162.6 yards per game; three-fourths of the way through the bowls, he's still third, with a 149.2 per game norm (895 yards in six games) after gaining 82 yards in the Alamo Bowl against Texas. He became just the fourth player in the NCAA since 1996 to open a career with four consecutive 100-yard rushing games, with Oklahoma's Adrian Peterson the last to do so in 2004.

"Winning the Comeback Player of the Year Award is a great honor, Broussard said. "I'd like to thank the Mayo Clinic, CoSIDA, the AP and Fiesta Bowl for making this award possible and honoring me with it.

"First and foremost, this is a team award," he continued. "I really need to recognize and thank the support I received from my coaches and teammates, especially my offensive line, and all the people in sports medicine who were with me throughout. They all believed in me. Even making a finalist for this prestigious award showed that all the hard work coming back from two knee surgeries was worth it, and winning it is truly special."

"I remember back in March, we weren't sure if he'd be ready by the fall; he wasn't ready to participate in spring practices had we been able to have them," Colorado head coach Karl Dorrell said. "So he was one of those guys that was just on the peripheral of our thoughts, and it was, 'We'll see if he's ready for camp, where he would be in our depth chart, things like that.'"

"So for that scenario to happen back in March and how we ended camp, he was our best player in that position," Dorrell added. "He's come a long way, from where we weren't sure if he was going to be healthy enough to play to becoming the conference's player of the year, a first-team All-Pac-12 performer and now one of the three comeback players of the year. A truly great story of perseverance."

Broussard's position coach, Darian Hagan, echoed Dorrell's sentiments, and along the way gave the CU sophomore some very sound advice.

"I am so proud of Jarek, how far he's come after what he's been through," Hagan said. "It takes a lot out of you not only physically but mentally to comeback after one knee surgery, much less two. But he was all-in to do everything he needed to do in his rehabilitation and more, it proves good things can happen when perseverance prevails."

Hagan should know; he suffered a torn ACL in the '91 Orange Bowl but worked hard to return for his senior season that fall, not only in his third year as CU's starting quarterback, but also as the team's punt return to help his professional prospects. He knew how much potential Broussard had when he recruited him out of Dallas' Bishop Lynch High School. That carried over to CU's preseason camp.

"Just watching him with the ball in his hands, we had nobody on our defense who could tackle him," Hagan said. "I knew that he had that special trait that you want as a running back. Then, unfortunately, he gets hurt again. I sat down with him and told him he needed to be all-in with his rehabilitation, and that he needed to make his injured leg bigger and stronger than his healthy one. He took it to heart and everyone can see the results."

"He has done an incredible job with his rehab and is truly a lesson in delayed gratification," said Andrew Hamstra, Colorado's head football trainer.

The other two recipients for the 2020 honor were Kenneth Horsey, a sophomore offensive lineman for the University of Kentucky, and Silas Kelly, a senior linebacker at Coastal Carolina University. The three football student-athletes overcame injury and illness to excel on the field this season. They were selected by a vote of Associated Press college football writers and were officially recognized during the PlayStation® Fiesta Bowl.

BROUSSARD BACK-TO-BACK

TB Jarek Broussard scored CU's first points of the year the last two seasons; when Bobby Anderson did the same in 1967-68 (the fifth to do so twice in school history), it didn't occur again until WR Roman Hollowell scored on a TD reception in 1999 and then on a punt return in 2001. Since, it's become common place: TB Bobby Purify (2003-04), PK Mason Crosby (2005-06), WR Scotty McKnight (2007-08), WR Paul Richardson (2011-13) and WR Nelson Spruce (2012, 2014). No player has scored CU's first points of a season three times.

FASTEST TO 1,000

TB Jarek Broussard, with 1,474 career rushing yards, reached the 1K pinnacle in just nine regular season games (CU doesn't include bowl stats in season or career records). The fastest to 1,000 in the number of games played had been Charlie Davis, who reached the mark in his 10th game, the 10th of his sophomore season in 1971 (doing so on a 67-yard TD run). He hit 1,000 on his 172nd carry, the fourth-fewest. Eddie Dove (1956-58) hit 1,000 yards on his 139th carry, Carroll Hardy (1951-54) did it on his 148th rush, Frank Bernardi (1951-54) on his 156th and Davis on his 163rd.

► He is already 31st on CU's all-time rushing list, as he is averaging 92.1 yards per game (16 games).

LANDMAN BUTKUS SEMIFINALIST FOR SECOND STRAIGHT YEAR

Senior ILB Nate Landman has once again been named for the second straight year as one of 16 semifinalists for the 37th annual Butkus Award by its selection committee. He currently leads the team in tackles with 71 – bidding to become the first to lead CU in the stat for four years – but is currently doubtful this week with a soft-tissue shoulder injury. He is the sixth player in school history to record 400 career tackles (409, which ties for fifth).

The Buffaloes have two previous winners, Alfred Williams (1990) and Matt Russell (1996); two runner-ups, Ted Johnson (1994) and Jordon Dizon (2007), and one other semifinalist, Greg Biekert (1992). Russell also finished fourth for the honor in 1995 (the 2020 Butkus Award was eventually won by Notre Dame's Jeremiah Owusu-Koramoah).

Prior to suffering a torn Achilles tendon last Dec. 12 against Utah (he has since returned to 100 percent), had a “landmark” two weeks, beginning with a monster effort in CU's 20-10 win over San Diego State. Against the Aztecs, he recorded 11 tackles (10 solo), which included six stops at or behind the line of scrimmage: three quarterback sacks, a tackle for loss, and two tackles for zero gains. He had four third down stops, as all three of his sacks were on third downs, and added a pass broken up (also on third down) and a touchdown save. He was in for all 59 snaps on defense, and on special teams duty, he added a forced fair catch on punt coverage. On Sunday (Nov. 29), Landman was selected as the Walter Camp Football Foundation's National Defensive Player of the Week, the first defensive Buffalo to earn the honor since CB Terrence Wheatley for his three interception game at Texas Tech in 2007. Otherwise, you have to go back to 1996 for the player previously honored, FS Steve Rosga against Oklahoma State.

Landman led the team in tackles in 2020 with 61, and also has team-bests of 13 third down stops (including two on fourth down), and seven tackles for zero which also gave him a team-high of 14 stops at or behind the line of scrimmage when including his eight TFL's. (Career numbers and ranks below.)

And later on that same Monday, he was named the Pac-12 Conference's Defensive Player of the Week for the second time this season (also for CU's win at Stanford); the last CU defensive player to win twice in the same season was SS Tedric Thompson in 2016 (for the Stanford and Utah games). Other players on the defense who have been recognized twice in a season as conference players of the week include DE Bill Brundige (1969), ILB Bill Roe (1979), DT Art Walker (1989), OLB Darin Schubeck (1986) and FS Steve Rosga (1996); Roe is the only one to also win in back-to-back games. Landman has now earned the honor three times, joining Rosga, ILB Greg Biekert as three-time defensive POW selections in their careers.

But wait – there was more: on Dec. 1, the FWA named him as the Bronko Nagurski National Defensive Player of the Week, the second time in his career that he has been afforded that honor (also for the 2018 Nebraska game). He's the third Buffalo to win the Nagurski honor since its inception in 2001; Wheatley won it in 2007 for the Texas Tech game. Then on Dec. 8, the Maxwell Club tabbed him as the Chuck Bednarik National Defensive Player of the Week for his monster game at Arizona (17 tackles, 14 solo, three for losses including a sack, four third stops and two tackles for zero). He is also one of 24 semifinalists for the Lott Impact Award.

LANDMAN'S LANDMARKS

All-American candidate and second-time senior ILB Nate Landman healed from a torn Achilles suffered against Utah in the fifth game of the 2020 season in time to start the 2021 season. A roll call of what he has accomplished in a CU uniform:

- His bid to become the first player in school history to lead the team in tackles four times came to an end with a season-ending injury at California; with 71 (52 solo) in seven games, he did average 10+ four times, the first Buff to accomplish that feat; he finished fourth in the end, eight back of the lead.
- He became the sixth player in CU history to be in on 400 career tackles, as his 409 tied for fifth in all-time total stops, while his 285 unassisted stops are second. He is sixth in tackles for loss with 41, first in third down stops with 53, first in fourth down stops (9) and tied for 32nd in quarterback sacks (11, but tied for third among inside linebackers).
- He recorded 200 career tackles in just 24 career games on defense and hit 300 in 33 career contests. Only five players have 400 or more (all-time leader Barry Remington reached 400 in his 31st game).
- He had 137 tackles in 2019 (112 solo), or 11.4 per game; he finished with the most stops since ILB Jordon Dizon racked up 160 in 2007 (120 solo). The 137 tied him for the 14th-most in a single season at Colorado.
- His 112 solo tackles in 2019 ranked as the second-most in a single season, the fourth Buff to reach the century mark. Only ILB Jordan Dizon had more (120 in 2007); ILB Greg Biekert (105 in 1990) and ILB Ray Cone (102 in 1982).
- He had 16 unassisted tackles at Oregon in 2019 (16TT), tied for the fifth-most solo stops in school history.
- Landman's 137 tackles in 2019 were one more than the next two players combined (136; 69 by Davion Taylor and 67 by Mikial Onu); since CU started keeping tackle statistics in 1964, that's the first time that the team leader had more than the next two players combined.
- In his first career start on defense (2018 opener against CSU) he was in on 14 tackles (four solo), tying for the most tackles in a first career start.
- He has 22 double-digit tackle efforts in 46 career games (three this season; his personal best in tackles (19, 11 solo) came at Utah in 2018). The list:

CAREER CHART WATCH

AROUND THE NATION

Colorado has traditionally stocked its rosters primarily with players from three states: Colorado, California and Texas (77.6 percent of the entire roster—active and inactive—as of Oct. 17: 90 of 116 players, including three inactive). The roll call of state producers for the Buffaloes: Colorado 35, California 33, Texas 22, Florida 4, Alabama 2, Arizona 2, Mississippi 2, Washington 2, Arkansas 1, Georgia 1, Illinois 1, Iowa 1, Louisiana 1, Massachusetts 1, Michigan 1, Nevada 1, North Carolina 1, Oregon 1, Tennessee 1, Virginia 1, Wisconsin 1. That's 21 states total along with AUSTRALIA (1) that has produced the 2021 Buffaloes.

➔ AROUND THE WORLD: Five Buffaloes were born outside of the United States: WR Daniel Arias (Santa Domingo, D.R.), OLB Joshka Gustav (Germany), ILB Nate Landman (Zimbabwe) and P Josh Watts (Tasmania).

➔ BY CLASS: 3 graduate transfers; 4 seniors (4 fifth-year), 22 juniors (2 second-time), 21 sophomores (16 second-time, 2 third-time); 66 freshmen (44 true, 13 redshirt/2nd-year; nine third-time).

AND THE J'S (STILL) HAVE IT

Statistics show that more first names in the U.S. begin with the letter "J," followed by M, S, D and C. The Buffs take that to the extreme: on the 2021 Colorado roster, almost 22 percent on the team has first names that begin with J: 25 players overall who go by 24 different J names. The list:

THIRD DOWN SUCCESS DOWN IN 2021

3 Colorado has converted over 40 percent on third down in four of the past five seasons (exception: in 2018 when it converted at 36.1 percent). In 2020, and granted, just a five-game sample, the Buffs converted at a 46.8 percent clip, averaging 6.9 yards to go on 79 tries (and one of those "misses" came on a kneel-down to end the UCLA game). The Buffs were 35-of-64 on 3rd-&-10 or less (54.7), and 2-of-15 on 3rd-&-11 or longer has brought the average down. Opponents converted at a 33.8 clip in the regular season (just 10-of-30 on 3rd-&-6 or less, 33.3) despite averaging 7.4 yards to go. In the bowl game, Texas was just 2-of-11.

➔ But in 2021, Colorado was 51-of-158 (though 32-of-58 on 3rd-&-5 or less), while needing an average of 7.7 yards to go for a first down. CU was only 20-of-99 when calling a pass play (included 17 sacks).

➔ CU's best season of third down conversion percentage came in 1989 – 53.9 (83 of 154, including 30-of-30 on 3rd-&-1) – followed by 1990 (48.9), 1954 and 2020 (46.8), 1966 (46.0), 1987 (45.2), 1957 (45.1) and 2016 (44.5).

AND ON DEFENSE...

The Buffaloes did a great job on third down defense in 2020. Last year, including the bowl, the enemy was just 27-of-85 overall (31.8 percent, 13th-best nationally), and just 7-of-24 in tries of one-to-four yards. The Buffs recorded 12 quarterback sacks on third downs as well, whereas the opponent had just two on CU signal callers.

OLB Carson Wells had 4½ of those third down sacks and ILB Nate Landman three.

➔ 2021: Opponents were kept at bay (52-of-134, 38.8 percent) until Washington converted 14-of-21 times; the Huskies were just one of four teams to convert half the time or better (Oregon, 7-of-10, Arizona State (5-of-10, Utah 6-of-12.) The other eight opponents thus were just 46-of-126, or 36.5 percent.

CU's IN & OUT (Not the Burgers)

ILB Nate Landman and OLB/DE Carson Wells formed a pretty solid combination their last two seasons at CU, so much so that CU's long-time linebacker coach, Brian Cabral, nicknamed the pair "The Dynamic Duo" a la Batman & Robin. Landman's accomplishments are detailed on the previous page, and Wells quietly contributed nearly if not just as much. In 2020, Wells finished third on the team with 34 tackles (26 solo), and was the NCAA leader in tackles for loss with 2.7 per game (13½ overall, including 4½ sacks). He also had five passes broken up, five pressures and eight third downs stops to go with an interception. Including six tackles for zero, he had 20 tackles at or behind the line of scrimmage.

► In 2021, he was fifth in tackles with 62 (44 solo), with team highs of 17 pressures and 15 third down stops.

► Wells had three career interceptions, returning one 50 yards for a touchdown against Arizona in 2021.

► Wells was a TFL machine; he again led the team with 15 in 2021, including four in the win over Arizona and three in the Washington victory (including two sacks). He closed 2020 with three or more in the last four 2020 regular season games (3, 4, 4, 3), the first Buffalo to have four in a row with that many since Alfred Williams in 1990. He then had 2½ in the Alamo Bowl against Texas (the NCAA recognized him with 16 in six games; CU does not include bowl stats).

FUMBLE ME OR FUMBLE ME NOT

Hanging on to the football is one thing that the Colorado Buffaloes have done most of last decade, and they took it up a notch in 2019. The Buffaloes did not fumble the ball in six games, and had just 11 fumbles, and "11" is actually a bit misleading: three were charged to the team on bad snaps and a fourth happened on a muffed try at scooping up a punt; the three that were lost were on special teams (two on kickoff returns and that muffed punt; the offense never lost a fumble. The Buffs set a record with four consecutive games without a fumble, which included a stretch of 446 touches (scrimmage plays, punts/placement kicks, returns, fair catches).

- ▶ In 2019, 1,021 touches, that was one fumble for every 92.8 touches. The ones most prone to fumble, running backs, had just three in 367 (rushes, receptions, returns).
- ▶ In 2020, 445 touches, that was one fumble for every 75.7 touches. The ones most prone to fumble, running backs, had just one in 185 (rushes, receptions, returns).
- ▶ 2021 numbers: 11 fumbles (two of which came one on punt return muffs and three on center snaps) in 872 touches (707 scrimmage plays; 4 recoveries, 9 interceptions, 152 special teams: 41 returns, 66 punts and 45 placements)—one for every 79.3 touches;
- ▶ Since the start of the 2013 season, Colorado has a total of 131 fumbles (losing 55) — out of 9,330 touches (or 1 in for every 71.2 touches).
- ▶ CU's tailbacks have just 23 over the last nine seasons in 2,937 carries (or just one in every 127.7 attempts); 0 in 317 carries in 2021;
- ▶ CU's first lost fumble in 2020 came 193 minutes and 31 seconds into the season (fourth game), a school record for the longest into a year before losing one;
- ▶ CU had no fumbles in six games in 2019, tying the school record set in 2014 and 2017 (and has none in 38 of its last 101 games).
- ▶ CU has lost just 22 fumbles (4 this season) dating back into the 2016 season (out of 87 fumbles overall in this 66-game span).
- ▶ CU lost just 3 fumbles in 2019, none on offense (two on kickoff returns, one on a muffed punt return); that tied for the third fewest in the NCAA, and lost only 3 again in 2020; and lost just in 2021.

ALMOST PERFECT IN CLOSE

Dating back to nine games into the 2016 season, Colorado has had 96 goal-to-go situations, scoring 94 times (or 97.9 percent of the time); 74 of the scores have been touchdowns to go with 20 field goals. The only non-scores came on a drive ending on downs in 2018 against Oregon State (in overtime) and an interception last year at Oregon. A look at perfect (or near) seasons in this regard since 1984 when the stat was first tracked (18-for-18 in 2021; 14 TDs):

RECORD YEAR FOR THE "RED ZONE" OFFENSE

Or as we call it: Scoring Percentage Inside-the-20 Offense. Though the offense struggled at times throughout the season, the 2021 Buffaloes did finish with the best percentage of scoring once it cracked the opponent 20. Colorado scored on 31-of-33 possessions into the red zone, including 20 touchdowns. That worked to a 93.9 percentage, which was the third best figure in the nation (tops in the Pac-12) through the regular season. Oklahoma leads with a 96.4 mark (54-of-56), with Iowa State second (45-of-47, 95.7); next best in the Pac-12 is Washington (35-of-38, 92.1). The old school record was 90.6, set in both 1985 and 1994. Thanks to a great archive of play-by-plays dating back to the early 1950s, CU was able to research numbers back to 1953 when a full year of play by plays were available. (See page 22 for bests in both offense and defense.)

THAT REDSHIRT RULE

Beginning with the 2018 season, incoming freshmen can now play in up to four games but not lose a year of eligibility; this also applies to anyone else on the roster. In any year they play in four games or less, they get the year back (and the four can be at any point during the season; they do not have to be the first four games). Also if a player redshirts as a true freshman and then suffers a season-ending injury within the first four games of another season, he's now eligible for a sixth-year without having to lose two years to injuries and go through the old petition process. A perfect example would be Derek McCartney, who redshirted as a true freshman in 2013, and was injured in game three of his fourth-year (2016); he would have been awarded a sixth-year of eligibility under this rule change.

If this rule had been permanently in place since freshmen were allowed to play, here are some notable Buffaloes that would have earned a full season back due to either playing in four games or less at some point in their career due to injury, and others who were simply inserted at the end of games over the course of the season when the outcomes had already been decided (assuming the four-game maximum would have applied in 11-game seasons prior to 2006; *—denotes true freshman):

WR *Dave Logan, 1972	Debuted late in week two in a 56-14 win over Cincinnati, when he had his lone reception of the year. He was on the travel squad, but appeared just a couple of more times.
TB *James Mayberry, 1975	Appeared late in several games, had 16 rushing attempts and one reception.
DT George Smith, 1982	Injured in the fourth game of the year, he had 34 tackles, four for losses when he was lost for the year.
WB *Mike Pritchard, 1987	Appeared in six games and 17 rushes and threw seven passes.
QB *Darian Hagan, 1988	Appeared in five games (plus the Freedom Bowl), had 38 rushes and threw seven passes.
QB *Vance Joseph, 1990	Appeared in four games, had 13 rushes and threw seven passes (and was next in line to play in the '91 Orange Bowl).
QB *Kordell Stewart, 1991	Appeared in two games, had 18 rushes and threw two passes.
QB *Koy Detmer, 1992	Pressed into duty to rally CU over Minnesota in game three, started two others and appeared in seven overall; but he was also injured early in the fourth game in 1995, so either would have applied.
ILB Jashon Sykes, 2001	Injured in the fourth game of the year, he had already racked up 33 tackles and 3½ sacks
QB *Joel Klatt, 2002	Played three snaps late against Baylor in game seven, appeared in a handful of others after, including on the punt team.
OLB Derek McCartney, 2016	Had already utilized his redshirt year, so when lost for the season with a torn ACL in game three at Michigan, he lost that year.

And there were several players in 1984, when CU resurrected its junior varsity team for one year; several played in the three JV games and then saw some time afterward in some of the last six varsity games. These included WR Lance Carl, ILB Don DeLuzio, TB Dion Dyson, TE/P Keith English, WR Drew Ferrando, QB Mark Hatcher, P Barry Helton, TB Sam Smith, CB David Tate and FB Anthony Weatherspoon.

AND WHO BENEFITTED THE FIRST YEAR? SEVEN BUFFS ... 22 SINCE

In 2018, there were seven Buffaloes who benefitted from the NCAA's new redshirt which permits players to play in up to four games and not lose a year of eligibility provided they had a redshirt year available to them (no fifth-year seniors played in four games or less who were lost for the season due to injury, as exceptions could have been made in those instances). Those players, with the games they appeared in parenthesis (*—no longer on team): OLB *Jacob Callier (4), PK *Tyler Francis (2), P Alex Kinney (4), PK Evan Price (2), WR Dimitri Stanley (3), DB *L.J. Wallace (1) and ILB *Jake Yurachek (1).

► In 2019, the rule was applied to 10 players who met the criteria: CB Mehki Blackmon (4), OT Frank Fillip (2), OLB Joshka Gustav (3), ILB Marvin Ham (4), OL Austin Johnson (1), OLB Jamar Montgomery (4), OLB Alec Pell (4), ILB Quinn Perry (1), PK Evan Price (4) and WR La'Vontae Shenault (4).

► In 2020, all players in the FBS were granted an extra year of eligibility if they chose to take advantage of it, regardless of number of games played.

► In 2021, there are 9 current players who meet the criteria: TE Caleb Fauria (4), C Noah Fenske (2), OLB Devin Grant (3), WR Jaylon Jackson (2), OLB Zion Magalei (1), DL Tyas Martin (1), TE Austin Smith (2), ILB Mister Williams (3), DL Ryan Williams (2).

SEASON OPENERS: UNDERCLASSMEN STARTERS

The depth is always fluid leading up to the first game, but with 10 underclassmen (four freshmen, six sophomores) atop the opening season depth chart, it was the third most upperclassmen that would start a Colorado opener dating back to 1995. The last four season opener numbers are among the top 10 in this time frame. A look at the most underclassmen starters for the Buffaloes over the last 27 seasons:

WATTS DEVELOPED INTO A MAJOR WEAPON

Junior P Josh Watts, the Pac-12 Conference's third-leading punter (sixth in the NCAA), enjoyed a breakout year, averaging 47.8 yards for 66 punts net of 39.5). He averaging 50.7 yards for 21 punts from the CU 25 and inside, and 48.6 for 57 kicks from CU's side of the field. He had eight games where he has averaged 47.8 yards or more in each, including the first six-game with at least five or more kicks over 48 yards or more since 2004, when the last time a CU punter averaged over 47 yards a kick for that many games in a row (minimum of four punts): P John Torp had that number or better also for six straight. Karl Dorrell credits some of his improvement to CU's new strength coach, Shannon Turley, who has worked extensively with Watts to eliminate the soft tissue injuries he had in 2020. (See his expanded punting stats on the last page of CU's statistics sheets.)

IN THE POLLS / SOME HISTORY

Colorado re-entered the national polls on Dec. 6, 2020 (No. 21 AP/No. 22 USAT), after last being ranked on Oct. 13, 2018 (No. 25 in the USA Today/Coaches poll), and was last in the AP poll on Oct. 6, 2018 (No. 19; the Buffs were a season-high No. 18 the same day in the coach's ballot). The Buffs were not ranked in 2017, and had climbed to as high as No. 9 in both polls (twice) in 2016; CU had not been ranked previous to '16 since 2005. Colorado owns the ninth longest streak of all-time, as from the 1989 preseason poll through the fifth week of 1997, CU had a run of 143 consecutive weeks in the AP poll. CU has been ranked 305 times in its history, the 29th most all-time; the Buffs have finished in the top four on four occasions, tied for 22nd most (the College Football Playoff includes the top four teams; only USC, with 12, has more than CU from the Pac-12).

Colorado became the 25th school to reach the 700-win mark with a 44-28 win over California in 2017; the Buffs have an all-time record of 718-525-36 (a .575 winning percentage). In addition to being 27th on the all-time win list, CU is 36th in winning percentage (29th for schools with 1,000 or more games [-played in the FBS]). THE VERTICAL GAME (EXPLOSION PLAYS)

CU, as in the case with most teams, often is most dangerous on offense when the unit can strike for the big play both via the rush and pass. Colorado had 57 “explosion” plays in 2016, or ones that gained 20 or more yards; that was the most by a CU team since 2007 (49 in 2017). Here’s a look at CU’s 20-plus plays in recent memory, not including bowls, going back to 1994, when CU had a high of 76 plays over 20-yards, almost equal in nature (37 rush, 39 pass):

The Buffaloes have historically done well when holding the opponent to under 100 yards rushing and under 300 yards total offense. Dating back to the start of the 1985 season, Colorado is 107-15-1 when the opponent fails to reach 100 yards on the ground, and 107-20-1 when the enemy is held under 300 yards overall. CU is 14-1 and 18-0 in each, respectively, dating back to the start of the 2013 season (1-0 in 2021).

