MEDIA INFORMATION

Colorado Sports Information Office: The University of Colorado Sports Information Office welcomes and encourages your interest in Colorado Basketball. We will make every effort to service your needs in covering the Buffs. The Sports Information Office maintains information on all current student-athletes and athletic department staff, as well as historical data on former athletes and Colorado's athletic department in general.

Media Credentials: Credentials for CU home men's basketball games can be obtained by e-mailing, faxing, writing or calling the CU Sports Information Office the week prior to the scheduled game. Credentials will be available for pick up only, at the CEC Ticket Windows on the Northwest side of the main concourse.

Road Game Credentials: Media credentials for CU road games can either be requested through CU's or the opponent's men's basketball sports information contact. Please be specific when requesting the type of credential needed.

Photographers: Photo passes are available for working photographers for officially recognized media outlets, and/ or individuals on special assignment. Requests should be addressed in the same manner as media credentials.

Visiting Radio Personnel: Visiting radio personnel desiring to broadcast athletic events from CU should contact the Sports Information Office at the earliest possible date to request permission to broadcast. The visiting radio location will be located on the east side of the main concourse. Ethernet lines will be available.

Media Workroom: Due to COVID-19 protocols, there will be no media work room available. Media will need to stay at their designated media seat.

Media Services: Game notes containing updated team and individual statistics, information on upcoming games, Pac-12 Conference standings will be emailed and available online prior to each non-tournament game throughout the season. On site, all materials will be available digitally only, with the exception of the post game final book. Copies of the box score and play-by-play information, as well as post-game quotes, can be e-mailed to your outlet at the conclusion of each game, home or away.

Photography: High-quality photography is available through the Sports Information Office. To request photographs of current CU players and staff, please contact the CU Sports Information Office. Please specify four-color or grayscale, as well as desired resolution and format.

Press Row Services: Due to COVID-19 restrictions, all in-game and post-game materials will be delivered digitally, with the exception of a final postgame stats book.

Post-game Interview Policies: Due to COVID-19, after a short cooling off period, CU head coach Tad Boyle and selected players will be available via zoom. On site media will be asked to remain in their designated seat. For visiting coaches and players, a separate zoom will be available at the discretion of the visiting SID. All requests for player or coach interviews from either home or visiting teams should be directed to a CU Sports Information staff member. The Colorado and opponent lockerrooms are closed to the media.

Interview Policies:

1. Media representatives desiring access to players, coaches and facilities must obtain the consent of the Colorado Sports Information Office.
2. Tad Boyle will be available on the Pac-12 Teleconference at select times during the season. Dates and times are to be announced.
3. All practices are closed for the 2020-21 season.
4. All interviews on game days, prior to tip-off, are at the discretion of Tad Boyle.
5. The lockerroom is closed to the media at all times.
6. The training room, equipment room and weight room are off-limits at all times to the media. The only exception to this rule is if a special feature involving one of the areas is requested, and approval must be sought in advance from the Sports Information Office and the appropriate department head.
8. Sunday is the standard day off for players and coaches during the Pac-12 season and varies during the non-conference season. Any requests for athletes and coaches on Sundays and other off days will be handled on an individual basis through the Sports Information Office.
9. Road practices are closed, however head coach Tad Boyle is available for interviews with opponent media based on his personal discretion.
10. It is the request of the University of Colorado men's basketball program that the coaches and student-athletes are not to be called at home, unless permission has been granted by the player himself or through the sports information office. Though most phone numbers are available through campus information, players are allowed and encouraged to decline interviews when they have been reached at home when that interview has not been approved.

PRESIDENT MARK KENNEDY

Mark Kennedy was named 23rd president of the University of Colorado on May 2, 2019, and officially started leading the CU system July 1, 2019.

Kennedy, 63, is now in his second year overseeing a university system with four campuses (Boulder, Colorado Springs, Denver and the Anschutz Medical Campus in Aurora), some 67,000 students, 35,000 employees and a $4.8 billion annual budget.

Before assuming the presidency of CU, Kennedy distinguished himself in successful roles in business, government and higher education. He came to CU from the University of North Dakota, where he served as president for three years (July 2016 through June 2019).

Kennedy firmly believes in the power of a public research university such as CU to improve lives and have a positive impact at home and around the globe. A first-generation college graduate from a family of modest means but a strong belief in education, Kennedy is a staunch advocate for increasing first-generation college graduates while providing educational opportunities for all.

His focuses at CU include fiscal sustainability, keeping a CU education affordable and accessible, elevating student success and growing CU's significant research portfolio and economic impact.

During his time at UND, Kennedy led the adoption and implementation of a strategic plan that positioned the university for success in a fast-changing higher education environment. UND increased graduation rates by 10 percentage points under his leadership, also expanded research and online offerings, underwent significant campus renewal and was listed among the 25 Most Innovative Universities by U.S. News & World Report.

Before the UND presidency, Kennedy served as director of the Graduate School of Political Management at George Washington University. He has lectured or led research projects on five continents, including at the University of Cambridge, University of Pennsylvania, Johns Hopkins University, University of Notre Dame, New York University, University of Tokyo, National University of Singapore and Tecnológico de Monterrey in Mexico.

From 2001 to 2007, Kennedy served in the U.S. House of Representatives, first for Minnesota's Second Congressional District (which includes the south Twin Cities metro area and all or parts of six counties) and then for its Sixth Congressional District (seven counties to the northwest of Minneapolis). While in Congress, he sat on the Agriculture, Financial Services and Transportation committees, where he established a reputation for bipartisanship. After leaving Congress, Kennedy was appointed to the Advisory Committee on Trade Policy and Negotiations, serving under both Presidents George Bush and Barack Obama.

Before his time in government and higher education, Kennedy had a successful career in business, including helping Pillsbury buy and expand Häagen-Dazs and serving as an executive on the leadership team of the company that is today known as Macy's. Kennedy also served as the Global Retail Business Development Lead for Accenture, a global management consulting and technology firm.

Kennedy is the founder of the Economic Club of Minnesota and a member of the Council on Foreign Relations. He founded the Frontiers of Freedom Lecture Series at his alma mater, St. John's University, and authored Shapeholders: Business Success in the Age of Activism, published by Columbia University Press.

He earned a bachelor's degree in 1979 from St. John's University in Collegeville, Minn., and a master's in business administration (MBA) with distinction from the University of Michigan in 1983.

He was born April 11, 1957 in Benson, Minn., and graduated from Pequot Lakes (Minn.) High School. Kennedy and his wife, Debbie, have four adult children and six grandchildren.

CHANCELLOR PHIL DISTEFANO

Dr. Philip P. DiStefano is in his 12th year as the Chancellor at the University of Colorado Boulder. Prior to his appointment on May 5, 2009, Dr. DiStefano was the top academic officer at CU-Boulder for eight years as the Provost and Executive Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs. He had also served as interim chancellor twice during pivotal times in the university's history.

Dr. DiStefano, 73, co-chaired the steering committee for CU-Boulder's visionary strategic plan, Flagship 2030, conceived with campus, community and statewide input, to guide the university for decades to come. Today, Dr. DiStefano is shepherding its implementation as Flagship 2030 has moved from vision to reality.

Dr. DiStefano has served CU-Boulder for 46 years, first coming to the University of Colorado in 1974 as an Assistant Professor of Curriculum and Instruction at the School of Education. His academic career flourished as he assumed a series of academic and administrative positions, including Professor, Associate Dean, Dean and Vice Chancellor. He was appointed Provost and Executive Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs in 2001.

He has established new initiatives to support students in their success, including an increased graduation rate. He also has set forth plans to create alternative sources of revenue and further advance CU's reputation as a top comprehensive national research university.

Dr. DiStefano is considered a national authority on integrating intercollegiate athletics into the university academic mission. For the seventh consecutive year under Chancellor DiStefano, CU's NCAA Academic Progress Rate, which tracks student-athlete progress toward graduation, is the best in school history.

He serves on the board of directors of the Association of American Universities, an association of North America's most prestigious research universities.

Dr. DiStefano recently completed a two-plus year term on June 30, 2020 as the chairman of the Pac-12 Conference's CEO group, and also served a three-year term in (August 2016-July 2019) on the Board of Governors of the NCAA representing the Pac 12 (within that role he was a member of the NCAA's revenue distribution working group). He also served five years as the University of Colorado's faculty representative to the Big 12 Conference, as he assumed the role on June 1, 2000, and held it until appointing Dr. David Clough to the position in the spring of 2005. He has been closely involved with the athletic program for most of his time at CU, and in June 2016, was accompanied by athletic director Rick George to Italy to promote the university and the success of its international students.

As Chancellor he works closely with students, faculty, staff, alumni, donors, governing officials, and business and community leaders in extending CU's legacy as a preeminent national comprehensive research university.

A first-generation college graduate, Dr. DiStefano earned a Bachelor of Science degree from Ohio State University in 1968 and a Master of Arts degree in English Education from West Virginia University in 1971. He holds a Doctorate in Humanities Education from Ohio State University, where he served as a teaching and research associate.

Dr. DiStefano began his educational career as a high school English teacher in Ohio. He has authored and co-authored numerous books and articles on literacy education.

He was born September 21, 1946 in Steubenville, Ohio, and graduated from Steubenville Catholic Central High School. He has been married to the former Yvonne Pasquarella for 50 years, and the couple has three grown daughters, Gia, Nicole and Jennifer, and two granddaughters.

In 2015, he served as the official starter for the 37th annual Bolder Boulder, the city's 10-kilometer race that is the fourth largest in the nation. He has been very active throughout his career in the Boulder community, having previously served on numerous boards, including the Chamber of Commerce and the Rotary Club.

PROVOST RUSSELL L. MOORE

Dr. Russell L. Moore is now in his 11th year as the Provost and Executive Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs for the University of Colorado, having assumed the position July 1, 2010.

Dr. Moore has enjoyed a long and distinguished career at CU, having previously served as interim vice chancellor for research from May 2009 to July 2010, and prior to that appointment, he was the associate vice chancellor for research since 2006.

Dr. Moore served as chair of Kinesiology and Applied Physiology (now Integrative Physiology) from 1994 to 2001, and was an assistant professor (1984-86), associate professor (1993-96) and full professor (1996-present) in that department. He is also an adjunct professor in the Department of Medicine at the University of Colorado Anschutz Medical Campus.

He co-chaired the Flagship 2030 Task Force on Research, Scholarship, and Creative Works.

He holds an adjunct professorship in medicine (cardiology) at the University of Colorado's Anschutz Medical Campus at the University of Colorado Denver.

He was an assistant and associate professor (1986-91) in the departments of medicine, cellular and molecular physiology at the Pennsylvania State University College of Medicine in Hershey, Pa. His research focused on adaptations of the heart to physiological and pathological stress, particularly as they related to the development of heart failure.

Dr. Moore earned a Bachelor of Science degree in biochemistry from the University of California at Davis in 1976, and a doctorate from Washington State University in 1982. He did postdoctoral work at the University of Texas Health Science Center in Dallas (1981-84).

FACULTY ATHLETICS REPRESENTATIVE JOE JUPILLE

Dr. Joseph (Joe) Jupille, an associate professor of political science, is in his fourth year as the University of Colorado's Faculty Athletics Representative (FAR) to the Pac-12 Conference, as he assumed the position on July 1, 2017.

Dr. Jupille, 49, is only the seventh FAR in CU history, joining a very prestigious list: Walter Franklin (1947-1948), Warren Thompson (1949-1966), William Baughn (1967-1989), James Corbridge (1989-2000), current CU chancellor Phil DiStefano (2000-2005) and Dr. David Clough (2005-2017).

Now in his 15th year at CU, he joined the faculty in 2005 and became an Associate Professor in 2007. He founded and served as Director of the Colorado European Union Center of Excellence (CEUCE) from 2008-15.

Professor Jupille's research specializes in rules and institutions, which comes in handy in the world of intercollegiate athletics. With James Caporaso (University of Washington) he is completing Theories of Institutions, which distills understandings of rules across a range of disciplinary orientations. He has previously published Institutional Choice and Global Commerce (2013, with Walter Mattli and Duncan Snidal) and Procedural Politics (2004), the latter of which centers on his core substantive and teaching expertise in the European Union (EU). He has been published widely in peer reviewed journals and edited volumes, including in the Annual Review of Political Science, Comparative Political Studies, European Political Science Review, International Organization and West European Politics.

Jupille has been involved with student-athletes almost since arriving at CU over a decade ago, serving on and then chairing the Boulder Faculty Assembly's Intercollegiate Athletics Committee (IAC), which works with the Department of Athletics in managing and thriving at the nexus of athletics and academics. He has served or continues to serve on a number of student-athlete-centered bodies such as the AD's Academic Risk Assessment (ARA) committee, the Title IX Task Force chaired by Senior Woman Administrator (SWA) Ceal Barry in addition to many others.

Jupille wants it all for CU student-athletes: a gold standard education, unparalleled opportunity for personal growth and professional preparation, a chance to enjoy year-round fresh air and sunshine and develop ways of being well, and of course, a world class athletic experience. It is the FAR's job to bring a faculty sensibility to the pursuit of these goals.

He earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in Political Science from UC Santa Barbara in 1992, a Master of Arts in International Public Policy from the Middlebury Institute of International Studies at Monterey in 1995, and his Ph.D. in Political Science from the University of Washington in 2000.

Prior to joining the CU faculty in 2005, he was an Assistant Professor of Political Science at Florida International University for almost six years (2000-05).

He was born in Chicago in 1970. He is married to the former Lisa Avanzino and the couple have four children (Michael, Alex, Jackson and Julia). An avid cyclist, he commutes daily to CU by bike from the town of Superior (six miles southeast of Boulder). He grew up as a fan of the Pacific 10 Conference and in particular the California Bears but his allegiance is now sworn to the Buffaloes.

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR RICK GEORGE

Rick George was named athletic director at the University of Colorado on July 17, 2013, returning to Boulder where he helped play a role in the school's first and only national championship in football some 23 years earlier.

George, 60, came to Colorado from the Texas Rangers baseball club of the American League, where he was named chief operating officer on October 5, 2010 with a promotion to president of business operations in February 2013. He agreed to a 5-year contract at CU, and he officially started on the job on August 12, 2013. In June 2016, the Board of Regents approved a contract extension through 2020-21, and in June 2019, the Regents once again extended him through the 2023-24 academic and athletic year.

He is just the sixth full-time athletic director in Colorado history, following in the footsteps of Harry Carlson (1927-65), Eddie Crowder (1965-84), Bill Marolt (1984-96), Dick Tharp (1996-2004) and Mike Bohn (2005-13). Two others have bridged directors in interim capacities, Jack Lengyel (six months between Tharp and Bohn) and Ceal Barry (two months between Bohn and George).

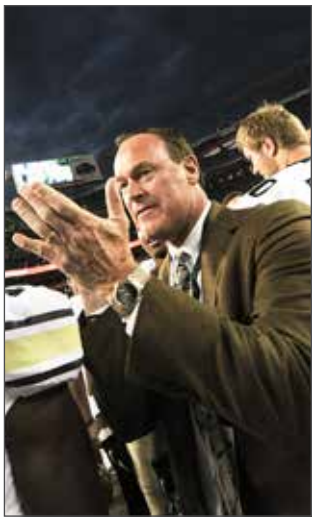
His list of achievements in his first 1,000 days in the position were many, but none more significant than shepherding through a $156 million Athletic Complex Expansion from creation through fruition, gaining approval from the Board of Regents and then raising nearly one-half of the estimated cost to initiate construction, which began May 12, 2014. The project was the core of the Sustainable Excellence Initiative (SEI), the jewel of which was a long-awaited indoor practice facility. Once green-lighted, he spearheaded the most successful fundraising campaign in athletic department history, raising over $100 million for the project.

By the end of his second year, George implemented the department's first-ever comprehensive strategic plan, which mapped CU's immediate and long range purpose and goals. He also redesigned the management teams, made tough budget decisions that reduced deficits he inherited (and has since produced two budget surpluses), and canvassed the state, region and nation in both friend- and fundraising. The department is now in the second year of the second three-year plan orchestrated by George (through 2020-21).

In his fourth year in the position (2016-17), 13 of CU's 16 athletic teams were at one time or another ranked among the nation's Top 25 (including all five in the fall; skiing is a coed program with combined rankings). Included in that group was the football team, as the Buffaloes returned to the national rankings for the first time in 11 seasons. All but one team competed in the postseason, most in NCAA Championships, with football making it to a bowl game for the first time since 2007 and both basketball teams going to their respective NIT events.

In 2019, he was one of 30 named to the prestigious National Football Foundation's "Team of Excellence," highlighting those NFF board members who played football and have gone on to success in life. In the spring of 2020, on the 50th anniversary of "Earth Day," he was the recipient of the individual achievement award recognizing his leadership in the sports sustainability programs he developed in the athletic department, as well as the Pac-12 Conference (in which in 2015 he drove the creation of the league's sustainability conference).

His dedication in the area of sustainability that has attracted many purpose-driven corporate sponsors; engineered the global debut in the summer of 2019 of the novel Ball aluminum cup that eliminates the use of recyclable or compostable plastics; hosted the first Fan Engagement for Sustainability Think Camp that produced a strategy that inspires fans to be more sustainable at home, work and play; signed the first U.S. collegiate commitment to the U.N. Sports for Climate Action charter; and continued to lead the nation's first NCAA Division I greensports program, Ralphie's Green Stampede.



He has been recognized three times (2014, 2018, 2020) by CU's Student-Athlete Advisory Committee as its choice for Staff Member of the Year; no token award, the group acknowledged his attendance at most home athletic events, regular meetings with team captains of all programs to interact with them and receive their feedback, his willingness to meet with any student-athlete and that his door is always open to them and his overall leadership, especially through times of crises, such as the COVID-19 pandemic.

George brought the most diverse background to the position than any before him at Colorado: all five others had extensive and primarily exclusive college athletic histories, the only exceptions being when Marolt left CU after 10 years as ski coach to lead the U.S. Olympic ski team before returning, and Tharp, who was a university attorney with strong CU-Boulder campus ties. While George began and worked in the college athletic world for the first half of his professional career, he stepped outside that box for the second half.

George was with the Rangers for less than three years, but saw the team win two American League championships and compile a 243-176 record (.580 winning percentage) during his time there, second-best in the major leagues during that time frame. As the COO, he worked closely with team president and CEO, baseball Hall-of-Famer Nolan Ryan, and was responsible for all facets of the Rangers' business operations, including oversight of all sales and marketing efforts, broadcast and communications, ticket and suite sales, naming rights, etc., in addition to overseeing the finance, human resource and operations departments.

Among his many accomplishments with the Rangers was a comprehensive branding study that successfully rebranded the ball club, and an implementation of a new ticketing strategy that over the course of three seasons increased ticket revenues by over $30 million. The club's attendance saw an increase of 40 percent from the 2010 season to nearly 3.5 million in 2012, second in the American League (behind the New York Yankees) and third in the majors. The 2013 numbers were on pace to exceed the 3 million mark again when he left the franchise for CU.

Prior to joining the Rangers, George served as executive vice president and chief of operations for the PGA TOUR for two-and-a-half years (beginning in June 2008). While with the TOUR, he worked with the corporate marketing department in renewing sponsorships and creating new events. He also oversaw the Tournament Business Affairs division that worked with Tournaments to increase tournament revenue.

He also worked for the PGA TOUR as president of the Champions Tour from 2003-08, and as the executive vice president for championship management his last three years there. His major accomplishments included increasing revenues and sponsorships and the development of strategic plans, the latter including a vision and mission statement as well as core values. The Champions Tour had grown to a minimum 29 events with over $55 million in prize money when he left for the PGA TOUR.

From 1998-2003, George served as President and CEO of the Fore!Kids Foundation, a 501(c)(3) organization that raised money for children's charities via golf-related events, where he led rebranding and organizational efforts that resulted in increases in charitable giving to the Foundation.

At the collegiate level, George worked in three major conferences (Big Ten, Big 8, Southeastern) in football operations, beginning with his alma mater, the University of Illinois, as football recruiting coordinator (1983-87).

He graduated from Illinois in 1982 with a Bachelor of Arts in Liberal Arts & Sciences Individual Study that had an emphasis on Sports Communication and Journalism. He was a four-year letterman at cornerback for the Illini, playing in 44 straight games and starting in 27 games in all, as he played two years each under coaches Gary Moeller and Mike White. He was a two-time recipient of the school's Bruce Capel Award, given for dedication and courage to honor Capel who lost his life serving his country in Vietnam; George received the honor for his junior and senior seasons.

Upon his graduation, White named him the assistant director for player personnel for the Illini, and a year later (1983), he assumed the all sports recruiting coordinator. In March 1984, George took over the recruiting chores solely for football, with his first class ranked No. 1 in the nation by the recruiting services with all in the top 20; he coordinated five classes in all at Illinois when the call came to take him out west to Colorado.

On March 2, 1987, Bill McCartney hired him as Colorado's football recruiting coordinator. Two-and-a-half years later (Dec. 21, 1989), George was promoted to assistant athletic director for football operations, not coincidentally after the Buffaloes finished the regular season with an 11-0 record and the school's first-ever No. 1 national ranking in the polls. CU lost to Notre Dame in the Orange Bowl and would finish No. 4, but came back to go 11-1-1 in 1990, this time defeating the Irish in the Orange Bowl to earn consensus national champion honors.

Shortly thereafter, he left the Buffaloes for Vanderbilt University, where he was reunited with former CU offensive coordinator Gerry DiNardo, who was named the Commodores' head coach a year earlier. In eight years at Vanderbilt (1991-98), he also served as associate athletic director for external operations in conjunction with overseeing the football program. This was where George first expanded his professional role outside of solely football, as he had oversight over all external departments, particularly in the area of managing budgets and developing marketing and promotional strategies for all sports.

George was born April 3, 1960 in Woodstock, Ill., and graduated from Collinsville (Ill.) High School, where he lettered in football, basketball and baseball. He is married to the former Nancy Green, and the couple has two grown daughters, Jenni Reed (husband Tom) and Christi, and two granddaughters (Harper and Maddie). In 2016, he was presented with an "Honorary C" by CU's Alumni C Club for his years of dedication to Colorado Athletics.

UNIVERSITY OF COLORADO

Founded in 1876 at the foot of the Flatirons, over 143 years has transformed the University of Colorado from a lone building on a bleak, windswept hill to one of the nation's leading public research institutions. Established in 1861, the University was formally founded in 1876, the year Colorado became a state.

The Boulder campus encompasses over 1,100 acres on the main campus in the heart of town, east campus (which includes a research park), south campus, Williams Village and the Mountain Research Station north of nearby Nederland (which supports ecology, chemistry and geology).

While over 35,500 students are educated on the Boulder campus, another 34,000-plus study at the University of Colorado at Denver, the University of Colorado Anschutz Campus (Aurora) and the University of Colorado at Colorado Springs. Nine elected Regents and President Mark Kennedy lead the four-campus system, while each campus has a Chancellor who serves as the chief academic and administrative officer. Dr. Phil DiStefano is in his eleventh year as the chancellor of the Boulder campus.

Students can enter any of 10 schools and colleges offering more than 3,900 courses in 150 fields, representing a full range of disciplines in the humanities, social sciences, physical and biological sciences, the fine and performing arts, and the professions. CU-Boulder is regularly ranked among the best of the United States' public universities by the Fiske Guide to Colleges, and a 2010 USA Today/Princeton Review survey rated the University of Colorado as the fifth-best value among American public colleges. CU was recently ranked as the No. 33 university in the world by the Times Higher Education.

CU-Boulder has played a major role in NASA space programs, designing and building many scientific instruments flown in outer space, and graduated 17 men and women who became astronauts, including the late Jack Swigert, one of the three astronauts in the crippled Apollo 13 mission who made it back to Earth safely from the moon. When the Hubble Space Telescope was launched in 1990, it was carrying seven major instruments, including a high-resolution spectrograph to study the evolution of stars and designed and built by an international science team led by astronomer Jack Brandt of CU-Boulder. Since Hubble has been deployed, CU-Boulder faculty and students have been among the top users of Hubble of any institution in the world. CU-Boulder is the only university in the country where undergraduate students have operated a NASA satellite.

The University has produced 20 Rhodes Scholars, five of which were former football student-athletes at CU, with Jim Hansen the most recent recipient in 1992. Faculty member Thomas Cech, a distinguished professor of chemistry and biochemistry, won the 1989 Nobel Prize in chemistry. Other notable alumni other than athletes include former United States Supreme Court Justice Byron "Whizzer" White, former big band leader Glenn Miller and actors Robert Redford and Chris Meloni, the latter starring for years on Law & Order: Special Victims Unit, the creators of South Park, Trey Parker and Matt Stone, and Philip Bailey, co-founder of the popular music group Earth, Wind & Fire.

If the aphorism, "Somewhere between the Rockies and reality," seems too good to believe, then come for a visit. Start with a walk on the historic Pearl Street Mall, a downtown pedestrian mall that is the ceremonial heart of the city. Visitors may be so taken in by the scenery they may not realize the University that put it all together. From Pearl, Broadway leads directly onto campus where the University of Colorado Museum and the CU Heritage Center, in the original Old Main building, both introduce the University's past and present. The hub of campus activity can be found at both the University Memorial Center (UMC) and the Center for Community (C4C). The ATLAS building is one of the most state-of-the-art structures on any college campus.

Take in the fresh mountain air on any part of 100 miles of trails and 30,000 acres of open space. Climb the Flatirons or in Eldorado Canyon State Park. Swim or board sail at the Boulder Reservoir while elite runners sprint around it. Take in a pro sporting event down the road in Denver, just one of 13 cities with teams in all four pro leagues.

> "The University of Colorado, and Boulder, is a town which stops where the Rocky Mountains begin. Normally in America such a superb site would be occupied by a golf course, but somebody goofed and instead they built what may be the most beautifully situated campus in the world… if anyone asks you to Boulder, I have one word of advice: 'Go.'"

PAC-12 CONFERENCE

Conference History

The roots of the Pac-12 Conference date back nearly 104 years to December 2, 1915, when the Pacific Coast Conference (PCC) was founded at a meeting at the Oregon Hotel in Portland. The original membership consisted of four schools — the University of California at Berkeley, the University of Washington, the University of Oregon, and Oregon State College (now Oregon State University). All still are charter members of the Conference.

Pacific Coast Conference play began in 1916 and, one year later, Washington State College (now Washington State University) was accepted into the league, with Stanford University following in 1918.

In 1922, the PCC expanded to eight teams with the admission of the University of Southern California (USC) and the University of Idaho. In 1924, the University of Montana joined the league roster, and in 1928, the PCC grew to 10 members with the addition of UCLA.

The Pacific Coast Conference competed as a 10-member league until 1950, with the exception of 1943-45 when World War II curtailed intercollegiate athletic competition to a minimum. During that time, the league's first commissioner was named. Edwin Atherton was commissioner in 1940 and was succeeded by Victor Schmidt in 1944. In 1950, Montana resigned from the Conference and joined the Mountain States Conference, essentially replacing Colorado, which left for the Big 7 two years earlier. The PCC continued as a nine-team conference through 1958.

In 1959, the PCC was dissolved and the Athletic Association of Western Universities was formed and Thomas J. Hamilton was appointed commissioner of the new league. The original AAWU membership included California, Stanford, Southern California, UCLA and Washington. Washington State joined the membership in 1962, while Oregon and Oregon State joined in 1964. Under Hamilton's watch, the name Pacific-8 Conference was adopted in 1968. In 1971, Wiles Hallock took over as commissioner of the Pac-8.

On July 1, 1978, the University of Arizona and Arizona State University were admitted to the league and the Pacific-10 Conference became a reality. In 1986-87, the league took on a new look, expanding to include 10 women's sports. Tom Hansen was named the commissioner of the Pac-10 in 1983, a role he would hold for 26 years until 2009. Hansen was succeeded by current commissioner Larry Scott, who took on the new role in July 2009.

During the 2010-11 academic year, Scott helped deliver monumental changes that transformed the conference into a modern 12-team league by adding the University of Colorado and the University of Utah. The addition of CU and Utah led to an agreement to equal revenue sharing for the first time in conference history, created two divisions (North and South) for football only, established a football championship game for the first time ever, secured a landmark media rights deal that dramatically increased national exposure and revenue for each school and established the Pac-12 Network and Pac-12 Digital Network that guaranteed enhanced exposure across all sports.