AHEAD IN A BIG WAY

From 2006-15, the opponent had almost always had a distinct advantage in TSL (time spent in the lead), but CU reversed that and then some in 2016. The Buffs led for 457 minutes and 20 seconds, or 59 percent of the time; opponents for just 24 percent and the score tied the other 17 percent. CU led for more minutes in 2016 than it had in all 11 previous years after just eight games (and when it held the edge over an entire season just twice: 2005 and 2010. But alas, the opponent held a slight edge in both 2017 and 2018 (bowl games not included):

TURNOVER FREE

Colorado has had an impressive number of turnover free games dating back 10-plus seasons, and in 2017, Colorado had a record run of 16 consecutive quarters played without turning the ball over (253:52 in total time). Colorado played 17 games out of 74 in six seasons under Mike MacIntyre without a turnover, the highest percentage in any CU head coach’s tenure over two years since World War II; then comes along Karl Dorrell, who has seen his teams already have eight in 18 games, the top percentage ever as he heads into year three. Take a look (TFG—turnover free games; TG—total games):

Coach	TFG	(Record)	TG	Pct.	Coach	TFG	(Record)	TG	Pct.	Coach	TFG	(Record)	TG	Pct.
Mike MacIntyre	17	(11-6)	74	23.0	Dal Ward	5	(2-1-2)	110	4.5	Brian Cabral	1	(1-0)	3	33.3
Bill McCartney	23	(18-3-2)	153	15.0	Bill Mallory	1	(1-0)	57	1.7	Jon Embree	5	(1-4)	25	20.0

Eddie Crowder	6	(5-1)	118	5.1	Mel Tucker	4	(5-7)	12	33.3

- Karl Dorrell became CU’s third straight head coach to not have his team turn the ball over in his first game (vs. UCLA in 2020).
- Colorado has played 20 turnover-free games in its last 53, easily the school-best for a span of that few number of games. And in 2017, it nearly had a fifth—an interception on a Hail Mary as time ran out at Arizona State was the lone turnover of that game.
- Post-World War II (dating back to 1946), Colorado has played 96 turnover-free games, owning a record of 62-30-4 in those games (2-1 in bowls).
- Colorado played at least three turnover-free games in the five seasons from 2015-19; COVID shortened the 2020 season, but with seven in 2021, the 20 games without a turnover over 2017-21 are the most in any five-year span in school history, besting 18 mistake-free games from 2015-19.
- Colorado has now had at least one turnover-free game for 12 straight seasons (2010-21, 36 total), now the longest run in school annals: the Buffs had at least one for 10 straight years (1998-2007, 19 total); CU also had a run of nine consecutive seasons (1987-95, 22 total).

A DOZEN HAVE DASHED 100 ... OR FURTHER

CB Nikko Reed took the second half kickoff three yards deep and proceeded to race (officially) 100 yards for a touchdown in CU’s 28-13 loss at Utah. It was the 12th 100-yard play in CU history, the eighth kickoff return of that length. Of the dozen, it was just the second by a freshman (joining Marques Mosley’s kickoff return in 2012 against Utah), and the first outside of the state of Colorado. Note: the NCAA seals returns at a 100-yard maximum; if it allowed returns to be scored like the NFL, counting end zone yardage, Nick Fisher’s interception return in 2017 would have been credited as a 109-yard return (CU’s head statistician is also the Broncos’). And there was almost a 13th: ILB Marcus Burton came close in 2005, when he picked one off at the half yard line and raced 99 yards for a score — at Oklahoma State.

DID YOU SAY UTES?

Stealing from My Cousin Vinny and the last Fred Gwynne's classic line, as of press time, Bowling Green conducted a survey on who is carrying the most freshmen on their rosters. They did the survey based on high schoolers that graduated either in the class of 2020 or the class of 2021 (so, not counting anyone from 2019 that did not lose a year of eligibility by playing four games or less).

FATHER-SON SCORING

When WR Dimitri Stanley scored the first touchdown (and points) of his career with a 13-yard TD reception against Air Force in 2019, he joined his father Walter ('81) as the fourth father-son duo to score points for the Buffs; they are now the highest-scoring father-son duo in CU history (the list; year is the last season on the Buffs):

Father: Larry Brunson, 1971 (3 TDs)
Father: Marc Walters, 1986 (2 TDs)

Son: Matt Brunson, 2001 (2 TDs)
Son: Ryan Walters, 2006 (1 TD)

Father: Dick Anderson, 1967 (2 PATs)
Father: Walter Stanley, 1981 (5 TDs)

Son: Blake Anderson, 1994 (1 TD)
Son: Dimitri Stanley, 2019-21 (4 TDs)

FATHER-SON "100"

WR Dimitri Stanley recorded his first 100-yard career receiving game when he caught six balls for 126 yards and a TD in CU's 35-32 win over Stanford. His father, Walter, caught five passes for 222 yards and two scores in the 1981 season opener against Tech. The younger Stanley thus joined his dad as the only father-son duo in school history to record 100-yard receiving games. How common is that at the same school around the nation? Here's a look from a survey of other schools, as apparently it is fairly uncommon (number in parenthesis is the number of 100-yard games for each):

School	Father, Seasons (#)	Son, Seasons (#)	School	Father, Seasons (#)	Son, Seasons (#)
Colorado	Walter Stanley, 1980-81 (1)	Dimitri, 2019-20 (1)	Stanford	Ed McCaffrey, 1987-90 (8)	Christian, 2014-16 (2)
Florida	Lee McGriff, 1972-74 (5)	Travis, 1995-98 (7)	UCLA	George Farmer, 1967-69 (2)	Danny, 1996-99 (11)
Illinois	John Wright, Sr., 1965-67 (12)	John, Jr., 1988-91 (1)	Wisconsin	Al Toon, 1982-84 (6)	Nick, 2008-11 (4)
Kentucky	Dicky Lyons, Sr., 1966-68 (1)	Dicky Jr., 2004-08 (3)

► And be on the alert for a potential "Brother-Brother 100." With freshman La'Vontae Shenault in the regular rotation at receiver, his older brother Laviska had eight 100-yard receiving games for the Buffaloes. They would be the first brother-brother combo to do it if the younger Shenault has a 100-yard game (the younger Shenault is serving an indefinite suspension at present).

INSIDE-THE-20

(FACT: CU created charting the red zone in 1981 as "Penetrating the 20"; as in the NFL, the 20 is not in the red zone in its stats)

The Buffaloes, after going through a period where they had their frustrations once penetrating the opponent 20-yard line, has been very efficient over the last eight seasons in the stats' original name, "Scoring Percentage Inside-the-20." Dating back to the start of the 2014 season, Colorado is 283-of-331 in the "Red Zone" (85.5 percent, 197 touchdowns/86 field goals). In 2021, the Buffaloes had their best year overall, scoring on 31-of-33 penetrations (20 touchdowns). Here's a look at CU's best Red Zone performances on offense in its history; numbers were researched from 1953 to the present (bow! games not included):

RED ZONE OFFENSE (minimum 30 penetrations of the 20)

Season	Scores	(TD, FG)	TD Pct.	Pct.	Season	Scores	(TD, FG)	TD Pct.	Pct.

And defensively, the Buffaloes enjoyed one of their best seasons as well, the 19th-best (out of 69 years of data) and the fourth-best of a CU team with a losing record:

GRADUATION REVIEW

(Through August 2021) Over the last 20 years, Colorado has had 360 of its 393 seniors graduate, translating to 91.6 percent in this time frame (including 17 of the 20 seniors in 2019); these are the 2001-2020 senior classes, including those players who received medicals. Over the last 13 years, 243 of the last 263 have graduated (92.4%), with 10 of those 20 either playing in the NFL or attempting to do so and haven't yet been able to complete their requirements. NCAA numbers will not match these (it doesn't allow a school to count transfers who graduate, but it does count against a school if it had a player transfer; it also does not count walk-ons). It is one of the reasons the numbers are skewed to be lower than they really are, especially at tougher academic schools like Colorado and its Pac-12 brethren. TEAM GRADE POINT AVERAGE: The team's 2.833 cumulative grade point average through the Fall 2021 semester is its second-highest on record, just behind 2.851 for the Spring '21 term (data collected since 1996); the team has 22 straight semesters over a 2.5. Its cumulative GPA through the fall of 2.787 is also an all-time best.

100+ RETURN YARDS NOT THAT COMMON

A key factor in a game can be return yards (punt, interception, fumble, blocked kicks, jut not kickoff).

- CU's has just seven games since 2002 with over 100 return yards in a game (and in 2021 had two in the same season for just the second time since 2002, as the Buffs had 121 yards (71 punt, 50 interception, with two scores) against Arizona and 111 against Washington; the last time with three was 2001). In 2016, CU had 175 against UCLA in its 20-10 win (accounting for one touchdown), the most return yards by the Buffs since Oct. 26, 2002, when they had 183 in a 37-13 win over Texas Tech (125 interception, 44 punt, 14 fumble). In 2017, CU owned had two games with 100-plus (116-9 versus Texas State and 126-5 against Cal).
- The opponents' last 100-plus return yard game was by Michigan in 2016 (the Wolverines had 132); opponents have had seven 100+ games dating back to 2011.
- In 2018, CU had an overall edge of 372-275, which included edges of 87-0 against CSU and 32-(-2) at Nebraska.

99 IS SO NICE

Colorado scored for the seventh time in its history on a 99-yard drive to close out the scoring in the 2015 Arizona State game. TB Christian Powell started it with a 42-yard burst from the CU 1, and a Sefo Liufau-to-Nelson Spruce touchdown pass covering 31 yards ended the seven-play march over a gassed ASU defense. The seven:

99—vs. Northwestern at Evanston, Sept. 29, 1951 (6 plays)

99—vs. Oklahoma at Norman, Oct. 19, 1991 (8 plays)

99—vs. Arizona State in Boulder, Sept. 13, 2014 (7 plays)

99—vs. Miami, Fla., at Miami, Oct. 13, 1961 (21 plays)

99—vs. Oklahoma at Norman, Oct. 19, 1991 (14 plays)

99—vs. Iowa State in Boulder, Oct. 29, 1988 (8 plays)

99—vs. Oklahoma State at Stillwater, Oct. 27, 2001 (5 plays)

Karl Dorrell has completed two seasons as the head coach at Colorado, and his seventh as a head coach on the collegiate level; he was named CU's 27th full-time coach on February 23, 2020; he is 8-10 at Colorado and owns an overall 43-37 record. A truly veteran coach with a pedigree second to none, he started as a graduate assistant at his alma mater (UCLA) in 1988 and has spent the last 33 seasons coaching football, with a little more in college (19 years) than in the National Football League (14). He joined the Buffaloes from the Miami Dolphins, where he coached the wide receivers in 2019 and had just been promoted to assistant head coach, but Dorrell was no stranger to Colorado and Boulder. Bill McCartney hired him ahead of the 1992 season as CU's receivers coach, his first Division I-A/FBS job; he left CU for one year at Arizona State in 1994, but when Rick Neuheisel was named head coach after McCartney retired, he returned for his second stint at the school, this time as offensive coordinator, receivers and quarterbacks coach for the 1995-98 seasons until he accompanied Neuheisel to the University of Washington in 1999. The lure of the state of Colorado brought him back a third time, in this instance as the wide receivers coach for the Denver Broncos for the 2000, 2001 and 2002 seasons until his alma mater came calling and named him its head coach. He was 35-27 in five seasons at UCLA (2003-07), and would then go on to spend 12 of the next 13 years in the NFL.

- ◆ He has coached in nine bowl games (1993 Fiesta, 1993 Aloha, 1996 Cotton, 1999 Holiday, 2003 Silicon Valley, 2004 Las Vegas, 2005 Sun, 2006 Emerald, 2020 Alamo).
- ◆ The 2020 Pac-12 Coach of the Year, he was previously the co-coach of the year in 2005 when he was in his third year at UCLA (with USC's Pete Carroll).
- ◆ In his two previous stints at Colorado, the Buffaloes were 50-19-2 (17-5-2 under Bill McCartney, 1992-93; 33-14 under Rick Neuheisel, 1995-98).
- ◆ He is the third African-American head football coach at Colorado, as Jon Embree headed the program in 2011-12 and Mel Tucker (2019). He is one of four in the Pac-12: David Shaw (10th year at Stanford), Herm Edwards (third season at Arizona State) and Donte Williams (interim at USC).
- ◆ How much did Dorrell and his family love Colorado? They had a house built here in nearby Lafayette as he decided that when his coaching days were over, they wanted to retire to the state. Thus, this is definitely his dream job and he was actually headed to town for a few days prior to planning to attend the 2020 NFL Combine when he got the call from athletic director Rick George about interviewing for the vacant head coaching position.
- ◆ In his first two stints at Colorado, he coached three All-Americans (Michael Westbrook in 1992, Charles Johnson in 1993, Rae Carruth in 1996), ___ All-Conference (Big 8 or Big 12) performers on various levels (receivers Westbrook, Johnson, Carruth, Phil Savoy all first-team, along with Darrin Chiaverini, Javon Green and James Kidd and quarterback Mike Moschetti). Johnson, Westbrook and Carruth were all first round NFL draft picks.
- ◆ Dorrell is not the first to be hired as the head coach at Colorado who previously was an assistant coach at the school; in fact, he is the fifth. He joins an impressive list of those who spent time in Boulder as an assistant before being named head coach: Frank Potts (assistant for the 1927-39, 1941-43 and 1946-47 seasons), Rick Neuheisel (1994), Gary Barnett (1984-91) and Jon Embree (1993-2002). Dorrell joined the Buffs the season after Barnett was named head coach at Northwestern, and Neuheisel actually had replaced Dorrell on the Colorado staff under Bill McCartney.
- ◆ Dorrell is also the third CU coach to take over the program after signing day: Chuck Fairbanks arrived in Boulder on April 4, 1979 after a lengthy court battle with the New England Patriots to release him from their contract, and McCartney was hired on June 9, 1982 after Fairbanks left to coach New Jersey in the fledgling United States Football League (USFL).
- ◆ Dorrell was the seventh Colorado head coach to have their debut at the reins of the program televised nationally (ESPN2), as he joined Chuck Fairbanks (ESPN; 1979 vs. Oregon), Rick Neuheisel (ABC; 1995 at Wisconsin), Gary Barnett (FOX; 1999, Colorado State in Denver), Jon Embree (ESPN2; 2011 at Hawai'i), Mike MacIntyre (CBS-SN; 2013, Colorado State in Denver) and Mel Tucker (ESPN; 2019, Colorado State in Denver).
- ◆ A 1986 graduate of UCLA, earning his bachelor's degree in Psychology, also earning a minor in Business Administration. A member of Terry Donahue's seventh recruiting class at UCLA, he lettered four years at wide receiver for the Bruins (and actually played a game against CU in Boulder in 1982; he caught one pass for 23 yards from Rick Neuheisel). He played his entire Bruin career for Donahue, who would coach UCLA for 20 seasons (1976-95).
- ◆ CONTRACT. Dorrell was officially named CU's 27th full-time head coach on Feb. 23, 2020, and signed a 5-year contract worth $18 million overall ($500,000 base; $1.2 million radio/TV income & public appearances; $1.2 million with promotions and fundraising income), plus various annual incentives that add to $300,000. The radio/TV income and promotion/fundraising components will increase annually by $100,000; thus $3.2 million for the first year, $3.4 for the second, etc., not including additional income from any of several incentive components. The contract runs through Dec. 31, 2024.
- ◆ Dorrell is not a voter for the 2020 USA Today/ESPN Coaches poll; coaches are selected by a random draw. CU's head coach voted every season from 1987-2009, and the Buffalo coach has had a vote now for the 29 of the last 34 seasons.

Of the 23 coaches hired to lead new programs in 2020, only one won his first four games: Karl Dorrell; just two others won their first three: Jim Traylor (UTSA) and Jimmy Lake (Washington); see all first-year coaches in 2020 on page 33.

DORRELL / DID YOU KNOW

- In his first two seasons at Colorado under Bill McCartney (1992-93), he coached the wide receivers; he was tasked with taking over coaching a position that was returning to the spotlight after the Buffs had been a wishbone (1985-87) and I-Bone (1988-91) team the previous seven years.
- He returned as offensive coordinator from 1995-98 under Rick Neuheisel, also coaching the receivers. Neuheisel coached the quarterbacks from '95 through '97, then added the quarterbacks to Dorrell's coaching chores in 1998. When Neuheisel was hired by Washington in January 1999, Dorrell accompanied him and became the Huskies offensive coordinator and receivers coach, where he coached future NFL receiver Dane Looker.
- In his first game ever as an offensive coordinator – for Colorado on Sept. 2, 1995 at No. 21 Wisconsin, he called one of the best games by any offensive coordinator on the road against a ranked team in college football history. The Buffs rolled up 507 yards of offense (278 passing, 229 rushing) in a 43-7 win over the Badgers. It remains the most points and yards on the road against any opponent, much less a ranked foe, in the first game by an offensive coordinator in CU history.
- In his career he has coached a College Hall of Famer (Michael Westbrook); a Fred Biletnikoff Award finalist (Rae Carruth); three pairs of 1,000-yard receivers in the same season (Westbrook, Charles Johnson at CU; Rod Smith and Ed McCaffrey at the Denver Broncos; Brandon Marshall and Eric Decker at the N.Y. Jets); four Pro Bowl selections (Smith in 2000, 2001; Matt Schaub in 2012; Marshall in 2015); three first round draft picks (Westbrook, No. 4 overall; Johnson, Carruth), and five CU receivers in all being selected (Phil Savoy in '98 and Darrin Chiaverini in '99).
- In his two previous stints at Colorado, he coached seven receivers who are still among the top 20 in school history in receptions and yards. And of the 18 games at Colorado where two receivers gained 100 or more yards in the same game, he coached in seven of those contests.
- Dorrell's UCLA teams were 24-7 at home (77.4 winning percentage); that included a 6-3 mark against ranked teams. His 2005 team finished with a 10-3 record, as he was selected as the Pacific 10 Conference's co-coach of the year.
- In the history of college football, 655 different head coaches have led their teams to bowl games. Of those, only 26 coached their first six teams into the postseason, and Dorrell is one of those 26, as all five of his teams at UCLA and his first CU played in postseason bowls. His streak is one of only four who are currently active among the 130 FBS head coaches (exceptions made for the pandemic): 13 seasons—Dabo Swinney, Clemson; 9—James Franklin, Vanderbilt/Penn State; 9—Gus Malzahn, Arkansas State/Auburn; 6—Karl Dorrell, UCLA/Colorado; next up: 5—Kirby Smart, Georgia. Others among the 32 include Tom Osborne, Nebraska (first 25 teams coached earned bowl invitations), Bob Stoops, Oklahoma (18), Lloyd Carr, Michigan (13), Phillip Fulmer, Tennessee (13), Jim Tressel, Ohio State (10), Pete Carroll, USC (9), Mike Leach, Texas Tech/Washington State (9), David Shaw, Stanford (8), Chris Peterson, Boise State (7), Troy Calhoun, Air Force (6), Larry Coker, Miami-Fla. (6) and Jimbo Fisher, Florida State (6). (Twenty-six have coached their first six teams into the postseason; 20 their first seven.)
- Developing Players. Throughout his career, Dorrell has been challenged to develop rookies as well as take veterans to the next level; examples:

Charles Johnson & Michael Westbrook, Colorado. Dorrell arrived at CU in an offseason where the Buffaloes were converting from an option offense for the previous seven seasons to a one-back, pro-style passing attack. But CU hadn't really recruited for that style of an offense so as a young coach, he had great challenge from the get-go. The end result? The pair combined for 133 receptions for 2,209 yards and 13 touchdowns, averaging a 16.6 yards per catch. The pair alone combined for more receiving yards than any of the previous seven CU teams had for a season.

Rae Carruth. Before his well-documented troubles after graduating from CU, Carruth was a first-team All-American receiver in 1996. He emerged from the shadows of former teammates Johnson and Westbrook to have back-to-back 1,000-yard seasons, joining Johnson as the only duo to accomplish the feat in program history at the time. Over his final two seasons, Carruth had monster numbers: 107 catches for 2,124 yards (19.9 yards per) and 17 touchdowns, with 75 of those receptions earning first downs.

Rod Smith, Denver Broncos. In his first five seasons in the NFL, he caught 257 passes for 3,811 yards and 25 touchdowns; with Dorrell as his position coach for three years (2000-02), he had 302 receptions for 3,972 yards and 24 TDs.

Ed McCaffrey, Denver Broncos. McCaffrey was in his 10th NFL season, his sixth with the Broncos, when he first came under the tutorship of Dorrell for the 2000 season. He would post career-high numbers that season: 101 receptions for 1,317 yards (with 9 touchdowns). In 2001, he suffered a broken leg in the season opener, but he would come back under Dorrell's supervision to start all 16 games in 2002, making 69 grabs for 903 yards and two scores.

Ashley Lelie, Denver Broncos. Dorrell had him for his rookie season in 2002, playing a significant role in his early development, when he emerged with the third-best numbers by the receivers on the team. Two years later, he would become a 1,000-yard receiver teaming with Smith.

Brandon Marshall, N.Y. Jets. Coming off a season with the Chicago Bears that saw him produce the lowest numbers of his career since he became a starter, Marshall rebounded the second time he was under Dorrell's coaching in 2015 to have his second best season in his 13-year career, catching 109 balls for 1,502 yards and a league-high 14 touchdowns. He had two 1,000-yard seasons with Dorrell earlier in the decade at Miami.

Robby Anderson, N.Y. Jets. Signed by the Jets as an undrafted free agent out of Temple, he started eight games as a rookie and had been a regular ever since. He caught 42 passes for 587 yards (two TDs) as a rookie in 2016, and under Dorrell's wing, caught 113 the next two seasons for 1,693 yards and 13 touchdowns, averaging a healthy 15.0 yards per catch.

DaVante Parker, Miami Dolphins. Parker at best was an average receiver in his first four years in the NFL. Dorrell coached him in his fifth season in the league, and finished with career highs across the board – 72 receptions for 1,202 yards and nine touchdowns – he really came on during the second half of the year when Dorrell's coaching really took hold (48 catches for 859 yards and six scores over the final nine games), averaging an "old school" 17.9 yards per catch during that span).

Davone Bess, Miami Dolphins. An undrafted free agent out of Hawai'i, Bess would blossom under Dorrell's coaching. He caught 54 passes as a rookie in 2008, and in four years with Dorrell as his position coach, he would catch 260 passes for 2,669 yards and 11 TDs. In 2010, he teamed with Brandon Marshall to form one of the top pass-catching duos in the league, their 165 combined receptions the most by a tandem in team history.

Brian Hartline, Miami Dolphins. A fourth round pick out of Ohio State by the Dolphins in the 2009 draft, he was the fourth receiver on the depth chart while Dorrell was with the club. But he still got his coaching early on in his career, and when the top of the depth cleared due to attrition, he would emerge as a two-time, 1,000-yard receiver in 2012 and 2013.

Matt Moore, Miami Dolphins. Dorrell also parlayed his coaching influences when he has had the opportunity to coach quarterbacks. In 2011, he molded Moore, who had started 13 games in his first three years in the league, into the team's starter who completed 60.5 percent of his passes for 2,497 yards and 16 touchdowns (his 87.1 rating was the fifth-best in the AFC). Some eight years later, Moore has been one of the league top backup QB's, playing a key role at times in Kansas City's run to its first Super Bowl title in 50 years.

Matt Schaub, Houston Texans. In 2012, Schaub led the Texans to a 12-4 record and the AFC South Division title by passing for 4,008 yards and 22 touchdowns. His rating (90.7) was the fourth-best in the AFC and ninth-best overall in the league. It was his second best career among 16 seasons in the NFL (2004-19), and those numbers came in a year after he missed six games due to injury the year before.

CU, STANFORD LEAD IN AFRICAN-AMERICAN HEAD COACHES

CU is one of two schools on the FBS/Division I-A level to have had three African-American head coaches lead their football programs. Since Wichita State hired Willie Jeffries in 1979 as the first black head coach in college football's top division, just 14 schools have had as many as two full-time African-American head coaches. WHAT THEY'VE SAID ABOUT KARL DORRELLBRIAN FLORES, Miami Dolphins Head Coach (2019-present)

"The University of Colorado hit a home run hiring Karl as their head coach. I'm excited for him to have this opportunity. He is a great teacher and excellent leader. He is a coach I would want my kids to play for."

BILL McCARTNEY, Colorado Head Football Coach (1982-94)

"Awesome, that's fabulous. Karl Dorrell is the real deal. He's genuine, he's authentic and extremely talented. I'm a Buff to the core, through and through, and this really excites me. This is a big, big deal and I am thrilled and overjoyed. Why? Because you have to get the right people in leadership, everything comes down to leadership. And with CU getting a man like Karl to lead the program, that's a feather in Rick George's cap. When Rick came on board for us (as recruiting coordinator in 1987), he improved our recruiting, and 30 years later, he's still getting it done."

ED McCAFFREY, Denver Bronco Receiver (1995-2003)

"Coach Dorrell is a true pro with a wealth of football coaching experience. I enjoyed my time with him as my position coach with the Broncos. His strong communication and intelligent leadership helped us achieve great success as a unit. His return to CU is a good hire for the program and will bring steady hand."

MIKE MOSCHETTI, Colorado Quarterback (1998-99)

"Karl is a smart, hard-nosed football coach who isn't flashy. When he says something, you will trust it, you will run through a wall for him. He has incredible experience, and he knows the challenges and in his previous stops coaching at Colorado in the 1990s, he has recruited to the academic challenges that coaches face with the high standards academic-wise at the University of Colorado. I was at the game in 2006 when his UCLA team beat No. 2 ranked USC and Pete Carroll that kept them out of the BCS title game. I can't wait to see what he does with the Buffs – we have been to just one bowl game in the last 12 or so years, and he led UCLA to five straight bowl games. He knows the tradition, and I know he's grateful for the opportunity to be a head coach again."

RICK NEUHEISEL, Colorado Head Football Coach (1995-98)

(Rick and Karl were teammates at UCLA.) "I'm very happy for Karl. Colorado definitely hit a home run. Karl's very knowledgeable, very passionate, and I know he loved his time in Boulder. His strong point is organization and leadership. He's always been an offensive guy, and by spending a lot of time in the NFL, he's learned even more. This is making me a bit nostalgic about the fun we had coaching together with the Buffs and when we played together at UCLA

– he was my go-to guy." (Neuheisel was a quarterback at UCLA, Dorrell his top receiver).

ROD SMITH, Denver Bronco Receiver (1995-2007)

"I want to say congratulations to Coach Karl Dorrell and the CU Buffaloes. I had personal experience with him, he took my game to a whole new level. I was doing really well, but when I got with him, in three years (under him) I had over 300-plus catches, pro bowls and all that stuff. He's a technician, he knows what he's doing, he's been around and he's studied with some of the best. I can tell you right now, this team, this program is about to take off. Coach Dorrell, I appreciate you and thank you for everything you've done for me and I'm looking forward to the CU Buffaloes go to a whole new level."

KORDELL STEWART, Colorado Quarterback (1991-94)

"Karl was and is a smart coach, understands all aspects of the game of football. When he was at Colorado when I was there, he had what I would call 'young energy,' to where I think Michael (Westbrook), CJ (Charles Johnson), Phil Savoy and the other receivers really respected him. He made them understand the game through the eyes of a quarterback, which isn't always easy to do. I'm excited about this opportunity for him. With his combination of head coaching experience at UCLA and his time as a position coach in the NFL, he brings a tremendous amount of credibility to the table. I would hope that the players on the team now and the incoming recruits will appreciate that – he's got the background that should earn him an enormous amount of respect. He understands how CU operates, understands the community, knows the lay of the land. It was important for Rick (George) to hire someone who understands the Colorado way and our tradition. Karl fits that mold of what CU is trying to do and will pick up the pieces that were broken with the last coach and put them back together. In time, he will make this thing really work."

MICHAEL WESTBROOK, CU All-American Receiver (1991-94)

"I'm glad to hear that someone with Karl's character will be CU's new coach. I loved Karl. He was a huge disciplinarian, but in both a good and tough way. It was definitely brought to your attention if you weren't doing what you're supposed to do. You come to realize that he'll be tough when he has to be, which is what young kids need, and in the end, that makes you a better player and a better person. He was very much like Bill McCartney in that manner, that was Karl's thing as well, they are cut from that same cloth. I know him, trust him, the program is in good hands and I'll enjoy coming back to watch the Buffaloes play under Karl."

COACH "DORR-WELL"

The 27 head coach in CU history, Karl Dorrell started 4-0 in his CU coaching career; only Harry Heller (won his first seven in 1894), Willis Kleinholz (six in 1905), T.W. Mortimer (five in 1900) and Rick Neuheisel (five in 1995) won as many or more to open their CU careers (and Dorrell was OC on Neuheisel's staff). Dorrell was the sixth CU coach to open 3-0 in conference games, but the first since Jim Yeager in 1941.

- ▶ Named the Pac-12 Coach of the Year by both the Associated Press and the league coaches, the sixth coach to be recognized in CU's history with the honor;
- ▶ Named Football Writers Association of America's First-Year Coach of the Year, honoring the top coach among those in their first-year at a new school in 2020;
- ▶ Of the 23 new head coaches in 2020, he was the last of the group who was undefeated come Dec. 6 (finished with the fourth-best winning percentage).
- ▶ He was the third CU head coach to lead the Buffs to a bowl game in his first season, joining Neuheisel ('96 Cotton) and Gary Barnett ('99 Insight.com).
- ▶ He was the first CU coach in his first season to have his team go from unranked to ranked (No. 21 AP, No. 22 USAT/Coaches on Dec. 6; No. 21 CFP on Dec. 8), leading a team that many prognosticators were saying would win maybe one if any games (the over/under in Vegas was 1½ wins).

DORRELL: A COLLEGE FOOTBALL FIRST?

Ironically, with the Buffaloes drawing UCLA for their first game, Karl Dorrell coached against the school he served as head coach for five seasons (2003-07). He was 35-27 with the Bruins over those years. Another irony – his first game as head coach at UCLA was in Boulder against CU, a game in which the Buffs rallied to win, 16-14. He had been an assistant with CU twice (1992-93, 1995-98), but played collegiately at UCLA (1983-86). Thus, in his first game as a head coach, he went up against a former team on which he was an assistant, and his first game his second opportunity as a head coach be against his alma mater, where he also made his head coaching debut. UCLA did win it next game (6-3 over Illinois), which was the school's 500th at the time.

ONLY A HANDFUL HAVE OPENED AGAINST THEIR ALMA MATER

Karl Dorrell was the ninth known Division I head coach to face his alma mater in his first game at his new school (not necessarily his first game overall):

Year	Coach	School	Alma Mater/Opp.	Result	Year	Coach	School	Alma Mater/Opp.	Result
1918	Andy Gill	Kentucky	at Indiana	W 24- 7	2010	Jimbo Fisher	Florida State	Samford	W 59- 6
1982	George Welsh	Virginia	at Navy	L 17-30	2010	Mike London	Virginia	Richmond	W 34-13
1999	Randy Walker	Northwestern	Miami-Ohio	L 3-28	2011	Larry Coker	UTSA	Northeastern State	W 31- 3
2001	Jim Tressel	Ohio State	*Akron (Gr. School)	W 28-14	2020	Karl Dorrell	Colorado	UCLA	W 48-42
2009	Gary Anderson	Utah State	Utah	L 17-35

➡ In 1995, Rick Neuheisel's first game as a head coach (CU) was at Wisconsin; while he didn't go there (he is also a UCLA grad), he was born in Madison. Dorrell's first win as a head coach was in his second game, a 6-3 win over Illinois, which happens to be CU athletic director Rick George's alma mater; the Bruins won that day with two field goals from Justin Medlock. Bill McCartney's first win came in his second game in 1982, a 12-0 triumph at Washington State, on the strength of four Tom Field field goals.

DORRELL A FINALIST FOR 2020 FWAA/EDDIE ROBINSON COACH OF THE YEAR AWARD

For the second time in his career, Karl Dorrell was a finalist for the Football Writers Association of America/Eddie Robinson Coach of the Year Award in 2020. He was a finalist in 2005 when he was in his third year at UCLA; of the nine finalists this year, he is the only first-year coach at his current school. The other finalists were: Jamey Chadwell, Coastal Carolina, the winner; Tom Allen, Indiana; Brent Brennan, San José State; Matt Campbell, Iowa State; Luke Fickell, Cincinnati; Nick Saban, Alabama; Kalani Sitake, BYU; and Dabo Swinney, Clemson.

INAUGURATIONS

Karl Dorrell was named the 27th full-time head coach in Colorado history last February 23, the 17th dating back to 1935; after the first 10 CU coaches opened 8-1-1, the next 10 lost all theirs; the last six have gone 3-3. Rick Neuheisel snapped the losing streak when his team defeated Wisconsin in Madison, 43-7 in 1995 (the first to win his opener since Herbert Hoover was U.S. president); Mike MacIntyre became just the second coach in that group to win his CU opener in an 81-year span with a 41-27 win over Colorado State in Denver in 2013; and Mel Tucker the third to do so in his inaugural game in 2019 over Colorado State in Denver, 52-31 with Dorrell following in 2020. overall, Colorado coaches are 12-14-1 in their debut games at the reins of the Buffaloes; here's a closer look (no head coach 1890-93; number in parenthesis indicates how many games that coach won in a row to begin career):

... AND IN CONFERENCE PLAY

Head coaches have had more success in their first conference game piloting the Buffaloes, going 18-8 including this year when Karl Dorrell's first CU squad opened with the 48-42 win over UCLA (CU was an independent in 1905 when Willis Kleinholtz coached his lone season). He was the first since Gary Barnett won his Big 12 Conference debut, a 51-17 win over Kansas in Boulder; the last three CU head coaches lost their league lid-lifters. As far as winning their first conference game on the road, Tucker became the sixth to do so (number in parenthesis indicates how many conference games that coach won or lost in a row in his first year):

In the 2020 season opening 48-42 win over UCLA, Colorado rushed for 264 yards and passed for 261, improving to 59-11 dating back to the first time it happened in school history in 1960. The three-yard difference tied for the second most-balanced offensive game in CU history. A closer look at all CU games with 200-plus yards rushing and passing that were within 10 yards of each other (*—CU head coach Karl Dorrell was involved in three of the top four and four of the eight games; (Dorrell was an assistant coach at CU in 1993, was the offensive coordinator in 1997):

HIGH SCORING FROM THE GET-GO

The 90 points scored by CU and UCLA in 2020 marked the highest scoring season opener in CU history, eclipsing the 83 points in 2019 (CU's 52-31 win over Colorado State in Denver). But it was also a conference opener, and it rose to the second highest scoring league lid-lifter in Buff annals (trailing the infamous Oct. 4, 1980 clash between CU and Oklahoma at Folsom Field. A look at the top five in each (home team in CAPS):

SHINNICK EARNS TOP HONOR

Pete Shinnick ('88), who finished his fourth season as head coach at West Florida in 2019, was named the Gulf South Conference Coach of the Decade (2010-19). Ow does someone win that honor after just four years? First, he started the program in 2016, and one year later, the team reached the Division II championship game. Four years later in 2019, West Florida won the title. Shinnick's Argos were the second-fastest football program to go from startup to national champion in NCAA history. At 9-1, UWF currently owns the best postseason winning percentage in NCAA history (all on the road or at neutral sites).

AND THEN THERE'S WRISTO

John Wristen was the first of two individuals with Buff football ties to win an NCAA Division II title as he led CSU-Pueblo to the 2014 championship. Wristen returned to Pueblo in 2007 after coaching the previous 17 years in the NCAA Division I ranks at Colorado, Northwestern and UCLA where he served on Karl Dorrell's staff as a tight end and special team coach. Wristen's career in Division I football started in 1990 as a graduate assistant on CU's National Championship team. He worked 14 seasons on Gary Barnett's staff at Northwestern (1992-1998) and CU (1999-2005) before joining Dorrell at UCLA. In his 13th season at CSUP, Wristen entered the year with a 119-28 mark at his alma mater.

LAST NOTE ON SEASON OPENERS

The Buffaloes are 23-10-1 in their last 33 season openers (dating back to 1988). In those 23 wins, Colorado scored 851 points, or an average of 37.0 per game; in the 10 losses, CU scored 172 points, or 17.2 per (it had 31 in the tie with Tennessee in 1990). In the six-game season opener winning streak, CU has scored 241 points, or 40.2. In the 23 victories, the opponent has scored 392 points, or 17.0 per. The bulk of the games have been against Colorado State (20; CU won 14), but the Buffaloes are 5-0-1 against Power-5 teams.

CONIFER REPPED

When freshman TB Noah Wagner saw his first action against Arizona Stat on Sept. 25 (on special teams); he also made some program history as he became the first-ever Buffalo from Conifer (Colo.) High School to play for CU in a game. It is located in Jefferson County, directly south of Evergreen and southwest of Morrison off U.S. Highway 285.

LYNCH REPEATS AS CU'S CAMPBELL TROPHY SEMIFINALIST

Second-year graduate student Matt Lynch is one of 176 semifinalists for the William V. Campbell Trophy, the National Football Foundation announced this week. The honor, which is also known as the "Academic Heisman" is annually bestowed by the NFF to the nation's top football scholar-athlete. As a semifinalist, he will have an opportunity to receive an $18,000 post-graduate scholarship, which is awarded to each of the 12-to-14 finalists for the Campbell Trophy, and if he is the recipient, an opportunity to be the winner of the coveted 24-pound bronze Campbell Trophy, which comes with a $25,000 post-graduate scholarship and an appearance on the Home Depot College Football Awards Show on ESPN. CU's Jim Hansen won the award in 1992, but when it was known as the Draddy Award. Lynch was CU's nomination in 2020; at Colorado, he owns a 3.675 / 4.0 GPA in second year of master's program in Organizational Studies.

HISTORICALLY

Colorado is in its second century of intercollegiate football, as the Buffaloes have completed their 132nd season of competition having played 1,279 games with an all-time record of 718-525-36. CU currently stands 27th on the all-time win list and is 36th in all-time winning percentage (.575; the Buffs are 29th for those schools with 1,000 or more games played in Division I-A). Only 12 Division I schools have played more seasons of intercollegiate football than Colorado; Washington is the only Pac-12 school that matches CU's total of 132 (Cal is the only one who has played more games – 1,287), with only USC (856) and Washington (750) having won more games (CU is sixth in the league in winning percentage).

➔ In Boulder, the Buffs are 412-203-16 (.666) all-time and 324-181-10 (.639) in 98 seasons on the “hilltop” (Folsom Field).

OVERTIME

Colorado is 8-9 all-time in overtime games (5-6 at home), with seven losses by three points; the Buffs became the 84th team in FBS/I-A to play an overtime game when it played its first extra session affair against Missouri in 1999. Here's a chart summarizing the Buffs in overtime (*—denotes in Denver):

COMEBACK BUFFS

Over the last 14 seasons, CU has rallied to win from 10 or more points down 14 times. Three of the rallies have come from 17 down: this season, CU spotted Arizona a 13-0 lead, but TB Jarek Broussard's school record 155 yards in the second quarter helped the Buffs take the halftime lead and never look back. In 2019 against Nebraska, the turning point a 96-yard flea-flicker from QB Steven Montez to WR K.D. Nixon that pulled CU to within three; in 2012, Washington State led, 31-14, early in the fourth quarter, but CU scored three straight TDs to close the game, capped by QB Jordan Webb scoring on fourth down from four yards out with 0:09 remaining; PK Will Oliver added the game winning PAT. In 2007, the Buffs got the best of No. 3 Oklahoma when PK Kevin Eberhart capped a run of 20 straight points with a 45-yard field goal for a 27-24 win. Nine have taken place in Boulder, one in Denver, and three on the road (the WSU comeback was the largest fourth quarter comeback on the road CU has ever had).

COLORADO NEAR THE TOP IN ALL-TIME 2,000-YARD / 1,000-YARD CAREER RUNNERS

Colorado is tied for 12th in players who have gained 2,000 or more career rushing yards, as 19 Buffaloes through the years have reached that milestone. TB Phillip Lindsay was the last to do it, as he finished his career in 2017 with 3,707 yards (second all-time at the school). Colorado is also in the top 10 (sixth) in all-time 1,000-yard rushers with 56 (Oklahoma tops that list with 77, followed by Ohio State 69, Nebraska 65, USC 61, Alabama 60, Colorado 56, Army 53, Texas 51, West Virginia 50, LSU 48). The all-time leaders in players who have reached the career 2K plateau:

Oklahoma	32	Alabama	20	Texas	19	Boston College	17	South Carolina	16	Western Michigan	15
Nebraska	30	Clemson	20	Virginia	19	East Carolina	17	Tennessee	16	San Diego State	14
Georgia Southern	28	Michigan	20	Virginia Tech	19	Illinois	17	Florida State	15	Utah	14
Ohio State	27	Texas A & M	20	Arkansas	18	Wisconsin	17	Houston	15
Oklahoma State	25	Colorado	19	Colorado State	18	Georgia	16	Iowa	15
Syracuse	22	Northern Illinois	19	Florida	18	LSU	16	Tulsa	15
Southern California	20	Penn State	19	Auburn	17	Michigan State	16	West Virginia	15

In 1989, Colorado had four players on the roster at the same time with at least 1,000 career yards: TB Eric Bieniemy, TB J.J. Flannigan, QB Darian Hagan and FB Erich Kissick. Only two other times did the Buffs have three players that had hit that plateau on the same team, in 1993: FB James Hill, TB Rashaan Salaam and TB Lamont Warren and in 2015: Christian Powell, Michael Adkins and Phillip Lindsay.

Historical Note. Colorado was 1-yard away from another 2,000-yard rusher: the late Carroll Hardy ('54) ended his career with 1,999 yards. CU's SID at the time, Fred Casotti, never forgave himself, especially since his final game came against Kansas State, when he had 10 carries for 238 yards. In that 38-14 win, the Buffs rushed 36 times for 493 yards, or 13.7 yards per; he no doubt could have picked up that extra yard. Hardy went on to play pro football and baseball, and his claim to fame was becoming the only player to pinch-hit for Ted Williams (he also pinch-hit for Roger Maris and Carl Yastrzemski).

SCORING STREAKS

The Buffs scored in a school record 242 consecutive games until Missouri ended the streak on October 25, 2008; it was first shutout loss since November 12, 1988 to Nebraska in Lincoln (7-0). The Buffs had scored in 94 consecutive road games (123 including neutral sites) as well as in 153 straight league games, all 103 in Big 12 play, including the four title games, and their final 50 in Big Eight competition, dating back to the '88 shutout at Nebraska. CU had scored in 150 straight games at home until Stanford shut out the Buffs, 48-0 on Nov. 3, 2012; the previous last shutout was a 28-0 loss to Oklahoma on Nov. 15, 1986. Current streaks:

- CU has scored in 9 straight games overall, as the 30-0 loss to Minnesota snapped a 36-game scoring streak).
- CU had scored in 170 straight games against non-conference opponents (1979-2021, until Minnesota won 30-0 in Boulder on Sept. 18, 2021).
- The home shutout losses to Minnesota ('21), Stanford ('12), Oklahoma in '86 and LSU in '79 are the only four times CU has not scored at Folsom Field over the course of the last 340 games (all the way back to 1963).
- CU has been shutout just five times in the last 400 games overall (by Missouri in 2008 and 2010, Stanford in 2012, Washington State in 2017 and Minnesota in 2021).
- CU has been shutout just 12 times in its last 633 games (dating to October 5, 1968), but only seven different schools have administered them: Oklahoma (three times), Missouri (twice), Nebraska (twice), Louisiana State, Michigan, Minnesota and Stanford.

THE BUFFS IN NFL STADIUMS

The Buffaloes have played 26 games to date in seven current NFL venues, owning a record of 16-10 (12-5 in Denver, 1-0 in Foxborough, 1-0 in San Diego, 1-0 in Seattle, 1-2 in Houston, 0-1 in Jacksonville, 0-1 in Kansas City and 0-1 in Santa Clara). All-time, the Buffs are 21-22-1 playing games in stadiums that simultaneously hosted NFL teams (13-7 in Denver, 1-0 in Foxborough, 1-0 in Irving, 1-0 in San Diego, 1-0 in Seattle, 2-3 in Houston, 1-2 in Miami 1-2 in Tempe, 0-2-1 in Anaheim, 0-1 in Jacksonville, 0-1 in Kansas City, 0-1 in Santa Clara and 0-3 in Los Angeles).

SAFELY AHEAD

The Buffs have been a virtual lock to win once they have a lead of two or more scores (nine-plus points) over the past 46 seasons. Since the 1976 opener, CU has protected a two-score lead 254 of 292 times, losing 35 and tying three when it blew the lead. Included in those 35 are four leads that were lost of 20-plus points:

Date	Opponent	CU Lead (when)	Result
10/27/18	OREGON STATE	28 (31-3, 3rd Quarter)	L, 34-41 OT
11/06/10	at Kansas	28 (45-17; 4th Quarter)	L, 45-52
11/10/07	at Iowa State	21 (21- 0; 3rd Quarter)	L, 28-31
10/10/79	OKLAHOMA STATE	20 (20- 0; 4th Quarter)	L, 20-21

(CU has lost a 14-point lead on nine occasions in this time frame).

Colorado has lost only 36 games (and was tied twice) dating back to 1980 when leading by any margin at any point in the fourth quarter or overtime. The most recent loss was in 2019 (Oct. 25), a 35-31 setback to USC after entering the final stanza with a 31-28 advantage. The ties came against Tennessee in 1990 (31-31, after leading 31-17) and Kansas State in 1993 (16-16 after taking a late 16-13 lead).

- Colorado has won 139 of its last 166 games in which it at any point has held a two-score lead. A 2003 loss to Baylor snapped a 26-game winning streak in such situations on the road, and an overall streak of 49 consecutive wins from 1993 to 1999 was snapped by CSU in 2000. In this same span, Colorado has rallied to win 42 games and tie two others dating back to 1981 after once trailing at some point in the fourth quarter. The most recent are the Nebraska and Stanford games this year: the Cornhuskers led 17-0 late in the third period when the Buffaloes started taking over the game, and the Cardinal led briefly in the fourth quarter. Two of the biggest ones occurred in 2007: CU rallied from 28-17 down in the third and 28-25 in the fourth to defeat CSU 31-28 in overtime) and Oklahoma (down 24-7 late in the third, eventually tying the fourth largest comeback in school history in winning 27-24).

INJURIES UP IN 2021

Injuries were kept to a minimum over the 2016 and 2017 seasons after a flurry in 2015, as that season 10 positions had a starter miss at least one game due to injury. But in 2018, it was a different story as injuries hit 11 different starting positions (including punter and placekicker) that lost their starter for multiple games. In 2019, the count of full games missed was down again (though an abnormal number of partial games was the case). Below are the worst regular seasons for injuries/illness for the CU program over the last 35 years (KEY: GL—Games lost to injury; GL/2—Games lost by 2-deep scrimmage players; MG—"Man games" as defined by as the total number of games if all players NOT ticketed to redshirt played every game; Pct. Lost – percentage of man games lost, knowing that in actuality, the number is higher as third-team players and reserves don't see that much action; 2/MG—2-deep man games, or starting 24 positions (including kickers and punters plus backups):

Dating back to 1987, CU has lost over five percent of its "man game" count due to injury 16 times (1995-97-98-2000-02-03-08-10-11-12-13-15-16-17-18-19).

FOLSOM FIELD CAPACITY SNAPSHOT

Folsom Field's official capacity had been 53,613, expanded last in 2003 when 1,903 club seats and 41 suites were added in the east side stadium expansion; however, with CU's $156 million Athletics Complex Expansion nearing completion and the northeast corner of the stadium and the north stands now redesigned, the new capacity now stands at 50,183. Folsom is tied for the 18th oldest venue among the 128 NCAA Division I-A/FBS stadiums. It is the fourth oldest stadium in the Pac-12 Conference, as only Husky Stadium (Washington, 1920), Rose Bowl Stadium (UCLA, 1922) and Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum (USC, 1923) are older.

Some out of the ordinary records by the Buffs in some unique situations:

- ❑ Colorado is 92-56 against teams with three or more losses dating back to the 1985 season;
- ❑ Colorado is 90-52-1 in its last 143 games against schools that include the word "State" (dating to 1986);

18 TO THE HOUSE ON THE FIRST TRY WHEN IT COMES TO THEFTS & SCORES

CU players have a penchant to return their first career interceptions for touchdowns, as since 1992, 18 Buffaloes have scored after stealing their first college pass. Junior CB Dante Wigley is the most recent to accomplish it, racing 27 yards with his first pick for a touchdown versus Oregon State on Oct. 27. S Nick Fisher did it in grand style on Oct. 28, 2017: he picked off a pass in the end zone against Cal, his momentum taking him back nine yards deep, and then he raced 109 yards for the score (100 officially by the NCAA). Previous to that, ILB Rick Gamboa returned a deflected pass 20 yards for a score against OSU in 2016, and ILB Kenneth Olugbode had the one before that, racing 60 yards for a score in a 27-24 overtime win over Colorado State in 2015. That was the first in eight years, going back to 2007, when redshirt frosh CB Jimmy Smith had a 31-yard return that cut Nebraska's lead to 35-31 early in the second half and was the impetus to a 65-51 comeback win. Prior to that was another spectacular one: ILB Marcus Burton returned a pick 99 yards at Oklahoma State in 2005, preserving CU's shutout in the waning seconds of the game. Three did it in 2004: OLB Brian Iwuh did it off the bat when he made his first career pick and returned it 37 yards for what proved to be the winning touchdown against Colorado State in the season opener; a week later, Joe Sanders, plucked off a ball against Washington State and raced 51 yards for six, snapping a 3-3 deadlock in the process; then versus Texas, CB Terrence Wheatley plucked one off and ran 37 yards for six with his first theft. Two did it in 2001: S Medford Moorner picked off his first career pass and returned it 64 yards for a touchdown against Texas in the Big 12 Championship game, while CB Donald Strickland returned his first career pick 31 yards for a touchdown just one minute into the CSU game. Frosh redshirt CB Phil Jackson did it in 2000, as he returned his first career INT 28 yards for a TD against Washington. SS Rashidi Barnes had his first one in CU's win over CSU in 1997, returning it 26 yards for a score, rallying the Buffs into a 14-14 tie early in the second half. Barnes was the fourth Buff in a 14-game span to return a first career pick for a TD—Marcus Washington had a 95-yard theft for a score in the '96 Cotton Bowl against Oregon; Vili Maumau had a 33-yard interception for six (and a Hula dance) at Colorado State in 1996; and Nick Ziegler stole one for a 31-yard score against Washington in the '96 Holiday Bowl. In 1992, Dwayne Davis returned one 31 yards for a TD in a 21-20 win at Minnesota to start this amazing run.