After a courtship of several months, Colorado accepted its invitation to join the Pac-12 on June 10, 2010, as the Buffaloes were the first domino to fall in a change of the national landscape. Within the next week, Nebraska also left the Big 12 to join the Big 10, Boise State departed the WAC for the Mountain West, and TCU jumped from the MWC for the Big East (before eventually landing in the Big 12). A week later on June 17, Utah agreed to join CU to make it an even dozen in the Pac-12. Big-time rivals for the first half of the last century, the Buffaloes and Utes officially became the 11th and 12th members of the Conference on July 1, 2011, the first additions to the league since 1978.

Pac-12 Commissioner Larry Scott

During the 33 years between expansions, Pac-10 teams claimed 258 NCAA titles (130 women's, 128 men's).

At present, the Pac-12 sponsors 11 men's sports and 13 women's sports. Additionally, the conference schools are members of the Mountain Pacific Sports Federation (MPSF) in four other men's sports and two women's sports. CU participates in the MPSF in indoor track and has competed since 1950 in the Rocky Mountain Intercollegiate Ski Association (RMISA) in skiing, which is a coed sport.

The Pac-12 Conference offices are located in the heart of San Francisco's downtown district and are headquartered in the same building as the Pac-12 Network.

Conference of Champions

Built on a firm foundation of academic excellence and superior athletic performance, the Conference ushered in a new era on July 1, 2011, officially becoming the Pac-12 Conference with the additions of the University of Colorado and University of Utah.

Just 27 days after the Conference officially changed its name, Commissioner Larry Scott announced the creation of the Pac-12 Networks, solidifying a landmark television deal and putting the Conference on the forefront of collegiate athletics. The Networks, including one national network, six regional networks, and a robust digital network marked the first-ever integrated media company owned by a college conference. In addition, the "TV Everywhere" rights allow fans to access Pac-12 Networks outside the home on any digital device, including smartphones and tablet computers.

That same year, the Pac-12 also launched its Globalization Initiative to proactively promote the Conference and member institutions through student-athlete exchanges and sport, as in the first five years, Pac-12 student-athletes have enjoyed unique cultural and athletic experiences in several foreign nations. In the past year, the Pac-12 became the first conference to have all of its schools become members of the Green Sports Alliance.

On the field, courts and in the pools of play, the Pac-12 rises above the rest, upholding its tradition as the "Conference of Champions®," claiming an incredible 188 NCAA team titles since 1999-2000. For the 15th consecutive year, the Pac-12 had the most NCAA titles of any conference in the country, having won at least six every year from 2000-01 through 2018-19 and three of the seven awarded before the COVID-19 pandemic ended all competition in 2019-20; those include 51 over the last five years. No other conference has ever won 10 or more in a single athletic year, looking up at the record 14 the Pac-12 won in 1996-97 and 13 in 2016-17 and 2018-19. Even more impressive has been the breadth of the Pac-12's success, with championships coming in 31 different men's, women's and/or coed sports. The Pac-12 has led or tied the nation in NCAA Championships in 54 of the last 60 years (and was second four times and third twice), never finishing lower than third.

Spanning over a century of outstanding athletics achievements, the Pac-12 was the first conference to reach 200, 300, 400 and now 500 championships; despite having two fewer members than three of the other four so-called "Power 5" conferences, the Pac-12 outdistances the next conference by over 200 crowns (the Big Ten is a distant second with 291). In all, Pac-12 conference teams have won 529 NCAA Championships (305 men's, 193 women's, 31 coed).

Individually, the Conference has produced an impressive number of NCAA individual champions, as through the 2019-20 school year, 2,379 individual crowns have been won by Pac-12 student-athletes over the years (1,383 in men's championships, 808 in women's and 188 in coed, e.g. skiing).

And since the NCAA began conducting women's championships 38 years ago, Pac-12 members have claimed at least four national titles in a single season on 29 occasions, with a record 10 during the 2016-17 school year followed by another nine in 2017-18.

The CU women won the 2018 NCAA cross country title, their third overall.

2019-20 QUICK REVIEW

In the 2019-20 shortened academic year, the Pac-12 won three of the seven NCAA championships that were contested before the pandemic cancelled everything after March 11; the titles came in men's water polo and women's soccer and volleyball.

Stanford also posted top-four finishes in women's cross country and men's soccer, while Colorado came in third at the men's cross country national meet and USC tied for third in men's water polo. Three-quarters of the NCAA Women's College Cup hailed from the Pac-12 for the first time ever with Washington State making its first-ever appearance in the national semifinal, joining the Cardinal and UCLA. The only other sport to have its championship held in 2019-20 was women's field hockey. The first championships of the spring – skiing – were halted at the midway point with no champion crowned, though Utah was ahead at the time.

Colorado last added to its national championship count in 2018-19 with the school's third women's cross country crown, bringing the school's total to 28. Last year, the Buffaloes finished third in men's cross country and 10th in women's cross country; but the skiing, indoor and outdoor track, lacrosse, men's and women's golf and tennis championships were canceled, along with both NCAA basketball tournaments due to the COVID-19 pandemic. CU has won 20 skiing titles (11 men's, one AIAW women's and eight coed) and eight cross country (five men's, three women's); the Buffs also were the consensus national champions in football in 1990, but since it is not an NCAA-sanctioned championship, it doesn't count toward the Pac-12's total of 529.

Petra Hyncicova won both the classic and freestyle races at the 2017 NCAA's.

Erik Dengerud was the 2019 national free-style titlist, winning his first NCAA race.

Dani Jones was a two-time NCAA champion, claiming the cross country and outdoor 5,000-meter run.

Littleton, Colo. (Columbine)

High School: A 2020 graduate of Columbine High School. Named Colorado's Class 5A State Player of the Year as a senior, averaging 26.0 points, 12.0 rebounds, 3.0 assists and 2.0 blocks per game. Led the Rebels to a 21-5 record in 2020 and spot in the Class 5A State Tournament "Great 8" for the first time since 2011. A two-time Class 5A All-State First Team selection and two-time JeffCo League Player of the Year. Led the JeffCo League in scoring at 21 points per game in 2019 as the Rebels finished undefeated in conference play and advanced to the second round of the state tournament. Four-time All-JeffCo First Team pick. Holds Columbine career records for points, steals, rebounds, field goals made, 3-pointers made, free throws made and scoring average. Played six years for the Colorado Miners club program.

Academics: Majoring in Journalism at Colorado and is also interested in Business. Carried a 3.95 GPA in high school.

Personal: Born on Aug. 21, 2001, in Denver. He is the son of Steve and Corie O'Brien. Has three siblings, an older sister, Emma who attends Colorado State, and two younger brothers, Landon and Levi. His father, Steve, was a walk-on basketball player at CSU. Enjoys golf, bowling and video games and considers himself an above average golfer and bowler. His favorite NBA player is Steph Curry and his favorite pro sports team is the NFL's Houston Texans. Chose Colorado in part because "the coaches and players were great and it felt like the right fit." The biggest moment of his prep career was scoring 33 points, including all 16 of his team's points in the fourth quarter, in a win over Boulder High School that sent Columbine to the State Tournament at the Denver Coliseum.

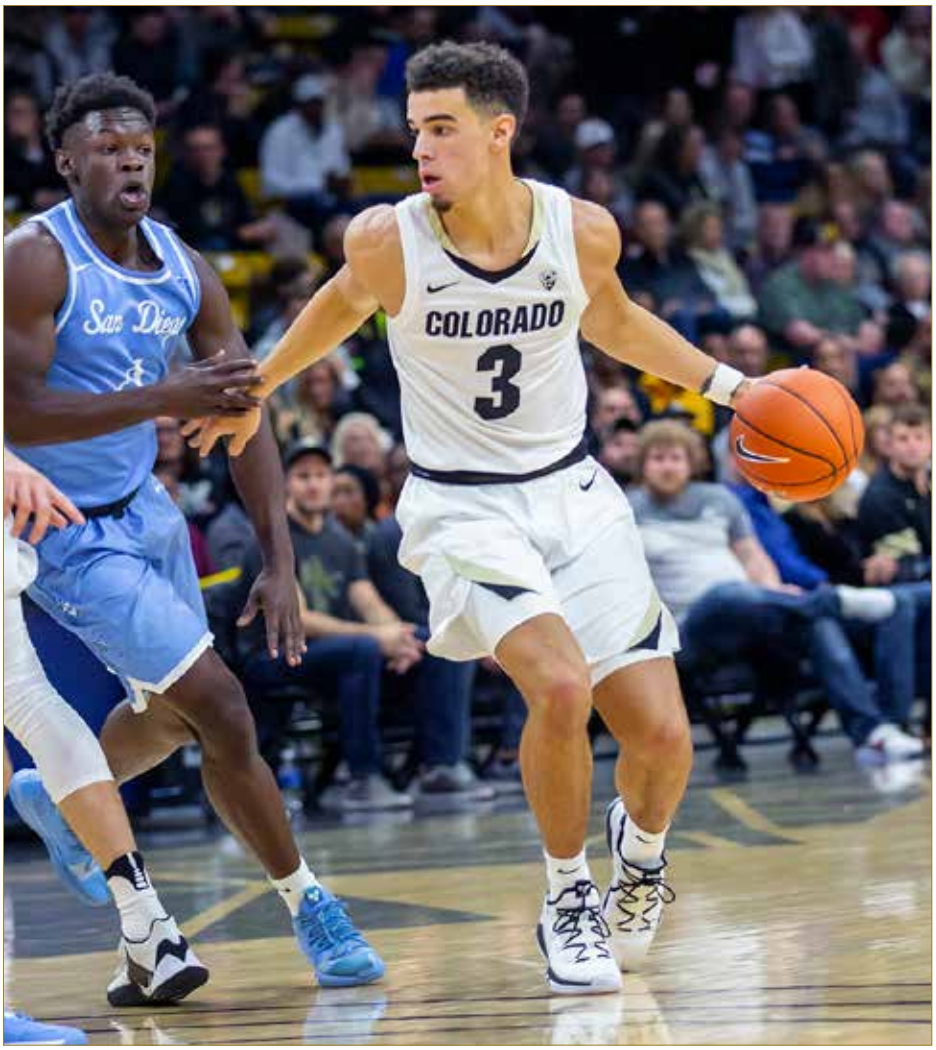
Suwanee, Ga. (Florida SouthWestern State)

2019-20 (Junior): Averaged 3.2 points in 31 games as a first-year Buffalo. Ranked fifth on the team with 26 3-point field goals. All but eight of his field goals came from 3-point range. Shot 38.2 percent overall from long distance, but improved that mark to 44.1 percent in during Pac-12 play (15 of 34). Scored a career-high 10 points against Iona (12/29). Had nine points against Washington State (1/23) his best outing in Pac-12 play. Made one start, at UCLA (1/30). Had eight points, on 3 of 4 from the field, in his Colorado debut against Arizona State (11/8) in Shanghai, China. Had 39 rebounds on the season, but 13 - or one-third - came in the final four contests, including a career-best six at Utah (3/7).

2017-19 (Florida SouthWestern State): Played two seasons at Florida SouthWestern State College, helping the Buccaneers to a 60-6 overall record and two NJCAA Division I National Tournament quarterfinal appearances. Averaged 11.2 points and 2.8 rebounds in 61 career games, shooting 42.9 percent from the field and 85.1 percent from the foul line. He is a career 42-percent shooter from beyond the 3-point arc, making 140 of 335 attempts. As a sophomore in 2018-19, earned All-Suncoast Conference First Team Honors averaging 13.9 points per game while shooting 43.1 percent from 3-point range. Topped the Buccaneers in minutes played (26.3 mpg) and free throw shooting at 83.3 percent (75-90). Started all 33 games in 2018-19 as the Buccaneers finished 30-3, which included an undefeated season in Suncoast Conference play. Florida SouthWestern was ranked No. 1 in the final 2018-19 NJCAA Division I national rankings before ending its season in the national quarterfinals. Earned second team all-conference honors as a freshman, averaging 7.9 points and 2.5 rebounds per game.



High School: A 2016 graduate of Beverly Hills (Calif.) High School, helping the Normans to a 21-9 record as a senior. Attended Montverde Academy in Florida as a junior, where his team won a national championship in 2015.

Academics: A Marketing major at Colorado. He earned his associate degree in Business Management at Florida SouthWestern State. A two-time Suncoast All-Academic selection and named to the NJCAA All-Academic Third Team as a freshman.

Colorado Springs, Colo. (Sand Creek)

2019-20 (Junior): Averaged 9.8 points, 3.6 rebounds and 1.4 assists, starting in 31 of 32 contests. Led Colorado in 3-point field goals made (51) and attempted (139). Ranked third on the team in scoring, assists (44) and steals (23) and fifth in rebounding. Overall ranked 14th in the Pac-12 Conference in 3-point shooting at 36.7 percent. Hit the "shot of the year" as his 3-pointer at the buzzer gave the Buffaloes an overtime win over No. 13 ranked Dayton in Chicago (12/21). Finished with a season-high 20 points against the Flyers, matching a career-best and team season-high five 3-point field goals while shooting 7 of 11 from the field overall (.636). Matched that 20-point outing with his top effort in Pac-12 play against Stanford (2/8) setting career bests in free throws made (7) and attempted (9). Recorded 18 of his season's 23 steals during the Pac-12 schedule which tied for second on the team during that span. Had a career-best four steals in the home win over Washington (1/25). Scored in double-digits 18 times and led the Buffaloes in scoring in five games. Had nine games with at least three 3-point field goals. Set a career-best in rebounding with nine at Colorado State (12/13) and matching that number against Iona (12/29).

2018-19 (Sophomore): Saw his production increase across the board, especially in the home stretch of his sophomore campaign. Averaged 9.2 points and 3.7 rebounds while starting 35 games on the wing - he missed the opener due to a minor NCAA rules infraction during the previous summer. He was third on the team in 3-poniters made (41), fourth in scoring and assists (46) and fifth in rebounds. With Namon Wright missing the second half of the season with a foot injury, Schwartz stepped up to play the bulk of the minutes at his position. He was second on the team in overall minutes at 1,008 (28.8 mpg) and played at least 33 minutes in each of the final nine games. Shot 78 percent from the free throw line overall (56-72), but upped that mark to 83 percent (38-46) during conference play, ranking fourth in the Pac-12 during that span. His two free throws with 14 seconds left at USC (2/9) helped the Buffaloes seal the win and their first road sweep of the Southern California schools. Scored a career-high 22 points with three steals in the home game against Washington (1/12). Hit 6 of 10 from the field and all six free throw attempts against the Huskies. Averaged 13.7 points in three Postseason NIT games, ranking second on the team. Scored 19 points aided by a career-high five 3-point field goals in the opening round win over Dayton (3/19). Overall, had 18 double-figure scoring games, leading the Buffaloes in scoring three times.

2017-18 (Freshman): Averaged 3.4 points and 1.8 rebounds in 13 minutes per game. He was one of just five Buffaloes to play in all 32 games and logged four starts. Shot 38 percent from 3-point range, making 18 of 47 on the season. Fourteen of his 18 3-point field goals came against Pac-12 Conference opponents and improved his 3-point accuracy to 44 percent during that span (14-32). He scored in double-digits twice, both coming in two of the bigger games of the season. He scored 10 points on 3 of 4 shooting and a pair of 3-pointers in the home win over No. 14/16 ranked Arizona (1/6). Matched that output with 10 points on a career-best four field goals in the Pac-12 Tournament win over Arizona State (3/7). Grabbed a season-best six rebounds on three occasions, the last in the regular season finale at Utah (3/3). Made his first collegiate start against South Dakota State (12/15), a nod to his effort and performance during practices leading up to that game. Finished with four points, two rebounds and one assist in 20 minutes against the Jackrabbits.

High School: A 2017 graduate of Sand Creek High School. Schwartz was an All-Colorado selection by the Denver Post and All-USA Colorado pick after averaging 25.7 points and 9.8 rebounds as a senior, helping the Scorpions to 19-6 record and a spot in the Sweet 16 of the Class 4A Tournament. A McDonalds All-America nominee, he earned Class 4A All-State honors by the Denver Post, PrepHoops, Basketball Colorado and the Colorado High School Activities Association (CHSAA). A three-time All-Pikes Peak Athletic Conference and All-Area selection, Schwartz holds Sand Creek records for points in a game (50), season (617) and career (1,693). He also holds Scorpion all-time marks in 3-pointers (327) and rebounds (723). A consensus four-star prospect, Schwartz was an ESPN100 member, rated as the 69th best player in the nation and the top player in the state of Colorado. Rivals listed Schwartz at the No. 67 spot nationally while Scout had him at 89th and the 19th best wing in the country. Schwartz also lettered in tennis, playing first doubles.

USA Basketball: Schwartz was one of 18 finalists for the 2016 USA Basketball Men's U17 World Championship Team. He finished as a runner-up in the 2016 USA Basketball Men's 3x3 U18 National Tournament and participated in the 2015 USA Men's Junior National Team October minicamp.

Academics: Majoring in Marketing at Colorado with a minor in Music Technology. Named to the 2018-19 Pac-12 All-Academic Second Team. One of four recipients (the freshman class winner) of the Byron R. White Leadership and Initiative Award, given to those student-athletes who have exhibited outstanding initiative and demonstrates a strong commitment to service to the CU and Boulder communities. An avid musician, he worked with CU's Academic Futures Department to submit a Community White Paper called "Building a Community via a Recording Space" where he asks the university to create a studio and recording space for students. He maintained a 4.1 GPA through four years of high school.

Personal: Born D'Shawn Michyel Schwartz on February 15, 1999, in Abilene, Texas. He is the son of Michael and Reshana Schwartz. He would like to play basketball in the NBA or overseas after college and become a successful music producer. Schwartz enjoys making beats (music) and some of his favorite artists include Kendrick Lamar, Travis Scott and Jay-Z. His lists the biggest moment of his prep career as scoring 50 points against Thornton in the first game of his senior year, "It was an exciting moment because it was a sign of hard work paying off, along with setting the tone for the rest of the year. It was the most fun game I've ever played. I could not miss and I felt I could keep going all night."

ALEXANDER STRATING

Wassenaar, Netherlands (American School of The Hague)

2019-20 (Junior): Appeared in 15 contests, averaging just under four minutes per game. Saw his most consistent action during the late preseason/early Pac-12 schedule, a span in which he contributed in seven of nine contests. Played a season-high 10 minutes in the home win over Utah (1/12). Made his lone field goal of the season in the home win over No. 4/6 Oregon (1/2). He won the team's Tebo Family P.A.S.S. Award, recognizing the virtues of Perseverance, Attitude, Selflessness and Success, for the second time.

2018-19 (Sophomore): Provided solid depth to Colorado's front court, playing in 29 games at 8.0 minutes an outing. Averaged just under two points per game, shooting an efficient 68.8 percent from the floor on limited attempts (22-32). He scored 22 of his season's 55 points during four postseason games. After being a healthy scratch in the Pac-12 Tournament opener against California (3/13), he had a memorable outing against Oregon State (3/14) in the quarterfinals with a career-high 10 points on 4 of 6 shooting in 16 minutes. He shot 64 percent from the field during the postseason (9-14). Saw action in all three Postseason NIT games, scoring five points with three rebounds in the first round against Dayton (3/19) and six points on 3 of 4 shooting in the second round against Norfolk State (3/25). He won the team's Tebo Family P.A.S.S. Award, recognizing the virtues of Perseverance, Attitude, Selflessness and Success.

2017-18 (Redshirt Freshman): Saw action in five games, scoring six points and grabbing four rebounds in seven minutes of play. Logged one start against South Dakota State (12/15), a nod to his effort and performance during practices leading up to that game. Made his official Colorado debut with four points and a rebounds vs. Denver (11/14). Had two points, one rebound and one steal in seven minutes in an exhibition win over Colorado Mines. He became a scholarship student-athlete prior to the season after joining the team as a walk-on in 2016-17.

2016-17 (Freshman): Sat out the 2016-17 season as a redshirt in the Colorado program, fully participating in team activities and practices.

High School/Club: A 2015 graduate of the American School of The Hague in his hometown of Wassenaar, The Netherlands. Played both European style club basketball at ZZ Lieden while also playing high school ball for the American School. As a 17-18 year old, played in U-24 Dutch Talent League for his club and was the leading scorer of his team. Also played for his high school in the International Schools Sports Tournament (ISST). Won the ISST's Final Tournament in Cobham (England) in his senior year in March 2015, earning MVP and All-Tournament Team honors as the tournament's leding scorer, including a 35 point outing against the International School of Brussels. Played for Canarias Basketball Academy (CBA) in Spain in his post-graduate year and played with a CBA team in the National Prep Showcase Albertus Magnus in New Haven, Conn. in November 2015. Colorado coach Tad Boyle watched him play at CBA during his visit to the Spanish Academy in the spring of 2016.

Academics: Earned his degree in Mathematics in December 2019 and is currently pursuing a second bachelor's degree in Economics. Earned honorable mention to the 2018-19 Pac-12 Men's Basketball All-Academic Team.

Personal: Born Dec. 24, 1996 in Quito, Ecuador. Son of Eric and Henriette Strating. Has a younger sister, Caroline. Father is a Dutch diplomat and mother a German lawyer. Lived in Ecuador, China, Australia, Spain and the Netherlands. Has an International Baccalaureate (IB) diploma from the American School of the Hague in the Netherlands. Is fluent in three languages. Selected CU because "the location, campus and academic reputation of the school, together with the possibility to play basketball in a strong conference like the Pac-12 under a top coach like Tad Boyle, formed a combination that no other interested school could match." Says biggest moment in prep career was playing well as a European player at the Prep Showcase in New Haven, Conn. in front of so many college coaches. Will try to combine business and engineering in school and a future career.

F • 6-8 • 195 • Fr. • HS
Inglewood, Calif. (AZ Compass Prep)

High School: A 2020 graduate of AZ Compass Prep in Chandler, Ariz. As a senior, he averaged 13.0 points, 8.0 rebounds and 1.5 blocks per game on the The Grind Session for coach Ed Gibson. 247Sports rated him as a four-star recruit, the eighth best prospect in Arizona and the 33rd power forward in the nation. Rivals listed him as the 30th overall power forward in the nation. Both organizations had Walker in their Top 150 overall rankings. Played for the Dreamvision club program in Los Angeles for one year.

Academics: An Exploratory Studies major at Colorado, interested in Business.

Personal: Born July 30, 2002, in Wichita, Kan. He is the son of Jo Dudley and Samaki Walker. Father Samaki was a 10-year NBA veteran playing for five teams, including the 2002 NBA Champion Los Angeles Lakers. Has a brother, Dibaji, who plays basketball at UMass and a sister, Sakima, a Top 50 nationally rated basketball player who is a freshman at Rutgers. Enjoys playing ping pong and can play the saxophone. Has volunteered at churches in California to feed the homeless and give back to the community. His favorite team is the Los Angeles Lakers and his favorite player is Kevin Durant. Selected Colorado over California, St. Mary's. LMU and Tulsa among others in part "I absolutely love the player development. Most schools will recruit you without an actual plan but I feel like CU recruits you with a plan to use you and they want you to be great." Looking to go into sports broadcasting or analysis after his basketball career.

OWEN KOONCE

Lafayette, Colo. (Centaurus)

High School: A 2020 graduate of Centaurus High School. A two-time Class 4A All-State Second Team selection and all-conference pick. Averaged 19.2 points and 6.7 rebounds as a senior while shooting 56 percent from the field. Named the Boulder County (BOCO) Player of the Year in 2018-19, averaging 18.5 points, 5.6 rebounds and 1.4 assists per game as the Warriors reached the "Great 8" of the state tournament. Lettered four times in track, recording multiple state finishes in the high jump. Played for the Colorado Titans club program in Erie.

Academics: An Exploratory Studies major at Colorado, interested in Integrative Physiology.

Personal: Born Oct. 12, 2001, in Wheat Ridge, Colo. The son of Nathan and Kacey Koonce. Has one sister, Kelsey. Both parents are former Colorado student-athletes. Nathan played basketball (1992-94) and Kacey was a member of CU's 1993 Big Eight Champion volleyball team (1992-94). A grandfather, Steve Engel, played football for Colorado and the Cleveland Browns. He is a national jump rope champion and a yo-yo master. Can speak Spanish. Chose to walk on at Colorado because "…it's in my blood. I'm the fifth-generation student-athlete to go to CU in my family.

DALLAS WALTON

F/C • 7-0 • 236 • Sr. • 3L
Arvada, Colo. (Arvada West)

2019-20 (Junior): Saw action in 28 games averaging just over six minutes per contest. Finished with 45 points and 32 rebounds while shooting 42 percent from the field. His numbers began to increase in the latter portion of the season as he continued his large climb back from an ACL tear that forced him to miss the previous season. He scored 28 of his season's 45 points over the final 10 games and made 15 of his last 25 field goal attempts (.600). Had his best weekend in the home sweep of the Washington schools, averaging 7.0 points while shooting 60 percent (6 of 10) from the floor. Made all three shots against Washington State (1/23) and pulled down a season-best four rebounds in 12 minutes. Saw his first action since March 2018 in the season-opening win over Arizona State (11/8) in Shanghai, China, pulling down a pair of rebounds. Officially listed as a fifth-year senior for 2020-21, but would certainly be eligible to apply for a sixth season (medical hardship) next spring.

2018-19 (Sophomore): Missed the season after suffering a torn ACL in his right knee during preseason practice in October.

2017-18 (Redshirt Freshman): Averaged 5.7 points, 3.4 rebounds and 1.1 blocks in just under 19 minutes per game. He led Colorado with 34 blocked shots, ranking 10th in the Pac-12 Conference. All but seven of his blocks came during conference play, ranking sixth in the league during that span (1.4 bpg). Saw limited action in the first six games of the season, but was inserted into the starting lineup when senior forward Tory Miller-Stewart went down with a season-ending injury. He made his initial start at Colorado State (12/2), scoring six points and grabbing three rebounds in 16 minutes. He would go on to start 25 of 26 games, coming off the bench against Iowa (12/22), a game in which he scored a then personal-best 13 points on 6 of 10 shooting. Played a major role in one of the biggest wins of the season, scoring 15 points on a perfect 7 of 7 from the field against No. 14/16 Arizona (1/6), playing toe-to-toe with the Wildcats' formidable front court of Deandre Ayton, the future No. 1 pick in the 2018 NBA Draft, and Dusan Ristic, a solid veteran 7-footer. Scored 13 points and had a team season-best four blocked shots at home against Washington (1/20). Set a career-high with 16 points at Washington State (2/15) hitting 8 of 8 from the free throw line, matching the team's season-best in that category. Made 5 of 13 3-pointers on the season, in fact his first collegiate points came on a 3-pointer vs. Denver (11/14). Earned the team's Most Improved Player Award at the end of the season.

2016-17 (Freshman): Sat out the 2016-17 season as a redshirt in the Colorado program, fully participating in team activities and practices.

High School: A 2016 graduate of Arvada West High School. He earned All-Jefferson County Conference first team honors as a senior averaging 16.1 points, 10.2 rebounds and 2.8 blocked shots for the Wildcats. He helped Arvada West to a 17-9 overall record and a spot in the "Sweet 16" of the Colorado Class 5A State Tournament. Walton had 14 double-doubles in 26 games recording season highs of 24 points against George Washington and 18 rebounds against Smoky Hill. He shot 61 percent from the field and 73 percent from the free throw line earning honorable mention to the Class 5A All-State team. His senior year was even more impressive considering he missed his entire junior season after two ACL tears in his left knee with in 10 months of each other. Walton played club basketball for the Chauncey Billups Elite Basketball Academy from seventh grade through 10th grade, helping the team win a national championship at the 2014 Jayhawk Invitational.

Academics: Majoring in Strategic Communication with an emphasis in Advertising at Colorado with a minor in Business/Information Science/Sports Media. He carried a 3.97 GPA in high school and was named to the Academic All-State First Team. Named one of two Herbst Academic Center Student-Athletes of the Month for February 2019.

Personal: Born in Denver, he is the son of Matthew and Normena Walton. He has a younger sister, Ella. An uncle, Gregory Walton, was a three-year letterwinner on the CU track & field team, participating in the high jump. He enjoys the piano and playing 2K & FIFA with friends. Walton chose CU because "I grew up wanting to be a Buff. Hometown is 20 minutes away and a lot of family went here. It's also a good fit for me and what I want to do." Switched his jersey from No. 35 to No. 13 prior to the 2020-21 season to honor his aunt, Kristen Walton Maclin, who passed away on July 15, 2017, at the age of 46 after a long battle with leukemia. Kristen wore No. 13 during a standout volleyball career at Colorado State (1990-93), and he made the change to honor her memory. He has her No. 13 CSU jersey and proudly displays it in his apartment.

View Park, Calif. (Villa Park)

2019-20 (Sophomore): Led Colorado in offensive rebounds (84) and ranked second in field goal percentage and total rebounding. Averaged 8.9 points and 5.9 rebounds while shooting 52.6 percent from the field (102 of 194). Third on the team in free throws made (75) and attempted (108). Fourth on the team in scoring and steals (17) and fifth in assists (32). His 84 offensive rebounds were 16 more than he had has a freshman (and in four fewer games) and the most by a Buffalo since Wesley Gordon had 100, and Josh Scott had 87, during the 2015-16 campaign (34 games). On the Pac-12 leaderboard, he was fifth in offensive rebounds (2.6 orpg), 10th in field goal percentage and 13th in overall rebounding. Had four double-doubles, including a 14-point, 11-rebound performance at Oregon (2/13). Had six games of double-figure rebounds, including a season high 13 against Wyoming (11/24). Scored in double-figures 13 times with a season-high of 20 against Prairie View A&M (12/19). In that game he was 10 of 11 from the free throw line, registering career-highs in both categories. His 10 free throws made tied for the team's season-high. Led the Buffaloes in rebounding seven times and paced the Buffs in scoring in six contests. Had 14 games of shooting above 50 percent with at least four field goals made. Earned Colorado's Most Inspirational Player Award following the season. One of two student-athlete representatives to serve on the Pac-12 Conference's Mental Health Task Force. Named to the National Association of Basketball Coaches (NABC) Player Development Coalition.

2018-19 (Redshirt Freshman): Made his long-anticipated Colorado debut, averaging 8.1 points and 4.4 rebounds per game. He ranked third on the team in field goal percentage (.484), tied for second in blocked shots (12) and was fourth in rebounding. Second on the team in offensive rebounds with 68, a mark that ranked 11th on the Pac-12 leaderboard (1.9 orpg). Logged his first career double-double with 12 points and 10 rebounds against Norfolk State (3/25) in the second round of the NIT. It was his second double-figure rebounding game of the season, he had a personal-best 14 in the home win over Washington State. On the offensive end he had a career-best 21 points in the home win over USC (3/9), hitting 9 of 14 from the field. He had seven rebounds in that game - six on the offensive end, which was a team season-high. His field goal shooting improved to 54.4 percent during the Pac-12 regular season (56-103). Proved to be a player that when he got hot, he was rolling. In 11 games with at least four field goals made, he shot 65 percent in those contests (58-90). Scored in double-figures 11 times while leading the Buffaloes in scoring on four occasions. He also topped Colorado in steals six times while leading in rebounding in four contests. Averaged 7.3 points and shot 88 percent from the free throw line (14-16) in six postseason games. Winner of the team's Most Inspirational Award, voted on by his teammates. He took home the Male Freshman of the Year honor at the 19th annual CU Sports Performers of the Year (CUSPY) Awards.

2017-18 (Freshman): Sat out the season as an academic redshirt in the Colorado basketball program. The NCAA mandated the redshirt for Battey after he did not meet the initial eligibility requirement of graduating from high school within four years. Battey was a full participant in team activities, although he suffered a stroke in December which kept him from working out on the court during the second half of the season. He was the co-winner, along with George King, of the inaugural Tebo Family P.A.S.S. Award, recognizing the virtues of Perseverance, Attitude, Selflessness and Success. Cleared both athletically and academically, Battey played his first competitive basketball in more than two years in August 2018, traveling with the USA East Coast Team for a four-game tour of Italy.

High School: A 2017 graduate of Villa Park High School in the Los Angeles area. He was an All-Orange County and All-Crestview League selection as a junior in 2015-16, averaging 24 points a game for the Spartans including a 44-point effort, second-best in a single game in school history. ESPN had him rated as the No. 17 post player in the nation and 11th best player overall in the state of California. Rivals listed him as the 122nd best player in the nation while Scout had him at 132. Battey did not play basketball in 2016-17 as the California high school governing body determined he had exhausted his eight semesters of eligibility. Battey repeated the ninth grade and despite not playing in one of those years, the CIF had determined his eligibility clock had run out. Battey stayed with Villa Park team for the 2016-17 season, serving as a player-coach for the team's big men and junior varsity. He was part of the Spartans' team that placed second at the CIF Division III state championships. This spring, Battey was recognized by the Orange County Athletic Directors Association with its Athlete of Character Award. He played his freshman and sophomore seasons at the Los Angeles Center for Enriched Studies, earning All-Western League honors both years. Battey averaged 11 points and 11 rebounds as a freshman and 20 points and 14 rebounds as a sophomore, helping the Unicorns to consecutive Division IV titles. Battey played AAU ball with the Dream Vision club program out of Los Angeles.

Academics: Majoring in Broadcast Journalism at Colorado with a minor in Sociology/Sports Media. He earned honorable mention to the 2018-19 Pac-12 Men's Basketball All-Academic Team. In April 2018, he was recognized at Colorado's annual Student-Athlete Academic Recognition Banquet as one of two winners of the Clancy A. Herbst, Jr., Student-Athlete Achievement Award, given to those who overcome personal, academic and/or emotional challenges or difficulties to succeed both academically and athletically.

Personal: Evan Earl Battey is the son of Earl Jessey Battey III and Rosalind Lewis. He has one older sister, Taylor, a graduate of Oregon State. His grandfather, Earl Battey, was a four-time Major League Baseball All-Star and three-time Gold Glove winner at catcher for the Minnesota Twins during his 13-year career where he also played for the Chicago White Sox and Washington Senators. He is also related to Ed Sanders, heavyweight boxer who won a Gold Medal at the 1952 Helsinki Olympics. Battey selected Colorado because it was the best fit for him and he loved the coaches and team.

TRISTAN DA SILVA

Munich, Germany (Ludwigsgymnasium Munich)

High School/Club: A 2019 graduate of Ludwigsgymnasium in Munich. In 2019-20, he played simultaneously with Schwabing, in Germany's Regionalliga, and IBA Muenchen (International Basketball Academy, Munich), in the NBBL. In 12 games with IBA Muenchen, da Silva led the team in scoring at 16.9 points per game while shooting 53.2 percent. His shooting with Schwabing was even better at 58.3 percent while averaging 14.0 points and 5.5 rebounds in 16 games. He was set to play for Germany at the 2020 U20 FIBA World Championships, before that tournament was canceled.

Academics: An Exploratory Studies major at Colorado and is interested in Environmental Engineering and any science field.

Personal: Born May 15, 2001, in Munich. He is the son of Christine and Valdemar da Silva. His father was a professional boxer in his native Brazil. Has one brother, Oscar, an All-Pac-12 forward at Stanford. Enjoys music, acting and playing soccer. At one time played the trumpet so well, he might have been able to be a professional musician. Can speak five languages – German, Portuguese, Spanish, French and English. Would like to play professional basketball and then get a good job in environmental engineering or another science field. Favorite NBA teams is the Los Angeles Lakers and his favorite player is Luka Doncic. Chose Colorado over LMU, Hawai'i, BYU and San Diego among other in part "best all-around offer. Great school/academics, great team, awesome community."

Lafayette, Colo. (Centaurus)

Colorado: Joined the team as a walk on in the fall of 2020. This is his third year enrolled at Colorado and will be a sophomore in eligibility for 2020-21. Spent the previous two years training to walk on at Colorado and the past year as a practice player for CU's women's basketball team.

High School: A 2018 graduate of Seattle Preparatory School. Lettered once in basketball for the Panthers, finished his senior year with a 17-11 record and an appearance in the state tournament. Excelled in lacrosse, earning four letters and serving as the team captain. He was a three-time all-conference selection and helped Seattle Prep to the 2018 Metro League title. Also lettered in football and holds two All City Records in the Seattle Swim League.

Academics: A Computer Science major at Colorado in the College of Engineering. A Chancellor's Academic Scholarship recipient and Dean's List honoree.

Personal: Born April 23, 2000, in Seattle. He is the son of Carol and Jim Loughlin, both lifelong skiers, bikers and hikers. Has one sister, Sophie, who graduated from Colorado in 2020. Enjoys hiking, biking and skiing. Spent a lot of time on Lake Washington growing up in Seattle and in then in the mountains skiing in the winter. Worked as a volunteer ski instructor for Outdoors for All, teaching kids with disabilities how to ski and enjoy the mountain. Favorite teams are the Seattle Seahawks and the Denver Nuggets. Initially came to Colorado to play lacrosse, but decided he enjoyed basketball more.

Beaumont, Texas (West Brook)

2019-20 (Sophomore): Averaged just under three points and 12 minutes in 30 games. Ranked fourth on the team in blocked shots with nine. After playing in only 25 minutes in the first eight Pac-12 games combined (includes two DNPs), he averaged 19.3 minutes over the last 11 games. In the regular season finale at Utah (3/7), he recorded career-highs with eight points on 3 of 8 shooting in 38 minutes. Made a multiple field goals nine times this season and four in the last seven games. Matched a career-high with five rebounds at USC (2/1). Named CU's Most Improved Player Award winner by a vote of his teammates.

2018-19 (Freshman): Averaged just over one point and one rebound per game as a first-year Buffalo. Played in 26 games, logging 8.4 minutes per contest. He had 10 blocks on the season, one of four Buffs to reach double-digits on the season and the only guard. Eight of his 10 blocks came during Pac-12 Conference regular season games, ranking second on the squad. Made two starts, the initial assignment coming at Arizona State (1/5) where he played a season-most 21 minutes. Also got the starting nod at Utah (1/20) with two points and a rebound in 17 minutes. Missed 10 games during the season, seven of which were due to an injury spanning the final games of the Pac-12 regular season and Pac-12 Tournament. Returned to action in the NIT second round win over Norfolk State (3/25) with three points in 10 minutes. Had started to emerge as a defensive stalwart for the Buffaloes just prior to his injury. He played 20 minutes at Washington (2/23), recording two steals and two assists.

High School: A 2018 graduate of West Brook High School, Parquet averaged 17.0 points, 5.0 rebounds and 3.0 steals per game as a senior. He was the District 22-6A MVP helping the Bruins to an undefeated district record in Texas' largest classification. He was also named all-region as West Brook finished 28-4 overall. Parquet was a member of the Beaumont Enterprise 2018 Super Gold Boys Basketball Team. He was forced to sit out his junior season at West Brook after transferring from Hardin-Jefferson where he was a two-time all-district performer. As a freshman, he was the District 24-4A Newcomer of the Year. Parquet played for the Team S.T.A.G.E club program.

North Robbinsdale, Minn. (Champlin Park)

Career: Enters the season ranking second in career assists at Colorado with 501, only 61 away from Jay Humphries' school record of 562 set from 1980-84. Just the second player in team history with 1,000 points, 400 assists and 400 rebounds, joining Donnie Boyce (1991-95) in those categories. Holds the school record with seven points-assists double-doubles and is second in career double-figure assist games with seven. Ranks 13th on Colorado's all-time scoring list with 1,370 points and is 18th in steals at 106. Has scored in double figures in 81 of 99 games and dished out at least five assists in 57 outings.

2019-20 (Honors): Top 10 Finalist for the Bob Cousy Point Guard of the Year Award. All-Pac-12 First Team; Colorado's third two-time All-Pac-12 First Team honoree, joining Josh Scott (2013-14, '15-16) and Andre Roberson (2011-12, & '12-13) and the 13th Buffalo to achieve multiple first team all-league selections. Also named to the Pac-12 All-Defensive Team, NABC & USBWA All-District First Team and Chauncey Billups Team MVP. Named to Preseason Watch Lists for Wooden, Naismith, Oscer Robertson and Cousy Awards. Earned Preseason All-Pac-12 honors from the Pac-12 (media), Athlon, Lindy's and Sports Illustrated. Preseason Pac-12 Player of the Year by Athlon, Lindy's and NCAA.com (Andy Katz's No. 1 Pac-12 Player). Preseason Top 10 Player by Lindy's and Top 20 Guard by The Athletic.

2019-20 (Junior): Led the Buffaloes at 14.4 points and 5.0 assists per game. Third straight season leading the team in assists and second time pacing the squad in scoring. Second on the team in steals (36), blocked shots (11) and free throws made (95) and third in rebounding (5.7 rpg) and 3-point field goals (39). Led the Pac-12 in assists during conference games at 5.7 a contest and was third in assist-to-turnover ratio (1.9) during that span. His 103 assists during the Pac-12 season tied his own school season record originally set in 2017-18. Overall on the Pac-12 charts was fourth in assists and minutes (34.9 mpg), fifth in assist-to-turnover ratio (1.7), 12th in free throw percentage (.792), 13th in defensive rebounding (4.5 drpg) and 15th in scoring and overall rebounding. Had six double-doubles on the season, split down the middle with three points-assists doubles and three of the points-rebounds variety. His six double-doubles were the most for any point guard in the Pac-12 and tied for eighth among all players. Named Pac-12 Player of the Week on Jan. 6 after averaging 17.0 points, 9.0 assists and 6.0 rebounds in home games against the Oregon schools. He shot 54.5 percent (12-22) from the field and 77 percent from the free throw line (10-13), picking up his second career Pac-12 Player of the Week honor and the lone award this season for the Buffaloes. Scored a game-high 21 points, dished out eight assists and pulled down five rebounds in Colorado's 74-65 win over then-No. 4 ranked Oregon (1/2). Followed that up with 14 points and 10 assists against the Beavers (1/4). Became the 35th player in team history to reach 1,000 points at Kansas (12/7). Scored in double-figures 28 times and led the Buffaloes in scoring in 13 games - team season highs in both categories. Scored a team season-high 29 points, along with 10 rebounds, in the win over No. 13 Dayton (12/21) in Chicago. Had a team-best six 20-point games.

2018-19 (Sophomore): Earned All-Pac-12 First Team honors averaging 13.0 points, 4.8 assists and 1.1 steals over 35 games. Also given an honorable mention nod to the Pac-12's All-Defensive Team. Led the Buffaloes in assists, steals and 3-point percentage (.365), while ranking second in scoring, field goal shooting (.494) and free throw percentage (.807) and third in rebounding (4.9 rpg). On the Pac-12 leaderboard, he was third in assists, eighth in free throw percentage, 10th in assist-to-turnover ratio (1.5), 12th in field goal percentage and 17th in scoring. His field goal shooting was the second-best among back court players in the Pac-12. Dotted the conference leaderboard for the second consecutive season despite playing through the entire Pac-12 schedule and postseason with a torn labrum in his left shoulder (22 games). Despite the injury, he missed just one game - and just one start for that matter - at Utah (1/20), and led the Buffaloes in overall minutes played at 1,137 (32.5 mpg). His 167 assists tied for sixth on CU's single-season list and he led the Buffaloes in assists in 31 games. Scored in double figures in 26 games while leading the team in scoring 12 times. He had five 20-point games including a season-high 24 points in the win over Arizona State (2/13). He shot 9 of 12 from the field while dishing out eight assists and grabbing five rebounds against the Sun Devils. Named to the Pac-12 All-Tournament team averaging 14.0 points, 6.3 rebounds and 3.7 assists per game. He made all 12 free throw attempts at Pac-12 Tournament, including 8 for 8 vs. Oregon State. Had 18 points, tying a personal-best with four 3-pointers made in the opening round win over California. Finished with 17 points in the quarterfinal win over Oregon State, grabbing five rebounds and dishing out four assists. In six total postseason games, averaged 13 points, 5.5 rebounds and 4.2 assists, while shooting 44 percent from the field, 48 percent from 3-point range and an outstanding 95 percent from the line (18-19). Recorded his fifth career double-double, and fourth of the points-assists variety, with 18 points and 11 assists

2017-18 (Freshman): Put together one of the greatest freshman seasons in program history, leading the Buffaloes at 14.2 points, 5.5 assists and 1.0 steal per game. He also topped the team in field goals made and attempted (166-368) while ranking third in rebounding (4.7 rpg) and fourth in blocks (14). Named to the 2017-18 Pac-12 Conference All-Freshman Team while earning honorable mention to both the main All-Pac-12 Team and All-Defensive Team. He set Colorado's freshman record for assists in a season with 175, breaking Chauncey Billups' mark of 143 set in 1995-96. His 175 assists are second all-time at Colorado in a season, regardless of class status. He scored 454 points, the fourth most by a freshman in CU history. His 14.2 points average ranks sixth among freshmen in one season. He became just the seventh freshman to lead the Buffaloes in scoring since 1972 and 14th to average at least 10 points in that same time frame. On the Pac-12 charts, he was third in assists, seventh in assist-to-turnover ratio (1.9) and sixth in scoring. Topped all Pac-12 freshmen in assists and assist-to-turnover ratio and was third in scoring. He was named Pac-12 Player of the Week and National Freshman of the Week (by the USBWA & CBS) after averaging 17.5 points and 7.5 assists in Colorado's back-to-back wins over No. 4/6 Arizona State (1/4) and No. 14/16 Arizona (1/6). Scored 19 points and dished out five assists against Arizona State and followed that up with 16 points and 10 assists against the Wildcats as the Buffaloes defeated AP Top 15 teams in back-to-back games for the first time in program history. He is just the second Colorado freshman to earn a conference Player of the Week Award, joining Billups who was honored by the Big Eight in December 1995. He had four double-doubles, three of the points-assists variety with the latter tying a school single-season record. Set career and team season-highs with 30 points and 11 assists in the double-overtime win over South Dakota State (12/15). Just missed the program's fourth triple-double by pulling down nine rebounds against SDSU, ironically the only game that he came off the bench. Named MVP of the Paradise Jam - the first freshman to earn that honor - averaging 17.7 points, 6.0 assists and shooting 61 percent. Hit a game-winning 3-pointer at the buzzer during the first round win over Quinnipiac (11/17). Logged the final of his four double-doubles with 20 points and 11 assists in the Pac-12 Tournament win over Arizona State (3/7) - and again flirting with a triple-double with eight rebounds. Scored double-digits in 27 of 32 games, leading the Buffaloes in scoring 13 times while pacing the squad in assists 28 times. He logged double-digits in scoring the first 12 games of his career, the most since Alec Burks had 20 to start his career in 2009-10. Named the Chauncey Billups Award winner as the team MVP while also taking the Jay Humprhies Assist Award at the end of the season.

High School: A 2017 graduate of Champlin Park High School. Named 2017 Mr. Minnesota Basketball after averaging 23 points, 8.1 rebounds and 7.8 assists for the Rebels who finished 31-1 and second place at the Class 4A state tournament. A three-time Northwest Suburban All-Conference selection, Wright shot 62 percent from the field and 80 percent from the free throw line as a senior. He is Champlin Park's all-time leader in scoring, rebounds assists and steals. Wright was the Minneapolis Star-Tribune's Metro Player of the Year as a senior and second team All-Metro as a junior. He helped his team to four Northwest Suburban Conference titles with an outstanding overall record of 108-12. A four-year letterwinner and two-time team captain, he also helped the Rebels to a 31-1 record in 2015 and a state runner up finish.

Academics: An Ethnic Studies major at Colorado

Personal: McKinley Wright IV was born October 25, 1998, in Minnesota. He is the son of McKinley Wright III and Yolanda Hitchcock. He lists the biggest moment of his prep career as setting Champlin Park's single-game scoring record with 46 points against rival DeLaSalle (he also had 14 rebounds and eight assists in that game). His favorite professional teams include the Los Angeles Lakers and Portland Trail Blazers and his favorite athletes are Kobe Bryant and Damian Lillard. He choose Colorado because of the opportunity to play in the Pac-12 Conference and the coaching staff and teammates made him feel like family.

Colorado Springs, Colo. (The Vanguard School)

High School: A 2020 graduate of The Vanguard School. Colorado's 2020 Gatorade State Player of the Year, he averaged 26.3 points, 13.7 rebounds, 3.5 steals and 2.8 blocks, leading Vanguard to a 22-3 record and an appearance in the Class 3A "Great 8." A two-time All-State First Team pick, he led Vanguard to the Class 3A State Championship game as a junior, averaging 18.9 points and 11.3 rebounds per game. A two-time all-conference selection, he helped Vanguard to three-straight district tournament titles. A member of Vanguard's 1,000-point club. He was ranked the top player in Colorado, a four-star recruit and the No. 92 overall prospect in 247Sports' Final 2020 national recruiting rankings. Rivals tabbed him as a four-star guard and the 29th best shooting guard. Played two years for the Colorado Miners club program.

Academics: An Exploratory Studies major at Colorado and is interested in Communication. A member of the Honor Roll in high school while receiving Citizenship and Student-Athlete Awards.

Personal: Born Feb. 9, 2002, in Colorado Springs. Full first name is Dominique. He is the only child of Akai and Angelique Clifford. Had a five-inch growth spurt between his sophomore and junior years of high school – from 6-0 to 6-5. Enjoys basketball, video games and playing other sports like ping pong. Has a desire to help children, volunteering his time at hospitals, with Teen Court and kids basketball camps. Chose Colorado over Stanford, Wyoming and Colorado State in part "I loved the opportunity it presented on the court and off the court. I loved coach Boyle's vision for me and the program as well as the school having top tier academics. It's also just beautiful here in Boulder." Lists the biggest moment of his prep career as "either playing in the craziest state championship game where I was Tournament MVP even though we lost or dropping 36 points and 15 rebounds against a Top 3 Class 4A team, which is one level bigger than my school, in front of coach Boyle."

In 10 years, Tad Boyle has accomplished only what a select few have done before him in the annals of the University of Colorado men's basketball program. And yet, Boyle continues to rewrite and lead the Buffaloes to greater heights not seen in a half of century.

Boyle, 57, is in his 11th year with the Buffaloes and his 210 victories rank second all-time in program history.

He is is 210-134 as Colorado's head coach; his .610 winning percentage ranking second in school history with a minimum of four years on the bench; just behind CU Athletic Hall of Fame coach Forrest B. "Frosty" Cox who won 62.3 percent of his games between 1936-50.

Entering his 15th overall season as a collegiate head coach, Boyle has won 57 percent of his games with a record of 266-200.

He owns seven of Colorado's 11 all-time seasons of 20-plus wins. Boyle is the first CU coach to lead the Buffaloes to seven consecutive postseason appearances and the first to guide the program to three consecutive NCAA Tournaments. His record at the CU Events Center is stellar, leading the Buffaloes to a 141-27 mark at home (.839) over the last 10 seasons. He is the first CU coach to win 20 games in each of his first four years.

"Tad continues to make Colorado more than relevant," NCAA.com Basketball Writer Andy Katz said. "He has made them into one of the top teams in the West. Now you can count on Colorado being in play for the top tier in the Pac-12 and an NCAA bid. Colorado may have joined the Pac-12 for football first but the Buffaloes have been a boon in basketball."

Boyle has led Colorado to 19 wins over ranked opponents, by far the best in team history. In fact Boyle coached teams, with a record of 19-34, have accounted for 30 percent of the program's wins over ranked opponents (63) since 1949-50.

Boyle's postseason success is highlighted by a memorable run of four wins in four days to claim the 2012 Pac-12 Tournament championship. He owns more than half of Colorado's all-time conference tournament wins, with a 15-9 mark in that span (13-8 in the Pac-12, 2-1 in the Big 12). Boyle has led the Buffaloes to a conference semifinal or better four times. Overall Boyle's 22 postseason wins and .564 winning percentage (22-17) are tops in Colorado history.

Six former Buffaloes coached by Boyle have made NBA rosters during his time in Boulder. Five have been selected in the NBA Draft, led by 2011 lottery pick Alec Burks, the 12th selection by the Utah Jazz. Colorado has been represented in two of the last three NBA Drafts with Derrick White in 2017 (San Antonio) and George King in 2018 (Phoenix).

Off the court, he has graduated every CU senior student-athlete on his roster (32)..

The 18th head coach in school history, Boyle has also represented the Buffaloes on a national, and world, stage. Boyle was an assistant coach for USA Basketball's 2017 Men's U19 World Cup Team that earned a bronze medal in Cairo, Egypt. He also earned bronze as an assistant for USA Basketball's 2015 Pan American squad in Toronto. Boyle was one three court coaches for the 2013 USA Basketball Men's World University Games training camp at the U.S. Olympic Training Center in Colorado Springs.

Boyle is also an active ambassador in the community throughout the Centennial State. He is a five-time participant in the National Association of Basketball Coaches (NABC) Infiniti Coaches' Charity Challenge where coaches across the country compete against each other to raise money for their charities. In 2018, he helped Special Olympics Colorado earn $13,000 through the program.

In September 2012, Boyle was invited to Washington, D.C. with other college basketball coaches to urge Congress to protect federal funding for cancer research and prevention programs on Capitol Hill. In September 2011, Boyle joined 20 other coaches from the Front Range for a two-day coaching seminar with former Denver Nuggets head coach George Karl, the 2012-13 NBA Coach of the Year.

Boyle and his teams have also participated in a multitude of events. The Buffaloes participated in the 2015 Special Olympics Unified Relay Across America in Boulder. He was the official starter of the 34th Annual Bolder Boulder (May 2012), the largest road race in the United States where all participants are timed and the fifth largest road race in the world.

In December 2012, the men's basketball team visited the Children's Hospital at the Anschutz Medical Campus in Aurora. In December 2011, the team volunteered with the non-profit Share-A-Gift program, an organization helping families of need acquire children's toys for the holidays. Both programs are part of the CU Athletics Leadership Development Program. The program is designed to develop a culture of leadership in which CU student-athletes act with personal responsibility, integrity and accountability while staying committed in both principle and actions to the greater good.

"This is it (my dream job), there's no doubt," Boyle said after being named head coach on April 19, 2010. "I remember talking with (Maryland men's head coach) Mark Turgeon once when he asked me where I wanted to be in 10 years, and I said, the head coach at the University of Colorado. This is a destination job. I'm humbled and honored."

In his first season (2010-11), Boyle began to set the standard for exciting things to come, capping the season with a trip to the World's Most Famous Arena – Madison Square Garden and a National Invitation Tournament semifinal appearance. The Buffaloes won a school-record 24 games, including 18 school-best wins at the CU Events Center, establishing one of the best home court advantages in all of college basketball.

His initial season saw CU rank fifth nationally in free throw percentage (77.8), 12th in scoring (79.6 ppg) and 19th in field goal percentage (47.3).

Boyle earned National Coach of the Week honors (Hoops Report, Jan. 10-16) after leading the Buffs to a 3-0 conference start, including wins over No. 9/8 Missouri and No. 21/20 Kansas State. The win over the Wildcats gave CU its first road win over a nationally ranked opponent since January 1997 (No. 20 Texas Tech). CU defeated four ranked teams, including a 22-point comeback win (second greatest comeback in school history) upsetting No. 5/5 Texas, 91-89.

In year two (2011-12), Boyle became the first CU coach to begin the conference season with back-to-back 3-0 starts, and was the first coach since Frosty Cox (1935-36, 1936-37) to win his conference opener in back-to-back years. He also won his 40th game (home win vs. Oregon) in just 61 games tying Cox (1935-39).

Boyle continued to make most of his "dream job" a reality for CU fans guiding the Buffaloes to the 2011-12 NCAA Tournament (third round), another 24-win season, and a conference championship in its inaugural season of the Pac-12, winning four games in four days at the Staples Center in Los Angeles.

For his efforts, Boyle became the first CU head coach to earn the District 20 Coach of the Year by the National Association of Basketball Coaches (NABC), an award voted among his coaching peers. The 48 wins were a school-best in any two-year span of the program.

"I'm a believer in Tad Boyle," said Jay Bilas, ESPN College Basketball Analyst. "He is not only a terrific teacher of the game with great basketball knowledge, he keeps it simple and gives his players an understanding of what you need to do to win, but a firm understanding of how teams lose, too. Boyle has tremendous toughness in him. He is demanding without being demeaning, and he puts his players in position to achieve together without fear of failing. That's what truly outstanding coaches do, and Tad Boyle is a truly outstanding coach."