- Three did it with their first punt returns: Ben Kelly (vs. Utah State in 1998), Jeremy Bloom (vs CSU in 2002) and Laviska Shenault (2017 vs. Texas State).
- And one did so with his first kickoff return: Nikko Reed raced 100 yards (actually 103) at Utah in the 2021 season finale.

BUFFALO DINOSAURS

CU's longtime radio voice, Larry Zimmer, wrapped up his career following the 2015 season, calling 486 CU games; a string of 251 in a row came to an end after he was hospitalized in October 2014 (and missed the final six games that year). He only missed 17 games overall; prior to the six due to illness, he had missed three bowls (two due to contracts forbidding teams to originate broadcasts), three regular season games due to travel conflicts and five road games in his final season; his 400th at CU was also the 1,000 of his professional career. In 2009, Zim was honored as the 15th recipient of the Chris Schenkel Award, which recognizes those who have enjoyed a long and distinguished career broadcasting college football at a single institution (he called a total of 570 college games, including 50 for Michigan and 34 for CSU).

OTHER DINOSAURS: Darian Hagan has been a part of 288 Colorado games (139 in two stints as an assistant coach, 62 as a football staff member, 35 as the Alumni C-Club director and 49 as a player); Gary Barnett, now the radio analyst with KOA, has worked 263 (106 as an assistant coach, 87 as head coach and 68 on the radio); Mark Johnson, who succeeded Zimmer as the voice of the Buffaloes, has called 217 games. SID Dave Plati has worked 483 in person (499 overall; a streak of 410 dating from the '83 finale came to an end in the sixth game of 2017; streaks of 262 straight home games and 284 in the state of Colorado are intact). The late Fred Casotti, the school's longtime SID/associate AD from 1952-87, witnessed 477 CU football games (including 268 in a row at Folsom) prior to his passing in 2001. Jon Burianek, who retired as senior associate AD in June 2006 and then briefly rejoined the department on a contract basis in 2013, worked 444 CU football games, including a run of 415 in a row (229 of which were at home). The record by a coach is held by Brian Cabral, who, including his playing days (46 games), was a part of 340 (the last 294 consecutive); former facilities man John Krueger worked 325 (1980s to 2012). CU's "Super Twins," Betty Hoover and Peggy Coppom, who have been to all but handful of CU's home games – since 1940 and every single one – 358 – from 1958 through 2019 (we lost Betty in the summer of 2020; Peggy is 97). And the late F.M. "Dutch" Westerberg is the all-timer; he saw every CU home game (394 of 'em) from 1921 until 1999, when he passed away at the age of 94. STAT CREW: Jack Landon (son of one-time presidential candidate Alf Landon) completed his 47th year as a member of the CU football stat crew in 2019; he joined the basketball crew in 1971 and then football two years later. The 10th longest person to serve on a stat crew nationally, he decided to retire ahead of the 2021 season.

NFL SCOUT WATCH

Colorado has just four players in their final year of eligibility on its 2021 roster, and as history has indicated, they will receive plenty of looks from scouts all around the National Football League; scouts/player personnel types pass through Boulder every season for a game and/or practice(s), with over three fourths of the league doing so on average every season (and 17 teams managed to scout CU in the shortened 2020 season). Thus far in 2021, CU has been scouted in person on game days by over three-fourths of the league (27 teams): Arizona, Atlanta, Baltimore, Buffalo, Carolina, Cleveland, Dallas, Denver, Detroit, Green Bay, Houston, Indianapolis, Kansas City, Miami, Las Vegas, L.A. Chargers, Miami, Minnesota, New Orleans, N.Y. Jets, N.Y. Giants, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, San Francisco, Seattle, Tampa Bay and Washington. Since the 2000 season, 1,111 NFL scouts have attended Colorado games (home, road and neutral sites). At the 2016 UCLA game in Boulder, the record for a CU game occurred: 31 scouts from 20 teams were in attendance for the game (next most: 20 for USC in 2017).

PLAYING ON SUNDAY: IN-THE-PROS

There are 20 former Colorado Buffaloes on the current 2021 National Football League rosters (as of the end of the 2021 regular season); 23 started out in camps, 18 were on final rosters in 2020). Colorado has had 269 players all-time go on to make an active NFL roster and 276 all-time draft picks, which ranks as the fourth most among Pac-12 programs and 23rd overall. CU had continually been one of the top 20 producers for the last quarter century of NFL talent and at one time in the late 1970's had the most active players (47) of any school in the nation. The last time Colorado was in the top 10 in players produced was in 2002 (10th, 29). The active list (KEY: Exp.—denotes number of years in the league including 2021; I—on injured reserve/physically unable to perform; P—practice squad):

ALL-TIME CU PRO NOTE: How good was CU's 1994 offense? Ten of the 11 starters were drafted into the NFL (Tony Berti, Rae Carruth, Christian Fauria, Heath Irwin, Chris Naeole, Rashaan Salaam, Kordell Stewart, Bryan Stoltzberg, Derek West and Michael Westbrook), with the 11th signing as a free agent (Lepis). All played, and three even remained on NFL rosters some 11 years later. And six of the '94 defensive starters wound up playing professionally as well.

CROSBY WATCH

PK Mason Crosby ('06) is the Green Bay Packers' all-time leading scorer both for the regular season and the regular and postseason combined; assuming the top spot in 2015. Through the 2021 regular season, he has scored 1,806 points in 241 regular season games, now 14th in NFL history, and 159 in 22 playoff games (fourth all-time) for a total of 1,965 (he also made an NFL record 23 straight field goals in the postseason). Crosby also holds both Packers' field goal marks: 370 regular season (17th all-time) and 30 postseason (fifth all-time); his 696 extra points made are seventh all-time (69 in the postseason are third) and this year had a personal best streak of 31 straight field goals made (regular season and playoffs combined). He is second all-time on the points and field goal (and third on the PATs made) charts for players who have/had spent their career with just one team. Crosby, of course, is CU's all-time leading scorer with 307 points.

➔ NOW #1. Crosby, with 241 NFL games under his belt (tied for 70th all-time, 11th most by an active player), became the second Buffalo to participate in 200 pro games. On Nov. 20, 2021, he passed OT Stan Brock ('79) for the most-ever by a CU alum. Brock appeared in 234 games (223 starts; 99th and 38th, respectively, all-time) in his career that spanned 16 seasons with New Orleans (1980-92) and San Diego (1993-95). Crosby, of course, has spent his entire NFL career with the Packers.

➔ How many players have led a professional team and their college alma mater in scoring (regular season and playoffs combined)? The list is short (six including Crosby): PK Jason Elam, Denver Broncos/Hawaii (1,870/395); PK Stephen Gostkowski, New England Patriots/Memphis (1,875/369); PK Martin Gramatica, Tampa Bay Buccaneers/Kansas State (640/349), WR Jerry Rice, San Francisco 49ers/Mississippi Valley State (1,244/310); and PK Jeff Wilkins, St. Louis Rams/Youngstown State (1,300/373).

➔ ALL-TIME FWAA ALL-AMERICAN TEAM: The Football Writers Association of America placed Crosby on the second-team of its All-Time All-America Team, announced in conjunction with the group's 75th anniversary in August 2015.

O-LINEMEN PIPELINE TO THE NFL

CU has been a solid conduit to the NFL League when it has come to offensive linemen and the research below indicates CU may very well be a place to go if an offensive lineman wants to take it to the next level. Dating back to the 1991 NFL draft, or the '87 recruiting class, 30 of 47 players who started at least two years on the Buff offensive line were either drafted or signed as free agents. The list is impressive (with four others who started just one season):

STAT SHOTS

Here are some interesting statistical bullets about Colorado football:

- ➔ 30+. In its history, Colorado is 331-29-1 when scoring 30 or more points (3-0 in 2021, 23-6 over the last five years), with records of 235-9 with 35-plus points and 218-7 with 36-plus, 199-5 with 38-plus and 112-2 with 43 or more tallies. The seven losses with 36 or more points came to Air Force (58-35 in 1968), Oklahoma (82-42 in 1980), Stanford (41-37 in 1993), Toledo (54-38 in 2009), Kansas (52-45 in 2010), Utah (42-35 in 2012), California (59-56 in 20T in 2014) and Arizona in 2017 (45-42). CU has played 1,279 games in its history, registering point totals of every number between 0 and 70 except 1 (duh!) and 68, and 75 and 109 above that mark.
- ➔ 30 points / 3 TDs. CU has scored 30 or more points in 163 of its last 381 games, posting a 138-24-1 record; the Buffs have scored at least three touchdowns in 247 of these games dating to the start of 1989; in this time frame, CU is 31-116-2 when held to two or fewer touchdowns.
- ➔ The most common point total CU has scored in winning a game are 27 and 31 (34 times each), followed by 20 (33 times); in losing a game, it's 0 (92 times, but the bulk of those—63—were prior to the end of World War II); otherwise, it's 7 (57 times).
- ➔ Colorado is 128-133-3 in its last 264 league games: within this record is a 25-game span in which CU did not lose a conference game, the fourth longest streak all-time in the Big Eight (1958-1995). Colorado was 23-0-2 during that run.
 - ➔ Colorado, however, is only 26-68 as a member of the Pac-12.
- ➔ For years, the mark of a strong CU team was that the Buffaloes routinely averaged six or more yards on first down. Technically the last time the Buffs averaged six or more for a season was in 2001, their Big 12 Championship year (6.7; CU did average 5.98 per first down play in 2016). Colorado did it six times between 1989 and 1997, including a team record best of 7.2 in both 1989 and 1994.
 - ➔ Since 1966, CU has averaged less than 4.3 just seven times (last in 2012) and less than 4.1 once—3.5 in 1979. In 2012, the Buffs averaged 4.25 yards on first down, the lowest since that 3.5 figure in 1979.
 - ➔ The 2016 Buffs had their best average on first down in years with that 5.98 figure, their best since 2001 (6.7). CU had a strong year in 2019, averaging 5.69 yards on 369 first down plays, but it dropped back down to 4.83 in the pandemic-shortened 2020 campaign.
 - ➔ In 2021, the Buffs are averaging 4.55 yards on first down, bolstered by an 8.1 average it enjoyed against Oregon State. That stopped a 7-game run where CU averaged 3.75 per 160 plays.
- ➔ Dating back to the fifth game of the 1999 season, an OT win over Missouri, the Buffs have 69 scores by return, or non-offensive scores, in the last 23 seasons (highs of eight in 1999 and 2002). Since the '95 opener and including postseason, CU has 89 scores by return in 321 games (80 regular season, seven in bowls). The last two came against Arizona this year (TD returns via interception and a blocked punt).
- ➔ 200/200. Colorado has accomplished the 200 "double-double," that is 200 yards both rushing and passing 55 times in the last 346 games, dating to 1993), having accomplished it 1 time under Dorrell (1-0). CU averaged over 200 in each for the season in 1993, 1994 and in 2001 (and threatened to do it in 2016). The Buffs are 53-8 since 1981 when they have reached the 200 plateaus in both and 61-11 overall. Prior to '93, CU accomplished the feat only 19 times in its first 929 games in its history.
- ➔ 600+. Colorado is 17-1 all-time in games when it has gained 600 or more yards on offense; the first and only loss was in 2014 when the Buffs had 630 in a 59-56 double overtime loss at California on Sept. 27, 2014. CU is 0-0 under Dorrell; the last two games with 600-plus were against Nicholls State in 2015 and Washington State in 2016.
- ➔ 500+. Colorado is 15-8 in games when it has gained 500 or more yards on offense since it joined the Pac-12 conference, 8-7 in Pac-12 games. All-time (since 1946 when records are available), the Buffs are 86-14 with at least 500 yards of total offense. CU is 1-0 under Dorrell.
- ➔ Grass. Colorado is 107-111 in its last 218 games on grass, including a 71-65 mark at home (21-12 in the last 33 games at Folsom), dating back to the 1999 season when Folsom Field converted back to grass.
- ➔ Artificial Turf. Colorado is 101-71-3 in its last 175 games on non-grass fields dating back to 1989, including a 66-54-3 mark in conference games. CU is 2-4 on the fake stuff under Karl Dorrell.
- ➔ Goal-to-Go Situations. Over the last seven seasons, the Buffs have scored in 158 out of 172 situations when it has been first-and-goal. This includes 126 touchdowns and 32 field goals, thus the TD percentage is 73.3 and the overall percentage is 91.9. The 14 non-scores: seven fourth down misses, four missed field goals (from 26, 28, 31 and 33 yards) and three turnovers.
- ➔ No Turns or Sacks. Dating back to 1972, Colorado is 20-4 in games when not allowing a sack or committing a turnover (1-0 under Dorrell, the double OT win over Oregon State in 2021). In these 24 games, the Buffs have outscored the opponent by 942-543 (eight games decided by less than 17 points).
- ➔ Turnover Free. Colorado has played 96 turnover-free games dating back to the 1946 season (with a record seven in 2021), owning a record of 62-30-4 in those games (2-1 in bowls). Under Dorrell, CU is 5-3.
- ➔ Time Spent In The Lead. In their last winning season (2016), the Buffaloes held leads in 11 of 14 games, and were ahead for a total of 457:20 on the season. That's the second-most by a hair in the 27 years CU has tracked the stat (CU led for 458:01 in 1996—a 12-game season including the bowl). In 2017 and 2018, CU held the edge up until both season finales, the opponent owning edges of 16:43 in 2017 and 12:32 in 2018. In 2019, CU led just 34.7 percent of the time, over 100 minutes behind the opponent.
 - ➔ In 2021, CU led for 272:30, but went over 200 minutes between leads from the end of the A&M game in week two until Arizona in week six.
- ➔ The Buffs averaged 439.2 yards per game in 2016, in part thanks to a school record eight games in a row with 400 or more, with an average 284.6 yards through the air. Colorado has averaged 400 or more yards per game over the course of an entire season 16 times (last in 2017), with the school record of 495.3 set during the 1994 season. CU was averaging over 400 through 10 games in 2018 and through 11 in 2019 but finished just below both seasons.
 - ➔ CU had six games in 2019 with 400 or more yards (high of 520).
 - ➔ The Buffaloes have averaged over 300 yards passing in a season just once — 303.5 — in 1996, and came close the year before (297.2) and in 1992 (297.4); otherwise, CU has thrown for 250 or more per game just four times, including 2014 and 2016 (254.4).
- ➔ CU rarely folds when the opponent is faced with a 3rd-and-20 or longer. Dating back to 1993, opponents are just 5-of-134 on 3rd-and-20 or more. The Buff defense have had streaks of 51 and 30 in this span (Stanford is the last team to convert one, in 2011; the opponent is now 0-of-25 since). The CU offense is 13-of-158 when it's faced with 3rd-and-20 plus in the same span (0-of-17 since last converting on a 3rd-&-27 in the '16 Alamo Bowl against Oklahoma State).
- ➔ Plus Territory. CU scored 31 times (20 TD/11 FG) in 33 trips into the Red Zone (penetrating the 20); but the other 27 times it has crossed into plus territory ended on downs (11), punts (9), field goals (4), the clock (2) and 1 touchdown.
- ➔ CU scored in only 27 of 48 quarters this season (20 of 24 in 2020) and in 148 of 216 quarters dating back to the start of the 2017 season).

TURNOVER ANALYSIS / DORRELL ERA

Most head coaches believe that when it comes to turnovers, they are one of the single most important factors in winning or losing ball games. Statistics usually back up the argument, thus the numbers under Karl Dorrell. A closer look:

Dorrell Era	Turnovers Committed	Turnovers Forced	+/-	Scoring Off Turnovers PF	PA	+/-
8 WINS	5	15	+10	52	10	+42
10 LOSSES	13	6	- 7	18	37	-19
18 GAMES	18	21	+ 3	70	47	+23

POST BYE WEEKS

Colorado is 31-24 in games following a bye week in the post-World War II Era (or since 1946); after the Buffaloes joined the Big Seven Conference in 1948, CU stopped playing Denver in an annual Thanksgiving game that year and byes became much rarer. In fact, the Buffs had just five bye weeks between 1948 and 1984 (going 3-2; one was created in 1963 after the assassination of JFK). Since 1985, CU has had at least one bye in 32 of 35 seasons, with two weeks off 12 of those years (including 2019) and one season with three idle Saturdays (2001, due to the Sept. 11 terrorist attacks). CU is 27-21 in games following byes dating back to 1985, which includes a 5-6 mark as a member of the Pac-12 (losing to Arizona State in 2012, at Oregon State in 2013, at USC and Oregon in 2014, at Utah in 2017 and to Arizona in 2019; and wins over UCLA in 2016 and 2018, Washington in 2019 and San Diego State in 2020).

TOUCHDOWNS ON FIRST CAREER TOUCH

Five players in the last seven years have scored a touchdown on their first career touch, with two on the current: in 2018, WR Daniel Arias caught a 37-yard pass from QB Steven Montez to become the 16th known player to do so in CU history (he did so in his hometown, making it even more special). S Trevor Woods joined the list when he returned a blocked punt against Arizona this season. Not including those players whose first career interception were returned for scores (elsewhere in these notes), here's a list of the 17 known players in CU history that scored a TD the first time they touched the football:

SOUTH PARK RALPHIE INTRO

Most know that the creators of Comedy Central's popular South Park are University of Colorado alums: Trey Parker, Matt Stone and animator Eric Stough. Trey voices Eric Cartman; he teamed with Eric this summer to create a short (roughly 20 seconds) vignette that debuted during the countdown to kickoff prior to the 2014 Arizona State game. It's been a hit since, especially among the CU student section. Cartman is seen in his usual garb and he introduced Ralphie before the real buffalo led the Buffs on the field.

2021 ANNIVERSARIES

The annual listing of what happened years ago, or anniversaries of 5, 10 and 25-year increments:

- 1891 (Nov. 26) After going 0-4 in its first season of intercollegiate football the previous year, and dropping the first four games in '91, Colorado earns its first-ever win in the sport with a 24-4 win on the road against the Colorado Springs Athletic Association.
- 1896 Colorado records its first undefeated season with a 5-0-0 mark, outscoring the five opponents 161-6.
- 1901 After a one-year absence, Fred Folsom returns for his second of three stints as CU head coach, piloting the Buffs to a 5-1-1 mark.
- 1906 Colorado posts perhaps its weirdest record in its football history: 2-3-4, the four ties all of the scoreless variety. CU scored just 28 points but allowed only 32.
- 1911 The third of three 6-0 teams in a row while establishing the school's all-time winning streak of 21 games between 1908 and 1912. Colorado outscores the six opponents 88-5, allowing one field goal on defense and a safety for the only points.
- 1916 The first year of the post-Fred Folsom Era, as CU's legendary coach retired following the 1915 season; Bob Evans takes over but the Silver & Gold go 1-5-1.
- 1921 (Oct. 29) CU travels its furthest east for a football game, some 926 miles, but lose 35-0 at the University of Chicago, then a powerhouse in college football; the only longer trip at the time in program history was a 1915 game against Washington in Seattle, 999 miles from the CU campus. Trains took CU to both locales.
- 1926 CU opens the year with four straight home games, only done three times since (1937, 1943 and 1978 – in all of which the first five were at Folsom Field).
- 1931 (Nov. 26) Colorado defeats Arizona in Tucson, 27-7, on Thanksgiving, the last time (and of three total) Thanksgiving Day games CU has played out of the state.
- 1936 (Nov. 7) Byron White sets a then-school record by scoring 25 points (4 TD, 1 PAT) in a 31-7 win at Utah. White sets up his All-America season the following year by rushing for 643 yards with 1,339 all-purpose yards and 10 touchdowns.
- 1946 Jim Yeager reassumes head coaching position after serving in World War II for two years. An Oct. 12 win at Wyoming (20-0) was played in a blizzard.
- 1951 (Nov. 17) Colorado drills Nebraska in Lincoln, 36-14, in the program's first-ever televised game. Bill Stern (play-by-play) and Ray Michael (commentary) call the game, produced independently and aired regionally on NBC.
- 1956 (Nov. 4) After giving Oklahoma fits most of the decade, the Sooners roll into Boulder ranked No. 1 in the nation, CU's first-ever against the No. 1 team, and it appears the Buffaloes might finally break through. CU builds a 19-6 halftime lead, only to see OU rally with 21 second half points for a 27-19 win. The Buffs go on to finish 4-1-1 in the Big 7, earning the invitation to the Orange Bowl where CU beat Clemson, 27-21, for the first bowl win in school history.
- 1961 Colorado won its first Big 8 Conference championship, its first league title since 1942 (when it shared the Mountain States crown). The two biggest wins were a 20-19 win over Kansas (after trailing 19-0 early in the fourth quarter), and a 7-6 win over No. 10 Missouri. A 7-0 win at Nebraska remains to this day one of the school's all-time defensive gems: the Buffs held Nebraska to 31 total yards and zero first downs. CU reached No. 6 in the polls but lost to No. 4 LSU in the Orange Bowl, 25-7. Joe Romig is named an All-American for the second straight year and earns the Rhodes Scholarship.
- 1966 Colorado finished second in the Big 8 Conference race with a 5-2 mark (7-3 overall), the two league setbacks by a combined three points, 11-10 at Oklahoma State and 21-19 against Nebraska. After losing 24-3 to open the season at No. 20 Miami, the Buffaloes bounce back and win at No. 10 Baylor, 13-7, in a game where CU was on a mission to win after its black players were subject to racist taunts, including on a pregame radio show piped into the team lockerroom.
- 1971 Artificial surfacing makes its debut in Boulder on Sept. 18 versus Wyoming, as an AstroTurf carpet blanketed Folsom Field; fittingly, it snowed two feet that day and likely prevented cancellation of the game. CU's stunning road upsets of No. 9 Louisiana State and No. 6 Ohio State paved the way for a 10-2 season, as the Big 8 owned the top three spots in the final Associated Press poll after the bowls. With Nebraska (#1), Oklahoma (#2) and Colorado (#3), it was the first and to date only time in history one conference has occupied all top three positions at the end of the year. Charlie Davis rushes for a then-record 1,386 yards for the season, including a still-record 342 against Oklahoma State on Nov. 13, while Cliff Branch returns an NCAA record four punts for touchdowns. CU caps its first 10-win season with a 29-17 win over No. 15 Houston in the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl.
- 1976 Colorado won its second Big 8 Conference title with a 5-2 league record; the Buffs were tied with Oklahoma and Oklahoma State, but CU earned the title via tiebreaker by virtue of its wins over the Sooners (42-31) and Cowboys (20-10). Nine players off the '76 team would be selected in the following spring's NFL Draft, including five in the second round in an 18-pick span between Nos. 35 and 52.
- 1981 The Buffs were 3-8, winning their season opener (45-27 over Texas Tech), homecoming (11-10 over Oklahoma State) and season finale (24-21 against Kansas State). Coach Chuck Fairbanks would resign the following June 1 to take a similar job with the New Jersey Generals of the fledgling USFL.
- 1986 Fresh off a season where CU won the NCAA Most Improved Team Award (+5½ games over a 1-10 record in 1984), the Buffaloes open up a disappointing 0-4, the last three of those losses by a combined eight points. CU rallies to win its next five, including a 20-10 win over No. 3 Nebraska which many refer to as the "Turning Point" in the Coach Bill McCartney Era. That run set up a battle for first place in the Big 8 and the Orange Bowl berth that went with it against Oklahoma on Nov. 15. But the Sooners end the dream with a 28-0 win in Boulder, in a game where OU did not attempt a single pass.
- 1991 Colorado ties for a third straight Big 8 title with a 6-0-1 mark, as a Nov. 2 tie with Nebraska (19-19) ends a 19-game winning streak in conference play, dating back to the '88 finale. Lamont Warren rushes for 830 yards, to this day a single-season best by a CU freshman, and in one of the most daring personnel moves since the days of platoon football, coach Bill McCartney plays his starting quarterback, senior Darian Hagan, as the team's top punt returner so he can better showcase his talents for professional football.
- 1996 A 33-21 win over Washington gives CU a 10-2 record, its third consecutive 10-win season for the first time in school history. It was also the inaugural season of the Big 12 Conference, and Colorado won its first league game, 24-10, at Texas A&M in a game where the Buffs had the quickest score from scrimmage in their history: after Ryan Sutter recovered an A&M fumble on the opening kickoff, Rae Carruth scored on a 28-yard end around just 13 seconds into the game. Koy Detmer set a school record with 3,156 passing yards, and the 20-4 start over his first two seasons as a college coach by Rick Neuheisel ranks as one of the top 5 all-time in NCAA history.
- 2001 A Sept. 15 game at Washington State was cancelled due to the Sept. 11 terrorist attacks on the east coast. CU plays in its first Big 12 Championship game and wins the title with a 39-37 win over Texas in basically a road win at Irving; a 62-36 win over Nebraska the previous week gave the Buffs their first North Division title, as Chris Brown rushed for 198 yards and a school-record six touchdowns. Daniel Graham wins the John Mackey Award as the nation's top tight end, and is named the school's sixth unanimous All-American. No. 2 Colorado plays in its first (and only) BCS game, but loses to No. 3 Oregon 38-16 in the Fiesta Bowl.
- 2006 Dan Hawkins named 23rd full-time head coach at Colorado; PK Mason Crosby repeated as first-team All-American, as he was the first placekicker at CU to earn the honor even one time.
- 2011 Colorado officially became a member of the Pac-12 Conference, joining along with Utah what was previously known as the Pacific-10; both became members on July 1, 2011. Jon Embree named the 24th head coach in CU football history. The Buffaloes win league titles in men's and women's cross country and claim the postseason men's basketball championship by winning four games in as many days.
- 2016 Colorado pulls off the last-to-first accomplishment in winning its first Pac-12 South Division title with an 8-1 record, though losing the league's title game to Washington. The Buffs rise as high as No. 8 in the College Football Playoff standings and earn their first bowl bid (Alamo Bowl opposite Oklahoma State) in nine years. CU defeats Arizona State, Oregon, Stanford and UCLA for the first time as members of the Pac-12.