In year three (2012-13), Boyle guided the Buffs to another NCAA Tournament appearance, the second year in-a-row, becoming the first CU coach in 50 years to guide the program to back-to-back tournament appearances. CU won 21 games, the third straight season the program eclipsed the 20-win plateau, also a school-first. After the team won their first mid-season tournament since the 2002-03 season, the Charleston Classic, the Buffs reached the nation's Top-25 polls for the first time since 2005-06 (No. 19 AP/USA Today Coaches' Poll, Nov. 26); AP No. 23 ranked, Nov. 19).

Attendance records also set a brand new high standard as the men's basketball team proved to be the best ticket in town setting a number of school records, including seven sellouts; 12 of 15 home games exceeded 10,000 fans or better, in addition to season total (155,884); season average (10,392); conference total (94,371); and conference average (10,486). The attendance surge ranked third nationally among all Division I programs for largest increased average from the previous year.

Success continued for Boyle and his coaching staff in year four (2013-14) as the Buffs won 23 games, the third most victories in school history. Another NCAA Tournament followed for a school record third consecutive season, in addition setting a pair of attendance records (season total: 173,429; non-conference total: 84,133). The staff enjoyed their best start to a season in four years (14-2 record) with a No. 15 nationally ranking, the highest a CU team has seen since 1997.

In 2014-15, a 16-18 record marked the first time in five years the program failed to notch a winning season, however the Buffaloes reached the College Basketball Invitational (CBI) quarterfinals. The Buffs did defeat NCAA Sweet 16 participant UCLA and the National Invitation Tournament Champion Stanford during the season.

Attendance remained steady for the fifth straight year, finishing with third place numbers across the board in all-time marks in season total, season average, and conference total. Conference average was fourth. Overall, Boyle and his CU teams, hold the top five attendance marks in season and conference total, and conference average since 2010-11; and the four of the top five attendance figures in season average.

The Buffaloes rebounded nicely in 2015-16, sporting a record of 22-12 and finishing in fifth place in the Pac-12 at 10-8. Boyle led Colorado to 11 straight wins during the nonconference schedule, the fifth longest in program history and best run since 1961-62. Colorado's 21 regular season wins tied a school record – joining the 2013-14 and 1996-97 teams – and 22 overall tied for fourth in the school annals. Colorado reached the NCAA Tournament for the fourth time under Boyle.

Boyle's 2016-17 team marked seven-straight years with a postseason tournament appearance; a school record. The Buffaloes were 19-15 overall and 8-10 in the Pac-12, earning a spot in the NIT. Colorado's regular season was highlighted by wins over three ranked teams, inlcuding No. 13/14 Xavier and No. 10/10 Oregon, teams that would eventually end up in the Elite Eight and Final Four respectively.

In 2017-18, Boyle had the youngest team of his tenure, with nine players that had not played a minute in a Buffaloes' uniform prior to the season. He led Colorado to 17 wins, the program's seventh winning season in the last eight years. Last year's young group had some bright moments including back-to-back wins over Top 15 teams for the first time in program history.

In 2018-19, Boyle led Colorado to a 23-13 record, tying for fourth place in the Pac-12 (10-8). The 23 wins tied for the third most in team history and just one off the school record. Boyle's teams now own the top four season win totals in team history and five of the top six.

Last season, Boyle guided to Buffaloes to what undoubtedly would have been a fifth NCAA Tournament appeareance during his tenure before the cancelation of the postseason due to the coronavirus pandemic. Colorado spent a school-record 13 weeks in the Associated Press Top 25, peaking at No. 16 in mid February. The Buffaloes ended at 21-11 on the season and ranked No. 25 in the final NCAA Evaluation Tool (NET) ratings.

Prior to his arrival to Boulder, Boyle resurrected the basketball program at the University of Northern Colorado, where he guided the Bears to a 56-66 record (.459) the past four seasons, including a breakout season in 2009-10, when the Bears were 25-8 (.758) and finished second in the Big Sky Conference. For his efforts, he was awarded the NABC Division I All-District Coach of the Year, the Big Sky Coach of the Year by both The Sporting News and CollegeInsider.com, where he was also named a finalist for the National Mid-Major Coach of the Year award.

WHAT THEY ARE SAYING …

"Tad has bought back a resurgence to Colorado basketball with his energy and enthusiasm. I am impressed with his knowledge of the game and his ability to communicate to his Buffaloes team."

-– Dick Vitale, ESPN College Basketball Analyst

"Tad has done something few thought possible -- turn Colorado into a basketball school. The Buffaloes have as much of an impact in their new conference as any other team transitioning to a new league and that is a credit to Tad and his staff."

– Andy Katz, NCAA.com Basketball Writer

"I'm a believer in Tad Boyle. He is not only a terrific teacher of the game with great basketball knowledge, he keeps it simple and gives his players an understanding of what you need to do to win, but a firm understanding of how teams lose, too. Boyle has tremendous toughness in him. He is demanding without being demeaning, and he puts his players in position to achieve together without fear of failing. That's what truly outstanding coaches do, and Tad Boyle is a truly outstanding coach."

– Jay Bilas, ESPN College Basketball Analyst

"I've been blessed to work with many hall of fame caliber coaches during my career and I can say without reservation that Tad Boyle is as talented as any coach I've been around! Whether you're talking about X's-and-O's, in-game adjustments, or recruiting...he's the total package. And, best of all...he's an even better human being."

– Mark Johnson, Colorado Director of Audio Broadcasting

"This exciting process was all about both the young men we have currently and those in the future who will be joining our program, and is an investment in them and represents the competitive spirit, teamwork, passion and dedication they stand for," then-CU athletic director Mike Bohn said.

"Tad Boyle represents everything that is right about college basketball. We look forward to his leadership, poise and competitive drive to unite all our collective Buff interests to support our team and this enterprise that has so much promise for the long term."

A Greeley, Colo., native, Boyle was named the 17th coach in UNC history on April 25, 2006. At that point, the Bears were in the midst of a transition to Division I in its first season as a member of the Big Sky Conference. Northern Colorado finished 4-24 in his first season when squad finished last nationally in the final RPI rankings for that season. There were, however, flashes of times to come that season, including close losses to both Colorado (88-86) and Colorado State (75-66).

Over the next two seasons at UNC, he improved the team's win total from four to 13 and then 14. The Bears defeated Colorado State, 72-59, in his second season and also knocked off San Diego State, 72-59. The Aztecs were ranked among the nation's top 50 teams in the RPI rankings at that time. In year three, the Bears had improved from one conference win his first season to an even 8-8 mark and earned the school's first Division I post season trip, to the Sun Belt Conference Tournament.

It all came together for Boyle in his fourth season in Greeley, as the Bears advanced to the post season for the first time in school history, advancing to the quarterfinals of the CollegeInsiders.com Tournament while racking up a school record 25 victories. He coached one first-team All-Big Sky member and also the Big Sky Conference Defensive Player of the Year.

Prior to Northern Colorado, he spent six seasons as an assistant coach at Wichita State and was part of another turn around that saw the Shockers improve from 9-19 (.321) his first year there to one of the nation's top mid-major teams in 2006 when Wichita State went 26-9 and advanced to the Sweet 16 of the NCAA Tournament. The Shockers eventually lost to Final Four Cinderella George Mason in the regional semifinals, but not before they had secured the No. 21 ranking in the final collegiate polls.

Boyle played collegiately for legendary coach Larry Brown at Kansas (1981-85). He was a member of two NCAA Tournament teams (1984, 1985) and was part of the 1984 Big Eight Tournament championship squad. As a senior, Boyle captained the Jayhawks, which featured freshman Danny Manning, who three years later led the Jayhawks to the NCAA Championship.

After earning a bachelor of science degree in business administration from Kansas in 1985, Boyle went on to serve six years as a high school basketball coach at various Colorado programs. He was the sophomore basketball coach at Greeley (Colo.) West for a year and then was an assistant coach at Loveland (Colo.) High School for two years.

From there, he served at Longmont (Colo.) High School for three years before returning to the college ranks.

It was at Kansas that Boyle played alongside Turgeon, whom he also coached with at Oregon under Jerry Green. Boyle's first collegiate coaching job in 1994 was on Green's Ducks staff, where he spent three seasons and helped the Ducks to the 1995 NCAA Tournament and the 1997 National Invitational Tournament. In 1997, Boyle followed Green to Tennessee, where he was director of basketball operations when the Vols won 20 games and advanced to the NCAA Tournament.

Boyle reconnected with Turgeon the following year, this time as an assistant coach at Jacksonville State (Ala.), where they helped turn a team that was 8-18 into a 17-11 squad in just one season.

Before heading to play collegiately at Kansas, Boyle was a standout performer at Greeley Central High School, where he led the Wildcats to a state championship as a senior in 1981 and earned Colorado Player of the Year honors as well –as being selected to the Converse All-American team. His high school jersey was retired at the conclusion of his senior season.

Boyle is married to the former Ann Schell of Greeley, and they have two sons, Jack and Pete, and a daughter, Claire.

Mike Rohn is in his 11th year as a coach and head recruiting coordinator with the University of Colorado men's basketball program. He was elevated from assistant to associate head coach on Oct. 18, 2017.

Rohn is an integral part of the coaching staff that has re-energized the basketball program to national prominence and continues to do so each and every year.

"One of the steadiest people I have ever worked with," CU head coach Tad Boyle said. "Mike is the ultimate grinder; works extremely hard and he's a guy that thinks, a forward-thinker. He's ready to be a head coach. He has all the tools in what it takes to be a head coach, and is invaluable to our staff, and to me."

During Rohn's tenure in Boulder, the Buffaloes' have accumulated 210 victories, the most wins in any 10-year span of the program (117 years). In addition he has helped guide the Buffaloes to postseason appearances in eight of nine seasons (there was no postseason in 2020 due to the coronavirus pandemic), including seven in a row (2010-17), a program first. CU's three straight trips to the NCAA Tournament (2012, '13 & '14), are also school firsts.

Rohn has helped build the CU Events Center into a dominant home court advantage, making the Buffs' one of the most feared arenas to play in with a nine-year mark of 141-27 (.839).

As the recruiting coordinator, Rohn helped deliver the 25th ranked recruiting class in the nation in 2017 according to Rivals and Scout.

The groundwork of the program's success was built during the first two years where Rohn assisted with back-to-back 24-win campaigns of 2010-11 and 2011-12. The 24 victories continue to be a school record for victories in a single-season. The 24 wins in his first season were part of CU's run to the NIT semifinals at Madison Square Garden in New York City, the school's last year in the Big 12 Conference.

The following year (2011-12), the program equaled another 24 victories, CU's first year in the Pac-12 Conference. The Buffaloes became just the 10th team in the nation to win at least four games in four days to capture the tournament title at the inaugural conference tournament. The tournament title was the Buffaloes first since winning the Big 8 in 1968-69.

With the automatic tournament berth, CU earned its first NCAA Tournament appearance since 2002-03 and saw the Buffs upset No. 6 UNLV in the first round.

Another successful season followed in 2012-13 (21 wins), where Rohn and the Buffs earned back-to-back NCAA Tournament berths for the first time in 50 years (1961-62 & 1962-63). The following year (2013-14), another NCAA Tournament followed with 23 wins, setting a school record with three consecutive NCAA Tourney appearances and four-straight 20-winning seasons.

The 2013-14 campaign saw CU register 23 wins, the third-most victories in school history. That CU team also tallied a third place finish in the final Pac-12 Conference standings, the program's highest placing in 18 years.

After a 16-18 campaign, and a trip to the CBI Quarterfinals in 2014-15, Colorado rebounded with its fifth 20-win season in six years in 2015-16. The Buffaloes sported a record of 22-12 and finished fifth in the Pac-12 at 10-8. Rohn helped Colorado to 11 straight wins during the nonconference schedule, the fifth longest in program history and best run since 1961-62. Colorado's 21 regular season wins tied a school record – joining the 2013-14 and 1996-97 teams – and 22 overall tied for fourth in the school annals.

Colorado made its seventh-straight postseason appearance in 2016-17 with a 19-15 overall record and a berth in the NIT.

In 2017-18, Colorado had the youngest team of his tenure, with nine players that had not played a minute in a Buffaloes' uniform prior to the season. He helped Colorado to 17 wins, the program's seventh winning season in the last eight years. This young group had some bright moments including back-to-back wins over Top 15 teams for the first time in program history.

That core group returned in 2018-19 finishing with a 23-13 record, advancing to the NIT Quarterfinals. The 23 wins tied for the third most in team history and just one off the school record. Rohn has now been part of the top four season win totals in team history and five of the top six.

Last season, Rohn helped the Buffaloes to a 21-11 mark, and what would have certainly been a fifth NCAA Tournament appearance during his tenure before the postseason was canceled due to the coronavirus pandemic. Colorado was ranked for a school-record 13 weeks in 2019-20, peaking at No. 16 in mid February.

During his 10 years in Boulder, Rohn has mentored six former CU student-athlete standouts who have made the next step professionally in their respective basketball careers.

Alec Burks, a sophomore, was CU's second-ever lottery pick and selected No. 12 overall by the Utah Jazz in the 2011 NBA Draft; Andre Roberson left after his junior year, was the No. 26 overall selection by the Minnesota Timberwolves in 2013 (later traded to Oklahoma City).

Spencer Dinwiddie, also a junior, was drafted by the Detroit Pistons in the 2014 NBA Draft (second round, No. 38 overall); and Cory Higgins, the school's all-time co-leader in points, played with the Charlotte Bobcats during the 2011-12 season.

Colorado has been represented in two of the last three NBA Drafts with Derrick White in 2017 (San Antonio) and George King in 2018 (Phoenix).

Rohn has also coached a number of CU student-athletes to conference excellence.

In 2010-11, Burks was a Wooden Award Top-20 finalist and unanimous All-Big 12 first team selection; Levi Knutson was the Big 12 Conference Sixth Man of the Year, and Higgins was All-Big 12 third team.

In CU's first year of the Pac-12, Roberson (first team, All-Defensive, All-Tournament team), Carlon Brown (second team, tournament's Most Outstanding Player), and Dinwiddie (freshman team) garnered all-Conference honors.

In year two of the conference, Roberson (first team, Defensive Player of the Year, All-Defensive team); Dinwiddie (first team) and Josh Scott (All-Freshman team) earned post-season accolades, and in year three, Scott continued CU's prominence among the elite Pac-12 Conference players selected to the first team.

Scott repeated his all-conference honor in 2015-16 and was a finalist for the Kareem Abdul-Jabbar Award, given to the nation's best big man. Scott was also on the Pac-12 All-Defensive team while front-court mate Wesley Gordon earned honorable mention. George King was named the Pac-12's Most Improved Player of the Year.

White earned 2017 All-Pac-12 First Team honors while also being selected to the league's All-Defense team.

King was named to the 2018 All-Pac-12 Second Team. McKinley Wright IV was a Pac-12 All-Freshman Team member while earning honorable mention to the overall All-Conference and All-Defensive teams.

In 2018-19, Wright and Tyler Bey both earned All-Pac-12 First Team honors. Bey was named the conference's Most Improved Player of the Year. Last season, Bey was the Pac-12 Defensive Player of the Year while Wright earned his second straight All-Pac-12 First Team honor.

In August 2014, Rohn was the head coach the Athletes In Action team, a school-first for any CU assistant. AIA is a worldwide Christian sports organization was also comprised of then-CU sophomore Tre'Shaun Fletcher and other college basketball players from around the nation embarking on an eight-day Baltic tour of Russia. Team USA won three of four games against professional competition.

Prior to his arrival to Boulder, Rohn spent the three years as the director of basketball operations at Texas A&M (2007-10) where he was part of the coaching staff that helped the Aggies to a trio of NCAA Tournament Round of 32 appearances. During those three years in College Station, the Aggies won 73 games, in addition to 28 Big 12 Conference games. A&M also led the conference in scoring defense (65.8 ppg.) for the first time in league history during the 2009-10 campaign.

During the 2009-10 season, Rohn helped the development of current NBA players Deandre Jordan, Kris Middleton, and Donald Sloan.

At Wichita State, where Rohn spent seven years (2000-07) as an assistant coach to Mark Turgeon, in addition with current CU Associate Head Coach, Jean Prioleau, the Shockers engineered an impressive resume, earning three-straight NIT trips (2003, 2004, 2005). During the 2005-06 season, the Shockers not only won their first Missouri Valley Conference championship in 19 years, they capped off a 26-9 record with a 2006 NCAA Tournament berth and a Sweet 16 appearance, a school-first in 18 years.

Rohn also helped coach fifth-year student-athlete Paul Miller cap off one of the best careers of any Shocker center by being named the MVC Player of the Year, the first Shocker to earn the award in 21 years, in addition to Jamar Howard (Missouri Valley Conference Defensive Player of the Year).

Prior to Wichita State, Rohn served three seasons as head coach from 1996-2000 at Dodge City (Kan.) Community College, where he built a 55-38 record and coached the Conquistadors to three consecutive state playoff appearances, including a 21-10 mark in 1999-2000. Rohn was also an assistant coach at Dodge City from 1993-96. In 1997, Dodge City was crowned the 1997 Jayhawk West Conference Champions.

Rohn was a graduate assistant coach at Fort Hays State (1991-93) while earning a master's degree in sports administration and coaching. He earned a bachelor's degree in physical education in 1990 from McPherson College, where he was a two-time all-conference selection. There he was named the league's newcomer of the year as a junior and was the conference player of the year as a senior. He also was named McPherson's Male Athlete of the Year in 1989. On Oct. 11, 2019, Rohn was inducted into the McPherson College Athletics Hall of Fame.

He also served as an assistant coach at Colby Community College (1990-91) and at his alma mater, McPherson College (1989-1990). Rohn transferred to McPherson after playing two seasons at Dodge City Community College.

Rohn, and his wife, Stephanie, have two daughters, Raegen and Rylee.

COACHING CAREER

2013-present
Assistant Coach, University of Colorado

2015-16
Assistant Coach, Oklahoma State University

2007-15
Head Coach, University of San Diego

1992-2007
Assistant Coach, Gonzaga University

1990-91
Head Coach, Creswell (Ore.) High School

Bill Grier is in his fifth season as an assistant coach for the University of Colorado's men's basketball team.

In his first season, Grier helped the Buffaloes to a 19-15 overall record and a spot in the 2017 Postseason NIT. It was Colorado's seventh-straight postseason appearance; a school record. The Buffaloes' regular season was highlighted by wins over three ranked teams, including No. 13/14 Xavier and No. 10/10 Oregon, who would eventually advance to the 2017 NCAA Elite Eight and Final Four respectively.

Five Buffaloes have earned All-Pac-12 Conference honors in Grier's first four seasons. He helped mentor Derrick White, a 2017 First Team pick along with George King a 2018 Second Team selection.

The last two seasons, McKinley Wright IV and Tyler Bey have both garnered All-Pac-12 honors. Wright is a two-time first team pick, while Bey was first team in 2018-19 and second team last season. Bey was also the Pac-12 Defensive Player of the Year in 2019-20.

In his second season, he helped guide a young Buffaloes' team to 17 wins. Despite suiting up nine players who had never played a minute in a Colorado uniform prior to the season, the Buffaloes earned their seventh winning season in the last eight years which included back-to-back wins over ranked teams for the first time in team history.

That core group returned in 2018-19 finishing with a 23-13 record, advancing to the NIT Quarterfinals. The 23 wins tied for the third most in team history and just one off the school record.

Last season, Grier helped the Buffaloes to a 21-11 mark, and what would have certainly been his first NCAA Tournament appearance with the Buffaloes before the postseason was canceled due to the coronavirus pandemic. Colorado was ranked for a school-record 13 weeks in 2019-20, peaking at No. 16 in mid February.

"We're fortunate to have a guy like Bill Grier to our coaching staff because he brings a wealth of experience," Boyle said. "Most importantly he has recruiting contacts on the west coast, and internationally. He's one of those guys that I knew if I ever had an opening on our staff, he was a guy that I wanted to go after…we're lucky to have him."

Grier has assisted a pair of Buffaloes who would go on to be selected in two NBA Drafts. White was selected with the 29th overall pick by the San Antonio Spurs in 2017 and King was taken 59th overall by the Phoenix Suns in 2018.

Grier gives Colorado an extra asset in West Coast recruiting. An Oregon native, Grier is in his 27th season as a collegiate coach, with 24 years spent in Washington and Southern California. That expertise was noted in the fall of 2017 as Colorado was able to secure a Top 25 recruiting class according to Rivals and Scout.

Grier won 117 games in eight seasons as the head coach at San Diego (2007-15) and played an integral role in Gonzaga's rise to prominence in 15 years as an assistant with the Bulldogs (1992-2007). Most recently,

Grier spent the 2015-16 season as an assistant coach at Oklahoma State.

The span of his experience, from serving as an assistant on a top-level program, to being head coach, to spending a year in the Big 12 Conference, enhances the abilities of the Colorado coaching staff.

"Anytime you have the opportunity to hire a former head coach it's a plus," Boyle said. "It's not a requirement to be a good assistant, but I think when guys have been head coaches and then they become assistant coaches they're better assistant coaches because they understand what the head coach is going through; they understand the issues, they understand the decisions that have to be made."

Now residing in Colorado, it gives his family a sense of home being back in the west. He grew up in Oregon and met his wife, Nicole, in Spokane where they lived before moving to San Diego. Colorado is a place the Grier's are thrilled about to raise their two daughters, Giselle and Ashley.

"My wife is from Montana, we met in Spokane," Grier said. "We like that Colorado, Boulder, is that type of setting that we've become so accustomed to. I'm really excited for our children to be in that environment."

Grier led the Toreros to the 2008 West Coast Conference Tournament championship, and rode that momentum into the NCAA Tournament with a first-round upset of No. 4 seed Connecticut - the only NCAA Tournament win in school history.

He led San Diego to six wins over top 25 teams, took down Kentucky in Rupp Arena and racked up eight All-West Coast Conference selections and nine WCC All-Academic Team nods during his tenure. In 2014, the Toreros advanced to the quarterfinals of the CollegeInsider.com Tournament.

Grier finished his time in San Diego with a 117-144 record, including 51 WCC wins, which ranks 24th in the conference's history.

During his time at Gonzaga as the program's defensive coordinator, the Bulldogs led the WCC in field goal percentage defense six times, including the third best mark in the nation in 2004.

Grier served as the recruiting director for his last 10 years with the Zags, and his 2007 class was the program's best to that point. That class ranked 11th in the nation by Rivals, and boasted four recruits among the top-100 in the country.

"He was extremely well prepared and you could tell that in his practice and game preparations," said Dan Dickau, former WCC Player of the Year at Gonzaga and current Pac-12 Network analyst. "He's a guy that knows how to relate to coaches and players; parents during the recruiting process…a great hire by Boyle."

Grier also successfully developed both post players (1997-2003) and perimeter players (2003-2007). Post players Bakari Hendrix (1998) and Casey Calvary (2001) were both WCC Players of the Year. Perimeter players he worked with included Derek Raivio (2007), the WCC Player of the Year; Adam Morrison (2006), a First Team All-American and WCC Player of the Year; and Blake Stepp (2004), a Second Team All-American and two-time WCC Player of the Year.

"He is one heck of a basketball mind," said Gonzaga head coach Mark Few, prior to Grier's appointment to Oklahoma State. "Bill is hard working and loyal, and he played a huge part in building Gonzaga basketball to where it is now. I leaned on him heavily up here at Gonzaga, especially on the defensive side of the floor. When he went to San Diego he really evolved on the offensive side, and did some special things with those teams. Bill is an unbelievable student of the game who is always looking to learn and get better."

Grier started his coaching career at his alma mater, Cottage Grove High School in 1986. After serving two years as a freshman coach, Grier was elevated to junior varsity coach and varsity assistant. Grier left Cottage Grove to be the head coach at Creswell High School during the 1990-91 season.

He played two years in junior college (Central Oregon and Southwestern Oregon), then transferred to Oregon where he received a B.S. degree in Leisure Studies and Services in 1990.

Graduate Assistant Coach, Nebraska-Omaha

Former Mississippi State and Southeast Missouri State head coach Rick Ray is in his first season as an assistant coach for the University of Colorado men's basketball team, joining the program on July 20, 2020.

Ray has 23 years of experience coaching at the NCAA Division I level, the last eight as a head coach. He spent the previous five years at Southeast Missouri State after initially joining the head coaching ranks at Mississippi State from 2012-15.

"I have a ton of respect for coach Boyle and what he's done at CU," Ray said. "He's well renown in this business for doing it the right way. I want to work for people in that same ilk; Brad Brownell (Clemson head coach), Matt Painter (Purdue head coach), just reminds me of those guys who do it the right way and are in it for the right reasons."

Boyle has known Ray for more than two decades, dating back to their days as assistant coaches in the Missouri Valley Conference; Boyle at Wichita State and Ray at Indiana State in the early 2000s.

"He's a tremendous coach on every level," Boyle said. "He can teach the game, knows the game, recruits and builds relationships with players. We are very fortunate to be able to bring him on board."

Ray brings a wealth of relationships and recruiting experience in the Southeast and Midwest, and now turns his attention to the Mountains, and West, of the Pac-12 Conference.

"I'm in this business to help young men," Ray said. "I'm there to help them on and off court. I want (the players) to know there's no ego, I'm humble, I just want them to reach their goals and dreams in classroom and on the court. Recruiting is about relationships. I'm a person who is honest and truthful to recruits and parents and people appreciate that."

Ray's best year at SEMO came in his second season (2016-17) where he led the Redhawks to 10 more wins than the year before, ranking 22nd among Most Improved Teams in NCAA I. SEMO finished at 15-18 and second in the Ohio Valley Conference West Division with a 9-7 record after going 5-24 and placing last in the league in 2015-16.

His three-year tenure at Mississippi State was highlighted by the development of two All-SEC Freshmen in Craig Sword and Gavin Ware, as his recruiting classes received national attention. Ray also led the Bulldogs to a pair of SEC Tournament wins including an upset over Vanderbilt in 2014.

Before embarking on his first head coaching position with MSU, Ray was an assistant coach, or associate head coach, at four schools over 15 seasons. During that span Ray's teams went to seven NCAA Tournaments, including a pair of Sweet 16 appearances.

Ray spent two seasons at Clemson (2010-12), where he was the associate head coach. Ray also spent four successful years on the staff at Purdue (2006-10) and two seasons at Northern Illinois (2004-06). He began his Division I coaching career at Indiana State, serving seven seasons (1997-2004).

All three programs participated in the NCAA Tournament.

While at Clemson coaching in the highly-competitive Atlantic Coast Conference, the Tigers won 38 games during Ray's two-year stint as associate head coach. In 2010-11, the Tigers finished the year with a 22-12 overall record and 9-7 mark in the ACC en route to making the NCAA Tournament for the fourth-straight season. Clemson advanced to the second round of the tournament that year.

Ray was an assistant coach from 2006-10 under Painter at Purdue, where the Boilermakers won 103 games during his first four years on staff, including 15 victories over Top 25 competition. During his tenure, Purdue advanced to the NCAA Tournament each season and made the Sweet 16 his last two years there.

In 2009, the Boilermakers won the Big Ten Tournament and secured a No. 5 seed in the NCAA Tournament. A year later, Ray helped the Boilermakers to 29 wins, tied for the most in Purdue history for a single season. Purdue earned a No. 4 seed and lost in the round of 16 to eventual NCAA champion Duke during the 2010 NCAA Tournament.

Ray was part of the 2006-07 Purdue staff that signed arguably the top class in school history, a group that was rated No. 5 nationally by Scout.com and No. 6 by Rivals.com. That class included All-Americans Robbie Hummel and JaJuan Johnson and current NBA player E'Twaun Moore.

While at Purdue, Ray was on Painter's staff that also included Cuonzo Martin (Missouri head coach) and Paul Lusk (former head coach at Missouri State).

Ray coached at Missouri Valley Conference member Indiana State for a period of seven years (1997-2004), helping ISU to consecutive 20 -win seasons and NCAA Tournament appearances in 1999-2000 and 2000-01. In 1999-2000, the Sycamores compiled a 14-4 record in the MVC and won the regular season title. ISU then won the MVC Tournament the following season. The Sycamores later upset No. 4 seed Oklahoma in the first round of the 2001 NCAA Tournament. In addition, Ray was part of the ISU staff that defeated perennial power Indiana in back-to-back seasons.

Following his time at ISU, Ray spent two seasons (2004-06) as an assistant coach and recruiting coordinator at Northern Illinois. In 2005-06, the Huskies were regular season Western Division champions in the Mid-American Conference for the first time in school history with a 17-11 overall record and 12-6 ledger in the MAC.

Ray began his coaching career as a graduate assistant at the University of Nebraska-Omaha, a Division II program. He helped orchestrate a seven-win turnaround during his second season in 1996-97.

A standout player for Grand View College (Iowa), Ray was an All-American Scholar-Athlete and honorable mention all-conference performer in 1993. He earned his undergraduate degree in applied mathematics and secondary education from Grand View in 1994. Ray received his master's degree in athletic administration from Nebraska-Omaha in 1997. In 2013, he was the recipient of Grand View's Distinguished Alumni Award.

Ray and his wife, Breyana, have two sons, Deacon and Mason, and a daughter, Katriece.

DIRECTOR OF PLAYER DEVELOPMENT NATE TOMLINSON

Former Colorado point guard and Pac-12 Conference champion Nate Tomlinson is in his first season as Director of Player Development, assuming his role on July 11, 2019.

Tomlinson replaced Sean Kearney who became an associate commissioner with the Atlantic 10 Conference earlier this summer.

"Nate is one of the most passionate and loyal Buffs that I know of," head coach Tad Boyle said. "His energy and enthusiasm will help our program get better."

Tomlinson's duties include scheduling of games and serving as a liaison with several constituents including academics and community service. Additionally, his ability to relate to and mentor current and future Buffaloes will be invaluable.

"He will have the opportunity to connect with the players off the court and be a great mentor for them," Boyle said. "As a former player, he can relate to the challenges our players face today; he just went through those relatively recently.

"He was born to coach, and this is the first step in that process. He helped us as a player and now he'll help us in a different capacity."

Tomlinson was a four-year letter winner for the Buffaloes from 2008-12, averaging 5.2 points, 3.1 assists and just under one steal in 129 career games. He helped the Buffaloes claim the inaugural Pac-12 Tournament title in 2012, leading to the program's first NCAA Tournament in nine years.

Colorado made a pair of postseason appearances during Tomlinson's career. The Buffaloes set a school-record with 24 wins in 2010-11, culminating with a semifinal appearance in the 2011 NIT. Tomlinson was a part of 74 wins as a Buffalo, which at the time was the best in school history.

He is tied with Donnie Boyce for sixth in career assists (406), also holding that position in career games played (129) and started (111).

After graduating in 2012, he played professionally for six seasons for Melbourne United of the National Basketball League in his native Australia. Following his playing career, he joined the basketball staff at Shantou University in China, led by his father, Bill, for one season before returning to the United States in 2018.

Tomlinson returned to Boulder, joining Colorado as a coaching intern for the 2018-19 season. He served has head coach of Team Colorado, the school's alumni squad in The Basketball Tournament, in the summer of 2019, guiding the Buffs to the second round.

DIRECTOR OF BASKETBALL OPERATIONS BILL CARTUN

Bill Cartun is in his 10th year with the University of Colorado men's basketball staff and his eighth as the Director of Basketball Operations.

Cartun is responsible for directing the day-to-day operations of the basketball program, overseeing the budget, and coordinating team travel and video. He also serves as the camp director of the CU basketball summer camps, which continues to grow with record numbers each and every summer.

In addition to his operation duties, Cartun is also the team's video coordinator, supervising all aspects of the team's film and video needs, including opponent scouting, coordinating film exchange, managing the video room and supplying the coaching staff with game film.

"Bill is very dependable and continues to branch out in his roles on our staff with the operations and team travel, along with his video coordination ability," said CU head coach Tad Boyle. "Bill's the best video guy I have ever been around in the business; very dependable and handles a lot of details in our office. He continues to develop and grow as a coach."

Prior to coming to the Boulder campus, Cartun spent three years (2007-10) with the Charlotte Bobcats of the NBA as the basketball operations assistant and assistant video coordinator. With the Bobcats, he prepared video scouting edits for the coaches and players, scouted collegiate talent, and assisted in NBA draft preparation.

He is a 2005 graduate of Bates College where he received his bachelor's degree in economics. Cartun earned a master's degree in sport management from the University of Connecticut in 2007. While at UConn he worked with the men's basketball team as a student assistant.

Cartun is a 2000 graduate of Avon High School in Avon, Conn., where he was a two-time all-State basketball selection. After high school he did a post graduate year at Cheshire Academy in Cheshire, Conn.

Cartun, his wife Ashley and their daughters Julianna and Finley, reside in Superior.

BASKETBALL SUPPORT STAFF

Troy Andre

Associate Sports Information Director

Troy Andre is in his 18th year with the Colorado Sports Information Office, joining the Buffalo staff in July 2003 from the University of Minnesota-Duluth. Along with duties of internet managing editor, he was promoted from assistant director to associate director on Dec. 1, 2016.

His primary responsibilities are handling the SID duties for men's basketball, assisting in the computer statistical needs for CU's other sports, and serving as the webmaster for CUBuffs.com, the school's Internet website. Andre is an active member of the College Sports Information Directors of America (CoSIDA) where he has served on the prestigious Academic All-America committee since 2003.

Andre worked for five years at Minnesota-Duluth both as the assistant sports information director and ticket manager, helping to publicize and promote 14 NCAA Division II sports and two NCAA Division I programs. He was UMD's primary contact for volleyball, women's soccer, men's and women's basketball and baseball; maintained UMD's official website; supervised the office work-study students; and in 2003, coordinated the marketing, promotion and ticket sales for the 2003 Women's Frozen Four.

He graduated in 1996 from the University of Northern Colorado with a bachelor's degree in journalism and mass communication with an emphasis in public relations and advertising. He attended graduate school at North Dakota State University, majoring in mass communication, and worked for two years as a graduate assistant in NDSU's sports information office between 1996 and 1998.

He is married to the former Danielle Driscoll, originally of East Grand Forks, Minn.; the couple has one daughter, Elizabeth (1).

Rawley Klingsmith

Associate Athletic Trainer

Rawley Klingsmith is in his eighth year with the University of Colorado sports medicine staff as the athletic trainer for men's basketball and the spirit squad.

Prior to coming to Boulder, Klingsmith was an integral part of the University of Northern Colorado sports medicine staff since 2004. In January 2012, he was promoted to Assistant Athletic Director for Human Performance - Head Athletic Trainer.

During the summer of 2015 (July), Klingsmith was the athletic trainer for the 2015 United States Pan American men's basketball team in Toronto (bronze medal).

"Klingsmith graduated from UNC in May of 2000 with a bachelor of arts degree in kinesiology/athletic training. As an undergraduate, Klingsmith was a student athletic trainer and assisted with football, baseball, wrestling, soccer, volleyball and swimming.

Following graduation, he was a graduate assistant at the University of Oregon. For the Ducks, he assisted with the athletic training needs for the football and wrestling programs and graduated with his master of science in sports medicine in April 2002.

Klingsmith is a member of the National Athletic Trainers Association and the Rocky Mountain Athletic Trainers Association.

Klingsmith, a native of Karval, Colo., graduated high school from a class of seven in 1995. He also lettered in baseball. He is married to the former Corri Lain.

Stephen Englehart

Director of Strength & Conditioning for Olympic Sports

Stephen Englehart is in his fifth season as the Strength & Conditioning Coach for men's basketball and 10th overall at Colorado. His duties expanded to the Director of Strength & Conditioning for Olympic Sports in July 2018.

Prior to his duties with men's basketball, which started in April 2016, he worked with the Buffaloes' football, women's soccer, women's golf, men's golf and tennis programs.

He is certified as a strength and conditioning specialist (CSCS) by the National Strength and Conditioning Association. He also holds certifications with USAW, FMS and TPI Level 1&2.

Englehart came to CU from Southern Methodist University, where he worked one year (2010) as the assistant strength and conditioning coach for the Mustangs. That followed one season (2009) as the head football strength coach at Portland State University, his first full-time year in the profession. He got his start in the business as a graduate assistant at the University of Hawai'i, where he spent three years (2006-08). At Hawaii he was in charge of men's and women's basketball as well as other sports. He was on the Warrior staff the year the UH earned a Sugar Bowl invitation against Georgia as a "BCS" buster following a 12-0 regular season in 2007.

While at Hawai'i, he earned his Master's in Kinesiology and Rehabilitation Science in the spring of 2009. He received his Bachelor's degree in Exercise Science from Southeastern Louisiana University in 2005.

He was born June 5, 1981 in New Orleans, and graduated from Fountainbleau High School (Mandeville, La.), where he lettered in basketball. His twin brother, Chad, is the head strength coach for the Washington Redskins. He is married to the former Laura Williams (a registered nurse at the Rocky Mountain Cancer Center in Longmont); the couple has three children, Braylon (12), Coralee (7) and Magnolia (4).

Mindy Sclaro

Assistant Director/Academics

Mindy Sclaro is in her 16th year as an Associate Director of Academics at the University of Colorado, serving as Academic Coordinator for the Herbst Academic Center.

Sclaro earned her Individual Certification from the National Association of Academic Advisors for Athletics. Sclaro prepared the N4A Academic and Life Skills Program Certification Self Study for the Herbst Academic Center in 2011. She has also participated in a number of other programs including Bystander Intervention Training (2010, 2014); National Survey of Student Engagement Committee (2009); Learning Specialist Search Committee Chair (2008, 2012); Safe Zone Ally Training (2008); and the NCAA Certification Academic Integrity Committee (2007).

She is a graduate of the National Association of Academic Advisors for Athletics (N4A) Professional Development Institute's Leader/Manager Track.

Sclaro earned her bachelor's degree in sociology from Ithaca College in 1987 with a focus on therapeutic intervention. While at Ithaca, she was a member of the lacrosse team. Sclaro earned her master's degree in sport management from Northern Colorado in 2001. She has also earned a graduate certificate in Comparative Ethnic Studies at CU in 2015.

Prior to CU, she was the athletic director and varsity girls' soccer coach at the Alexander Dawson School in Lafayette, Colo. (1998-2005) and served as a life skills instructor, student advisor, and was the assistant athletic director from 1996-98. She was named the Mile High League Coach of the Year in 1998 and 2000, and was president of the league from 2003-05.

The former Mindy Cohen is married to Sam Sclaro. She enjoys watching soccer and hitting the trails with her dogs Ruby and Stella.

Marge Marcy
Assistant to the Head Coach

Marge Marcy is in her 12th year in the University of Colorado Athletic Department and 11th as the assistant to head coach Tad Boyle.

Marcy works closely with the CU coaches, assisting them with their schedules, travel and recruiting responsibilities. She coordinates administrative duties involving the basketball staff and the student-athletes. Marcy is also Co-Director for the CU Boys Basketball Camps handling administration and registration.

With an experienced resume working as an executive assistant, Marcy previously worked for Intrawest (Golden), Vail Resorts, and Mobile Tool International (Westminster).

Born in Chicago, Ill., Marcy graduated from Maine East High School (Park Ridge, Ill.) and attended San Jose (Calif.) Community College.

She is married to Keith Marcy and the couple has two sons, Rob and Shaun, and two grandchildren.

She is an avid sailor and boater, and enjoys traveling on extended sailing vacations.

Director of Olympic Sports/ Equipment Operations

Nick Sprouse rejoined the Colorado equipment staff in August of 2016. He oversees the equipment needs of the volleyball, lacrosse and men's and women's basketball programs. Sprouse previously served on the CU equipment staff from 2005-11 and during that time he worked with all of CU's intercollegiate sport programs.

After he left Colorado in 2011, Sprouse joined the sales and reconditioning team at Denver Athletic Supply before moving back into the equipment field as an assistant at Colorado State. He originally came to Colorado in 2005 from the University of Arizona where he was an equipment intern for three years.

Sprouse graduated from Philip Barbour High School (West Virgina) in 1997 and earned his bachelor's in recreation administration in 2002 at Ashland University where he served as a student equipment manager. He is married to the former Linda Poncin and the couple has a daughter, Lily.

Mark Johnson
Director of Audio Broadcasting

Mark Johnson is in his 17th year as the play-by-play voice for Colorado basketball. After a 13-year run as the sports director at KOA, Johnson is in his fourth year as a full-time employee of the Colorado Athletic Department as the director of audio broadcasting. He continues call play-by-play for the football and men's basketball teams while also serving as the lead voice on the Buffaloes' multi-media and digital platforms. Prior to joining Newsradio 850 KOA in 2004, Johnson previously spent two years as the "Voice of the Orange" for the Syracuse University football and men's basketball programs. He called the national championship basketball season for the Orange during the 2002-03 season. Before his time in Syracuse, Johnson was the play-by-play announcer for four years at Illinois State University and earned three Silver Dome Awards for best play-by-play broadcast in the state of Illinois. He also worked for two years as an announcer for the University of North Dakota. Johnson earned a bachelor's degree in communications from North Dakota in 1992. He and his wife, Susan, have two sons, Jacob; Nicolas, a 2014 under- and MBA graduate from CSU-Pueblo; and a daughter, Halle, a 2014 CU graduate.

Scott Wilke
KOA Radio Analyst

Scott Wilke enters his eighth year as the analyst for CU Basketball. Wilke left his mark on the CU record book from 1984-88 averaging 12.4 points and 5.2 rebounds per game. Entering the 2016-17 season, Wilke continues to rank in a number of categories, including No. 9 in field goal percentage (.536), No. 14 in scoring (1,366) and No. 24 in rebounding (576). After college, Wilke played professional basketball for 12 years in Europe, including five years in England, and three years in Luxembourg. He also played in Australia, Japan, Austria, and Finland. Wilke is in his 16th year at Horizon High School in Thornton, where he teaches business and marketing courses. He's also an advisor for DECA and FBLA (co-curricular clubs). Wilke graduated with a bachelor's degree in business from CU in 1988 and earned a master's degree in business administration through Bellevue University (Nebraska) in 2006. SHANGHAI — Colorado built a big lead early, then fought off an Arizona State comeback in the second half Saturday (Friday night in Colorado) and the Buffaloes collected an 81-71 win in the season opener for both teams in the Pac-12 China Game.

Tad Boyle's Buffs led by 13 at halftime and built the margin to 17 early in the second half before ASU put together a 30-13 run to tie the game at 59-59 midway through the half.

The Buffs, though, regrouped and regained the lead as CU veterans McKinley Wright IV and Tyler Bey took over down the stretch. CU put together an 8-3 run to take a five-point lead, 67-62, with just under eight minutes to play, with Wright scoring six of the eight.

ASU never came closer than four again.

Bey finished with 15 points and 12 rebounds for his 20th career double-double, Wright had 17 points, seven rebounds and five assists, and Evan Battey had 11 points and nine rebounds. D'Shawn Schwartz scored 15 points, 13 in the first half, and Maddox Daniels chipped in eight points in his CU debut.

Colorado finished with a 48-36 edge on the boards.

Remy Martin led ASU with 23 points.

HOW IT HAPPENED: Colorado threatened to blow the game open early in the second half when the Buffs scored the first four points after intermission to take a 46-29 lead.

But CU went cold from the floor and ASU took advantage of five Colorado turnovers to fight back and tie the game at 59-59.

The Buffs, though, didn't panic. Wright gave the Buffs the lead with a drive to the bucket, then scored again after an ASU turnover. The Sun Devils pulled back to within one on a Martin 3-pointer, but Battey then grabbed an offensive rebound and scored before Wright drained a jumper from the top of the key for a 67-62 lead with just under eight minutes to play.

Colorado then kept the Sun Devils at bay, hitting eight of nine field goal tries in one key stretch. Two Bey free throws with 4:24 left pushed CU's lead to eight, 74-66, and Bey then delivered a thunderous dunk off a feed from Wright with under four minutes to play to keep the cushion at seven.

Battey then hit two free throws with 1:47 remaining to give Colorado a 10-point cushion and salt the game away.

Bey and Battey were both hampered with two fouls in the first half and played just a combined 15 minutes. But Bey had 11 points and eight rebounds in the second half while Battey recorded eight points and seven rebounds after intermission.

After a back-and-forth first few minutes, the Buffs slowly took control in the first half. Colorado put together a 10-0 run to erase a two-point Sun Devils edge and take a 23-15 lead with 10:54 to go. CU then slowly pushed the lead to as much as 14 before the end of the half.

Lucas Siewert started the run with a 3-pointer before Wright closed it with a floater in the lane. The Buffs then built the lead to 11 on a Wright 3-point play with 4:44 remaining, then pushed the margin to 14 with just more than a minute to play. Schwartz hit seven straight points for the Buffs in the stretch, closing the surge with a 3-pointer to put Colorado up 40-26.

The Buffs took a 42-29 lead into halftime. Schwartz led the Buffs with 13 in the first half, Wright added nine points and five rebounds and Siewert had five points and six rebounds.

ASU then rallied to tie the game at 59-59, but Colorado regained control, with Wright, Bey and Battey taking over. Colorado rebuilt its lead to as much as 10 down the stretch.

BOULDER — When their shots weren't falling, Tad Boyle's 25 No. Colorado Buffaloes had to lean on their defense Saturday night.

That defense finally led to an 18-0 second-half offensive run, which the Buffs used to break open a tight game and claim a 71-53 win over San Diego at the CU Events Center.

Colorado improved to 2-0 with the win while the Toreros fell to 2-3.

Colorado's Tyler Bey recorded his second straight double-double and 11th in his last 16 games (21st career) with 14 points and 10 rebounds. Lucas Siewert came off the bench to score 11 points and add five rebounds, and D'Shawn Schwartz had 15 points — 13 in the second half — and three rebounds. McKinley Wright added 11 point, six boards and five assists for the Buffs.

Joe Calcaterra and Noel Coleman each had 10 points for San Diego.

With 10:47 left in the game, Colorado led by just four, 46-42. But Siewert started CU's 18-0 run with a 3-pointer, then added another two minutes later as the Buffs blew the game open. Defensively, Colorado came up with 10 straight stops to fuel the run.

"It was a workmanlike effort, if you will," Boyle said. "Maybe in some respects an ugly win — but when you win by 18 at home and you have a little sense of disappointment, or we didn't play as well as we're capable of playing, I think that's a sign of progress to some degree."

HOW IT HAPPENED: The Buffs struggled early, especially on the offensive end. CU shot just 11-for-32 in the first half and led by only three, 30-27, at intermission. Colorado also finished the night with 15 turnovers and hit just 14 of 21 free throw attempts.

The Buffs finally found some offensive consistency early in the second half when Schwartz scored 11 points in the first seven minutes, including a 3-pointer at the 13:04 mark that pushed CU's lead to nine, 46-37.

But the Toreros fought back one more time, closing the gap to four, 46-42, on a Calcaterra 3-pointer with 10:47 to play.

That's when CU's defense finally kicked in for an extended stretch and the offense followed suit. Colorado produced 10 straight stops on the defensive end, including eight missed shots by the Toreros, and the Buffs turned those stops into their 18-0 run and a 64-42 lead with 5:24 remaining.

"We live by defense, period," Bey said. "We didn't have it in the first half and we picked it up in the second."

Siewert started the run with a 3-pointer, which was followed by a Bey basket and a big Bey block on the defensive end that set up another Siewert trey. Bey added two free throws, Evan Battey drained a long 3-pointer, Schwartz drove the lane for a bucket and Shane Gatling wrapped up the run with a pair of free throws.

James Jean-Marie finally ended the CU run with a basket at the 4:30 mark, but by then, Colorado's lead was still 20 points and the game was over for all intents and purposes.

Siewert was again outstanding in his role off the bench, shooting 4-for-7 from the field, including 3-for-5 from long distance, to collect his 11 points along with five rebounds.

The first half featured seven lead changes, with both teams putting together 7-0 runs over the last 10 minutes. The Buffs erased a 22-18 deficit with seven straight points, sparked by five points from Siewert.

San Diego tied the game at 27-27 with just over a minute to go before a Maddox Daniels 3-pointer with 40 seconds on the clock sent CU into the locker room at intermission with a three-point edge.

BOULDER — Defense is becoming a cornerstone for Tad Boyle's Colorado Buffaloes.

The No. 23 Buffs forced 22 turnovers and McKinley Wright IV and Tyler Bey each scored 16 points Monday night to lead Colorado to a 69-53 win over UC Irvine at the CU Events Center.

CU improved to 3-0 while the Anteaters dropped to 3-2.

The Buff broke open a tight game in the first half with a 10-0 run to go up by 13, and still led by 10 at the half, 40-30. UCI managed to close the gap to six at two different junctures in the second half, but the Buffs had an answer each time.

Bey had seven rebounds and six steals to go with his 16 points while Wright had five assists and no turnovers along with his 16 points. D'Shawn Schwartz had eight points and five rebounds for the Buffs.

Collin Welp led UCI with 12 points.

Colorado finished with just seven turnovers while reaping 21 points off UCI's 22 turnovers. In a rarity for the Boyle era at CU, the Buffs won despite being outrebounded, 41-32.

The Anteaters entered the game shooting 49 percent from the floor but the Buffs held them to 39.6 percent for the night (21-for-53).

"That was a good win against a quality, quality basketball team," Boyle said. "We've got a lot of respect for UC Irvine, their coaching staff, their players. Our guys answered the bell and answered the challenge that I laid at their feet."

HOW IT HAPPENED: The Buffs put together their best overall performance of the young season, making up for an off night shooting — 24-for-61 — with outstanding defense. Their 10-0 run, which turned a 24-23 lead into a 34-23 cushion late in the first half, came on the heels of three Anteater turnovers.

Schwartz started the run with a bucket off the glass, then delivered a 3-pointer following a Dallas Walton steal. Bey then collected a thunderous dunk after a Daylen Kountz steal and Wright assist, and Kountz completed the run with a 3-pointer after another UCI turnover.

"They were dialed in defensively and they did it for 40 minutes," Boyle said. "We held one of the most efficient offensive teams in the country to 39 percent and we held them to 53 points. That makes your heart pretty warm as a coach."

Even though Colorado led by 10 at the half, the Anteaters didn't go away quietly. UCI cut the margin to six at two different junctures in the second half, but each time the Buffaloes had an answer.

Colorado responded to the first UCI comeback with a 7-0 run, with Schwartz hitting a 3-pointer and Wright draining a one-hand floater from the lane to bump Colorado's margin to 48-35 at the 14:05 mark.

The Anteaters cut it back to six one more time with a 7-0 surge that reduced CU's lead to 51-45 with 9:14 to play, but the Buffs didn't flinch. Wright found Bey for an alley-oop dunk, then added two more one-handers to give CU a 60-49 lead with just under five minutes to play.

Less than two minutes later, Bey pushed the lead to 13 with a steal and dunk followed by a pair of free throws for a 64-51 lead to put the game away.

"A lot of credit goes to Colorado," UCI coach Russell Turner said of his team's turnovers. "They have a commitment on the defensive end. That's a big part of their success. They were able to impose their will on us and it showed in the turnover column."

CU built the lead to as much as 16 over the final minutes.

"Coach has really been stressing in practice how good this team was," Wright said. "We just had to really dial into the scouting report and I think every guy on our roster took it personally."

LAS VEGAS — Colorado's Tyler Bey recorded his third double-double of the season and the Buffaloes survived a difficult first half Sunday to take a 56-41win over Wyoming in the opening round of the MGM Main Event at T-Mobile Arena.

Now 4-0, Tad Boyle's No. 23 Buffs will face Clemson in the championship game Tuesday at 9:30 p.m. Wyoming dropped to 3-4.

Bey finished with a career-high 19 rebounds and 11 points for his 22nd career double-double, and came within shouting distance of a triple-double, as he finished with six assists. Evan Battey added 13 rebounds and nine points while D'Shawn Schwartz finished as CU's leading scorer with 12 points.

The Buffs overcame a horrendous shooting first half that saw them hit just six of their 26 field goal tries, including 1-for-9 from 3-point range, to enter the locker room tied at 15-15 at intermission. CU also finished just 9-for-20 from the free throw line for the game.

But Schwartz sparked CU with seven points in a 13-0 Colorado run to open the second half and the Cowboys never came closer than four again.

The Buffs finished with a commanding 41-25 edge on the boards, including 13 offensive boards they converted into 11 second-chance points. Colorado also held Wyoming to just 31.9 percent shooting for the game (15-for-47) and forced 19 Wyoming turnovers, which CU converted into 11 points.

CU improved its shooting in the second half, hitting 15 of its 30 attempts to finish 21-for-56.

"There's going to be some nights when the ball's not going in," Boyle said. "That's why defense and rebounding travels. You can always be good and solid on that end of the floor and you have to do that to stay in games."

HOW IT HAPPENED: After playing just six minutes because of two quick fouls in the first half, Schwartz made up for lost time in a hurry in the opening minutes of the second.

The CU junior started the period with a blocked shot on the defensive end, followed by a jumper to give the Buffs a lead they would never relinquish. He then drew an offensive foul, sank two free throws on the ensuing possession, assisted on a Bey basket and finished his run with a 3-pointer. Daylen Kountz and McKinley Wright IV then wrapped up the 13-0 surge with baskets and Colorado had a 28-15 lead four minutes into the half.

The Cowboys made a run at the Buffs after CU's quick start, putting together a 10-2 burst that helped cut CU's lead back to four, 36-32.

But the Buffs never let the Cowboys come any closer, slowly rebuilding the margin back to double digits. Bey hit a pair of free throws to bump the margin back to eight with 7:30 to play before Wright drained a 3-pointer to push the lead to 11, 49-36, with 6:26 to go.

Battey followed Wright's trey with a bucket inside and a free throw to extend the margin to 14 and Wyoming never cut the lead into single digits again.

Battey's 13 rebounds were one away from his career high while Bey had a career-high six assists along with his career best 19 rebounds. Last week, he also had a career high in steals (six) in a win over UC Irvine.

The Buffs endured a brutal first half, finishing with more turnovers (eight) than baskets (six) as they entered the locker room tied at 15-15. But while they shot just 6-for-26 in the first half, the Cowboys weren't much better, hitting six of their 23 attempts. Colorado was 1-for-9 from 3-point range, but the one came from Shane Gatling just before the end of the half to tie the game.

Meanwhile, their defense and rebounding kept them in the game.

"We could have been down 30-15 at halftime if we didn't guard," Boyle said. "That's a sign of maturity. The frustrations — we didn't fix them in the first 20 minutes — but they didn't affect us on the other end of the court."

LAS VEGAS — McKinley Wright had a steal and two free throws in the final 10 seconds Tuesday night to lead Colorado to a 71-67 win over Clemson in the MGM Main Event championship game at T-Mobile Arena.

The No. 21 Buffs (5-0) rallied from a 12-point deficit in the second half and led by six with 2:36 to play. But the Tigers closed the gap to two, 69-67, with 1:45 to go. After the two teams traded misses, Wright finally came up with his steal with 10 seconds on the clock and was fouled with six remaining.

He calmly hit both free throws for his ninth and 10th points of the night to seal the win.

Tyler Bey, named the tournament's MVP, had his fourth double-double of the season for the Buffs (23rd career), finishing with 18 points and 11 rebounds. D'Shawn Schwartz had 12 points and five rebounds, Evan Battey had 11 points and three rebounds and Wright finished with 10 points and six boards.

Aamir Simms led Clemson (5-2) with 24 points.

The Buffs shot just 20-for-51 from the floor (39.2 percent), including only 7-for-22 from 3-point range. But they also hit 24 consecutive free throws after missing their first one of the night. Colorado had entered the game hitting just 60 percent of its free throws.

HOW IT HAPPENED: The Buffs trailed by three at the half, 36-33, then saw Clemson extend its lead to 12 with an early 14-3 run for a 50-38 lead.

But Battey fueled a comeback, hitting the first four points of a 9-0 burst, which also included a Shane Gatling 3-pointer and a Wright bucket, his first of the night after missing his first seven shots. Clemson momentarily halted the run with a Simms 3-pointer, but the Buffs then put seven unanswered points on the board to take their first lead of the game, 54-53, with 7:57 remaining.

Bey started the run with a dunk, followed by another Battey offensive rebound and putback and free throw. Wright then capped the run with a steal and dunk.

Clemson then regained the lead and pushed its edge to three at four different junctures over the ensuing three minutes before Colorado finally took control with a 9-0 run.