FIVE CU GAMES IN ESPN's TOP 150 ALL-TIME

ESPN compiled all kinds of top lists commemorating the 150th anniversary of college football in 2019, and came out with its listing of the top 150 games. Five Buffalo games made the list (all wins); while we might not necessarily agree as in our opinion, the "Fifth Down" game could have been bumped for the 62-36 win over Nebraska in 2001, or the 21-21 tie with Oklahoma in 1952 (the Sooners' only blemish in Big 7 play). Five out 150 is not too bad; those games:

No. 21	Ann Arbor	Sept. 24, 1994	#7 Colorado 27, #4 Michigan 26
No. 64	Miami	Jan. 1, 1991	#1 Colorado 10, #5 Notre Dame 9 (Orange Bowl)
No. 87	Columbia	Oct. 6, 1990	#2 Colorado 33, Missouri 31
No. 123	Irving	Dec. 1, 2001	#9 Colorado 39, #3 Texas 37 (Big 12 Championship)
No. 130	Boulder	Nov. 4, 1989	#2 Colorado 27, #3 Nebraska 21

Number one on the list? The true game of the century, Nov. 25, 1971, #1 Nebraska 35, #2 Oklahoma 31 in Norman, Okla.

AND OF THE TOP 150 COACHES ... CU had two on their list:

No. 87 Fred Folsom 107-28-6 (Colorado: 1895-1902 and 1908-15; 78-23-2, Dartmouth: 1903-06; 29-5-4)

Folsom enjoyed four unbeaten seasons at Colorado, including three straight from 1909-11, part of a 21-game winning streak over five seasons. That was his second tenure with the Buffs; Folsom retired from coaching in 1915 at age 42, but he continued at his chief job on the Boulder campus: He taught at the law school until 1943.

No. 144 Bill McCartney 93-55-2 (all at Colorado, 1982-94)

McCartney won seven games in his first three years at Colorado and never had a losing season again. The all-time leader in wins at the school, he won three conference championships, won the school's only national championship (in 1990) and played for the national championship in 1989. McCartney coached 1994 Heisman Trophy winner Rashaan Salaam and was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 2013.

AND OF THE TOP 150 PLAYERS ... Just one Buffalo, surprisingly (was hoping for two or three (e.g. QB Darian Hagan, TB Rashaan Salaam):

No. 116 Byron "Whizzer" White (RB, Colorado, 1935-37; Rushing yards: 1,864 | Total offense: 2,538 yards | Touchdowns: 24)

White excelled on the field and in the classroom at Colorado. In 1937, the Heisman runner-up led the nation in four major statistical categories: scoring, rushing, total offense and all-purpose yards. White's record-setting 246 all-purpose yards per game stood until Barry Sanders broke the mark in 1988. White was a Phi Beta Kappa scholar and first in his class at Colorado (180 hours of A, six of B). He became a Rhodes Scholar and was No. 1 in his class at Yale. White won two Bronze Stars in Pacific combat in World War II and in 1962, President John F. Kennedy appointed him to the U.S. Supreme Court, the youngest man at the time (44 years old) to be named to the nation's highest court (approved by a voice vote).

BUFFS ON ESPN'S GAMEDAY

Colorado has hosted ESPN's College GameDay three times (Sept. 23, 1995 vs. Texas A&M, Oct. 28, 1995 vs. Nebraska, Sept. 14, 1996 vs. Michigan); the Buffs have been the visiting team on three occasions as well (Oct. 29, 1994 at Nebraska, Sept. 30, 1995 at Oklahoma, Sept. 13, 1997 at Michigan).

TRUE FRESHMAN O-LINE STARTERS

It's pretty rare when a true freshman starts on the offensive line; in fact, in Colorado history current sophomore OT Frank Fillip became just the 12th player to do so when he started for the first time against Oregon State. Those dozen players have combined to make a total of 51 starts; no true freshman has started the entire season on the O-line. As the late great Keith Jackson would say, here's a list of CU's "big uglies" who have started games on the line (total number of starts in last column):

Player	Pos.	First Start	Opponent	Total	Player	Pos.	First Start	Opponent	Total

Brian Daniels	OG	Sept. 20, 2003	at Florida State	9

COLD WEATHER GAMES

With the 2020 season commencing on Nov. 7 and seven games on the revised schedule, chances were the Buffaloes would play in at least one game that would crack the school's coldest list in its history. And that's exactly what happened, as the Dec. 12 home game against Utah saw a 23 degree temperature at kickoff (which was the same temp at game's end), with a wind chill of 19 degrees. It snowed all day into the night on Friday, subsiding in the wee hours. Here's a list of a sub-30 degree weather at kickoff in CU annals (the Buffs are 14-9-1 all-time, including a 12-3-1 mark at home, when the thermometer doesn't crack 30):

MONTHLY TAB

The Buffs 77-63-1 in its last 141 November games (71-46 against all-comers aside from Nebraska, going 6-16-1 against NU in turkey month, and 70-25 against unranked teams since 1985. Colorado is 60-66-2 in their last 128 October games dating back to 1989. CU is The Buffs are 13-20 all-time in the month of December (5-8 in regular season games) and are 4-3-1 in August games in its history. Colorado is 72-44 in its last 116 September games, a pretty decent record considering the quality of non-conference schedule CU almost annually plays.

300+AT FOLSOM

Colorado is 325-181-10 in 98 seasons playing its home games at Folsom Field (516 in all). The first game at Folsom was Oct. 11, 1924 (then known as Colorado Stadium, built at a cost of $75,000). Previously, CU was 60-14-6 at Gamble Field and 28-8 on other grass fields of campus; the Buffs are 413-203-16 all-time at home. The 2016 season marked CU's first winning one at home in six years, as the Buffaloes went 6-0; Colorado's last winning record at home had been in 2010 (with a 4-2 mark); it was CU's first undefeated season at home since 1994, when the Buffs went 6-0 in the late Rashaan Salaam's Heisman Trophy winning year. Over the 2011-12 seasons, CU was just 1-10 in Boulder before going 3-3 in Folsom in Mike MacIntyre's first season; the Buffs pulled even at home under "Mac" with the 6-0 mark in 2016 and finished 18-17 at Folsom in his tenure. CU is 6-3 at home under Karl Dorrell.

RANKED "UNDEFEATEDS" FALL AT FOLSOM

Eleven ranked, undefeated teams have lost their "0" in the loss column at Folsom Field since 1989. The last was Kansas in 2009, as the Jayhawks (5-0) hit town ranked No. 17 and lost 34-30. In 2007, Oklahoma (4-0) rolled in ranked No. 3 and left with a 27-24 setback; in 2002, Kansas State came to Boulder ranked No. 13 at 4-0 and lost, 35-31. Two bit the dust in 2001: Nebraska (11-0, No. 1 in the BCS and No. 2 in the polls) fell 62-36 game to the Buffs, as did Texas A & M (5-0, No. 20), 31-21. In 1998, No. 22 Texas Tech (6-0) lost 19-17; in 1995, No.3 Texas A&M (2-0) lost, 29-21; in 1994, No. 10 Wisconsin (2-0) was crushed, 55-17; and in 1990, No. 12 Washington (3-0) left a 20-14 loser. In 1989, No. 10 Illinois (2-0) lost 38-7 and No. 3 Nebraska (8-0) fell, 27-21. (Not included is a 43-10 win over No. 23-FCS Charleston Southern in 2013, which came to Boulder with a 7-0 mark.)

THE PRIMO TWENTY-FOUR

Colorado is one of just 24 schools in I-A/FBS history to be able to make the claim of winning (or sharing) a national championship and also having a Heisman Trophy winner. The criteria for national championship consideration included those crowned by the Associated Press, the coaches, the BCS and the CFP; 30 total schools at one point in the past have been able to claim the throne. This prestigious short list (Alabama is the latest to join, doing so in 2009):

THE BUFFS & COLLEGE FOOTBALL HARDWARE

Colorado is in an elite group when it comes to claiming college football's prestigious trophies dating back to the 1990 season. A proliferation of awards has emerged since the late 1980s, and the Buffs are near the top of the list when it comes to collecting these statues. CU has had nine different players win 11 trophies over the last 22 seasons (1990-2021), tied for the 16th most nationally when it comes to trophies (and tied for 15th in the number of different players who have been honored). The below postseason "hardware" count includes the Heisman Trophy and the Lombardi, Maxwell, Walter Camp, Butkus, Thorpe, O'Brien, Unitas, Groza, Biletnikoff, Doak Walker, Nagurski, Bednarik, Mackey, Campbell, Tatupu (defunct), Ray Guy, Rimington, Lott, Hendricks, Hornung, Mayo/Comeback, Bullsworth (player awards only)—no "fad" awards around for a year or two, and no Disney Spirit, Orange Bowl Courage, Wuerffel, Witten, etc. awards). OPPONENTS & 2021 SCHEDULE TIDBITS

The 11 FBS opponents on the 2021 Colorado schedule combined for a 39-33 record in the COVID-19 shortened 2020 season (a 54.2 winning percentage); only one opponent played as many as 10 games (Texas A&M, going 9-1); three teams played as few as four.

- Colorado and Texas A&M were set to resume their rivalry from their Big 12 Conference days last year in College Station, now delayed until this year in Denver (which as a possible site was built into the original contract).
- With the A&M game at Denver's Empower Field at Mile High, it was the 44th game CU will play in a stadium that is or has been home to an NFL team (21-22-1 record); CU is 16-10 in current NFL venues, which includes a 12-5 record at Empower (16 previous games against Colorado State).
- With the season opener on a Friday night, it was the seventh time in eight years the Buffaloes will open on a weeknight (2014, 2016, 2017, 2018 and 2019 in Denver, 2015 in Honolulu and now 2021 in Boulder); the Buffs opened the 2013 season on a Sunday.
- Minnesota was the first Big Ten Conference team to visit Boulder since Nebraska in 2019, but the first pre-realignment since Michigan in 1996.
- Only UCLA has a bye before playing the Buffaloes in 2021 (CU hosts Oregon State that day); Colorado's bye came the week before hosting Arizona for Family Weekend (the Wildcats hosted UCLA when the Buffs have their Saturday off).
- CU is 5-5 overall in Pac-12 openers (2-4 at home) and will open against Arizona State for the third time (1-1, the second time in Tempe).
- Friday Night Lights. The Buffaloes play on a Friday night at least once for the seventh time in eight years; a 2020 Friday game versus Utah was moved to the next day. With the UNC win, CU is 19-25 all-time on Fridays (9-10 night; CU is 6-7 on Friday nights since joining the Pac-12, 1-6 in league games).
- With two Friday night affairs, Colorado had at least one regular season game on a non-Saturday for the 26th time over the last 27 seasons; the only exception was in the abbreviated 2020 campaign. The Buffs had played the Friday after Thanksgiving from 1996 through 2012, a span of 17 seasons (Nebraska 1995-2010, Utah 2011-12). But starting in 2013, the game with the Utes was passed on by the Pac-12's television partners for Friday airing until FOX will show the 2021 contest on one of its platforms (FOX/FS-1/FS-2).
- Colorado is scheduled to travel 7,563 ground and air miles round-trip for its non-Boulder games in 2021: Texas A&M (Denver, 60); Arizona State (Tempe, 1,261), Cal (Berkeley, 1,941), Oregon (Eugene, 1,787), UCLA (Pasadena, 1,719) and Utah (Salt Lake City, 795).
- In Pac-12 play, Colorado will miss Stanford and Washington State this year and in 2022; they rotate back in for 2023-24 when Cal and Washington come off.
- The 2020 game canceled at Colorado State was the last in an 11-game series renegotiated and signed in December 2009; the schools will resume the series in 2023-24 (Sept. 16 in Boulder and Sept. 14 in Fort Collins), and earlier this year signed a six-year series to continue what has become known as the Rocky Mountain Showdown. Those games are set for 2029-30, 2033-34 and 2037-38. The two had played every year since 1995 and 31 times dating back to 1983.

A LOOK AT THE PAC-12 DIVISIONS

After the Pac-12 announced it was expanding to 12 teams in 2010 with the late spring additions of Colorado (June 10) and Utah (June 17), the divisions were announced later that year (football only). CU and Utah joined Arizona, Arizona State, Southern California and UCLA in the Pac-12 South; the Oregon and Washington schools along with Cal and Stanford comprised the Pac-12 North. Here's a look at the divisions and the all-time records of each program as listed by the NCAA through the 2021 season (2021 records in parenthesis):

FOLSOM FIELD #1

In 2017, LawnStarter.com ranked its top 16 College Football Stadiums with the Best Natural Scenery, and lo and behold, coming in at the top was CU's own Folsom Field. The top 10: 1. Folsom Field (Colorado); 2. Lavell Edwards Stadium (BYU); 3. Utah Stadium (Utah); 4. Romney Stadium (Utah State); 5. Rose Bowl (UCLA); 6. Sun Bowl (UTEP); 7. Ryan Field (Northwestern); 8. Scott Stadium (Virginia); 9. Michie Stadium (Army); 10. Kidd Brewer Stadium (Appalachian State); 11. Dowdy-Ficklen Stadium (East Carolina); 12. Dix Stadium (Kent State); 13. Memorial Stadium (California); 14. Kenan Stadium (North Carolina); 15. Memorial Stadium (Kansas); 16. Spartan Stadium (San Jose State).

The same publication ranked CU's natural grass field the third best national behind Iowa State (Jack Trice Field) and Northwestern (Ryan Field).

CU IS BLACK & GOLD, BUT FOLSOM WAS FIRST TO GO "GREEN"

The University of Colorado at Boulder established a goal to move toward zero-waste at Folsom Field during the 2008 football season and invest in local carbon-reduction projects. They anticipated recycling or composting at least 90% of the waste generated at Folsom Field and met those goals. According to U.S. Environmental Protection Agency information and other sources, Folsom Field was the first major sports stadium in the nation, professional or collegiate, to collect all materials in recycling or compost containers, eliminate trash cans and transform its materials collections systems into a zero-waste process.

U.S. NEWS & WORLD REPORT TABS BOULDER #1

In October 2020, U.S. News & World Report released its annual ranking of the top 150 places to live in the United States. In its summary, the publication wrote: "Snug against the foothills where the Great Plains give rise to the Rocky Mountains, Boulder is nothing if not a looker. This city reveals its spectacle at the crest of a hill on U.S. Route 36 from Denver with its iconic sandstone slabs rising from the mountains, prefaced by pine-clad mesas and cradled within the backdrop of the snow-capped Indian Peaks." Boulder received high scores for desirability, job market and quality of life (also receiving the No. 1 ranking in the latter).

The top 10: 1. Boulder; 2. Denver; 3. Austin, Texas; 4. Colorado Springs; 5. Fort Collins, Colo.; 6. Charlotte, N.C.; 7. Des Moines, Iowa; 8. Fayetteville, Ark.; 9. Portland, Ore.; 10. San Francisco. Other Pac-12 Metro Areas: 13. Seattle; 29. San Jose, Calif.; 31. Salt Lake City; 53. Phoenix; 76. Eugene; 80. Salem, Ore.; 85. Spokane; 97. Los Angeles; 113. Tucson.

CU FOOTBALL REMAINS SECOND MOST POPULAR PER-GAME SELL IN STATE

The final home attendance figure for 2019 was 297,435, an average of 49,573 for six home games. It marked the 25th straight season that Colorado football was the second largest average draw per game in the state behind the NFL Denver Broncos (and the 43rd time in the last 45 years). The fledgling Colorado Rockies took over the second spot the two years they played at old Mile High Stadium, averaging in the mid-to-upper 50s in 1993 and 1994. The Broncos wrestled the state's top spot away from the Buffs permanently in 1975 after first doing so in 1969, with six years of see-sawing in-between (CU had been the state attendance leader since Folsom Field was built in 1924). CU continues to have the second largest public and overall season ticket base in the state (the count for 2021 was 33,589 when adding in 13,990 student holders to 19,599 public tickets (student tickets are purchased, just at a discounted rate). In 2019, CU was again first in the state in college football attendance for the 54th straight year, ahead of Colorado State (23,337) and Air Force (27,084; AFA was the last school top CU's figure, in 1965); 2020 not figured in due to the pandemic.

► In 2021, the Broncos are averaging 76,295 per game (6 games); the Rockies finished at 24,854 (lower than normal as COVID restrictions weren't lifted until June).

ALL-BLACK UNIFORMS

Colorado has worn its all black uniforms on 56 occasions, when the Buffaloes wear both black jerseys and black pants, owning a 24-31-1 record; the Buffs have also added black helmets to the look, having worn black top-to-bottom on seven occasions (0-8 in that combo). A little history on the all-black look: the brainchild of then-head coach Bill McCartney, CU first wore the garb on Nov. 28, 1987 for a game after Thanksgiving at the time; the opponent was CU's old Big 8 rival, Nebraska. The Buffs came out and warmed up in gold pants, and upon returning to the locker room at the conclusion of warm-ups, the players found black pants hanging in their lockers. "It was something we thought about a long time ago," Mac said at the time. "You couldn't do this overnight. We didn't tell the kids, and they were real excited." He went on to say that it was planned a month or so out to give the team a shot of adrenaline prior to kickoff.

WHO IS/HAS BEEN IN ON OFFENSE & DEFENSE

The last Buff to play on both sides of the ball was OLB Carson Wells, who played some fullback late in 2018 (three snaps, picking up two touchdown block credits) ... George Frazier, as he did his freshman year in 2014, appeared on both offense (TE/FB) and defense (DE) as senior in 2017 (he played 506 total snaps between offense, defense and special teams). In 2014, he played both defensive end and fullback for the first time against Arizona State, becoming the first Buff to appear on both sides of the ball since 2005 in the process, and continued to do so the remainder of the season. Otherwise, you have to go back to the 2008 season, when Eugene Goree was on-call to do so, as the redshirt frosh was both a DT and an OG during the second half of the season; he did appear on both sides of the ball but not in the same game. Through the years, there have been a few players who wind up playing on both sides of the ball in the same game: DT John Guydon (DT/OG at Texas on October 15, 2005) and that was the first time it happened other than a gimmick here or there since WR Michael Westbrook played a series at safety against Baylor in 1993 (linemen DE James Garee, DT Sam Wilder and DT Justin Bannan all appeared on offense, catching one pass each). CB Ben Kelly tried tailback in 1999 at Texas Tech; he finished with three yards on one carry (a nice 5-yard run was wiped out by a penalty). Between 1994 and 2005, several Buffs played on both sides of the ball, as offensive linemen often played on the goal line or short yardage defense units—OG Heath Irwin, OG Clint Moore, OG Chris Naeole, OT Melvin Thomas and OG Brad Bedell all did it at one time or another between 1993 and 1998. In 1990, OLBs Alfred Williams and Kanavis McGhee played some tight end in a 64-3 win over Kansas State (Williams caught a pass for 17 yards).

SUPER BOWL BUFFALOES

In 2020, 247Sports looked at all 108 rosters of the 54 Super Bowls and developed an all-time list of the schools that have the most players appear in the game (results for SB55 were not updated). Colorado came in tied for 10th with LSU and Ohio State with 93 players (Buffs have won a total of 52 Super Bowl rings). Topping the list was Miami-Fla. with 122, followed by USC (120), Michigan (114), UCLA (112), Penn State (110), Notre Dame (105), Tennessee (102), Georgia and Nebraska (96). Next after the Buffs from the Pac-12 were Stanford (16th, 84), California (17th, 83), Arizona State (19th, 75) Oregon (23rd, 71) and Washington (28th, 65).

SUPER BOWL SCORING. In the 55 Super Bowls, Colorado is tied for 21st in producing points with 37: WR Cliff Branch scored 18 for the Raiders, PK Mason Crosby seven for the Packers, FB Cullen Bryant six for the Rams and WR Boyd Dowler six for the Packers. The all-time list:

WHY CU AND NOT UC?

A question often asked of many former Big 8 schools: Why is it the University of Colorado, but the moniker is CU and not UC? (The same applies at Kansas—KU, Missouri—MU, Nebraska—NU and Oklahoma—OU). "Midwestern casualness," said CU historian, the late Fred Casotti. It had always been this way at Colorado dating back to at least the 1920s, for whatever reason and at the others—but seemingly nowhere else in the USA (except for Tulsa, but it's Midwest, too). In the 1950s, there was a concerted effort to eliminate the use of "CU" on the Boulder campus, both as a symbol and in speech, but Casotti said that no one bought into it. "Nobody would change," he said. "It's easier to say than U of C, UC sounds like slang or something (as in 'you see'), and it was traditional. By trying to eliminate it, they reinforced it."

HISTORY OF THE END ZONE "COLORADO"

As in the south end zone, that is. In 1967, the stadium was lowered when the track was removed, and that area remained basically a dirt hill. Former long-time senior associate A.D. Jon Burianek said that we tried to grow grass and bushes there, but none took. The first artificial field was installed during the summer of 1971, and that area was then covered with asphalt and the large, block COLORADO was painted on it, then in all-white block lettering. Trim was later added, and at one time, when blue was one of the school colors, the end zone as well was painted blue instead of the familiar black.

RALPHIE VI MAKES HER DEBUT

On September 1, the University of Colorado Ralphie Program Manager Taylor Stratton announced that the school had anointed its newest live Buffalo mascot – Ralphie VI – and she made her debut last Friday night at the Buffaloes' season opener against Northern Colorado. The 44,153 in attendance started chanting "Ralphie ... Ralphie" prior to her initial run, and Folsom Field exploded in applause and cheers as she completed two runs in CU's 35-7 win.

(Ralphie did not attend the Texas A&M game in Denver as her caretakers are easing her into different environments.)

The newest Ralphie is a shade over 15 months old, as she was born on May 27, 2020 on a ranch in western Nebraska. An orphan rejected by her mother at birth, she was adopted and raised in part by a beef cow. She now tips the scales at just under 500 pounds; the previous quintet of buffalo mascots eventually weighed around 1,300 pounds, but it is hard to predict just how big VI will grow. Ralphie V was retired after the 2019 season after serving the university for 12 years, matching the tenures of both Ralphies I and IV. She is in good health and is enjoying her "retirement."

Stratton was the assistant coach and took over the Ralphie program on April 1, 2020; she was involved from the get-go with former head coach John Graves to identify a new mascot. The search for her successor started immediately, but the process was put on hold and then delayed due to the COVID-19 pandemic. The newest Ralphie was donated to the program in November 2020, and after months of training, evaluation and getting to know the fast-growing calf, Stratton felt confident over the course of this past summer that she had secured the candidate for VI.

"I couldn't be more excited to introduce Ralphie VI this Friday night," athletic director Rick George said. "This will be a really special moment in our Ralphie history as Ralphie VI makes her first appearance to open our 2021 season. Colorado football is synonymous with Ralphie and I'm ecstatic to continue this tradition with Ralphie VI as the best tradition in college athletics."

"We're very excited for the opportunity to continue the Ralphie live mascot program," Stratton said. "We understand how much Ralphie means to everyone in Buff Nation. Throughout the entire process, we have always prioritized the care and safety of the buffalo and her handlers above all else. All of Ralphie's training is completed with positive reinforcement, and ultimately the decision on whether or not she runs will always depend on her safety and that of her handlers."

The Backstory of Finding VI

On his ranch just north of Chadron, Neb., Will Isham has been in the buffalo business for the last 20 years. As a CU Boulder graduate (Finance '80), he has always had a love for these majestic animals. His daughter Drew followed in her father's footsteps and also attended CU (Communication '13). After graduation, her close friend and sorority sister Sara Abdulla, began working with CU's Alumni Association (program manager of student outreach). Drew started attending more alumni events and over time, became friends with Sara's colleague, Taylor Marie Stratton, who started working with the organization in 2017. Stratton left the alumni office when she was named as the manager of CU's Ralphie Live Mascot Program. After it was decided for Ralphie V to retire and the need for a new Ralphie arose, she remembered the young woman from all those alumni gatherings who grew up on a bison ranch and gave her a call. Nine months ago, the Isham family formally donated a bison heifer calf to CU and hope to remain a part of the program for years to come. While the ranch may be in northwestern Nebraska, the Ishams are truly CU through-and-through. Five members of the Isham family have attended the university: in addition to Will and Drew, Michael Burns ('67), Glory Isham Burns ('75 and a board member of CU's prestigious Leeds School of Business) and most recently, Jay Braddock Voss (Graduate School of Banking '15).