Wright started the surge with a layup off a feed from Bey, followed by a Schwartz 3-pointer and two free throws each from Wright and Bey that turned a 63-60 deficit into a 69-63 lead.

Clemson then cut the lead down to two with a free throw and Newman 3-pointer with 1:45 remaining. Colorado then missed two shots and Clemson one over the next minute, with the Tigers then taking a timeout with the Buffs still leading, 69-67, with 22.4 on the clock.

That set the stage for Wright's steal from Al-Amir Dawes and the ensuing free throws.

Colorado had trouble connecting from the floor in the first half as Clemson carved out a 10-point lead, 27-17, with 6:07 left in the half.

But the Buffs compensated for their problems from the floor by hitting 13 straight free throws that included an 8-0 run that pulled Colorado back within two, 27-25. Bey had four free throws in the surge and Daylen Kountz and D'Shawn each had a pair.

Clemson then pushed the lead back to five before CU finally ended a 7:16 field goal drought with a Lucas Siewert 3-pointer. Maddox Daniels pulled the Buffs to within one, 34-33, with a 3-pointer with 49 seconds left in the half, but Clemson got a Curran Scott jumper with 21 seconds remaining to take a 36-33 edge into intermission.

Bey had 10 points and three rebounds in the first half while Colorado's Wright had a rare scoreless half.

BOULDER — The No. 21 Colorado Buffaloes relied on their defense Saturday night to take a 59-45 win over Sacramento State at the CU Events Center.

The Buffs struggled with shooting and committed a season-high 19 turnovers but their defense helped them to improve to 6-0. The Hornets fell to 4-1.

Colorado's Tyler Bey recorded his third straight double-double and fifth of the season (24th career) with 11 points and 17 rebounds. While CU shot just 44.4 percent from the field (20-for-45) and had just 10 assists, Colorado's defense held the Hornets to 28 percent shooting (17-for-60).

The Buffs led 24-16 at the half and built the margin to 28-16 early in the second half. Sacramento State managed to cut the gap to five late in the game but the Buffs held the Hornets at bay down the stretch.

Bey's double-double was his 16th in his last 22 games.

"Honestly, I didn't even think I had 17 rebounds tonight," the CU junior said. "It didn't even feel like it. I didn't play well on offense, so I just let it come to me and it's a habit every game."

Bey and Evan Battey both had 11 points to lead the team in scoring. Junior point guard McKinley Wright IV had 10 points and Lucas Siewert came alive off the bench with seven points, all in the second half.

Ethan Esposito lead Sacramento State with 12 points.

"We better get better at our half-court offense." head coach Tad Boyle said. "We have to continue to work on that in practice and we will, but 19 turnovers is the number have to get rid of. Ten assists, it's got to be flipped to 19 assists 10 turnovers."

HOW IT HAPPENED: Despite 12 first-half turnovers, the Buffs managed to take a 24-16 lead at the intermission.

The Hornets struggled offensively due in large part to strong post defense from the Buffaloes. Sacramento State was held to just 16 first half points and shot 7-for-29 from the field before intermission. The Hornets' shooting did not get much better in the second half and they finished the game at 28 percent (17-for-60).

The Buffs were able to limit the Hornets leading scorer, Joshua Patton, to only four points on 1-for-8 shooting. Patton had entered the game averaging 18.5 points on 72 percent shooting.

"I just have to give credit to Colorado, their team was ready to go." Patton said. "They were real physical with me."

Boyle pointed to Battey as a player that defended Patton well.

"We had Evan Battey on him and Evan Battey is a great post defender." Boyle said. "We need to keep Evan out of foul trouble. He's so smart, so sound, so tough, so aware. Evan is just really good. We challenged our post players to do a good job on Patton, and they responded."

The Buffs were finally able to widen their lead with an 11-0 run that began at the end of the first half and ended early in the second that expanded the lead to 28-16.

Colorado began to draw more fouls in the second half. The Buffs found their way to the line but were not efficient from there shooting just 65.4 percent. After the Buffs hit 24 of 25 free throws in their last game, Boyle wasn't happy with his team missing nine against the Hornets.

"That's on you as a player." Boyle said. "If you can't step to the line and make a 15 foot free shot, you better get to the gym and figure it out."

The Hornets fought back in the final minutes, cutting the Colorado lead to just five points on a 6-0 run with 4:04 left in the game.

But the Buffs then pulled away, beginning with two made free throws from Shane Gatling and a Wright steal that lead to a Battey basket. The Buffs then finished with a 14-5 run.

BOULDER — What some saw as a warm-up for the Colorado Buffaloes ahead of Saturday's game at Kansas came perilously close Wednesday to burning a hole in CU's national ranking.

But the No. 20 Buffs righted themselves just in time, outscoring visiting Loyola Marymount 15-3 down the stretch to come away with a 76-64 win at the CU Events Center. The Buffs improved to 7-0 while LMU dropped to 3-5.

The Buffs trailed at halftime, 34-30, and the Lions maintained their edge for much of the second half. Colorado didn't regain the lead for good until a D'Shawn Schwartz 3-pointer broke a 61-61 tie and started a 7-0 run with 2:38 left in the game. Schwartz capped the run with a pair of free throws at the 1:23 mark and the Buffs then held the Lions at bay over the final minute.

Schwartz and McKinley Wright IV shared scoring honors for CU with 16 points each while Tyler Bey had 13 points and nine rebounds. Wright also had six rebounds and five assists while Evan Battey had eight points and eight rebounds, including some big offensive rebounds and putbacks at critical moments.

LMU's Eli Scott led all scorers with 31 points.

"Tip of my cap to Loyola Marymount," head coach Tad Boyle said after the game. "I thought they came in here and played a heck of a game. We knew it wasn't gonna be easy, and it wasn't. I think sometimes you expect so much of yourself and your team that you forget that they have good players too."

The Buffs were definitely not at their best, committing 18 turnovers that led to 24 LMU points. But CU did win the rebounding battle, 39-30, and the Buffs also hit 25 of their 33 free throw attempts. That was enough to make up for Loyola's 51.9 percent shooting night (27-for-52), the best by any CU opponent this year.

HOW IT HAPPENED: Colorado trailed by four at intermission, 34-30, then saw the Lions push their lead to eight in the opening minutes with two quick buckets. With 14:02 to play, the Buffs still trailed by seven, 49-42, and had committed 17 turnovers.

But from that point on, the Buffs began taking better care of the ball while also ratcheting up their defense a notch. They slowly chipped away at the lead, getting five straight points from a Schwartz 3-pointer and a Bey jumper, and finally regained the edge, 51-50, on a Lucas Siewert 3-pointer with 9:27 remaining.

After Lucas Siewert's 3-pointer, the lead changed hands five more times before Schwartz put Colorado ahead for good with his trey at the 2:38 mark to start the decisive run.

Colorado struggled from the field for much of the evening. The Buffs hit just 38.5 percent of their shots in the first half, including a stretch when they missed 10 in a row that allowed the Lions to take an eight-point lead. But they did shoot better in the second half — 12-for-27 — and more importantly, took care of the ball. After committing their 17th turnover of the game six minutes into the second half, they had just one more miscue the rest of the game.

After Schwartz's 3-pointer gave CU the lead, the Buffs then got a Bey rebound following an LMU missed free throw and Wright hit two free throws to push Colorado's edge to 66-61. On LMU's next possession, Bey came up with a big block on Scott and Schwartz drew a foul when CU gained possession. Schwartz then hit two free throws to push the Buffs' cushion to 68-61 with 1:23 remaining.

"A win is a win," Wright said. "We're one of the only undefeated teams in the country and we're excited about that. I'm confident in my guys and I know they're confident in me and we're only going to get better."

LAWRENCE, Kan. — Colorado's offense never got untracked and Kansas dominated inside Saturday as the No. 20 Buffaloes fell from the unbeaten ranks with 72-58 loss at Allen Fieldhouse.

Colorado fell to 7-1 while No. 2 Kansas improved to 7-1.

The Buffs never led in the game. Kansas jumped out to a quick 6-0 lead and though the Buffs managed to cut the deficit to one with 14 minutes to go in the half, the Jayhawks used a 9-0 run to regain control and take a 12-point lead at intermission, 34-22.

CU then managed to stay within striking range until midway through the second half, when Kansas finally started to pull away for good, increasing its lead to as much as 23.

The Buffs had just one player in double figures, with Evan Battey scoring 14 points and grabbing seven rebounds. Tyler Bey had five points and nine rebounds and McKinley Wright IV had eight points and seven rebounds.

Ochai Agbaji, one of three Jayhawks in double figures, led Kansas with 20 points.

The Buffs shot just 18-for-60 from the field (30 percent), including an ice-cold 7-for-34 from 3-point range. Kansas shot 27-for-51 (52.9 percent) and hit six of its 13 3-point tries. KU also had a 39-36 rebounding edge and a dominating 38-22 edge in points in the paint.

The Buffs finished with 17 turnovers but also forced 21 Kansas turnovers.

"We had a lot of good looks that didn't go in," CU coach Tad Boyle said. "You have to make those shots … But I was really proud of our guys' fight and their toughness and competitiveness. But we couldn't make shots tonight."

HOW IT HAPPENED: The Buffs did manage to keep it close early, pulling to within 10-9 on back-to-back 3-pointers from Lucas Siewert with 14 minutes to go in the first half.

But the Jayhawks answered with a 9-0 run to take control and Colorado never came closer than seven again, with Kansas pushing the cushion to 12 at the half.

The Jayhawks' defense collapsed in the paint all night, double-teaming CU's big men at every opportunity and forcing to CU to shoot from the outside. The Buffs did get some open looks but they couldn't connect, going 1-for-11 from the floor in a key first-half stretch.

Battey was the only consistent shooter for the Buffs, hitting five of his eight field goal tries, including a couple putbacks off of his four offensive rebounds. The only other Buff to hit at least half of his shots was Eli Parquet, who was 2-for-4 from the floor.

The rest of the Buffs combined to shoot 11-for-48.

Bey, who entered the game as CU's leading scorer at 14.0 points per game, was limited to just three field goal attempts as the Jayhawks made sure to surround him every time he touched the ball inside.

Battey played well against Kansas big man Udoka Azubuike, who finished with 12 points and six rebounds, both under his season average.

Agbaji did the most damage offensively for Kansas, hitting all four of his 3-point attempts in the second half as Kansas pulled away down the stretch. While CU held Kansas to 0-for-6 shooting from long range in the first half, the Jayhawks were 6-for-7 from beyond the arc after intermission.

CU did close the deficit to 12 with just more than eight minutes to play when a Wright 3-pointer cut Kansas' lead to 54-42. But the Jayhawks then opened up the cushion, building their lead into the 20s over the final minutes.

Colorado's 34 3-point attempts were 10 more than the Buffs' previous season high.

BOULDER — Colorado coach Tad Boyle called Tuesday night's matchup with Northern Iowa "the biggest trap game of the year" for the Buffaloes.

The Panthers made Boyle's fears come true, as UNI hit 14 3-pointers and scored the last six points of the game to produce a 79-76 win over No. 24 Colorado at the CU Events Center.

The Buffs dropped to 7-2 with their second straight loss while UNI improved to 9-1.

The Buffs battled back from a double-digit deficit early in the second half to take the lead midway through the period, and the game then saw 10 more lead changes down the stretch. CU used a 10-2 run to go up 76-73 with 1:39 to go, but the Panthers hit a 3-pointer with 1:10 to play, then added a layup off a turnover and a free throw in the final 50 seconds while the Buffs missed two 3-point tries in the final seconds.

Lucas Siewert led CU with a career-high 21 points, McKinley Wright added 16 and Tyler Bey had 14.

Trae Berhow and AJ Green each had 20 for UNI.

The Panthers won the game from beyond the arc, shooting a red-hot 14-for-26 from long range. Northern Iowa also had a 31-29 edge in rebounds, including 15 offensive boards they converted into 15 second-chance points.

"Extremely disappointing loss," Boyle said. "I thought we fought hard in the second half to come back and take the lead, but our attention to detail is just not not good enough right now. It was really evident tonight by the way we guarded … They deserved to win. We did not."

HOW IT HAPPENED: After falling behind early, the Buffs came back and built a seven-point lead in the first half, thanks to Siewert scoring 15 straight points for Colorado, including every point in an 11-0 CU run.

But the Panthers battled back and took a 33-32 halftime lead on the heels of an 8-0 burst, then put together an 11-0 surge to start the second half. That 19-0 run turned a 32-25 CU lead with four minutes to go in the first half into a 44-32 deficit barely two minutes into the second half.

"There were stretches in the game where we just kind of fell asleep and expected good things to happen," Boyle said. "You have to make good things happen for yourselves and that's what Northern Iowa did. Northern Iowa out-executed us tonight."

The Buffs did gather themselves and battle back to regain the lead. A 9-0 run fueled by 3-pointers from Eli Parquet and Wright closed the gap to 44-41 and CU finally regained the lead, 55-53, on Siewert's fifth 3-pointer of the night with 10:10 to play.

"To our guys credit, they fought back," Boyle said. "We took the lead. But we couldn't hold onto it because we couldn't stop them from three and we couldn't limit them to one shot."

The game then became a see-saw battle, with the lead changing hands 10 times over the next eight minutes. Colorado trailed by five with just under four minutes to play, but the Buffs put together a 10-2 run to to up 76-73. Evan Battey gave CU a 74-73 lead with a three-point play with 2:13 remaining before Wright drove underneath to push Colorado's lead to three with just 1:39 to go.

But those were the last points the Buffs could muster. Green drained a 3-pointer — the Panthers' 14th of the night — to tie the game with just more than a minute to go. The Buffs then turned it over on their next possession, with Spencer Haldeman stealing a Wright pass and collecting a layup. Colorado missed on its next possession and Green hit one of two free throws for a three-point edge.

The Buffs then had possession with 27 seconds remaining and trailing by three, but they missed two 3-point tries in the last five seconds of the game.

FORT COLLINS — What could have been — maybe should have been — a runaway turned into a nail-biter for the Colorado Buffaloes here Friday night.

But after allowing a 16-point second-half lead to melt away, Tad Boyle's Buffs recovered down the stretch to come away with a 56-48 win over in-state rival Colorado State at Moby Arena.

The No. 24 Buffs ended a two-game losing streak and improved to 8-2 while CSU dropped to 7-6.

Colorado led 27-12 at the half and 36-20 early in the second half, only to see the Rams come back and tie the game at 39-39 with 7:14 left to play. But the Buffs slowly rebuilt their edge to 46-40 with under four minutes to play, then held the Rams at bay down the stretch by hitting eight free throws in the final minute.

CU's bench came up big in the game, with senior guard Shane Gatling scoring 20 points and Lucas Siewert chipping in 12 points and six rebounds. D'Shawn Schwartz added eight points and a career-high nine rebounds. Overall, CU's bench scored 34 points while the starters had just 22.

Isaiah Stevens had 10 points for CSU and Nico Carvacho had nine points and 10 rebounds.

The Buffs overcame a season-high 21 turnovers that led to 14 CSU points, but did have a 44-32 edge on the boards. CU also held the Rams to just 29 percent shooting from the field (18-for-62), including just 2-for-22 from 3-point range.

Colorado shot only 37.8 percent from the floor (17-for-45), but hit eight of its 18 3-point tries.

HOW IT HAPPENED: Colorado led by 15 points at intermission, 27-12, and seemed to be in full control after holding CSU to 5-for-28 shooting (0-10 from 3-point range) in the first half.

But after their ice-cold first half, the Rams began connecting and the Buffs compounded their woes by continuing to turn the ball over. Colorado State put together runs of 8-0 and 11-0, and with 7:14 to play, CSU tied the game at 39-39 on a David Roddy drive.

The Buffs had five turnovers in a five-minute span to assist the CSU comeback, igniting a raucous crowd of 6,629. The Rams finished with 14 points off the CU miscues.

But just when the crowd threatened to hit a fever pitch, the Buffs finally answered with a 7-1 run to regain control, getting three defensive stops in the surge. Gatling hit a short jumper, Daylen Kountz hit two free throws and Gatling buried a 3-pointer from the corner, giving the Buffs a 46-40 lead with just under four minutes to play.

Gatling finished the night 7-for-12 from the floor, including 4-for-6 from long distance. But it was a 2-pointer that came with a friendly bounce with just more than two minutes remaining that gave CU a 48-43 lead and put the Buffs in control down the stretch.

After Gatling's bucket, CU's Tyler Bey came up with a huge block on Carvacho on the defensive end of the floor. CU then hit eight free throws in the final minute to seal the win.

Colorado controlled the entire first half, using an 8-0 run to take a 12-2 lead at the 12:10 mark, with Gatling and Schwartz each draining 3-pointers in the run.

Colorado's defense frustrated the Rams for the entire half. CSU endured a 1-for-11 stretch from the field at one point, and finished the half shooting just 5-for-28, including an ice-cold 0-for-10 effort from 3-point range.

The Buffs, meanwhile, managed to shoot 10-for-25, including a 4-for-7 half from Gatling (3-4 from beyond the arc).

CSU managed to cut Colorado's lead to 10 points late in the half but the Buffs came back with the final five points of the period — all from Gatling — to take a 27-12 edge into intermission.

BOULDER — Colorado played solid defense for 40 minutes and the Buffaloes' offense came alive down the stretch Thursday night, lifting CU to an 83-64 win over Prairie View A&M at the CU Events Center.

The Buffs, who travel to Chicago on Saturday for a matchup with 13th-ranked Dayton, improved to 9-2 while Prairie View dropped to 3-8.

Colorado led by just five with 10 minutes to play, but used a 17-3 run over a three-minute stretch late in the second half to pull away for good, building the lead to as much as 24 in the final minutes.

Evan Battey led the Buffs with 20 points and nine rebounds while Tyler Bey had 13 points and seven rebounds. D'Shawn Schwartz also had 13 points for Colorado, all in the second half, including three 3-pointers in CU's decisive run. McKinley Wright IV had 11 points, seven rebounds and six assists for CU.

Gerard Andrus led PVAMU with 12 points.

The Buffs held Prairie View to just 36.8 percent shooting (25-for-68), including 1-for-9 from 3-point range. The Buffs shot an even 50 percent from the floor (26-for-52) despite a 5-for-20 night from long range and Colorado also held an 43-29 edge on the boards.

"A good workmanlike effort," CU coach Tad Boyle said. "I really thought there were some really some things we can build on, especially offensively. Eighteen assists, which is always a good number on 26 baskets — we'll take that every night. We still turned it over a little bit too much (16 turnovers) … but I like how we shared the ball and moved the ball. We'll take the win and we'll move on and and now it's on to Chicago and the Dayton Flyers."

HOW IT HAPPENED: After taking a seven-point lead at the half, 35-28, Colorado built its cushion to as much as 11 early in the second half. Battey had 11 points for the Buffs in the first seven minutes of the half and a Lucas Siewert bucket at the 13:30 mark gave Colorado a 48-37 lead.

But the Panthers refused to go away, cutting the margin back to five, 50-45, on a pair of Faite Williams free throws with 10:01 remaining.

That's when the Buffs found their offensive footing, thanks in large part to Schwartz. The CU junior had a nice pump-fake and bucket for his first points of the game to put Colorado up by seven, 54-47, then hit two straight 3-pointers in a 10-0 run that gave CU a 66-49 cushion with just more than six minutes to play.

"I just needed to see something go in," Schwartz said. "Once I get one, I feel like the basket gets huge. Kin (Wright) told me to just keep shooting it and keep shooting it. If guys really believe in you, that's going to help you play well."

The Panthers finally stopped CU's run with a free throw, but the Buffs came back with another 7-0 surge, capped by another Schwartz 3-pointer, to put the game away. Colorado built its lead to as much as 24 over the final two minutes. Battey continues to grow as a force for the Buffs on both ends of the floor, just missing the second double-double of his career. He hit 10 of his 11 free throw tries — the Buffs were 26-for-28 — as he drew eight fouls in the game.

Wright, meanwhile, had a workmanlike effort with his 11 points on 4-for-5 shooting along with seven rebounds, six assists and two blocked shots.

The Buffs led by seven at the half, 35-28, thanks in large part to hitting 13 of their 14 free throw attempts. CU broke away from a 15-15 tie with a 6-0 run to take control with 6:16 to play in the half, then built the lead to as much as nine before taking a 7-point edge into intermission.

The Buffs shot 10-for-23 in the opening half while PVAMU was 13-for-38. The Panthers stayed in the game by collecting seven offensive rebounds, which they converted into seven second-chance points. The Buffs had 20 total rebounds, but just two on the offensive end.

CHICAGO — Colorado junior D'Shawn Schwartz calmly drained a 3-pointer at the buzzer Saturday to lift the Buffaloes to a heart-stopping 78-76 win over No. 13 Dayton in overtime at the United Center.

While the calendar said December, the game had every bit of a March Madness feel to it, as the Buffs erased a 14-point first-half deficit to take a second-half lead, only to see the Flyers rally to tie it up in the final seconds of regulation.

The Buffs then outscored Dayton 12-10 in the extra period to improve to 10-2 while Dayton dropped to 9-2.

Schwartz's game winner — his fifth 3-pointer of the game — came after the Flyers had taken a 76-75 lead with 10 seconds remaining. CU point guard McKinley Wright IV quickly pushed the ball down the floor and found Tyler Bey underneath, who immediately drew a double team inside. Bey then whirled and found a wide-open Schwartz on the right wing and he nailed the 3-pointer just before the buzzer to set off a wild Buffs celebration.

"I didn't feel anything," said Schwartz, who also had five 3-pointers in a win over Dayton in last season's NIT. "It was literally like in a dream."

Schwartz finished with a season-high 20 points while Wright was a standout all night for the Buffaloes, finishing with 29 points and 10 rebounds for his sixth career double-double. Evan Battey was once again a force inside, finishing with nine points and 12 rebounds and Bey added 12 points and six rebounds and two assists.

Colorado shot just 39.7 percent from the floor (27-for-68) while Dayton finished shooting 50 percent (32-for-64). But the Buffs hit 17 of their 21 free throws, held a 42-32 edge in rebounds and finished with a 16-11 edge in second-chance points. The Buffs also finished with just 10 turnovers — their second-lowest total of the season — while forcing 14 Dayton miscues.

"The toughness and grit that our guys showed down the stretch was amazing," coach Tad Boyle said. "We talked a lot about trusting each other. That last possession, McKinley trusted Tyler in the post and he gets the double team and he throws it out to a wide-open shooter and D'Shawn steps up and knocks it down. I just can't say enough about this group. This is a big-time win against a big-time program in a big-time environment."

HOW IT HAPPENED: Dayton threatened to turn the game into a blowout early, using an 11-0 run to jump out to a 19-5 lead less than six minutes in.

But Boyle called a timeout before the game got out of hand, and the Buffs responded with a 15-2 surge to pull within one, and still trailed by only four at the half, 36-32. Battey fueled the comeback with some big offensive rebounds and four points, Daylen Kountz added five points in the surge and Wright had four.

After the Flyers hit eight of their first nine field goal tries of the game, they were just 8-for-19 the rest of the half.

Wright, who originally committed to the Flyers in high school but then signed with Colorado after then-coach Archie Miller left the program, was greeted with boos by the partisan Dayton crowd virtually every time he touched the ball.

But the CU junior had the last laugh, as he helped fuel a 15-4 run early in the second half that finally gave Colorado the lead. Wright hit a driving layup to tie the score at 40-40 and seconds later, Battey hit two free throws to give the Buffs their first lead of the game with 14:41 to play.

Battey also took the game personally, as he and Bey were matched against Dayton star Obi Toppin for much of the game. While Toppin did hit a 3-pointer for Dayton at the end of regulation to force overtime, the Buffs still held him to 17 points and 7 rebounds, both under his season averages.

Battey was once again particularly effective on the offensive boards, collecting eight offensive rebounds to give the Buffs some much-needed second-chance opportunities.

The Buffs pushed their second-half lead to as much as eight, taking a 59-51 edge with 7:51 remaining on a Schwartz 3-pointer.

But the Flyers slowly chipped away at the cushion, finally pulling to within one, 64-63, with 1:56 to play on a Toppin dunk. Battey then hit one of two free throws after an offensive rebound to push CU's lead to 65-63 with 35 seconds remaining before Wright added one of two free throws after a Dayton miss with 13.8 left.

But Toppin, who had missed five straight 3-point attempts, finally hit his first trey of the night with six seconds remaining in regulation to tie the game at 66-66 and force overtime.

Schwartz then took charge in the overtime, scoring eight of Colorado's 12 points in the five-minute extra period. He hit a 3-pointer with 3:18 to play that gave the Buffs a 71-68 lead, then drove to the basket for a layup with 27 seconds remaining for a 75-74 lead.

Then, after Crutcher gave Dayton its final lead of the night, the Buffs delivered the game-winner.

BOULDER — Tad Boyle collected his 200th win at Colorado in resounding fashion, as his Buffaloes ran away with a 99-54 win over Iona.

The win — Colorado's final non-conference tuneup before opening Pac-12 play Thursday at home against No. 6 Oregon — improved the Buffs to 11-2 while Iona fell to 2-5.

Boyle, already the second-winningest coach in CU men's hoops history, saw his record improve to 200-125 in his 10th season. He trails only Russell "Sox" Walseth (261-245) on CU's all-time list.

His 200th win was never in doubt. The Buffs led from the start, scoring the first eight points of the game and pushing their lead to as much as 18 in the first half before settling for a 35-19 halftime edge. Colorado then quickly bumped the cushion to 30 with a 17-3 run to open the second half and led by as much as 47 down the stretch.

The Buffs finished with seven players in double-digit scoring and Evan Battey and McKinley Wright IV both finished with double-doubles. Battey had 12 points and 12 rebounds for his second career double-double while Wright had 13 points and 10 assists for his second straight and seventh career double-double.

Colorado's D'Shawn Schwartz just missed a double-double, as he finished with a team-high 14 points and nine rebounds (tying his career high). Lucas Siewert added 12 points, Tyler Bey had 11 and Maddox Daniels and Daylen Kountz each chipped in 10.

CU also tied the school record for 3-pointers in a game with 17 (set vs. Oklahoma State in 2005) and finished with 26 assists, the most in the Boyle era and most since CU had 27 vs. Northridge in 2009.

E.J. Crawford led Iona with 14 points, as the Gaels struggled from the floor all game, hitting just 30 percent of their field goal tries (18-for-60). CU shot 56.7 percent from the floor (34-for-60) and also held a commanding 47-24 edge in rebounds.

HOW IT HAPPENED: The Buffs led by 16 at intermission, 35-19, then put the game away with a 17-3 run to start the second half. A Schwartz 3-pointer less than five minutes into the half pushed CU's lead to 52-22 and the Gaels never threatened again, as the Buffs steadily built their lead the rest of the game.

Schwartz finished the game 4-for-6 from 3-point range and is 15-for-26 from long distance over his last five games.

Wright found plenty of open teammates, with his 10 assists just one short of his career high. He also had just one turnover, while the Buffs finished with 15 turnovers for the game.

Colorado also played well on the defensive end, limiting Iona to 17.2 percent shooting in the first half (5-for-29) and 30 percent for the game (18-for-60). Battey played a big role on that end, helping hold Iona's Tajuan Agee to just nine points, eight points under his season average.

After pushing their lead to 30 with the quick run to start the second half, Colorado continued to build the cushion. CU's biggest lead was a 47-point edge, 93-46, with just under four minutes to play on a Daniels 3-pointer.

Along with his 10 assists, Wright was an efficient 5-for-7 from the field, including 3-for-4 from 3-point range.

Colorado led from the outset, slowly building its margin into double digits and pushing the cushion to as much as 18 before taking a 35-19 lead into halftime. CU's defense frustrated Iona for the entire half, as the Gaels finished just 5-for-29 from the floor, including 2-for-15 from 3-point range.

The Buffs scored the first eight points of the game and pushed their lead into double digits, 15-5, on a Kountz bucket underneath off a nice pass from Wright with just under 12 minutes left in the half.

Colorado then extended its cushion to 18 points with a 10-0 run late in the half. Schwartz started the run with a 3-pointer, Battey added two free throws, Siewert drained a long trey and Kountz wrapped it up with another drive to the bucket to give Colorao a 33-15 edge with 2:25 remaining.

The Gaels, who went 6:30 without a field goal, added two in the final two minutes to cut CU's lead to 35-19 by intermission.

BOULDER — Point guard McKinley Wright IV sparked a decisive 10-2 Colorado run down the stretch and the Buffaloes collected a 74-65 win Thursday over No. 4 Oregon at a sold-out CU Events Center.

The Buffs improved to 12-2 (1-0 Pac-12) with their fifth straight win while Oregon dropped to 11-3, 0-1 this season and 0-9 all-time in Boulder.

The Buffs led by as much as 15 early in the second half before the Ducks cut the deficit to four, 57-53, with 4:34 to play.

But Wright then sparked a 7-0 run with a 3-pointer, an assist and a floater from the lane to push CU's lead to 11, 64-53, with just under three minutes to play.

Oregon stopped the run momentarily with a Payton Pritchard basket, but Wright then found D'Shawn Schwartz open in the corner for a 3-pointer and 67-55 lead with 1:23 to play.

The Buffs then held on in the final minutes for the win, hitting just enough of their free throws — including six from Wright in the last 52 seconds — to keep the Ducks at bay.

Wright led the Buffs with 21 points, 11 in the final 4:10 of the game, along with eight assists and five rebounds. Tyler Bey collected his sixth double-double of the season and first since Nov. 30 with 15 points and 14 rebounds and Schwartz added 13 points.

Pritchard led Oregon with 21 points.

Defensively, the Buffs were outstanding. Oregon entered the game as the Pac-12's leading team in shooting percentage (49.7 percent) and 3-point shooting (41.7). But Colorado held Oregon to just 44.6 percent from the floor (25-for-56), including just 3-for-18 from 3-point range.

The Buffs, meanwhile, shot 25-for-57 from the floor, held a 36-34 rebounding edge and committed just eight turnovers while forcing 13 Oregon miscues. Colorado held a 13-6 edge in points off those turnovers.

HOW IT HAPPENED: Colorado led by six at intermission, 28-22, and quickly pushed the margin to 15 just five minutes into the second half, as Wright had a beautiful pair of assists to spark a 9-0 run. The first went to Bey, who cashed in a layup and ensuing free throw, and the second to Schwartz, who drained a long three from just in front of the CU bench.

Lucas Siewert then capped the run with another 3-pointer and Colorado led, 41-26, with 14:51 to play.

But the Ducks didn't go away quietly. After enduring a particularly rough first half shooting, they finally began to find the basket and answered with a run of their own, using a 10-0 surge that ultimately shaved CU's lead down to four, 51-47, with 8:35 to play.

Colorado then briefly pushed its lead back to eight on a pair of Evan Battey free throws three minutes later, only to see the Ducks pull back to within four again, 57-53, on a pair of technical foul free throws.

But the technical also seemed to spark the Buffs as Wright engineered the game's decisive run. He came down the floor on CU's ensuing possession and buried a 3-pointer from the top of the key with 4:10 to go, then found Schwartz wide open under the bucket on CU's next possession for a layup after CU's defense forced a turnover.

Then, following a missed Oregon 3-pointer, Wright hit a floater from the lane to give Colorado an 11-point cushion, 64-53, with just 2:32 remaining.

The Buffs then put the game away with 1:23 remaining when Wright found Schwartz open again for a 3-pointer from just in front of the CU bench for a 67-55 lead. The Buffs managed to make it closer than necessary by missing some free throws in the final minute, but Wright hit all six of his to lock up the win.

Bey was also outstanding. After seven straight games without double-digit rebounds, he came up big against the Ducks.

After falling behind early, the Buffs battled back and finally took the lead midway through the first half on an Evan Battey bucket inside, 13-12. The Ducks came back to take the lead and then tie it up again at 16-16 before the Buffs put together an 8-0 run to give themselves some breathing room. CU never trailed again.

BOULDER — For the second year in a row, the Colorado Buffaloes couldn't protect their home court against Oregon State.

The Buffs led by 11 Sunday with under eight minutes to play, but were outscored 24-5 over the final 7:27 to drop a 76-68 decision at the CU Events Center. The loss ended CU's five-game win streak and dropped the Buffs to 12-3 overall and 1-1 in Pac-12 play. OSU improved to 11-3, 1-1.

Tyler Bey led CU with 20 points and eight rebounds while McKinley Wright had a 14-point, 10-assist double-double. Shane Gatling added 11 for CU.

Ethan Thompson led the Beavers with 24 points and Zach Reichle had a career-high 19.

Colorado finished with 15 turnovers — eight in the second half — which the Beavers converted into 16 points. CU also allowed OSU to shoot 52.9 percent from the floor (27-for-51) while the Buffs were 26-for-53 (49.1 percent).

"Disappointing loss, to say the least," CU coach Tad Boyle said. "Credit Oregon State, I don't want to take anything away from them. We imploded the last five minutes of the game offensively against that 1-3-1 (zone), and it's frustrating because we practiced against that. We knew it was coming. … We're looking around like we want somebody else to come save us and there's no there's nobody to save us. I take responsibility as the coach this team. We did not handle that well and that's my fault."

HOW IT HAPPENED: Colorado led by seven at the half, 39-32, before the Beavers cut the margin to four less than four minutes in on a Kylor Kelley dunk.

But the Buffs then put together an 8-0 run to push their lead back to 12. D'Shawn Schwartz started the surge with a 12-footer before Wright drove the lane. Wright then collected his 10th assist of the game, a feed to Bey underneath, before Bey finished the run with a long two from the key with 13:21 remaining to give CU a 53-41 lead.

Colorado then maintained control over the next five-plus minutes, and with 7:57 to play, still had an 11-point edge, 63-52, after a Wright free throw.

But that's when the Beavers resorted to their 1-3-1 zone with a halfcourt trap that turned the game, forcing a rash of Colorado turnovers and sparking a 10-0 OSU run that baffled the Buffs for the remainder of the night.

Reichle started the run with a 3-pointer, followed by a Thompson basket after a CU turnover to pull within 63-57. CU then called a timeout, but turned the ball over immediately after play resumed, leading to an OSU dunk. One minute later, Reichle hit three free throws and the Beavers were within one, 63-62, with 4:55 still to play.

The Buffs finally stopped the bleeding with an Evan Battey bucket inside and free throw with 4:39 to play, putting CU back up by four, 66-62.

But from that point on, the Buffs went 1-for-7 from the field and committed four more turnovers down the stretch to seal their fate.

After Battey's bucket, OSU quickly pulled back to within one on a Tinkle 3-pointer, then finally took the lead, 67-66, on a basket inside after another turnover. Colorado missed its next shot, but had a chance to regain possession after an Oregon State miss, only to give up an OSU offensive rebound.

After an OSU timeout, Thompson scored inside, then added two more free throws after one more turnover to complete a 19-3 run in a 7-minute span for a 71-66 lead with 57 seconds remaining.

OSU then outscored Colorado 5-2 over the final minute to complete the game.

The Buffs fell behind 6-0 early after missing their first three field goal tries and five of their first eight.

But they slowly climbed back to trade leads with the Beavers midway through the half before an 8-0 run turned a 20-19 deficit into a 27-20 lead. Shane Gatling sparked the run with a pair of 3-pointers while Bey had two free throws.

After the Beavers fought back with a 7-0 run to tie the game at 27-27, Wright assisted a Maddox Daniels 3-pointer to put the Buffs back in the lead. A minute later he hit Gatling underneath for a layup, then finished the half with a beautiful pass to Bey under the basket just before the buzzer. Bey collected a dunk and free throw on the play to give CU a 39-32 lead at intermission.

BOULDER — That's how you protect your home floor.

One week after allowing Oregon State to rally down the stretch and escape from Boulder with a win, the Colorado Buffaloes left no such opening for Utah. The Buffs were hot from the start Sunday and never cooled off, dominating the Utes from beginning to end in a 91-52 win at the CU Events Center.

The 25th-ranked Buffs improved to 13-3 overall and 2-1 in Pac-12 play while the Utes fell to 10-5, 1-2.

"That was a complete ea performance by our team as we've had all year," head coach Tad Boyle said. "It just shows you what the ceiling of this team is going to be, and that's what we're going to need as we go through this league. This team took a step forward tonight and I'm really, really proud of them."

The Buffs did indeed put forth a complete effort on both ends of the floor.

Sophomore Evan Battey and junior Tyler Bey each had double-doubles for the Buffs, with Battey finishing with 17 points and 10 rebounds for his second double-double of the season while Bey notched his seventh of the season and 26th of his career with 11 points and 12 rebounds. Point guard McKinley Wright IV flirted with a triple-double before finishing with 16 points, eight assists and seven rebounds and no turnovers, and D'Shawn Schwartz added 14 points and five rebounds.

Defensively, the Buffs throttled the Utes, holding the Pac-12's leading scorer, Timmy Allen, to a season-low seven points on 2-for-11 shooting. Allen entered the game averaging 21.1 points per game, with his previous low 14 points.

Utah did not have a player in double digits, as Riley Battin led the Utes with eight points.

The Buffs dominated in virtually every statistical category. CU shot 38-for-64 from the field (59.4 percent) while holding the Utes to just 19-for-54 shooting (35.2 percent). Colorado held a commanding 43-23 rebounding lead, including 14 offensive rebounds that led to 14 second-chance points, and the Buffs committed just nine turnovers while forcing 13 Utah miscues.

HOW IT HAPPENED: Colorado led from the outset, using a 14-0 run early to push the lead to double digits and extending the edge to as much as 25 before settling for a 22-point cushion at intermission, 44-22. Battey was dominant on the offensive boards in the first half, collecting six offensive rebounds that led to four Colorado baskets.

"Evan Battey was a beast tonight," Boyle said. "I don't know what other adjective I can use for him. He went after every offensive rebound. When he gets the ball in his hands, it's like a vise grip. Nobody's going to take it away from him. He set the tone with our offensive rebound in the first half."

Colorado shot 54.5 percent from the floor in the first half, including 5-for-11 from 3-point range. On the defensive end, the Buffs never let the Utes get untracked, holding the Pac-12's second-leading scoring team to just 33.3 percent shooting (8-for-24). Allen was just 2-for-8 from the field in the half, as Bey and his Buffs teammates harassed him every time he touched the ball.

With a 22-point lead at intermission, the Buffs made sure to put the game away early in the second half. CU built its lead to 30 less than seven minutes in when a Wright 3-pointer gave Colorado a 61-31 cushion, and the Utes were done for the night.

The Buffs' big lead of the game came in the final minute, when a Dallas Walton basket gave Colorado its final points of the night to wrap up the 91-52 win.

All 15 Buffs in uniform played in the game, with 11 scoring at least one point.

Colorado burst from the gate and never looked back in the first half, using a 14-0 run to build a 16-2 lead less than five minutes in. Battey had three baskets and Wright and Shane Gatling each had 3-pointers in the burst.

The Utes finally stopped the run with three unanswered points, but the Buffs answered again and steadily built the lead the rest of the half. Colorado's margin reached as much as 25 when a Schwartz basket gave CU a 42-17 edge with 2:09 left in the half, and CU still led by 22 at intermission, 44-22.

TEMPE, Ariz. — Coaches love to say defense travels.

Tad Boyle's No. 20 Colorado Buffaloes backed that saying up Thursday night by throttling Arizona State in the second half to collect a 68-61 win over the Sun Devils at Desert Financial Arena.

Colorado improved to 14-3 overall and 3-1 in Pac-12 play while the Sun Devils fell to 10-7, 1-3. The victory ended a six-game losing streak for the Buffs on ASU's home floor, as CU held Arizona State to just 34.3 percent shooting for the game (24-for-70), including just 12-for-40 in the decisive second half.

Colorado struggled on the offensive end early and trailed by nine just a few minutes into the game, but came back to tie it up, 28-28, by halftime. CU then took control early in the second half, using an 11-0 run to take a 44-32 lead with 10:35 remaining and the Sun Devils never came closer than five again.

Junior Tyler Bey had an outstanding second half for the Buffs, scoring 16 of his 19 points after intermission to go with eight rebounds and five assists. Lucas Siewert added 14 points on 4-for-6 shooting from 3-point range, McKinley Wright had 11 points and five rebounds and Shane Gatling had 10 points. Evan Battey led the Buffs on the boards with nine rebounds, and also scored five points.

Point guard Remy Martin led ASU with 25 points, but he shot just 9-for-23, including only 4-for-14 in the second half.

CU did not shoot particularly well, finishing just 21-for-52, but the Buffs were 12-for-25 in the second half (48 percent). While ASU won the rebound battle, 42-40, including a 17-8 edge on the offensive boards, the Buffs didn't allow the Sun Devils to convert many of those second chances. Colorado actually held a 10-8 edge in second-chance points.

"It was the epitome of winning ugly, which sometimes you have to do on the road," Boyle said. "I couldn't be more proud of our guys to not get their heads down when we struggled early offensively, especially in the first half. It was a great, great win."

HOW IT HAPPENED: ASU threatened to blow the game open early, jumping out to a 12-3 lead just five minutes into the contest.

But Siewert hit back-to-back 3-pointers in the next two minutes to pull Colorado back within striking range. ASU then pushed its lead back to seven, but 3-pointers from Bey and Siewert fueled an 8-0 run that gave Colorado its first lead of the game, 18-17, with 6:36 left in the half.

The two teams then traded the lead seven more times before halftime, with a Wright bucket in the final minute sending the two teams into the locker room at intermission tied at 28-28.

Led by Bey, the Buffs finally assumed control in the second half. The CU junior started an 11-0 run with a bucket inside to end a 4:21 Colorado scoring drought, and collected a steal and assist on a Daylen Kountz bucket a minute later. Gatling then stretched the run to 9-0 with a 3-pointer off a beautiful feed from Bey in the post and Battey capped the surge with a pair of free throws at the 10:35 mark to stretch Colorado's edge to 44-32.

Bey also had two steals and two blocked shots to go with his 19 points, eight rebounds and five assists.

At the same time the Buffs were putting their offense together, their defense was outstanding. At the end of CU's decisive 11-0 run, Arizona State was just 2-for-20 from the floor in the second half.

The Sun Devils did have a run in their pocket after Colorado's surge, cutting CU's lead to just five, 49-44, with just more than seven minutes to play on a Rob Edwards 3-pointer.

But the Buffs quickly gathered themselves and pushed the lead back to 13, 62-49, with two minutes to go, then held the Sun Devils at bay down the stretch.

TUCSON, Ariz. — Colorado's hopes for a road trip sweep in the desert came crashing down Saturday, as the Buffaloes dropped a 75-54 decision to Arizona at the McKale Center.

The 20th-ranked Buffs, who won at Arizona State on Thursday, dropped to 14-4 overall and 3-2 in Pac-12 play while Arizona improved to 13-5, 3-2. The loss was CU's eighth in a row at Arizona since joining the Pac-12 in 2011-12.

The Buffs jumped out to a quick 10-5 lead, but Arizona answered with a 24-5 run to take control and Colorado never threatened again. CU trailed 34-23 at intermission and managed to cut the deficit back to nine early in the second half, but UA quickly rebuilt the lead to double digits and extended the margin into the 20s down the stretch.

McKinley Wright IV led CU with 15 points and five assists, D'Shawn Schwartz added 12 points and Lucas Siewert had eight points and seven rebounds. The Wildcats put four players in double figures, led by Dylan Smith and Josh Green with 13 points apiece. Zeke Nnaji added a 12-point, 12-rebound double-double for UA.

The Buffs struggled on both ends of the floor for much of the game, particularly on the boards. CU shot just 36.7 percent (18-for-49) while the Wildcats were 28-for-59 from the floor (47.5 percent). UA also had nine 3-pointers, the most the Buffs have given up in their last nine games.

Colorado was also dominated on the boards, 39-25, with the 'Cats grabbing 13 offensive rebounds. It was the second game in a row the Buffs were outrebounded — a rarity in the Tad Boyle era — and CU opponents had 30 offensive rebounds in the two games in the desert.

Colorado also committed 12 turnovers to Arizona's 11, but the Wildcats had a 16-3 edge in points off turnovers.

"We pride ourselves on defense and rebounding, and we didn't do either one tonight," Boyle said. "Minus-14 on the boards, that hasn't happened in a long time. We've been beat, but not like that. I thought the better offensive team won tonight. I've got to do a better job of helping our guys."

HOW IT HAPPENED: After a quick start that produced an early 10-5 lead, the Buffs went cold in the first half and the Wildcats got hot, leading to a 24-5 UA run and 29-15 Arizona lead with just under four minutes to play in the half.

The Wildcats had three 3-pointers in the run, along with three second-chance baskets to ignite the sold-out crowd. The Buffs, meanwhile, hit just one of their first nine 3-point tries.

CU's normally reliable big men struggled on the boards all night. Junior Tyler Bey, who entered the game as the Pac-12's leading rebounder, finished with nine points and four rebounds while Evan Battey did not score and had only one rebound. Wright had three rebounds to go with Siewert's seven, but CU had just three players with more than one rebound.

The Buffs did manage to cut the deficit to 11 at intermission, 34-23, when Wright banked in a 3-pointer at the buzzer. They then whittled the margin down to nine early in the second half when a Bey basket cut UA's lead to 36-27.

But the Wildcats quickly bumped the margin back into double digits, and the Buffs never came closer than 10 again. Arizona was 9-for-22 from beyond the arc, the most 3-pointers by a CU opponent since Northern Iowa had 14 in mid-December — nine games ago.

Colorado did manage to pull within 10 with 12:58 to play in the game when Schwartz hit a 3-pointer and Siewert converted a conventional 3-point play to cut UA's margin to 45-35. But the Wildcats quickly answered with a pair of 3-pointers and CU never threatened again.

BOULDER — No Tyler Bey proved to be no problem for the Colorado Buffaloes on their home floor Thursday night.

With their leading rebounder on the bench with an injury, the Buffs had three players record double-doubles and closed the game with a 24-6 run to collect a 78-56 win over Washington State in front of 7,864 at the CU Events Center.

The 23rd-ranked Buffs improved to 15-4 overall and 4-2 in Pac-12 play while WSU dropped to 12-8, 3-4.

Colorado had four players in double-digit scoring, led by senior Lucas Siewert, who had 16 points and 10 rebounds in his first start of the season. Siewert started in place of Bey, who sat out the game with a hand injury and thus missed the first game of his career, a stretch of 86 games that included 75 straight starts.

Evan Battey had 12 points and 10 rebounds and McKinley Wright had 10 points and 10 assists to complete the Buffs' triple double-double. D'Shawn Schwartz added 13 points for Colorado. It was the first time since a Dec. 1, 2018, win over CSU that the Buffs had three double-doubles, which is also the last time Siewert had a double-double.

CJ Elleby led WSU with 15 points.

CU led by just four midway through the second half before assuming control with a 12-1 run for a 66-51 lead. WSU briefly cut the margin back to 13 but the Buffs quickly built their cushion into the 20s in the final minutes.

Colorado held WSU to just 22-for-59 shooting from the floor, including just 8-for-28 (28.6 percent) in the second half. The Buffs shot 26-for-57 for the game and also had a 45-28 edge on the boards.

HOW IT HAPPENED: The Buffs endured a rough first half that included 10 turnovers to take a 38-33 lead at intermission, then pushed the margin to 11 early in the second half. Buckets from Schwartz, Shane Gatling, Wright and Battey sparked a 10-1 surge that pushed Colorado's edge to 47-36 just four minutes into the half.

But the Cougars had one more comeback in their pocket and they cut CU's lead to four, 54-50, with 12:12 remaining on an Isaac Bonton 3-pointer.

That, though, was as close as WSU could come. Wright started a 12-1 run with a short jumper and Siewert followed with a 3-pointer. The Cougars got an Elleby free throw to momentarily halt the surge, but CU then answered with a Maddox Daniels 3-pointer and two Battey free throws to take a commanding 66-51 edge with just 6:49 remaining. The Buffs held WSU without a field goal for seven minutes in the stretch that included an 0-for-6 effort from the floor and Elleby had just six points in the second half.

The Buffs also dominated the boards in the second half, holding a 27-15 rebound edge. Siewert's 10 rebounds were a season high and came on the heels of a team-leading seven rebounds against Arizona last Saturday.

The Buffs also fixed some turnover issues at halftime. After committing 10 in the first half — including three by Wright in the first eight minutes — the Buffs had just four in the second half and Wright did not have another after his first three.

Colorado started slowly, as the Cougars took advantage of some early Buffs turnovers to build a 10-5 lead less than five minutes in.

CU finally took the lead midway through the first half, 18-17, on a pair of Battey free throws that finished a 6-0 run. The two teams then traded the lead four times before Colorado finally took control with a 10-2 surge for a 35-28 lead with 1:38 to play in the half. Dallas Walton had an offensive rebound and bucket in the run and D'Shawn Schwartz added a 3-pointer before Wright hit a layup, then found Battey wide open underneath for a bucket to cap the run.

Colorado then had a chance to push the lead to eight late in the half, but a turnover following a timeout led to a three-point play by WSU's Noah Williams and it took two Wright free throws with 1.4 on the clock to give the Buffs a 38-33 lead at the half.

BOULDER — Colorado's Tyler Bey scored 16 points and McKinley Wright added 15 points and eight rebounds Saturday to lead the Buffaloes to a 76-62 win over Washington at the CU Events Center.

The 23rd-ranked Buffs, who ended a five-game losing streak to the Huskies, improved to 16-4 overall — the best 20-game start in the Tad Boyle era — and 5-2 in Pac-12 play while UW fell to 12-9, 2-6. Paired with Thursday's win over Washington State, the victory gave CU a Pac-12 weekend sweep, the Buffs' first in three tries this year.

Joining Bey and Wright in double-figures was senior Lucas Siewert, who had 12 points and five rebounds. Shane Gatling added nine points and a team-high five assists and D'Shawn Schwartz had seven points and six rebounds for Colorado.

Isaiah Stewart led Washington with 23 points.

The Buffs led 51-33 at intermission, then relied on defense and rebounding down the stretch to collect the victory. CU forced 20 Washington turnovers that led to 22 points, and also had a 40-31 edge on the boards, including 12 offensive rebounds that led to 13 second-chance points.

Wright's eight rebounds tied him for game-high honors with UW's Stewart.

"Great win against a really, really talented Washington team that is obviously young," Boyle said. "I told our team we get to feel good about where we are right now but certainly in no way can we feel satisfied. We want to compete for a Pac-12 championship and the only way to do that is to go in and win games on the road and we're going to have that opportunity ahead of us."

HOW IT HAPPENED: After a rugged first couple of minutes, the Buffs caught fire with a 20-4 run that produced a 22-9 lead less than eight minutes in. Gatling, Wright, Siewert and Maddox Daniels all hit 3-pointers in the surge while CU's defense was forcing five UW turnovers that led to nine Colorado points.

The Buffs built the lead to 16 midway through the half before Washington momentarily cut the cushion back to eight, 39-31. But Colorado finished with a 12-2 run to take a 51-33 lead into intermission and UW never cut the margin into single digits again.

"One of the keys for us offensively tonight coming into this game was to make sound, decisive decisions against that zone," Boyle said. "We did a really good job of that in the first half."

The Buffs pushed their cushion to 20 early in the second half when a Siewert free throw after a technical foul — UW was whistled for three technicals in the game — gave CU a 57-37 edge.

But the Huskies had one more comeback in their pocket, as they got hot from 3-point range and cut the margin to 10 with more than six minutes still to play, 66-56.

The Buffs, meanwhile, went cold in the second half. After a 7-for-11 effort from 3-point range in the first 20 minutes, Colorado was 0-for-8 from long range after intermission.

But just when the Huskies had hopes of a comeback, CU responded with back-to-back buckets from Schwartz and Bey to push the margin back to 14 with 5:48 remaining, 70-56. Washington never came closer than 12 again. Colorado held the Huskies scoreless over the last 3:22 and Bey added an exclamation point with a ferocious dunk with 2:35 to play that proved to be the final points of the game.

Bey, who missed Thursday's game with an injury — his only "did not play" in 88 games as a Buff — also had four rebounds, three steals and two assists while battling with UW's 6-9, 250-pound Stewart for much of the evening.

"It felt great," Bey said. "It was great to go out there and compete with my teammates and get a 'W,' especially against a tea we haven't beaten since we've been here."

While CU's big men — Evan Battey, Dallas Walton, Bey and Siewert — combined for just 15 rebounds, Colorado's guards pooled their resources to come up with 22, led by Wright's eight and Schwartz's six.

LOS ANGELES — The 20th-ranked Colorado Buffaloes dug themselves a big hole early Thursday, then saw a second-half comeback fall short as they dropped a 72-68 loss to UCLA at Pauley Pavilion.

CU fell to 16-5 overall and 5-3 in Pac-12 play while the Bruins improved to 11-10, 4-4.

Colorado trailed by 12 at intermission and by 15 early in the second half before rallying to cut the deficit to two with just more than seven minutes remaining. But the Buffs could never completely close the gap and UCLA held CU at bay down the stretch.

Evan Battey and McKinley Wright IV each scored 14 points for Colorado. Tyler Bey added 12 points and eight rebounds and Lucas Siewert had 11 points for the Buffs.

UCLA's Chris Smith led all scorers with a career-high 30 points, including 13-for-15 from the free throw line. Smith also had a game-high nine rebounds.

While the Buffs actually shot a better percentage from the floor (42.2) than the Bruins (38.9), Colorado lost the rebound battle, 39-29. That included a 13-7 UCLA edge on the offensive boards, which led to an 18-10 edge in second-chance points. The Buffs also struggled in transition defense all night, giving up 22 fast break points.

The loss dropped CU into third place in the Pac-12 standings, 1.5 games behind league-leading Oregon and one game behind second-place USC.

"It was disheartening because that was a winnable game," CU coach Tad Boyle said. "We can't even think about Pac-12 championship right now, we have to think about winning the next game."

HOW IT HAPPENED: A 14-0 UCLA run in the first half put Colorado in a 12-point hole at intermission, 39-27, and the deficit grew to 15 early in the second half. The Bruins dominated the boards in the first 20 minutes, holding a 20-10 rebound edge that included a 7-1 margin on the offensive boards, which led to eight UCLA points. The Buffs also committed seven turnovers in the opening half that the Bruins converted into 10 points.

But the Buffs did rally in the second half, putting together a 12-0 run that cut UCLA's margin to three, 42-39, with just under 15 minutes still to play. D'Shawn Schwartz, who came off the bench for the first time this year, fueled the surge with seven points in the run.

CU then managed to stay within range over the next eight minutes and finally pulled to within two, 53-51, on a Siewert free throw with 7:22 to play.

"We showed great toughness in the second half," Boyle said. "We came back and made a run at these guys, but we weren't there in the first half for some for some reason."

But after cutting the deficit to two, the Buffs couldn't come any closer. UCLA slowly rebuilt its lead to double digits when three Smith free throws gave the Bruins a 64-53 lead with 3:25 to play. Colorado managed to cut the margin back to five with just under two minutes to go, and down to four with 18 seconds remaining on a Wright 3-pointer.

But Smith hit two free throws with 14.6 left to clinch the UCLA win.

CU shot just 7-for-20 from 3-point range, a far cry from Colorado's combined 24-for-47 effort from beyond the arc in its last two trips to Pauley. The Buffs also finished with just eight assists, their lowest total in Pac-12 play this year and second-lowest of the season (7 at Kansas).

Colorado trailed for most of the game. The Buffs held an early 10-9 lead before the Bruins put together a 14-0 run to take control. CU managed to cut the UCLA lead to four, 27-23, on a Shane Gatling 3-pointer with 5:47 left in the half before the Bruins answered with a 9-0 run that led to a 39-27 halftime lead.

LOS ANGELES — Colorado bounced back from a disappointing defeat in a big way Saturday, rolling to a 78-57 win over Southern California at the Galen Center.

On the heels of a lossThursday at UCLA, the win provided the 20th-ranked Buffaloes with a critical road trip split as they improved to 17-5 overall and 6-3 in Pac-12 play while USC fell to 17-5, 6-3.

The win pulled the Buffs back into a tie with the Trojans for second in the Pac-12 standings, just a half-game behind Oregon (18-5, 7-3), which lost to Stanford on Saturday.

The Buffs put forth a balanced effort to collect the win, putting four players in double-digit scoring. Tyler Bey led CU with 16 points and seven rebounds while McKinley Wright IV, D'Shawn Schwartz and Lucas Siewert all finished with 12 points. Wright also had eight assists, six rebounds and four steals; Schwartz had four rebounds and Evan Battey had nine points and four rebounds.