The Handlers

Taylor Stratton succeeded John Graves as the program's director on April 1, 2020. A 2013 CU graduate, she lettered three years as a handler and represented the program on HBO's Real Sports with Bryant Gumbel. Growing up in Southern Colorado on her family's multi-generational working ranch, she was always around horses and livestock so it was natural for her to become involved in the program. She was the assistant coach for four years before being promoted. The assistant coach is Colton Behr, himself also a four year letterwinner as a handler. He was the rookie of the year for 2015, was twice named the recipient of the Tough Buff Award for strength and conditioning prowess, and as a senior, was presented with the Heart of the Buffalo Award. Then there are 16 handlers in all – 12 men, four women – all current CU students, including four first-year members, all of whom also help care for Ralphie year-round,

The History

The six Ralphies in all, dating back to her first appearance on Sept. 16, 1967, have led the Buffaloes on to the field for 356 games (not including spring games or scrimmages). Those break down into 297 home games, 24 bowl games, 19 Rocky Mountain Showdowns in Denver, 12 regular season road games and four Big 12 Championship games. Ralphie I ran the most times (78), with V next (76), followed by IV (75) and III (73); Ralphie II had the shortest tenure – 53 games -- but passed away early in the 1987 season. The original Ralphie performed six times at away games and in seven bowls for the most outside the state of Colorado (13); III appeared at the most bowl games (8, including CU's two Orange Bowl national championship games).

The list: 5—Colorado State; 4—San Jose State; 3—Stanford, Utah State, Wyoming; 2—Arizona, Iowa, Louisiana-Monroe, Massachusetts, Nebraska, Notre Dame, San Diego State and Washington. CU's longest current losing streaks are to Southern California (15), Texas (6), Missouri (5), Utah (5) and LSU, Michigan, Ohio State, Oklahoma State (3).

GAME 1: COLORADO 35, NORTHERN COLORADO 7*SEPTEMBER 3, 2021*FOLSOM FIELD, BOULDER

BOULDER — Karl Dorrell's Colorado Buffaloes overcame a slow start to grind out a 35-7 win over Northern Colorado in both teams' season opener at Folsom Field.

While new CU mascot Ralphie VI had a successful debut in front of an enthusiastic crowd of 44,153, the Buffs offense struggled to find its footing early. But CU finally put two scores on the board in the second quarter while the defense produced a first-half shutout, then added 21 points in the second half to wrap up the win.

CU's Jarek Broussard ran 15 times for 94 yards and a touchdown as Colorado dominated the game on the ground. The Buffs finished with 383 yards total offense, including an overwhelming 281-17 edge on the ground as four different CU running backs found the end zone. CU freshman quarterback Brendon Lewis completed 10 of 15 attempts for 102 yards and a touchdown in his starting debut.

One big downside to the night proved to be penalties, as CU was flagged for 12 miscues for 117 yards. And both teams struggled offensively in the first half before CU finally found its footing early in the second quarter.

Thanks to a UNC penalty that kept a Buffs drive alive at the Bears 38, the Buffs took advantage of the opportunity to get to the end zone. Lewis hit tight end Brady Russell with a 7-yard pass, Broussard burst up the middle for a 12-yard gain and two plays later, he capped the drive with a 1-yard touchdown run.

CU's defense continued to keep the Bears bottled up and forced two more UNC punts before the Buffs struck again.

Colorado drove 56 yards in five plays for its second touchdown and a 14-0 lead. Broussard provided a big play with a 30-yard run down the left sideline before Lewis then found Montana Lemonious-Craig in the end zone with a 17-yard throw.

CU's defense then turned away UNC's most productive drive of the half. The Bears moved from their own 25 to the Colorado 15, only to see UNC quarterback Dylan McCaffrey overthrow his receiver, giving CU's Mekhi Blackmon an interception in the end zone.

After Becker hit the crossbar on a 53-yard field-goal try on CU's first possession of the second half, the Buffs took their next possession and hammered out their third scoring drive of the night.

Starting from its own 10-yard line, Colorado drove 90 yards in 16 plays for a touchdown, using 7:25 off the clock. Alex Fontenot performed the bulk of the work, carrying six times for 32 yards, including a 3-yard touchdown run to cap the drive.

UNC finally got on the board on its next possession, going 75 yards in seven plays. The Buffs helped the Bears on the drive with two costly penalties, including an unsportsmanlike conduct flag on fourth down. Northern Colorado finally reached the end zone when McCaffrey connected with Washington State transfer Cassidy Woods for a 34-yard touchdown pass to cut CU's lead to 21-7 at the end of the third quarter.

The Buffs, however, quickly answered. After a nice kick return by Brenden Rice to the CU 46, the Buffs went 64 yards in six plays for a touchdown. Ashaad Clayton finished the drive with a 1-yard scoring run for a 28-7 Colorado lead.

The Buffs then tacked on another touchdown to their total midway through the quarter after the defense held at midfield on fourth down. Deion Smith ran for 21 yards, Lewis connected with La'Vontae Shenault on a 23-yard pass and Smith then ran 7 yards for CU's fifth touchdown of the night and a 35-7 lead.

GAME NOTES

Colorado now leads the series by an 11-2 count (2-0 since the rivalry resumed in 2017 after being dormant since 1934). CU leads 7-1 in Boulder ... Tonight's attendance of 44,153 was bolstered late in the week by the announcement of Ralphie VI and an awesome turnout by the students; all 14,000 sport passes sold out (all-time student tickets sold were 14,442 in 1972, followed by 14,000 in 1990; 11,537 students were scanned in tonight) ... The Buffaloes are now 83-44-5 in 132 season openers, 55-20-1 at home; it was the first season opening win in Boulder since 2005, as most openers since 1988 took place in Denver ... Colorado is now 20-3 in non-conference regular season games dating back to 2013 ... CU is now 19-25 all-time on Fridays ... Karl Dorrell improved to 40-29 as a collegiate head coach 5-2 at Colorado) ... The late Hank Aaron would be proud: this was CU's 715th all-time victory (715-517-36) ... UNC had 18 rushes for 20 yards; it was the fewest in a season opener since 1996, when Washington State had 21 rushes for a net 5 yards ... CU did not turn the ball over (or even have a fumble) in its third straight season opener; it's the second turnover-free game under Dorrell ... Colorado was 5-for-5 in the red zone (5 TDs), and is now an incredible 54-of-58 over the last 16 season openers (93.1%; 39 TDs/15 FGs). CU is 19-of-19 in the last four season lid-lifters ... The last time four different running backs scored in a game was on Sept. 26, 2015 in a 48-0 win over Nicholls State.

GAME 2: TEXAS A&M 10, COLORADO 7*SEPTEMBER 11, 2021*EMPOWER FIELD AT MILE HIGH, DENVER

DENVER — Colorado's defense played lights out all afternoon, but the Buffaloes' bid for an upset of No. 5 Texas A&M fell just short as the Aggies used a fourth-quarter touchdown to escape Empower Field with a 10-7 win.

The Buffaloes scored first, putting a touchdown on the board in the first quarter, but they never found the end zone again. Both teams missed field goals in the first half, and CU also came up short on a fourth-and-1 attempt at the Texas A&M 5-yard line in the second quarter while the Aggies lost a fumble in the end zone in the fourth quarter.

The Buffs stymied the high-powered A&M offense for 57 minutes before the Aggies finally put together a 77-yard scoring drive to take their first lead with just 2:41 left in the game.

Colorado's defense had an outstanding first half, dominating the Aggies for most of the first two quarters. CU forced six three-and-out possessions in the first half and held the Aggies without a first down until their final possession of the half.

Offensively, the Buffs started slowly — Brendon Lewis threw an interception on CU's first possession — but then found their ground game to reach the end zone.

After Colorado's defense forced its fourth straight three-and-out, the Buffs drove 69 yards in nine plays for a touchdown. Lewis carried three times for 48 yards on the march, including a 30-yard gain, before Jarek Broussard bulled in from 2 yards out for the touchdown. Cole Becker's PAT gave CU a 7-0 lead with 2:24 still to go in the first quarter.

Colorado's defense continued to hold the Aggies in check. With backup QB Zach Calzada at the helm after an early injury to starter Haynes King, A&M failed to collect a first down on its first six possessions.

The Buffs missed a chance to add to their lead early in the second quarter when a 46-yard field goal try went wide right and they came away empty again 10 minutes later after driving from their own 29 all the way to the A&M 5. Needing just 1 yard, the Buffs came up short on two straight plays and turned the ball over at the A&M on downs.

The Aggies finally got on the board late in the second quarter, driving 57 yards to the CU 23-yard line before settling for a 41-yard field goal just before halftime.

After a scoreless third quarter in which neither team could muster any kind of offensive threat, CU's defense came up with a huge play after the Aggies drove from their own 13 to the Colorado 13 midway through the fourth.

On third-and-13, Calzada scrambled from the pocket up the middle and lunged for the end zone, with the ball coming loose just as he reached the goal line. Officials initially signaled a touchdown, but upon review, changed the call to a fumble and CU recovery, protecting the Buffaloes' 7-3 lead.

Cornerback Mekhi Blackmon came up with the recovery, the second straight week he produced a turnover in the end zone (he had an interception last week vs. Northern Colorado).

But the Buffs could not move the ball on their ensuing possession and the Aggies moved from their own 23 to go 77 yards in 11 plays. Calzada threw an 18-yard scoring pass to Isaiah Spiller with just 2:41 left in the game.

CU couldn't move the ball on its next possession and turned the ball over on downs and A&M ran out the clock to escape with the win.

GAME NOTES

Colorado now leads the series by a 6-4 count (4-1 in Boulder, 2-2 in College Station, 0-1 in Denver) ... With the temperature 92 degrees at kickoff, it tied the sixth-warmest at kick in CU history, and tied for the second hottest in the state of Colorado (warmer: 94, CU vs. CSU in Denver on 9/1/2012; matched 92 vs. Kansas in Boulder, 9/24/1949 ... Colorado is now 12-55-1 all-time versus top 5 teams ... The last time the Buffs lost a game allowing 10 points or less was on Nov. 12, 1988 in a 7-0 loss at Nebraska (and a similar 10-7 loss to Oregon in Boulder in the '87 opener); CU had won 75 straight games when allowing 13 points or less ... Texas A&M ran 27 plays in the fourth quarter to CU's 6 ... There were just four plays (out of 142 scrimmage and returns) for 20-plus yards: one rush (30 by CU's Brendon Lewis), two receptions (29 and 25 by Jalen Wydermyer by and Devon Achane for A&M) and a 21-yard kickoff return by Achane ... The 10 points No. 5 Texas A&M scored today tied for the second fewest by a Top 5 team against a Colorado defense ... Colorado forced A&M into six straight three-and-outs to open the game (a missed FGA counts), and didn't allow A&M a first down until its 19th play (at the 1:50 mark of the second quarter) ... A&M was just 2-of-23 in second down efficiency for the game, and missed on its first 18 tries ... P Josh Watts (7-49.0 avg., 0 In20, 1 TB; 41.9 net), had the best day of his career, including three punts of 50 yards or more, matching the total he had in his first 30 kicks as a Buff (he averaged 54.7 yards on three punts inside-the-CU 30) ... ILB Nate Landman (8,2—10 TT) had the 19th double-digit career tackle game of his career.

GAME 3: MINNESOTA 30, COLORADO 0*SEPTEMBER 18, 2021*FOLSOM FIELD, BOULDER

BOULDER — Colorado's offense struggled from the beginning and Minnesota's ground game wore down the Buffaloes' defense as CU dropped a 30-0 decision at Folsom Field.

The Gophers put two touchdowns on the board in the first half, then added two more touchdowns and a field goal after intermission to hand CU its first shutout loss at home since a 48-0 loss to Stanford in 2012.

CU's offense, meanwhile, never established any kind of consistency. Colorado finished with just 63 yards total offense, did not cross midfield until late in the second quarter and did not hit Minnesota territory again until late in the fourth. CU starting quarterback Brendon Lewis completed 8-of-16 pass attempts for 55 yards. Backup quarterback Drew Carter, who came into the game in the fourth quarter, led CU in rushing with 9 yards on two carries.

Minnesota finished with 441 yards total offense, including 277 on the ground. Trey Potts led the Gophers with 121 yards and three touchdowns on 26 carries. Quarterback Tanner Morgan was an efficient 11-for-17 for 164 yards passing.

Buff's linebacker Nate Landman proved to be one of the few bright spots for Colorado, finishing with 13 tackles (10 solo, three for loss) and a forced fumble. Linebackers Quinn Perry and Guy Thomas chipped in 10 tackles each.

The Gophers dominated from the beginning, driving for two touchdowns in the first half while the Buffs' offense could not move the ball.

CU finished the half with just 7 total yards, including minus-27 on the ground due in great part to four quarterback sacks by the Gophers.

Minnesota, meanwhile, used a solid ground attack to slowly hammer the Buffs. Colorado dodged a bullet early when the Gophers' first possession ended at the CU 6-yard line with a missed field goal, but UM came back to tally a pair of touchdowns.

The Gophers drove 82 yards in eight plays for their first touchdown, getting a 13-yard scoring run from Potts for a 6-0 lead (the PAT try was no good).

Following CU's fourth punt of the day, Minnesota marched 62 yards in six plays for its second touchdown. Potts carried in from 2 yards out for a 13-0 Gophers lead.

Colorado, meanwhile, never found an offensive rhythm. The Buffs managed just four first downs in the first half, with their longest series consisting of just six offensive snaps. The Gophers had all four of their sacks in the first half and CU's longest play of the half was an 11-yard completion from Lewis to Brenden Rice.

The Buffs dodged a bullet early in the second half when the Gophers missed another field goal attempt. But CU failed to move the ball, gaining just one first down and punted.

CU then forced a Minnesota punt and had decent field position at its own 40. But Lewis fumbled the ball away on the first play of the series and the Gophers then put the game away for all intents and purposes with a seven-play, 43-yard touchdown drive. Potts capped the march with a 3-yard scoring run with 23 seconds remaining in the third quarter to give Minnesota a 20-0 lead.

The Gophers then added a field goal and another touchdown in the fourth quarter to complete the scoring.

GAME NOTES

Colorado now leads the series by a 3-1 count (1-1 in Boulder, 2-0 in Minneapolis) ... The last time CU was shutout at home was on Nov. 2, 2012 in a 48-0 loss to Stanford; the last non-conference team to shutout CU in Boulder was Louisiana State on Sept. 15, 1979 (44-0) ... The last team to shutout Colorado at any location was Washington State in Pullman on Oct. 21, 2017 (28-0); CU had scored in 36 straight prior to today ... The 63 yards on offense was the eighth-lowest in school history (the fewest since 46 against Oklahoma in the 2004 Big 12 title game at Kansas City). It was the third-lowest output in a home game (51 vs. Nebraska in 1964, 61 vs. USC in 2002) ... CU had just 7 yards of offense in the first half, the fewest since 29 years earlier, ironically at Minnesota when the Buffaloes had just 4 (CU rallied to win that game, 21-20) ... The scoreless first quarter was just the seventh involving the Buffaloes over the last 204 games (dating back to 2003); the first quarter against UNC was also scoreless; the last time there were multiple scoreless opening stanzas was in 2007, when there were three ... P Josh Watts (8-51.9 avg., 3 In20, 0 TB; 46.4 net, 62 long) enjoyed the best game of his career for the second straight week, including five punts of 50 yards or more, including his career long of 62 (topping his 60-yarder in the 2020 Alamo Bowl). He averaged 51.9 for eight punts, the highest by a Buffalo with six or more punts since 2002, when Mark Mariscal had eight kicks for a 57.4 norm in a loss to USC at home (he went on to win the Ray Guy Award that season) ... ILB Nate Landman recorded 18 tackles (14,4—18 TT; 3 TFL, 1 3DS, 1 TZ), the 20th double-digit tackle game of his career, tying for fifth-most, and moved into the top 10 in tackles for loss with 39 (jumping from 11th into a tie for sixth) ... TB Alex Fontenot (3-4 rushing) finished the game with exactly 1,000 career rushing yards, the 55th Buffalo to reach that plateau.

GAME 4: ARIZONA STATE 35, COLORADO 13*SEPTEMBER 25, 2021*SUN DEVIL STADIUM, TEMPE

TEMPE, Ariz. — Colorado finally ended its offensive drought, but it wasn't enough as the Buffaloes dropped a 35-13 decision to Arizona State at Sun Devil Stadium in the Pac-12 opener for both teams.

CU fell to 1-3 overall with its third straight loss and 0-1 in Pac-12 play while ASU improved to 3-1, 1-0.

Colorado's offensive struggles continued for much of the first half, as the Buffs came up empty on their first four possessions, one of which ended in a missed field goal.

Meanwhile, the Sun Devils found the end zone twice, with both scoring drives extended by third down penalties on CU.

ASU took its second possession 45 yards to the end zone, getting new life when a facemask penalty on third down negated a Colorado sack. Four plays later, Daniels scored from 7 yards out and the Buffs trailed, 7-0, with 7:45 to play in the first quarter.

Penalties plagued CU for much of the half, as they were flagged for six infractions for 59 yards in the first 30 minutes. CU finished with eight penalties for 84 yards.

After the two teams traded punts following ASU's score, the Buffs finally drove into Arizona State territory. CU's Brendon Lewis ran for 42 yards on back-to-back plays before the drive stalled at the ASU 28. A 46-yard field goal try, however, was partially blocked and the Buffs came away empty.

ASU then took advantage of another Colorado penalty on the ensuing possession. The Buffs forced an incomplection on third down, but a roughing the passer penalty kept the drive alive and Rachaad White scored from 11 yards out on the next play to extend ASU's lead to 14-0.

The Buffs finally ended their scoreless streak at eight quarters late in the half. CU drove 58 yards over the final three minutes before getting a 51-yard Becker field goal with 13 seconds left in the half, sending CU to the locker room trailing 14-3.

Finally putting points on the scoreboard seemed to inspire the Buffs as they took the opening kickoff of the second half and drove 75 yards to the end zone. Jarek Broussard had two carries for 20 yards to open the drive before Lewis dropped a jet sweep pass to freshman receiver Ty Robinson, who raced 26 yards upfield.

Alex Fontenot then took over, carrying five times in a row for 29 yards, capping the drive with a 1-yard dive into the end zone. Becker's PAT pulled the Buffs to within 14-10 with 11:01 still to play in the third quarter.

Colorado's momentum, though, didn't last long, as the Sun Devils quickly answered with a long drive of their own. ASU's Jayden Daniels completed three passes for 42 yards, setting up a 17-yard touchdown carry on a reverse, giving ASU a 21-10 lead midway through the quarter.

Colorado managed to move close to midfield on its next possession, but a dropped pass on third down ended the drive.

ASU then extended its lead to 28-10 two possessions later on a trick play when wide receiver Ricky Pearsall threw a 30-yard touchdown pass to White.

After another Colorado punt, the Sun Devils capped their evening with a 59-yard scoring drive, with Daniels scoring from 15 out to wrap up the march for a 35-10 lead.

CU did get on the board once more, driving 61 yards before settling for a 33-yard Becker field goal late in the fourth quarter to complete the scoring for the night.

GAME 5: SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA 37, COLORADO 14*OCTOBER 2, 2021*FOLSOM FIELD, BOULDER

BOULDER — Colorado's defense couldn't contain Southern California's high-powered offense and consistency continued to evade the Buffaloes' offense as CU dropped a 37-14 decision at Folsom Field.

Colorado fell to 0-15 all-time vs. the Trojans.

USC scored the first 20 points of the game before the Buffs finally put together a touchdown drive following a forced fumble and recovery by the defense late in the second quarter.

The Trojans then built their lead to 30-7 in the third quarter before CU scored again to pull within 30-14 heading into the final period. But the Trojans put the game away with one more touchdown early in the fourth quarter.

CU quarterback Brendon Lewis had his most productive game of the season, completing 10 of 17 passes for 162 yards, one touchdown and an interception. Brady Russell caught three passes for 87 yards, including a 65-yard reception (CU's longest play of the year) and the Buffs finished with 234 yards total offense.

But USC finished with 494 yards offense, with quarterback Kedon Slovis throwing for 276 yards and three touchdowns. Wide receiver Drake London had nine catches for 130 yards and a score.

The Trojans went 70 yards in 14 plays before settling for a field goal on their first possession, then added their first touchdown of the game following a CU punt. Slovis capped the drive with a 1-yard touchdown pass to London for a 10-0 lead, set up by a 28-yard completion to London.

Colorado's offense continued to struggle into the second quarter and the Trojans added another touchdown and field goal for a 20-0 lead.

While Colorado's offense managed just 40 yards on its first five possessions, CU's defense could not take advantage of good field position. The Trojans' first three scoring drives covered 70, 64 and 85 yards.

But the CU defense finally did come up with a big play late in the second quarter when linebacker Guy Thomas forced a USC fumble. Cornerback Christian Gonzalez recovered at the Trojan 48-yard line, giving CU its first takeaway in three games.

Colorado's offense took advantage of the opportunity, as the Buffs drove 48 yards for their first score of the game. Lewis completed passes of 7 yards to Dimitri Stanley and 13 to Russell, with Jarek Broussard adding a 19-yard run. Alex Fontenot then put the Buffs at the 1-yard line with a 5-yard burst before Deion Smith scored from 1 yard out and Cole Becker's PAT cut USC's lead to 20-7 at intermission.

But the Trojans extended their lead with 10 more points in the third quarter. USC added a field goal on its first possession after CU's Lewis was hit in the pocket and turned the ball over, then added a touchdown after taking over on downs near midfield on downs for a 30-7 lead with 6:52 left in the third.

Colorado finally answered with a 75-yard touchdown drive, fueled by a 65-yard Lewis pass to tight end Brady Russell, the Buffs' longest play of the year. Two plays later, Lewis connected with Chase Penry for a 2-yard touchdown pass with 5:18 left in the third quarter, giving the freshman receiver his first career TD catch.

USC finally put the game away for good early in the fourth quarter. After the Trojans claimed their second takeaway of the game — an interception by Lewis — USC went 35 yards for a touchdown, with Slovis throwing 15 yards to Gary Bryan for the score and 37-14 lead with 14:08 to play in the game.

GAME NOTES

USC now leads the series a 15-0 count (8-0 in Boulder, 7-0 in Los Angeles) ... The Buffaloes are now 24-31-1 all-time when wearing all black uniforms (0-5 vs. USC) ... CU has won four of five coin tosses this year, and dating back to 2016, 41 of the last 61 ... Weird Stat of the Game: the bulk of the yards in this game came on second down conversions: CU gained 158 yards on its 11 second down makes, while USC had 168 on its second down conversions (CU was 11-of-22 on second down compared to 1-of-10 on third) ... Five "new" NFL teams scouted the game, bringing the total to 23 that have seen CU games in person in 2021 ... Colorado has run just 289 plays on offense through five games (57.8 per; high of 64 in the opener against UNC; the last time CU didn't have a game with at least 70 plays in the first five of a season was in 2006, and before that, 1986) ... CB Nigel Bethel, Jr., and ILB Jack Lamb made their first career starts as Buffaloes; DT Mustafa Johnson made his first start of the season in the first game he became eligible ... The flags were flying, particularly against USC: the Trojans were penalized 12 times for 125 yards. It was the most penalties by an opponent since USC had 13 in the 2018 game and the most yards since Arizona had 129 later than same season ... TE Brady Russell (3-87 receiving) had career-highs for yards (87) and long reception (65), topping his previous bests of 77 and 34, respectively, against UCLA in 2020. It was just the second time since 2012 that a tight end led the Buffs in a game in receiving yards, and he had the other (5-77 vs. UCLA in 2020); it matched the most yards by a Buff tight end in a game also since 2012, when Nick Kasa caught three passes for 87 yards in CU's 35-34 win at Washington State, and the most in a home game since Oct. 20, 2007 (Tyson DeVree, 7-90 and a TD in a 19-14 loss to Kansas).

GAME 6: COLORADO 34, ARIZONA 0*OCTOBER 16, 2021*FOLSOM FIELD, BOULDER

BOULDER — Colorado's defense and special teams provided a scoring boost and the Buffaloes recorded three touchdowns in a five-minute span, paving the way for a 34-0 win over Arizona at Folsom Field.

The Buffs ended a four-game losing streak while UA lost its 18th straight game.

CU led just 6-0 at intermission after getting two first-half field goals. But the Buffs recorded a 36-yard blocked punt scoop-and-score from Trevor Woods midway through the third quarter, then added a 50-yard interception return for a score by defensive end Carson Wells for a 20-0 lead with 5:32 left in the period.

CU's offense then stamped the exclamation point on a 21-point third quarter surge with a perfect 62-yard touchdown strike from quarterback Brendon Lewis to wide receiver Brenden Rice. Colorado's longest scoring play of the year gave the Buffs a 27-0 lead on the back of three touchdowns in a five-minute span — one from special teams, one from the defense and one from the offense.

Lewis then threw an 11-yard scoring pass to Dimitri Stanley in the fourth quarter to complete the scoring and wrap up his best day as a Buff. Lewis finished 12-for-19 for 248 yards and two scores.

CU's defense, meanwhile, was outstanding from beginning to end in recording the first CU shutout of an opponent since a 48-0 win over Nicholls State in 2015. The defense also produced two interceptions, held Arizona to just 3-for-15 on third-down conversion tries, and limited the Wildcats to just 280 yards total offense.

CU also had nine tackles for loss in the game, including four by Wells.

Defense ruled in the first half, as both teams came up with big red zone stops — but the Buffs had the biggest, when they stopped Arizona four straight times from the Colorado 1-yard line.

CU did manage to put two field goals on the board in the first half for a 6-0 lead at intermission.

But it was the Buffs' third-quarter surge that made the difference, starting with Woods' blocked punt after Colorado's defense forced Arizona's sixth punt of the day. The true freshman broke through the line, got inside the upback and got a hand on Kyle Ostendorf kick; he then scooped up the ball and raced 36 yards to the end zone for CU's first touchdown of the day and a 13-0 lead.

Colorado's defense then got in on the scoring action on UA's next drive when Wells picked off UA quarterback Gunner Cruz and rumbled 50 yards to the end zone, bumping the Buffaloes' edge to 20-0.

On the Buffs' next offensive possession, Lewis uncorked a perfect deep ball to a speeding Rice down the sidelines. Rice gathered in the pass in stride and raced to the end zone for a 27-0 lead.

The Buffs completed the scoring with 4:08 left in the game when Lewis hit Dimitri Stanley in the end zone with an 11-yard scoring pass.

The Buffs took the lead on their first possession of the game, going 68 yards in 10 plays before settling for a 19-yard Cole Becker field goal with 8:26 to play in the first quarter. CU added another field goal midway through the second quarter, going 61 yards in seven plays.

Colorado's defense then came up with a terrific goal-line stand. After the Wildcats had punted on their first four possessions, they finally put together a long drive, going from their own 25 to the CU 1-yard line for a first and goal.

But the Buffs defense came up with four straight stops for no gain, with Gunner Cruz throwing incomplete on fourth down.

GAME 7: CALIFORNIA 26, COLORADO 3*OCTOBER 23, 2021*MEMORIAL STADIUM, BERKELEY

BERKELEY, Calif. — Colorado's offense couldn't maintain its momentum from a win over Arizona and CU's defense had no answer for Cal quarterback Chase Garbers as the Buffaloes dropped a 26-3 decision at FTX Field.

Karl Dorrell's Buffs fell to 2-5 overall and 1-3 in Pac-12 play while the Bears improved to 2-5, 1-3.

Colorado could never get untracked offensively and the defense could not contain Cal's offense early. The Bears scored on all five of their first-half possessions while the Buffs could muster only a field goal and trailed 23-3 at intermission.

Colorado's defense stiffened in the second half and held the Bears to just one field goal. But the CU offense never crossed midfield after intermission, managing just 13 yards total offense over the last two quarters.

CU finished with only 104 yards total offense while the Bears compiled 438 (225 passing, 213 rushing). Garbers threw for 225 yards and two touchdowns and also ran for 96 yards.

Buffs starting quarterback Brendon Lewis, who was sacked six times, was nine-for-17 for 69 yards. Lewis was replaced by true freshman Drew Carter late in the fourth quarter.

Colorado linebacker Nate Landman, who surpassed 400 career tackles in the game, and defensive back Mekhi Blackmon were each credited with 10 tackles.

Colorado's offensive struggles returned in a big way in the first half, with the Buffs managing just 91 total yards while Cal rang up 297 in taking a 23-3 lead at intermission.

The Bears collected a field goal on their opening drive, then took over at midfield after Colorado couldn't convert a fourth-and-1. Broussard was stopped for a 1-yard loss, making it the seventh time in eight tries this year that Colorado failed to move the sticks on fourth down tries, and the Bears took over at the 50.

Cal quickly cashed in on the short field with a 50-yard scoring march in three plays. Garbers completed a 24-yard scoring pass to Keleki Latu for a 10-0 lead with 6:05 still to play in the first quarter.

The Bears then added another field goal early in the second quarter before the Buffs finally got on the board.

Thanks to a 67-yard kickoff return by Brenden Rice, the Buffs took over on the Cal 33-yard line. But after gaining a first down on a Cal penalty, the CU drive stalled at the Cal 15 and the Buffs settled for a 33-yard Cole Becker field goal to cut their deficit to 13-3.

The Bears added another touchdown on their next possession, getting a 31-yard scoring pass from Garbers to tight end Gavin Reinwald.

CU could not move on the ensuing possession and Cal went 50 yards in seven plays over the remaining 58 seconds to get a field goal on the final play of the half for a 23-3 lead at intermission.

CU's defense made some halftime adjustments and held Cal at bay for the entire third quarter, but the Buffs offense could not take advantage. Colorado's longest drive of the half covered just 15 yards.

The Bears added one more field goal in the final period to complete the scoring.

The Buffs were dominated in virtually every statistical category. CU finished 3-for-12 on third downs — none in the second half — while Cal converted six of its 15 tries. The Bears finished with 23 first downs while the Buffs had just seven; and CU averaged just 2.3 yards per offensive play while the Bears averaged 6.3.

GAME NOTES

California now leads the series, 7-4 (5-0 in Berkeley) ... The Buffaloes are now 4-26-1 overall all-time in games played in California ... CU fell to 0-8 when wearing black helmets, white jerseys and black pants, and 3-21 when donning the black headgear ... Penalty-Less Half: Colorado was not penalized in the first half (one was declined), the first penalty-free half this season (either half). The last first half without a penalty was at Arizona State on Sept. 21, 2019 (CU finished with 3-30 yards that day); CU's only two penalties came in the fourth quarter. The two penalties matched CU's season low; the Buffs also had only two against Texas A&M ... The game time of 2:59 was CU's first sub-3 hour game since the 2019 finale at Utah (2:56); it's just the 32nd time out of 379 Colorado games dating back to 1990 not to last three hours or longer ... First Career Starts: at wide receiver, Chase Penry made his first career start, subbing for Dimitri Stanley who was injured in pregame; Trevor Woods started on defense in place of Mekhi Blackmon (due to the package CU opened the game in) ... ILB Nate Landman (4, 6—10 TT; 2 TZ) became the sixth player in CU history to record 400 career tackles when he made his first in the game (on the second play of the game) ... WR Brenden Rice's 67-yard kickoff return was the longest by a Buff since Marques Mosley returned one 100 yards for a touchdown against Utah on Nov. 23, 2012 (it was his fourth career play of 60 yards or longer ... P Josh Watts (7-48.9 avg.) enjoyed his sixth consecutive game averaging over 47 yards in each, matching John Torp's run of six in a row in 2004.

GAME 8: OREGON 52, COLORADO 29*OCTOBER 30, 2021*AUTZEN STADIUM, EUGENE

EUGENE, Ore. — Colorado's defense struggled without injured linebacker Nate Landman but the offense provided a bright spot in a 52-29 loss to No. 7 Oregon at Autzen Stadium.

The Ducks scored on all five of their possessions in the first half — four touchdowns and a field goal — to take a 31-14 lead at intermission, then added two more touchdowns on their first two possessions of the second half.

But CU's offense did find some life, putting together two long touchdown drives in the second quarter and two more in the fourth. The Buffs had 152 yards total offense in the second quarter, their most productive quarter this year, and finished with 341, the third-highest output of the season and the second-most in Pac-12 play.

The Ducks took control early, going 67 yards on their first possession for a touchdown, then adding scoring drives of 78 and 90 yards on their next two possessions.

Colorado finally got on the board in the second quarter when quarterback Brendon Lewis engineered a nine-play, 77-yard touchdown drive.

Lewis completed three passes on the drive, including a 28-yarder to tight end Brady Russell. The Buffs gained 40 yards on the ground on the march, with Alex Fontenot, Deion Smith and Jarek Broussard all picking up nice gains.

The Buffs then capped the march with a 9-yard pass from Lewis to Ty Robinson, giving the freshman receiver his first collegiate score. Cole Becker's PAT pulled the Buffs to within 21-7 with 9:10 still left in the first quarter.

But the Ducks answered with another long touchdown march, going 73 yards in 10 plays.

Colorado, though, stayed within striking range as CU took the ensuing kickoff and drove 65 yards in eight plays for a touchdown. Lewis had completions of 26 and 36 yards to Rice before finding a wide open Fontenot on fourth-and-goal from the 2-yard line for the score to pull CU to within 28-14.

But the Ducks had an answer again, using the remaining time on the clock to drive downfield and collect a field goal just before the half ended for a 31-14 lead.

Oregon left no doubt about the outcome early in the third quarter. The Ducks forced a CU punt on the Buffs' opening possession, then drove 68 yards for a touchdown. Oregon's sixth score on its sixth possession gave the Ducks a 38-14 lead with 9:46 to play in the third quarter.

The Ducks then made it 7-for-7 after another Colorado punt. The Ducks went 81 yards in six plays, with QB Anthony Brown capping the drive with his third touchdown pass of the day, a 25-yard strike to Devon Williams for a 45-14 lead late in the third quarter.

But the Buffs didn't go away quietly, adding two fourth quarter touchdowns to throw a minor scare into Oregon.

CU scored early in the fourth period, driving 67 yards in 17 plays. CU converted its third fourth-down try of the day, getting a 1-yard touchdown run from Fontenot on fourth-and-goal to pull within 45-21.

Then, following an interception by safety Isaiah Lewis, the Buffs went 65 yards for their fourth touchdown of the day. CU kept the drive alive by converting yet another fourth-and-1 on a Smith run, then capped the drive with a 16-yard Lewis pass to Rice. Lewis then added a two-point conversion throw to Chase Penry, and CU trailed 45-29 with 6:04 to play.

But the Ducks quickly turned the game back into a three-score contest, driving 46 yards in eight plays on their ensuing possession for the final score of the game with just 50 seconds remaining (though most teams would have taken a knee that late).

GAME NOTES

Oregon leads the all-time series with by a 14-9 margin (6-3 in Eugene, 6-1 with both as members of the Pac-12) ... CU won the coin toss, the sixth out of eight this year; dating back to 2016, 43 of the last 64 (which is 67 percent) ... The rare point total of 29 was actually the 14th time CU scored that amount in a game (last: vs. USC in 2013) ... Colorado had 152 yards in the second quarter, its most in a single quarter this season. The 14 points tied for the second most (but the most on offense; CU has 21 in the third quarter against Arizona but that included two by returns) ... For the fourth time this season, CU did not suffer a turnover and has just a total of six on the season (fifth-fewest in the nation) ... A season-high 11 different Buffaloes caught passes ... OLB Joshka Gustav and CB Tyrin Taylor made their first career starts. WR Brenden Rice (5-102, 1 TD receiving; 1-17 rushing; 6-162 KOR: 281 all-purpose yards) had the 25th 250-yard all-purpose yards game in CU history; the 281 yards rank 13th on the all-time list (the 162 kickoff return yards tied for the sixth most) ... SS Isaiah Lewis made his first career interception, coming in the 35th game of his career ... QB Brendon Lewis became the 35th player in school history to pass for 1,000 career yards (1,016, ending the day in 34th) ... TB Alex Fontenot's 2-yard reception on fourth down for CU's second TD was the first receiving TD of his career ... and CU's first receiving TD by a running back since Travon McMillian had a 57-yard one at Arizona on Nov. 2, 2018 (also the first Buff to have a rushing and receiving TD in the same game since Laviska Shenault had two of each versus Arizona State in 2018).

GAME 9: COLORADO 37, OREGON STATE 34 (2 OT)*NOVEMBER 6, 2021*FOLSOM FIELD, BOULDER

BOULDER — Colorado's Cole Becker kicked a 43-yard field goal in the second overtime to lift the Buffaloes to a 37-34 win over Oregon State in front of a Folsom Field homecoming crowd of 47,984.

The Buffs led for most of the game (over 49 minutes), but were forced to rally late in the fourth quarter. A 16-yard Brendon Lewis touchdown pass to Montana-Lemonious Craig gave CU a 27-24 lead with 2:24 left to play.

OSU's Everett Hayes then missed a 51-yard field goal on the Beavers' next possession, but CU couldn't move the ball after taking over and punted, using just 27 seconds off the clock.

The Beavers reaped a 26-yard return to take over a midfield with five seconds remaining. That was enough for a 9-yard gain on first down, then a 60-yard field goal from Hayes as time expired to send the game into OT.

Both teams scored touchdowns in the first overtime, with Lewis cashing in for the Buffs on a 9-yard run for a 34-27 lead.

But after tying the game with a touchdown, the Beavers then came up empty on their next possession when Hayes was wide left on a 38-yard try.

The Buffs then ran the ball three times before Becker booted the game winner.

The Buffs, who hadn't scored a first-quarter touchdown since the second game of the season, broke that drought against the Beavers.

CU took the opening kick and marched to the OSU 5-yard line before settling for a 28-yard Becker field goal.

But the Colorado defense quickly gave the offense another possession by forcing a three-and-out from the Beavers, and the offense took full advantage.

Moving from their own 21, the Buffs drove 79 yards in seven plays to find paydirt. Lewis capped the drive when he found a wide-open Daniel Arias from 43 yards out for a touchdown and Becker's PAT gave CU a 10-0 lead with 6:47 still to play in the first period.

But the Beavers finally found their run game on the ensuing possession. OSU marched 75 yards in 13 plays and got a 14-yard scoring run from Jack Colletto on fourth-and-1 to cut Colorado's lead to 10-7.

Colorado pushed its lead to 13-7 late in the second quarter when Becker delivered a career-long 52-yard field goal with 39 seconds left in the half.

That, however, was just enough time for the Beavers to drive within field goal range, and a 45-yard Hayes field goal as time expired sent Colorado into intermission with a 13-10 lead.

The two teams traded punts early in the third quarter before CU defensive end Carson Wells came up with a big fourth-down play, forcing an incompleteness from OSU quarterback Chance Nolan.

That gave the Buffs the ball at the OSU 41-yard line. Six plays later, including runs of 14 and 16 yards from Jarek Broussard, Lewis found Brenden Rice for a 5-yard touchdown pass to give CU a 20-10 lead.

But the Beavers quickly answered, going 75 yards for a touchdown to cut Colorado's lead back to three, 20-17 with 3:19 to play in the third quarter.

OSU then took its first lead of the game midway through the fourth on a 27-yard Nolan pass to Tre'shaun Harrison for a 24-20 edge.

Colorado regained the lead two possessions later. A 49-yard Broussard run put Colorado deep in OSU territory. Six plays later Lewis stepped up in the pocket under pressure and connected with Lemonious-Craig giving CU the lead back with 2:24 to play.

That set the stage for the wild final two minutes of regulation and overtime.

OSU's Everett Hayes tied the stadium record for longest field goal made (60 yards), matching Mason Crosby against Iowa State on Oct. 16, 2004.

GAME 10: UCLA 44, COLORADO 20*NOVEMBER 13, 2021*ROSE BOWL, PASADENA

PASADENA, Calif. — Colorado jumped out to a 20-7 first-half lead, only to see UCLA score 37 unanswered points as the Buffaloes dropped a 44-20 decision at the Rose Bowl.

The loss dropped Karl Dorrell's Buffs to 3-7 overall and 2-5 in the Pac-12, and eliminated the Buffs from postseason contention. The Bruins improved to 6-4 and 4-3 to clinch bowl eligibility.

The Buffs started quickly, taking a 10-0 lead for the second week in a row.

CU took its second possession and drove 70 yards for a touchdown. Jarek Broussard had a 16-yard run on the march, quarterback Brendon Lewis converted a third-and-3 with a 4-yard run and completed three passes on the drive. Ale Fontenot wrapped up the march with a 1-yard scoring burst for a 7-0 Colorado lead.

The Buffs then got a break on UCLA's second possession when a Zach Charbonnet 51-yard run was nullified by a Bruins penalty, and another break on UCLA's next turn with the ball when a 40-yard touchdown pass was negated by another penalty.

Colorado took advantage by driving 56 yards deep into UCLA territory before settling for a 23-yard Cole Becker field goal and 10-0 lead.

But the Bruins finally found the end zone on their next possession. Dorian Thompson-Robinson guided a 64-yard touchdown march in just three plays, with the big gainer a 47-yard toss to Kyle Philips.

The Buffs, though, had an answer, going 75 yards to the end zone in six plays. Broussard covered the bulk of the march with a 46-yard run before Fontenot scored his second touchdown of the game, another 1-yard burst with 5:22 to play in the half for a 17-7 CU lead. The Buffaloes then pushed their margin to 20-7 with just 57 seconds left in the half on a 40-yard Becker field goal.

But that left the Bruins enough time to maneuver into position for a field goal as the half ended, sending CU into the locker room with a 20-10 lead.

The Bruins opened the second half with a bang. UCLA drove 76 yards for a touchdown on its opening possession to pull within 20-16 after the PAT try clanged off the upright.

Colorado then punted on its next possession and UCLA needed just 1:54 to drive 83 yards in seven plays for the go-ahead touchdown. Thompson-Robinson ran 23 yards for the score and Colorado trailed for the first time in the game, 23-20.

CU had one more chance to pull back into the game. After UCLA's second touchdown of the half, the Buffs drove to the Bruins 25, but Becker was wide right on a 43-yard field goal try.

The Bruins then marched 75 yards for their third touchdown of the quarter, getting a 3-yard Zach Charbonnet run for the score and a 30-20 lead with just 30 seconds left in the period. The Bruins had 219 yards of offense in the period, including 149 on the ground.

Down by 10, the Buffs then gambled early in the fourth quarter by trying to convert a fourth-and-1 in their own territory. But tight end Brady Russell, lining up as the fullback, was stopped for no gain and the Bruins took possession. UCLA then drove 34 yards for its fourth touchdown in four possessions for a 37-20 lead with 12:12 left in the game.

Colorado's offense failed to move the ball again and the Bruins put the game away for good when Philips returned a Josh Watts punt 82 yards for a touchdown. The PAT provided UCLA with its 37th unanswered point and a 44-20 lead with 10:10 to play.

GAME NOTES

UCLA's lead in the series is now 12-5 (8-1 in California; 6-1 in Pasadena) ... The Buffs are now 4-27-1 all-time in the Golden State ... CU coaches are now 21-13 against their alma maters (Karl Dorrell 1-1; Gary Barnett 6-1, Bill McCartney 10-3, Eddie Crowder 4-7, Joe Mills 1-1) ... Under Dorrell, CU is now 7-3 when leading at halftime ... Colorado had 242 yards in the first half, its most in a first half this year; the previous first half high was 206 against Texas A&M (second-most in any half, 274 vs. UNC). The 20 points were also a first-half high ... This was Dorrell's 78th game as a collegiate head coach; his teams (UCLA & Colorado) had scored 1,995 points coming in: TB Alex Fontenot scored the 2,000th point for Dorrell with a 1-yard TD run in the first quarter ... Nearly Three Straight With No Turnovers: CU's first turnover in three games came on a strip-sack of QB Drew Carter with 3:55 to play; CU's last turnover came with 14:49 remaining in the Oct. 23 loss at California (an interception), thus the span without one was 190 minutes and 54 seconds; CU's last lost fumble was on Oct. 2 versus USC, thus that span was 322:35 ... OLB Devin Grant played for the first time in 2021 and responded with five tackles ... WR Daniel Arias had career single-game bests in receptions (four) and yards (70) ... TB Jarek Broussard had the second 100-yard game of the season and the sixth of his career ... QB Brendon Lewis completed over 60 percent of his passes for a third straight game; in that span, he is 57-of-83 (68.7) ... He has now thrown 83 consecutive passes without an interception; that is now the second-most by a freshman at Colorado (Craig Ochs threw 104 without one over the course of four games in 2000).

GAME 11: COLORADO 20, WASHINGTON 17*NOVEMBER 20, 2021*FOLSOM FIELD, BOULDER

BOULDER — Colorado's defense produced four takeaways and the offense came up with a game-clinching 90-yard touchdown drive as the Buffaloes claimed a 20-17 win over Washington at Folsom Field.

Washington dominated nearly every statistical category except one — turnovers. CU's defense collected two interceptions and two fumble recoveries while the Buffs offense did not turn it over once. CU's defensive takeaways included an 88-yard scoop-and-score by linebacker Jack Lamb in the first quarter that gave CU a 10-0 lead; a Robert Barnes interception to stop a UW drive in the third quarter; a Barnes fumble recovery that CU converted into a field goal in the fourth quarter; and an interception by Nikko Reed that opened the door for the Buffs' game-clinching touchdown.

CU started by taking the opening kickoff and marching 58 yards before settling for a 35-yard Cole Becker field goal and 3-0 lead.

The Huskies then took the ensuing kickoff and drove to the CU 3-yard line for a first and goal. But following a timeout, UW quarterback Dylan Morris fumbled the snap and Colorado's Lamb alertly scooped up the loose ball and rumbled 88 yards for a touchdown.

But the Huskies finally answered, going 59 yards on their next possession for a field goal to cut Colorado's lead to 10-3.

Colorado's offense then stalled while the defense held, resulting in five consecutive punts before Washington tied the game with a 40-yard scoring drive. The Huskies used seven plays to reach the end zone, getting an 8-yard Dylan Morris pass to Rome Odunze to knot the game at 10-10.

Washington threatened to score twice early in the third quarter, but both times Colorado produced drive-stopping moments. A Barnes interception of a tipped ball stopped one UW drive at the Colorado 36, and following a CU punt, a Mustafa Johnson sack of Morris forced the Huskies to attempt a 49-yard field goal that sailed wide left.

Colorado's defense came up with another big play late in the third quarter when Barnes recorded his second takeaway of the day, pouncing on a UW fumble deep in Huskies territory. The Buffs couldn't get into the end zone, but did get a Becker 22-yard field goal with 14:35 left in the game to take a 13-10 lead.

The Buffs added another takeaway on UW's next possession. After the Huskies drove to the Colorado 28, Reed came up with a big interception in the end zone.

Following a penalty, CU then drove 90 yards for the clinching touchdown. The drive was kept alive when a UW penalty on third down gave the Buffs new life, and the Buffs followed with a 15-yard Brendon Lewis completion to Chris Carpenter and a 26-yard run by Jarek Broussard to the UW 14-yard line.

Five plays later, Lewis rolled to his right, then tucked the ball and headed for the pylon, diving to the end zone for a 2-yard touchdown and 20-10 Colorado lead.

Washington quickly answered, driving 75 yards in just five plays, getting a 55-yard touchdown pass from Morris to Ja'Lynn Polk to narrow CU's lead to 20-17 with 2:30 left in regulation.

Washington then got one more chance with the ball, taking possession with two minutes left. But the Buffs held, getting a pass knockdown from Terrence Lang on third down and a quarterback pressure from Carson Wells on fourth down to force an incompletion.

CU then took victory formation to run out the clock, with senior linebacker Nate Landman, who didn't play defense because of an injury, lining up in the backfield for the final few snaps of his final game at Folsom.

Another Defensive Battle: the last three games in the series have yielded 111 points combined: Washington won 27-13 in Seattle in 2018; CU won 20-14 in Boulder in 2019 and 20-17 today ... CU did not have a turnover for the sixth game this year (adding to the school record); CU forced four turnovers for the first time since the 2020 opener (four against UCLA); CU scored 17 points off the four ... Late Cameo. ILB Nate Landman, who missed the last four games including all of this game on defense, snuck in for the last three plays in the victory formation on offense ... The game was tied for 22:44, the longest in a CU game in 2021 ... ILB Jack Lamb was more of a "horse than a lamb"; his fumble recovery and return for 88 yards and a touchdown was third longest miscellaneous return in school history.

GAME 12: UTAH 28, COLORADO 13*NOVEMBER 26, 2021*RICE-ECCLES STADIUM, SALT LAKE CITY

SALT LAKE CITY — Colorado came up with big plays on defense and special teams, but Utah wore CU down with a punishing run game as the Buffaloes dropped a 28-13 decision in their season finale at Rice-Eccles Stadium.

Karl Dorrell's Buffs finished the season 4-8 overall and 3-6 in the Pac-12.

The Buffs jumped out to a 3-0 lead after getting an interception from safety Mark Perry on the Utes' opening drive, and trailed by just one early in the third quarter when Nikko Reed's 100-yard kick return for a touchdown pulled Colorado to within 14-13.

But the Utes answered the kick return with two touchdowns on their next two possessions and CU's offense could never find the rhythm necessary to produce a trip to the end zone.

The injury-riddled Buffs were outgained 444-148, with Utah piling up 265 yards on the ground along with three touchdown passes from quarterback Cameron Rising. Colorado played without All-American linebacker Nate Landman for the fifth straight game.

Also absent from CU's lineup was leading rusher Jarek Broussard (illness).

Colorado struck first on the scoreboard, thanks to an interception from safety Perry on Utah's opening possession of the game.

Perry returned his third interception of the season 40 yards to the Utah 15-yard line. The Buffs offense couldn't move the ball, but still reaped a 33-yard Cole Becker field goal for a 3-0 lead less than three minutes into the game.

CU's defense and special teams then stepped up. The defense came up with a big stop on third down in Colorado territory, and Terrance Lang followed by blocking a Utah field goal attempt to maintain CU's 3-0 lead.

Colorado had a chance to extend its lead on its next possession when the Buffs drove into Utah territory. Lewis had a 13-yard run on the drive and a 29-yard completion to Dimitri Stanley on third-and-8. But the drive stalled at the Utes 30 and a Becker 48-yard field goal try floated wide right.

Utah finally took control, scoring touchdowns on its next two possessions. The Utes got a 19-yard scoring pass from Rising to tight end Brant Kuithe for a 7-0 lead early in the second quarter, then bumped the margin to 14-3 when Rising found tight end Dalton Kincaid for a 19-yard scoring pass.

But CU's defense came up with a big stop later in the second quarter. After a Colorado punt following the Utes' second touchdown, CU's held on fourth down deep in Buffs territory. Rising kept the ball around the right side but linebacker Carson Wells stopped him short of the sticks.

CU's offense then answered with a 39-yard drive in the final seconds of the half, getting a career-long 56-yard field goal from Becker as time expired. The Buffs converted two third downs on the drive on two Fontenot runs, and Becker's kick sent Colorado into intermission trailing just 14-6.

CU then needed just 15 seconds into the third quarter to cut the deficit to one. Reed took the opening kick of the half, broke three tackles early and raced 100 yards to the end zone. Becker's PAT pulled CU to within 14-13.

But the Utes regained control with back-to-back touchdown drives sandwiched around a CU punt. Tavion Thomas ran 12 yards for a score to cap a 68-yard Utah drive before Rising tossed a 13-yard touchdown pass to Britain Covey to give Utah a 28-13 lead with 6:45 to play in the third quarter to complete the scoring for the game.

GAME NOTES

Utah has won nine of the 11 games between the two schools that bookend the Rockies and thus has taken a 33-32-3 series lead (Utah leads 19-14-2 in Salt Lake City) ... CU finishes its 132nd year of football with a 4-8 mark, and is now 8-10 under head coach Karl Dorrell ... CU is now 19-26 in Friday games ... The Buffs finished 0-3 against ranked programs in 2021 ... The 46 degree temperature at kickoff was the coldest for a CU kickoff in 2021; the average temperature for all 12 games at kickoff was exactly 68 degrees ... The Buffs set the school mark for Scoring Percentage Inside-the-20 (Red Zone), scoring 31-of-33 times (20 TD/11FG); 93.9 percent. Old mark of 90.6 was set in 1985 and matched in 1994. On defense, opponents finished 32-of-43, or 74.4 percent, the 19th-best figure dating back to 1953 ... No Turnovers Again and Again: CU did not have a turnover for the seventh game this year (old school record was four several times; CU had just one in the final five games (a strip-sack of Drew Carter late in the UCLA game) ... CU had 7 turnovers on the year, a school record for the fewest in a season (old: 11 in 1956, five fumbles lost, six interceptions), the second-fewest in the NCAA ... Under Karl Dorrell, it was CU's eighth TO-free game (out of 18) ... CB Nikko Reed made his first career start but had the play of the game, as his 100-yard kickoff return for a TD to open the second half was the 12th 100-yard play in school history (eighth KOR); it actually covered 103 yards ... PK Cole Becker (1-1 PAT, 2-3 FG, 7 points) made a 56-yarder at the end of the first half, the longest by a freshman in school history; old record was 54 by Davis Price versus Oregon State in Boulder on Oct. 1, 2016; old best by a frosh on the road was 53 by James Stefanou at Arizona State on Nov. 4, 2017. It ties the seventh longest in school history and the fourth longest on the road. He made three 50-plus yard field goals this season (51, 52, 56), the most in a season since Mason Crosby made 5 (of 7) in 2005.

We didn't utilize Drew Litton's talents in 2020 due to COVID, but our own cartoonist from 2018 and 2019 is back as is as creative as ever!

BRANCH TO FINALLY MAKE HALL?

CU Athletic Hall of Famer Cliff Branch, who passed away in 2019, might finally see his dream come true and be selected for induction into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in its next class in 2022. Branch, a three-time All-Pro, and former Super Bowl-winning head coach Dick Verneil were named finalists on August 24 a five-person panel of selectors for the Hall of Fame. Branch was selected as the Senior finalist and Verneil the Coach finalist.

Branch, who many say changed the game after he was selected by the Oakland Raiders in the fourth round of the 1972 NFL Draft, as he was deemed a "football player with speed and not a speedster who played football." And he would become one of the most dynamic receivers of his era as the speedy deep threat who stretched opposing defenses. He caught 501 passes for 8,685 yards and 67 touchdowns in 14 seasons (1972 to '85) for the franchise, and added 73 receptions for 1,289 yards and five touchdowns in the postseason (only Jerry Rice, Julian Edelman and Michael Irvin have more postseason receiving yards than Branch). He was a part of three Super Bowl championship teams with the Raiders (two in Oakland, one in L.A.), and led the NFL in touchdown receptions twice, with 13 in 1974 and 12 in 1976. He was a first-team All-Pro in 1974, '75 and '76. At Colorado, in two seasons, he caught 36 passes for 665 yards and three touchdowns (averaging 18.5 yards per), while rushing 31 times for 354 yards and five scores (11.4 per carry). He returned eight kicks for touchdowns (six punts, two kickoffs); he averaged 25.2 yards per kickoff runback and 16.7 per punt try. He amassed 2,507 all-purpose yards in just 22 games, seventh-most in school history at the time (the six ahead of him all played three years). He died at the age of 71; his sister, Elaine Anderson, said in a call with Hall of Fame president David Baker that her brother "dreamed of this" and "wanted this so bad, he could taste it." If selected, and while not a 100 percent certainty, he would become the first Buffalo in the Pro Hall.

2021 HONORARY C RECIPIENTS

Through the years beginning in 1955, head coaches, university and athletic staff members, faculty, donors, long-time fans and supporters and others have been recognized with an Honorary C Award for their dedication of service or contributions to University of Colorado Athletics. The most famous recipient is one no one has been able to explain how he qualified: in 1971, Milburn "Doc" Stone who for 21 seasons played Dr. Galen Adams on GunsSmoke was the sole award that year. He passed at the age of 75 in 1980. He did co-star in the 1940 movie Colorado with Roy Rogers (who did not receive a C, so that can't be the reason). This year's recipients were honored at halftime of the USC game on October 2:

Tad Boyle (CU men's basketball coach, 2010-current; on the verge of becoming CU's all-time winningest coach in the sport with a 233-143 [620] record and has led the program to five NCAA tournament appearances)

Kevin Brennan (long-time academic tutor and mentor for the athletic department for over two decades, he retired this past spring)

Deb Coffin (retired as CU's vice chancellor for advancement in 2021 after having served the CU Boulder community in a variety of capacities)

Teri Leiker (one of the 10 victims of the March 22 King Soopers shooting; she was an avid supporter and one of the biggest fans of the Golden Buffalo Marching Band)

Peter & Peggy Nelson (major donors to th CU ski program and the skiing community in general; parents of the late Spencer Nelson, a former CU skier who died tragically in a climbing accident in 2010 and has CU's home ski invitational named in his honor)

Miguel Rueda (CU senior associate AD for Health & Performance; joined CU as director of sports medicine in 2006 and has chaired several COVID panels)

Tim Simmons (CU sports information director, 1979-81; created a scholarship endowment for SID student assistants, longtime AD supporter who has provided numerous opportunities for CU students through the years to gain real world experience in public and media relations in the sports world)

WESTBROOK INDUCTED INTO COLLEGE FOOTBALL HALL OF FAME

Some 27 years later, it still resonates and sends chills through CU football fans as if it happened just yesterday through the late Keith Jackson's call on ABC: "Stewart with time ... He lets it go ... He's got three people down there ... The ball's up in the air ... Caught! Touchdown! ... Caught by Westbrook for a touchdown! ... Incredible!" (<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=5Nt6HjqJt8&t=87s>).

On Sept. 24, 1994, Michael Westbrook cemented his name in CU and college football history with that catch, dubbed the "Miracle in Michigan." He was officially recognized as one of college football's all-time greats as he was selected for induction into the College Football Hall of Fame in its 2020 Class. He became the ninth Buffalo enshrined in the Hall, joining Byron White (inducted in 1952), Joe Romig (1984), Dick Anderson (1993), Bobby Anderson (2006), Alfred Williams (2010), John Wooten (2012), Coach Bill McCartney (2013) and Herb Orvis (2016). Westbrook becomes the second player who was coached by McCartney to enter the Hall, joining Williams who played for him during his tenure as head coach (1982-94).

"I knew I had been on the ballot, and you anticipate getting in, but you never expect it so I kind of let my guard down a bit," Westbrook said in a Colorado release after the announcement in March 2020. "Then I got the package from the Hall of Fame, and I'm like, 'Wow!' I think back to those days, and it was such an awesome time in our lives. You couldn't ask for a better situation to go through and succeed in. We had quality coaches, a great support staff and awesome teammates. Beginning with Coach Mac when he came to my high school and recruited me on the spot when he was there looking at someone else."

At the time of his graduation, he finished his career as CU's all-time leader in receptions (167), receiving yards (2,548) and receiving touchdowns (19). Those numbers still remain fourth, third and seventh, respectively, a quarter century after he played, while his average of 15.3 yards per reception is the fourth-highest among the 36 players in CU history with 70 or more catches. He had eight career 100-yard games (six over 125) and was 11th in all-purpose yards (2,858) and 22nd in scoring (116 points). To this day, he remains tied for the school's most receptions in bowl games (14) and the leader in yards (283).

The NFF Hall of Fame On-Campus Salute program, which began with the inaugural College Football Hall of Fame Class in 1951, has become a hallowed tradition, and officials were in town on Oct. 2 and honored Westbrook with an on-field presentation during the CU-Southern California football game.

The 2020 and 2021 Hall of Fame Classes were officially inducted during the 63rd NFF Annual Awards Dinner Presented by Las Vegas Dec. 7 at the ARIA Resort & Casino Las Vegas. (The 2020 event was canceled due to COVID-19.)

"Michael Westbrook left his stamp on the record books during his Colorado career, and cemented his place in college football lore during the 'Miracle at Michigan,'" said NFF President & CEO Steve Hatchell."

A consensus First Team All-American in 1994, Westbrook received the Touchdown Club of Columbus Paul Warfield Trophy as the nation's top wide receiver. During that stellar senior season, he led Colorado in receiving while guiding the team to a No. 3 final ranking and an 11-1 record.

A two-time First Team All-Big Eight performer, he became only the third CU receiver to earn all-league honors and the first to be selected twice. An AP Second Team All-American in 1992, he led the Buffs to four bowl berths, including wins in the over Fresno State (1993 Aloha) and Notre Dame (1995 Fiesta).

As a freshman, he led the Buffs to a share of the Big Eight title and a No. 20 ranking, followed by a No. 13 finish in 1992 and a No. 16 spot in 1993. The 1995 East-West Shrine Game MVP racked up eight 100-yard receiving games in his career under McCartney. Westbrook was inducted into CU's Athletic Hall of Fame in 2016.

McCartney was pleased to hear that Westbrook will be joining him in the Hall of Fame. "He could have gone in before I did, you're only as good as the players you are privileged to coach," McCartney said. "I'm excited for Michael. He was a game changer, the real deal and looked the part. He was big, strong and fast. The defense always had to be concerned with where he lined up and he was nearly impossible to cover one-on-one. As a blocker, he was downright vicious, probably the best blocking receiver I've ever coached – and it was something he took great pride in. He's obviously known for the catch in Michigan, but he shouldn't be defined by it. He was so much more for us than that one play."

The fourth overall pick in the 1995 NFL Draft, Westbrook played eight seasons in the league for Washington (1995-2001) and Cincinnati (2002).

Having dabbled in martial arts during his football days, he focused on Brazilian jiu-jitsu after retiring from the NFL and earned his black belt. Westbrook has won national and Pan-American events as a brown belt, and he won the 2008 International Brazilian Jiu-Jitsu Federation World Championship at purple belt.

The 2020 College Football Hall of Fame Class included Westbrook, Lomas Brown (Florida), Keith Byars (Ohio State), Eric Crouch (Nebraska), Eric Dickerson (SMU), Glenn Dorsey (LSU), John "Jumbo" Elliott (Michigan), Jason Hanson (Washington State), E.J. Henderson (Maryland), E.J. Junior (Alabama), Steve McNair (Alcorn State), Cade McNown (UCLA), Leslie O'Neal (Oklahoma State), Anthony Poindexter (Virginia), David Pollack (Georgia), Bob Stein (Minnesota), Elmo Wright (Houston) and coaches Dick Sheridan (Furman, North Carolina State), and Andy Talley (St. Lawrence [NY], Villanova).

The 2021 College Football Hall of Fame Class included Harris Barton (North Carolina), David Fulcher (Arizona State), Dan Morgan (Miami [FL]), Carson Palmer (Southern California), Tony Romo (Eastern Illinois), Kenneth Sims (Texas), C.J. Spiller (Clemson), Darren Sproles (Kansas State), Aaron Taylor (Notre Dame), Andre Tippett (Iowa), Al Wilson (Tennessee) and coaches Rudy Hubbard (Florida A&M) and Bob Stoops (Oklahoma).

The accomplishments of both classes will be forever immortalized at the Chick-fil-A College Football Hall of Fame in Atlanta, and each inductee will receive a custom ring created by Jostens, the official and exclusive supplier of NFF rings.

Including the 2020 and 2021 Hall of Fame Classes, only 1,038 players and 223 coaches have been inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame from the nearly 5.47 million who have played or coached the game during the past 152 years. In other words, less than two one-hundredths of a percent (.02%) of the individuals who have played the game have earned this distinction.

SALAAM SELECTED IN 2022 COLLEGE FOOTBALL HALL OF FAME CLASSWill Become the 10th Buffalo Enshrined in the Prestigious Hall

BOULDER — The call by KOA-Radio's Larry Zimmer easily rates among the — if not the — most memorable in University of Colorado football history:

"He needs 28 yards to get him to 2,000. Here is the give to Salaam. Salaam to the outside, he's down to the 50, he's got 2,000! He's on his way ... 20 ... 15 ... 10 ... 5 ... Did he get in? Yes! Touchdown! Touchdown, Rashaan Salaam! This place is coming apart! The whole team is coming down ... what a story. He goes over 2,000 by running 67 yards for a touchdown. I'll you, what a golden moment this is. I have to admit, I'm choked up."

On Nov. 19, 1994, with that play, the late Rashaan Salaam likely secured the Heisman Trophy and his name forever etched in University of Colorado history. And now, some 27-plus years later, he has earned the ultimate honor of officially being recognized as one of college football's all-time greats, as the National Football Foundation (NFF) announced on Jan. 10 that he has been selected for induction into the College Football Hall of Fame in its 2022 class.

Salaam will become the 10th Buffalo enshrined in the Hall, joining Byron White (inducted in 1952), Joe Romig (1984), Dick Anderson (1993), Bobby Anderson (2006), Alfred Williams (2010), John Wooten (2012), Coach Bill McCartney (2013), Herb Orvis (2016) and Michael Westbrook (2020). Salaam is now the third player who was coached by McCartney to enter the Hall, joining Williams and Westbrook who also played for him during his 13-year tenure as head coach from 1982-94. Salaam passed away on Dec. 5, 2016 at the age of 42.

"Rashaan left five years ago, and it is still difficult to deal with," said his mother, Khalada Salaam-Alaji. "A lot of attention has been given to Rashaan since he has been gone which the family deeply appreciates. After Rashaan left us, two of his friends who were very close to him and our family also passed away, T.J. Cunningham and John Thierry, and now, several homes in his community of Superior (Colo.) where he lived burned down last week.

"I wish Rashaan was still here so that he could use this wonderful recognition to support mental and physical health issues," she added. "His going into the College Hall of Fame is a good thing, but there is so much serious social work that has to be done on this side for our children and this planet. If Rashaan was here, I think he would enjoy this honor and celebration of him being inducted into the National Football College Football of Fame."

A 6-foot-1, 215-pound tailback who played 8-man football at San Diego's La Jolla Country Day, he would become just the fourth player at the time to gain 2,000 yards rushing in a season, when schools generally played an 11-game schedule and the NCAA did not count bowl statistics into season totals. He ran for 2,055 yards in averaging 6.9 yards per carry, doing so even though he did not play in five fourth quarters and on two other occasions, played only briefly in the third quarter; over half of the yards (1,040) came against ranked opponents. He led the nation in rushing, scoring (24 touchdowns or 144 points) and all-purpose yards (2,349) and reeled off nine consecutive 100-yard games (10 total), including four 200-plus yard games. All the aforementioned set and remain CU records. See the play that put him over 2,000 yards here: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=5Nt6HjqJt8&t=87s>.

In the Fiesta Bowl on Jan. 2, 1995, he gained 83 yards and scored three touchdowns against Notre Dame in the Buffaloes' 41-24 victory, which helped CU to an 11-1 record and a final No. 3 ranking in the polls. After the game, he announced he was foregoing his senior year and declared for the NFL Draft. McCartney had previously announced he was retiring; among Salaam's postgame comments included, "I'm leaving with Coach Mac." He would be selected in the first round of the draft (21st overall) by the Chicago Bears, and would go on to win the NFC's Rookie of the Year honor with a 1,000-yard season. Injuries would eventually derail his professional career.

There was a three-man race for the Heisman Trophy between Salaam and Penn State's running back Ki-Jana Carter and quarterback Kerry Collins. On Dec. 10, 1994 at the Downtown Athletic Club in New York City, Salaam was the one who had his named called, in the process becoming the 60th to win the coveted prize. Carter finished second, with Alcorn State's Steve McNair edging Collins for third. Salaam had won easily by over 800 points and collected almost twice as many first place votes than Carter and Collins combined. He had won the Doak Walker Award as the nation's top running back the week before and the Walter Camp Player of the Year honor days before the Heisman, in addition to earning unanimous first-team All-America honors.

Back in Boulder, the team was hosting a recruiting dinner at the Dal Ward Athletic Center with all current players and numerous recruits. When Rashaan's name was called by the Heisman's chairman, there was massive applause and cheers, and the offensive linemen all lit up cigars. When Salaam returned to Denver the following Wednesday, a dozen players greeted him at Stapleton Airport, and were actually allowed down the jetway at to greet him when he exited the United flight with the Heisman in tow, again to the cheering of a hundred strangers on the flight.

Salaam was a member of CU's highly-ranked 1992 recruiting class and originally was ticketed to redshirt as a freshman. But being so eager to play, he ran onto the field on the kickoff return unit in CU's third game at Minnesota that fall. He saw limited action on offense that season (27 carries, 158 yards and one touchdown), but as a sophomore the next year ('93), he would split time with Lamont Warren and despite missing two games due to injuries, he rushed for 844 yards and eight TD's in the regular season, averaging 5.2 yards per carry. In CU's win over Fresno State in the Aloha Bowl, he carried 23 times for 135 yards and three scores, offering a glimpse of what was to come. When Warren declared early for the NFL Draft, Salaam would assume the featured back role by himself in 1994.

A first-team All-Big Eight performer in both 1993 and 1994, he was the conference's offensive player of the year as a junior. A three-time league player of the week, he garnered national honors for his final regular season game against Iowa State, when he went over 2,000 with 259 yards. He had ended his sophomore year by being named the player of the game in the '93 Aloha Bowl, and captured the Fred Casotti Award for the team's top junior-to-be after spring ball.

He finished his career with 3,057 rushing yards, second all-time at CU at the time and still fourth, with 33 rushing touchdowns (first and remains third). When tacking on 38 receptions for 412 yards and one kickoff return for 13, his 3,482 all-purpose yards were third (now ninth). His number was officially retired on Oct. 28, 2017; CU had ceased retiring numbers in the 1970s but an exception was made for the school (and the state's) only Heisman Trophy winner.

SALAAM HEADED FOR HALL OF FAME INDUCTION / 2

"The first thing that always comes to mind when thinking of Rashaan is that he was a complete player," McCartney said. "Thorough and fast, competitive spirit off the charts. He could run inside, he could run outside, he could catch the ball, he could block with the best of them. When we recruited him, we knew that throughout the process that if we could get him, we would get a diamond – someone really special. He was one of those guys who, if going into a game evenly matched with the team you were playing, once you gave him the ball, you were no longer evenly matched."

"Even though he was playing 8-man in high school, everyone knew he was the real deal," he added. "The really good ones aren't always humble, but Rashaan was humble, unassuming, genuine."

Speaking of Salaam's blocking, he had one of the more notable ones in CU history. On the final play one September Saturday in Ann Arbor in 1994, Kordell Stewart dropped back to throw what has become known as the "Miracle in Michigan." Wolverine defensive end Trevor Pryce had slipped a block by tackle Tony Berti, but before he could get to Stewart, Salaam stood him up; Berti gathered himself and then pancaked Price to the ground, buying time for Stewart to connect with Michael Westbrook some 64 yards downfield in the end zone and a 27-26 Buff victory. Of all the plays he made during that season, Salaam was most proud of that particular one.

Colorado's linebacker coach at the time, Brian Cabral, recruited southern California and Hawai'i. He had known about Salaam from a relationship he had with his head coach at La Jolla Country Day and started recruiting him early.

"Oh, my goodness, this is terrific news," were the first words Cabral spoke when finding out Salaam would be joining the Hall. "When I recruited him from 8-man football, I wasn't sure if he would be good enough to be a running back, but with his size, he could be a linebacker for me. (The late) Ben Gregory was our running backs coach, and I asked him if this was someone we want to offer as a running back, and he had no hesitation whatsoever. He didn't care that was coming from 8-man football, he loved everything he saw about Rashaan on film."

"I just remember his great smile," Cabral said. "Not only was he a great player, he was a great kid. He contributed all his success to his offensive line and to the team -- he always gave credit to everybody around him and never took any for himself. Rashaan had a phenomenal attitude that way, and that said a lot about him. He was the consummate team player."

Current CU head coach Karl Dorrell was on McCartney's staff when Salaam played as a freshman and sophomore. As receivers coach and being intimately involved in the offense, he saw early on just what Salaam could be capable of.

"Rashaan was an imposing young player who had a great work ethic," Dorrell recalled. "We knew as a staff that he was going to be a special talent with great size, power and speed. He earned the respect of his teammates quickly because of his infectious personality, competitive spirit and his love for CU."

With Salaam joining Westbrook in the Hall, they become the second set of Colorado players from a same team to be inducted. Brothers Dick and Bobby Anderson were teammates in 1967, when Dick was a senior defensive back and Bobby a sophomore quarterback.

"I was talking to (former Buff) J.J. Flannigan just the other day and we were discussing the talent that era of CU football had," said Westbrook, the first and only CU receiver in the Hall. "We know about one in 66 guys make it into the Pro Football Hall of Fame, but in college, it's something like one in 5,600 hundred to get into the college Hall. It was an honor for me to make it, and now for a teammate I used to block for, bleed and cry with in the trenches together to get in is really something special. We always had each other's back; if you were to ask Rashaan every time he got the ball to the outside, he'd look for number 81 to be mowing people down. Just like if I caught a designed short throw, there was number 19 doing the same for me."

Salaam was the son of former Buff Teddy Washington ('64), and late CU sports information director Fred Casotti was familiar with the family bloodlines. Though the elder Salaam (Washington later changed his name to Sultan Salaam) transferred after his freshman year and never played a down at CU, Casotti told a few folks after watching his son after just his third day of practice in CU's 1992 camp, "This kid is really, really good. He's going to win the Heisman." True story, and even more prophetic since the Buffs hadn't practiced in pads yet. Casotti, who was associated with CU for half a century, never predicted that about any other player.

Salaam had previously been inducted into CU's Athletic Hall of Fame in 2012, and posthumously into the Colorado Sports Hall of Fame in 2018.

There newest members will be officially inducted during the 64th annual NFF Awards dinner on Dec. 6. All will also be honored with a "campus salute" at a home game of their respective schools this fall. Including the newest members of the Hall of Fame Class, it will bring the count to 1,056 players and 226 coaches who will have been inducted. That is out of nearly 5.54 million who have played or coached the game during the past 152 years; that translates into less than two one-hundredths of a percent (.02%) of the individuals who have earned this distinction.

The 2022 HOF Class—Players: LaVar Arrington (LB, Penn State); Champ Bailey (DB, Georgia); Michael Crabtree (WR, Texas Tech); Sylvester Croom (C, Alabama); Mike Doss (S, Ohio State); Kevin Faulk (AP/RB, LSU); Moe Gardner (DT, Illinois); Boomer Grigsby (LB, Illinois State); Mike Hass (WR, Oregon State); Marvin Jones (LB, Florida State); Andrew Luck (QB, Stanford); Mark Messner (DT, Michigan); Terry Miller (RB, Oklahoma State); Rashaan Salaam (TB, Colorado); Dennis Thomas (C, Alcorn State); Zach Wiegert (OT, Nebraska); Roy Williams (DB, Oklahoma). CU ANNOUNCES FUTURE FOOTBALL GAMES & SERIES

Colorado announced on July 8 that it has added four football opponents – for a total of seven games – to its future football schedules. Wyoming filled a vacancy in 2025 that was created when a previously scheduled game against Missouri was moved to 2031, as the Tigers needed dates to rekindle their rivalry with Kansas. Three home-and-home series were revealed, with Southern Methodist (2030, 2031), North Texas (2032, 2033) and Oklahoma State (2036, 2037).

With the Buffaloes annually recruiting in Texas, head coach Karl Dorrell felt it was important to have more of a presence in the state when it came to scheduling games. The Buffaloes already had trips to TCU (in 2023) and Houston (in 2025) on their future gridiron schedules. PAC-12, BIG TEN & ACC ANNOUNCE ALLIANCE

On August 24, the commissioners of the Pac-12, Big Ten and Atlantic Coast conferences held a joint press conference announcing an alliance between the three. Many particulars have yet to be figured out, but they did announce crossover scheduling between the three in football and men's and women's basketball (the conferences will work on scheduling games, not the individual schools, which number 41 in all (Notre Dame comes under the ACC umbrella and will be included in all except football). The three conferences remain competitors in every sense but are committed to collaborating and providing thought leadership on various opportunities and challenges facing college athletics, including: student-athlete mental and physical health, safety, wellness and support; strong academic experience and support; diversity, equity and inclusion; Social justice; Gender equity; future structure of the NCAA; federal legislative efforts and postseason championships and future formats.

A note about CU's depth: in-season, charts reflect change and generally do not announce it unless there are long-term injuries.