The Buffs also received excellent efforts off the bench from Dallas Walton (five points and three rebounds) and Eli Parquet (five points and five rebounds in a career-high 26 minutes), and starter Shane Gatling had seven points, three assists and just one turnover.

Isaiah Mobley led USC with 12 points.

CU finished with a 33-27 edge on the boards and held USC to just 37.9 percent shooting (22-for-58) while Colorado shot 27-for-52 (51.9 percent). The Buffs also limited USC to just 10 second-chance points and six fast break points — a far cry from the combined 40 they gave up to UCLA in those two categories just two nights earlier.

"Again, this team responds," coach Tad Boyle said. "This team has heart, determination - we just need to find more consistency … When we play with this kind of energy, enthusiasm, attentiveness and toughness, good things can happen."

HOW IT HAPPENED: The Buffs dominated the contest almost from the beginning, using a 13-3 run in the first half to take a 33-24 lead at halftime, then putting together a 13-0 run early in the second half to assume control for good.

The Buffs were solid on both ends of the floor in both big runs. Battey had five straight points in the first half, including his third 3-pointer of the season, while Colorado's defense was holding USC to a 1-for-9 stretch from the floor.

For the game, CU held USC's big three — Nick Rakocevic, Onyeka Okongwu and Jonah Mathews — to just 28 points on 10-for-31 shooting. The three had been averaging more than 41 points per game combined.

The Buffs put the Trojans away for good with a 13-0 run over a six-minute stretch early in the second half. Wright started the surge with a drive to the hoop, Walton hit a 3-pointer from the top and Schwartz then scored six in a row, starting with a ferocious dunk off a feed from Wright after a steal.

Walton then hit two free throws with 11:32 remaining in the game to give CU a 22-point cushion, 50-28, and the Trojans never came closer than 18 again

Defensively, the Buffs held the Trojans scoreless for 6:30 in the run, and Colorado built the lead to as much as 27 over the final seven minutes. The 21-point final margin of victory was CU's second-largest for a road game in Pac-12 play, surpassed only by a 24-point win at USC (74-50) in 2012.

After falling behind 6-0 early, Colorado caught fire midway through the first half, putting together a 13-3 run that turned a 14-13 deficit into a 26-17 lead. Parquet started the surge with a 3-pointer, Battey added five straight points with a 3-pointer and a turnaround jumper and Schwartz capped the run with three-point play with just more than seven minutes to play.

CU temporarily bumped the lead to 12 with just more than a minute to go on a Bey 3-pointer before the Trojans answered with a Mathews trey to send CU into the locker room at intermission with a 33-24 lead.

BOULDER — It may not have been pretty, but the end result for the Colorado Buffaloes here Thursday was what they needed — a 71-65 win over Cal at the CU Events Center.

The victory, sparked by Tyler Bey's 21-point, 10-rebound double-double, improved the 24th ranked Buffs to 18-5 overall and 7-3 in Pac-12 play, while the Bears — who have yet to win away from home this year — fell to 10-12, 4-5.

The win also lifted the Buffs into a tie with Oregon atop the Pac-12 standings.

The Buffs led for more than half the game, but could never put the Bears away until the end. Colorado actually trailed by one, 46-45, with 8:04 to play before finally taking the lead for good down the stretch, thanks to 3-pointers from Bey, Shane Gatling and McKinley Wright IV.

Along with Bey's eighth double-double of the season (27th career), the Buffs also got 17 points, six rebounds and four assists from Wright, and 14 points, four assists and three rebounds from D'Shawn Schwartz. Gatling added eight points and four assists.

Matt Bradley led the Bears with 17 points.

Cal finished the game shooting 55.6 percent from the floor (25-for-45) — the best shooting percentage by a CU opponent this season. The Buffs were 24-for-50, including 13-for-22 in the second half. CU held a comfortable 32-23 edge on the boards and hit 16 of 24 free throws while the Bears were 8-for-17 from the line.

"Not the prettiest win," CU coach Tad Boyle said. "It reminded me of wins we had in November and December, when we weren't very good but we found a way to win the game. We've certainly gotten better since then. The sign of a somber locker room after a league win tells us that we have pretty high expectations of ourselves."

HOW IT HAPPENED: The Buffs were indeed not at their best, allowing Cal to hit its first six shots of the night as the Bears jumped out to a 15-11 lead. After a stretch that saw the Buffs miss seven straight field goal tries, they finally found the bottom of the net and managed to take a 28-28 tie into the locker room at intermission.

While the Buffs were just 11-for-28 from the floor in the first half, the Bears were 12-for-19.

"Our first-half defense was terrible," Wright said. "That's an area we have to be more locked in."

Colorado threatened to pull away early in the second half, using an 8-0 run to take a 36-31 lead just five minutes in. Bey led the surge with six straight points and Schwartz finished it with an alley-oop dunk off a feed from Gatling. Less than a minute later, Schwartz drained a 3-pointer off another Gatling assist and CU held a six-point edge, 39-33, with 15:07 to play.

But the Buffs couldn't put the Bears away. Cal slowly chipped away at the lead while the Buffs hit a stretch of costly turnovers, and with just more than eight minutes to play, the Bears took a 46-45 lead when a Bradley drive capped a 6-0 run.

When they needed it most, the Buffs found their offense and just enough defense to regain control over the last six minutes. A Bey 3-pointer gave CU a 52-47 edge with 5:47 to go and a Wright 3-pointer with 3:00 on the clock gave the Buffs a 6-point cushion, 58-52.

One minute later, Schwartz hammered home another dunk despite being mugged by D.J. Thorpe on the way up. His ensuing free throw gave Colorado a 61-54 edge — the Buffs' biggest lead to that point — and CU held Cal at bay down the stretch with free throws to collect the win.

The Buffs were no doubt frustrated for much of the night by Cal's game plan, which was to eliminate CU's transition game. The Bears finished with just two offensive rebounds, and walked the ball up the floor after every CU basket in an attempt to milk the clock and shorten the game.

After shooting just 2-for-13 from 3-point range in the first half, the Buffs hit five of their 11 long-distance attempts after halftime.

BOULDER — Colorado erased a dismal first half Saturday with a huge second-half comeback to collect an 81-74 win over Stanford at the CU Events Center, guaranteeing the Buffaloes at least a share of the Pac-12 lead.

CU's third straight win improved the Buffs to 19-5 overall — the best start in CU history after 24 games — and 8-3 in Pac-12 play. Stanford dropped to 16-7, 5-5.

Colorado trailed 33-22 at the half and by 16 early in the second half, but outscored Stanford 59-41 after intermission for the win in front of 10,930. It was the second sellout of the season and the largest Events Center crowd since a February 2016 win over Arizona.

The game was halted for several minutes in the second half after a violent collision between CU's Evan Battey and Stanford's Oscar da Silva when Battey was driving to the basket. After a brief time on the floor, Battey walked to the bench under his own power, but da Silva's head crashed hard into the floor and he was motionless for several minutes. Da Silva was finally helped to the locker room and the Stanford Twitter account later said he had suffered a head laceration.

The Cardinal was not the same team without its star big man. Soon after his departure, the Buffs — who had trailed by as much as 16 early in the half — put together a 16-2 run to take their first lead since early in the game.

Stanford came back to momentarily take the lead again, but Colorado then broke away from a 56-56 tie with a decisive 7-0 run for a 63-56 lead with 6:28 remaining. The Buffs then slowly gained control down the stretch, finally pushing the lead into double digits in the last two minutes before Stanford closed the gap in the final minute.

The comeback from a 16-point deficit tied the 10th-largest in school history and tied the third-largest rally from a second-half deficit.

"A great win for Colorado basketball today," CU coach Tad Boyle said. "More importantly, our hearts go out to Oscar da Silva and his injury. I hope he's OK. I have great respect for Coach (Jerod) Haase and how he handled that and his team handled that and I'm proud of how our guys handled that. It was unfortunate, but injuries are part of the game. It was certainly nothing we tried to do."

Colorado was 14-for-20 from the floor in the second half, including 8-for-8 from 3-point range after going just 3-for-13 from beyond the arc in the first half. The Buffs also hit their last two 3-pointers of the first half, giving them 10 straight treys, a school record.

CU's McKinley Wright IV led all scorers with 21 points (15 in the second half), along with four assists, and D'Shawn Schwartz added 20 points — also 15 in the second half — and seven rebounds. Battey had 13 points and four assists and Tyler Bey recorded his second-straight double-double for the Buffs, his ninth of the season and 28th of his career, with 11 points and 12 rebounds. Bey had three rebounds and no points in the first half.

Jaiden Delaire led Stanford with 19 points.

"Stanford is a very, very good basketball team," Boyle said. "We beat a really good team — a short-handed team — but still a very, very good team."

HOW IT HAPPENED: Colorado struggled through a horrible shooting first half, hitting just six of its 21 field goal tries, including 3-for-13 from 3-point range. The Cardinal, meanwhile, shot 11-for-27, with five 3-pointers on 10 tries.

After falling behind by 16 early in the second half, the Buffs slowly began chipping away at the lead as they managed to put together some defensive stops and put the ball through the hoop.

After the injury to Da Silva, the Buffs manufactured a 16-2 run to take a 51-49 lead at the 10:10 mark. Lucas Siewert had two 3-pointers in the run, Wright and Schwartz each added one and Battey capped the run with a basket inside to give the Buffs their first lead since early in the game.

Stanford momentarily came back to take the lead, but the Buffs broke away from a 56-56 tie with a 7-0 run to build a 63-56 edge with 6:28 to play. Bey had four points in the surge while Wright had a bucket and free throw.

CU built the lead into double digits briefly with just under two minutes to play before the Cardinal closed the gap in the final minute.

EUGENE, Ore. — Colorado played well enough to win for 35 minutes Thursday, but couldn't hold the lead down the stretch as Oregon rallied for a 68-60 win over the Buffaloes at Matthew Knight Arena.

The loss allowed the Ducks to pull into a tie with Colorado for the Pac-12 lead, as CU dropped to 19-6 overall, 8-4 in Pac-12 play. Oregon improved to 19-6, 8-4.

Colorado led by as much as 14 in the first half, thanks to a 20-0 run, and still had a nine-point cushion at intermission. But the Ducks whittled away at the lead in the second half by taking advantage of some costly CU turnovers, and outscored Colorado 15-2 over the last five minutes of the game for the win.

Evan Battey finished with a 14-point, 11-rebound double-double for the Buffs, his fourth of the year. D'Shawn Schwartz added 14 points and five rebounds, Shane Gatling chipped in 11 points and McKinley Wright IV had eight points, five assists and four rebounds.

Will Richardson led Oregon with 21 points and nine rebounds and Peyton Pritchard had a 15-point, 11-rebound double-double for the Ducks.

The big difference in the game was turnovers. Colorado committed 18 miscues in the game — CU's most in Pac-12 play this year — including nine in the second half. The Ducks had just 10 turnovers and only two in the second half, leading to a 16-5 edge in points off turnovers.

Both teams shot just under 40 percent for the game, with CU shooting 23-for-59 and the Ducks 24-for-61. But Colorado was just 9-for-30 from the floor in the second half while Oregon was 14-for-30, with five 3-pointers after intermission.

CU won the rebound battle, 38-35, but the Ducks were better at making their offensive rebounds count, collecting a 20-14 edge in second-chance points.

Colorado also shot just six free throws — a season low — and connected on four while the Ducks were 12-for-16 from the line.

HOW IT HAPPENED: After a slow start against Oregon's matchup zone, the Buffs trailed, 16-10, less than nine minutes into the game.

But midway through the half, the Buffs ramped up their offense and dialed in on defense, putting together a 20-0 run to take a 30-16 lead with 3:48 to play. Wright scored the first five points of the run with a 3-pointer and step-back 2-point bucket, and Lucas Siewert, Gatling and Schwartz also added 3-pointers.

CU's defense, meanwhile, held the Ducks scoreless for almost eight minutes in the stretch, as the Ducks missed 11 consecutive field goal tries. Oregon finally ended the drought on a Chris Duarte bucket and free throw, but Colorado still took a 35-26 lead into intermission.

CU held Pritchard to just seven points in the first half and Richardson to only four, as Oregon shot just 32.3 percent from the field.

But Oregon's defense began to take its toll after halftime. The Buffs struggled to find open shots and had three shot clock violations in the second half, along with several possessions that ended in last-second attempts from long range.

At the same time, the Ducks slowly found their shooting eyes. Colorado still led by nine, 49-40, at the 12:14 mark after 3-pointers from Schwartz and Siewert, but the Ducks put together a 9-2 run to close the gap to two, 51-49, with just under 10 minutes to play.

CU then managed to push the lead back to five after a pair of Battey baskets, and still led 58-53 with under five minutes to play after a Schwartz 3-point play.

But Pritchard hit a 3-pointer with 4:38 to go, the beginning of an Oregon 15-2 run to close the game. Richardson's 21 points were more than double his season average, with 17 coming in the second half while Pritchard had eight points, eight rebounds and six assists in the second half.

CU, meanwhile, struggled offensively, especially in the final five minutes. Colorado missed seven straight shots in a 12-0 Oregon run, part of the 15-2 Oregon closing surge.

CORVALLIS, Ore. — This time around, the Colorado Buffaloes took care of business down the stretch against Oregon State.

The Buffaloes built a nine-point by the half, expanded it to 20 with under eight minutes to play and then protected the cushion in crunch time Saturday to collect a 69-47 win at Gill Coliseum.

The Buffs improved to 20-6 overall and 9-4 in Pac-12 play and guaranteed themselves of at least a share of the conference lead heading into next week. The Beavers fell to 15-10, 5-8.

The victory also gave the Buffs their 11th 20-win season in program history, with CU coach Tad Boyle now owning seven of them in his 10 years in Boulder.

In their first meeting this year, the Buffs allowed the Beavers to come back from an 11-point deficit with under eight minutes to play to collect a win. In Saturday's second meeting, Colorado dominated the Beavers on their home court — especially in the second half.

Junior Tyler Bey bounced back from a season-low four points against Oregon to produce a dominant 21-point, 15-rebound double-double, his 10th of the season and 29th of his career. Junior McKinley Wright IV added his fifth double-double of the season (10th career) with 13 points, 10 rebounds and six assists and no turnovers.

Ethan Thompson led OSU with 17 points while Beavers leading scorer Tres Tinkle had just 10.

The Buffs finished with just eight turnovers in the game (they had 15 in the first meeting), matching their Pac-12 low this season, while also holding OSU to just 33.3 percent shooting (19-for-57), including a 1-for-17 night from 3-point range.

Colorado shot 22-for-54 in the game and held a 45-35 edge on the boards and a 22-6 edge in bench points. The win was CU's second-largest margin of victory on the road in its Pac-12 history, surpassed only by a 74-50 win at USC in 2012.

Coming on the heels of Thursday's loss at Oregon, it was CU's fifth win after a loss this year, with those wins coming by an average of more than 21 points per game. The Buffs have lost two in a row just once this season, in late December to Kansas and Northern Iowa.

"They're a resilient group, they're a confident group," Boyle said. "Before we took the floor, our two words — we wanted to have our confidence and energy … When your two best players play like that, you have a chance to win."

HOW IT HAPPENED: After taking a nine-point lead at the half, 31-22 — thanks to an 8-1 run and then six straight points from Bey — the Buffs made sure not to let history repeat itself and allow the Beavers back in the game.

Instead, Colorado used a 12-2 surge midway through the second half to put the game away. Maddox Daniels and Wright had 3-pointers and Eli Parquet wrapped up the run with a dunk off an assist from Wright to give Colorado a 53-34 edge with 9:23 to play. CU pushed the margin to 20 two minutes later on a Parquet 3-pointer and the Buffs never let the Beavers back in the game after that.

The Buffs were stellar on defense all night long, limiting Tinkle to just 10 points on 3-for-15 shooting. The Buffs switched up their defensive game plan, putting the 6-foot Wright on the 6-7 Tinkle, and CU's point guard harassed and hounded Tinkle all night long.

Meanwhile, they used 6-7 D'Shawn Schwartz on Thompson. While the Beavers guard did finish with 17 points, he needed 7-for-17 shooting, including an 0-for-5 night from 3-point range.

The Beavers never mounted anything resembling a comeback in the second half. The Buffs kept the pressure on from both ends of the floor, and OSU's 47 points ended up being the fewest by a Pac-12 opponent on the road since a 64-47 CU win at Washington five seasons ago.

BOULDER — Colorado took the best punch the USC Trojans could muster Thursday night, then punched back.

Tad Boyle's Buffaloes overcame a 14-point first half deficit, then withstood a furious USC rally down the stretch to collect a 70-66 win over the Trojans at the CU Events Center.

The No. 18/17 Buffaloes improved to 21-6 overall and 10-4 in Pac-12 play while the Trojans dropped to 19-8, 8-6.

After falling behind early, 20-6, CU came back and led by as much as 12 in the second half before the Trojans cut the margin down to one, 67-66, with 1:30 to play.

But McKinley Wright IV hit a floater from the lane coming out of a timeout to bump the margin back to three with 1:20 remaining and the Buffs forced two empty USC possessions in the final minute. Wright hit a free throw with 6.5 seconds on the clock to provide the final margin.

CU finished with five players in double figures, including Tyler Bey's 14-point, 11-rebound double-double, his 11th of the season. Wright had 15 points and six rebounds, Shane Gatling added 13 points, and D'Shawn Schwartz and Lucas Siewert each had 11. Onyeka Okongwu led USC with 21 points.

The Buffs certainly weren't at their best in the first half, as they shot just 34.5 percent (10-for-29), had 11 turnovers and allowed the Trojans to collect a 22-21 rebound edge, including nine offensive boards. That was enough to give USC a 29-26 lead at intermission.

But CU bounced back with a strong second half, shooting 60.7 percent from the field, including 8-for-14 from 3-point range, while also finishing with a 35-32 edge on the boards.

HOW IT HAPPENED: The Buffs never led in the first half, trailing by as much as 14 at one point and still trailing by three at intermission, 29-26.

But CU finally asserted its will early in the second half, putting together a 7-0 run to take its first lead, 36-34, then pushing the run to 12-2 to take a 41-36 edge with 15:17 to play. Gatling had eight points in the run, including a pair of 3-pointers.

Colorado then bumped the lead to as much as 12 at two different junctures, the first at 56-44 on a 12-4 run, then 60-48 just two minutes later. Siewert had two 3-pointers in the run and Schwartz added a trey.

But the Trojans didn't go away quietly. They battled back to cut the CU lead to 64-61 when Daniel Utomi hit USC's first '3' of the game with 4:26 to play, then scored five in a row three minutes later to pull within one, 67-66, with 1:30 to play.

That's when Wright took over, delivering a huge teardrop floater from the lane coming out of a timeout to bump CU's lead back to three. The Buffs then forced two USC empty possessions, including a key turnover forced by Schwartz with 7.2 seconds left, and Wright hit a free throw with 6.5 seconds remaining to provide the final margin.

After their 11 first-half turnovers and USC's nine offensive rebounds before halftime, CU had just four turnovers after intermission and allowed USC just two more offensive rebounds.

The first half was a game of runs, with USC using a 13-0 surge to take a 20-6 lead with 8:50 to play before the Buffs answered with a 20-6 run to tie the game at 26-26 with 2:02 left in the half. USC closed the half with the last three points to take a 29-26 lead into intermission.

The Buffs struggled from the floor in the first 20 minutes, hitting just 10 of their 25 field goal tries, including just 3-for-12 from 3-point range. But they did find their eye momentarily in the 20-6 run, getting treys from Eli Parquet, Bey and Schwartz to fuel the comeback.

Colorado also had trouble containing the Trojans on the boards, as USC had a 22-21 rebound edge, including nine offensive rebounds — six by Rakocevic. CU also had 11 turnovers in the first half, leading to eight USC points.

BOULDER — A second-half drought doomed Colorado here Saturday, as the Buffaloes couldn't protect a nine-point lead and UCLA took a 70-63 win before a sold-out crowd of 11,214 at the CU Events Center.

The No. 18/17 Buffaloes fell to 21-7 overall and 10-5 in Pac-12 play while UCLA improved to 17-11 and 10-5.

The Buffs held a 50-41 lead with 12:34 to play, but the Bruins put together a 20-3 run over the next nine minutes to take a 61-53 edge and the Buffs never recovered. CU went more than seven minutes without scoring and nearly 10 minutes without a field goal in the stretch, and while the Buffs did manage to pull back within three in the final two minutes, it was as close as they could come.

McKinley Wright IV led CU with 20 points, seven rebounds and four assists. Tyler Bey added 13 points and six rebounds and Evan Battey had 11 points and seven rebounds. Cody Riley led UCLA with 16 points and Tyger Campbell had 15.

The Buffs held the Bruins to 40 percent shooting in the first half, but allowed UCLA to shoot 56.3 percent after intermission (18-for-32). Colorado also dominated the paint in the first half, outscoring the Bruins 20-8, but UCLA had a 28-16 edge in the paint in the second half.

"Credit to UCLA, they deserved to win this game," an obviously disappointed CU coach Tad Boyle said. "They were the tougher team. In the second half they made the plays down the stretch that needed to be made and we didn't."

The Buffs did win the rebound battle, 35-31, but finished with 10 turnovers to UCLA's seven, and the Bruins did not have a turnover in the second half.

HOW IT HAPPENED: After struggling early, Colorado led by three at the half and pushed the margin to nine soon after intermission. A Shane Gatling 3-pointer gave CU a 41-32 lead with 16:11 to play, and the Buffs maintained their edge over the next four minutes, taking a 50-41 lead after a Wright layup with 12:34 on the clock.

But that proved to be the beginning of the end for the Buffs. Following a timeout, the Bruins started a 14-0 run, part of the decisive 20-3 surge. The Buffs missed their next 10 field goal tries after Wright's layup, and added three turnovers as well.

The Bruins, meanwhile, hit their first four shots for a 9-0 run, then five of seven after two misses.

The Buffs finally ended their field goal drought with back-to-back buckets from Wright and Bey to cut the UCLA lead to four, 61-57, with 1:58 to play before the Bruins got two Tyger Campbell free throws. Wright then drained a pair of 3-pointers, sandwiched around a UCLA trey, to pull the Buffs within three, 66-63, with 46.9 seconds to play.

But the Bruins got a Riley bucket coming out of a timeout and CU missed on its next trip down the floor, forcing the Buffs to foul and Chris Smith hit two free throws to close out the game.

The Buffs finished with just 10 free throw attempts — less than half of their season average per game — and made eight. UCLA was 6-for-11 from the line.

The Buffs started slowly while the Bruins hit five of their first seven field goal tries and held an 11-6 lead five minutes in.

But Colorado slowly chipped away at the lead, then used a 9-0 run to take a 23-17 lead with 5:07 left in the half. Dallas Walton started the run with a 3-pointer from the top of the key, Battey added four in the run and Gatling had a beautiful drive under the bucket and reverse layup. Colorado then pushed the lead to 25-18 on a pair of Wright free throws.

Defensively, the Buffs recorded five consecutive stops in the run and held the Bruins without a field goal for 5:25.

But the Bruins finally ended the drought, closing CU's lead to 29-26 by halftime.

BERKELEY, Calif. — Nothing went right for Colorado here Thursday, as the cold-shooting Buffaloes fell behind by 12 at the half and never recovered in a 76-62 loss to California at Haas Pavilion.

The Buffaloes' second straight defeat — only their second two-game losing streak of the season and first in Pac-12 play — dropped CU to 21-8 overall and 10-6 in Pac-12 play. Cal improved to 12-16, 6-9.

Just one week ago, the Buffs were alone atop the Pac-12 standings. Now, after losses to UCLA and Cal, Colorado is in danger of slipping out of the league's top four and losing the first round conference tournament bye that goes with that finish.

McKinley Wright IV led the Buffs with 18 points, six rebounds and four assists. Tyler Bey added 13 points and five rebounds and Lucas Siewert scored 11.

Cal's Matt Bradley finished with a career-high tying 26 points that included a 5-for-7 night from 3-point range, and the 76 points were Cal's season high in Pac-12 play.

The Buffs struggled all night from the floor. CU entered the game as the league's best 3-point shooting team in Pac-12 play, but finished just 6-for-29 from beyond the arc (20.7 percent), including a dismal 3-for-20 in the second half. Cal — one of the league's worst-shooting teams — shot 46.3 percent from the floor (25-for-54), including 9-for-20 from 3-point range.

Colorado committed just 11 turnovers in the game, but those led to a 21-5 Cal edge in points off turnovers.

HOW IT HAPPENED: After a slow start to open the game, the Buffs actually rallied to go ahead in the first half, coming back from an early 15-8 deficit to take a 23-21 lead with 8:45 to play in the half. Evan Battey hit a 3-pointer from the top of the key and Siewert had a pair of treys in a 15-6 CU run, with Siewert's second 3-pointer giving the Buffs their first lead of the game.

But the Buffs didn't have much time to enjoy their lead. Bradley — who had 17 points in the first half — answered Siewert's 3-pointer with one of his own, the beginning of a 17-3 Cal run to close the half. Bradley added two more 3-pointers in the surge, and also hit two free throws after a technical foul on Tad Boyle, who was protesting an offensive foul call on Wright. The foul, Wright's second of the half, brought him to the bench with 4:29 remaining in the half, and the Buffs trailed 38-26 at intermission.

The Buffs hurt themselves in Cal's closing run, fouling Bradley on a made 3-pointer, giving him a free throw for a four-point play. According to Boyle, it was the 13th time this year the Buffs have fouled a 3-point shooter.

The Bears entered the game as the Pac-12's lowest scoring team in conference play (59.3 points per game) and with the second-worst shooting percentage and 3-point percentage. But they finished 46.3 percent from the floor overall and 45.0 percent from 3-point range — their second good shooting performance against CU this season.

The Buffs did manage to cut the 12-point halftime deficit down to seven midway through the second half when a Maddox Daniels 3-pointer pulled CU to within 47-40 with with 11:32 to play.

But the Bears quickly answered with a 9-0 run to push their lead back to 16 and Colorado never cut the deficit back to single digits again.

While Wright and Bey did combine to shoot a combined 13-for-21 from the floor, their other four leaders in minutes played — Siewert, Evan Battey, Shane Gatling and D'Shawn Schwartz — shot just 8-for-32, with Schwartz enduring an 0-for-8 night.

The Buffs attempted just nine free throws and made six, the fourth time in the last five games they have attempted 10 or fewer free throws. After averaging more than 22 free throws a game for the first 24 games of the year, they have averaged just 11 tries per game over the last five.

STANFORD, Calif. — Colorado rallied to cut a 15-point deficit down to three here Sunday in the final minutes, but that was as close as the Buffaloes could come as they dropped a 72-64 decision to Stanford at Maples Pavilion.

The Buffs' third straight loss — their longest losing streak of the season — dropped No. 21/20 CU to 21-9 overall and 10-7 in Pac-12 play. Stanford improved to 20-9, 9-7.

The Buffs trailed by as much as 15 in the first half and again in the second half before cutting the deficit 65-62 with 3:46 still to play. But CU went cold again down the stretch and the Cardinal held on for the win.

Tyler Bey led Colorado with 17 points and seven rebounds and McKinley Wright IV had a 13-point, 11-rebound double-double for the Buffs, his sixth of the year and 11th of his career. D'Shawn Schwartz added 14 points for CU.

The Cardinal had four players in double figures, led by Bryce Wills with 19 points — 17 coming in the second half.

The loss drops CU into a tie with USC for fourth place in the Pac-12, and a half-game behind Arizona State and a half-game ahead of Arizona. The Buffs own the tiebreaker over USC and ASU, but would lose a tiebreaker with Arizona.

Stanford shot 52.5 percent from the floor in the game, the second straight opponent to shoot better than 50 percent against CU and the fourth to shoot at least 45 percent. CU is 1-3 in that stretch.

The Buffs shot 42.6 percent, but hit just five of their 20 3-point field goal tries. The biggest difference came in the paint, where Stanford held a dominating 56-34 edge as the Cardinal drove to the bucket almost at will all night long.

"Our defense right now is not good enough to win a game on the road," CU coach Tad Boyle said. "Our defense was not good enough to win a close game at home against UCLA. Our defense failed in the second half. Until we get that back, it's gonna be like this. We have a week to figure it out."

HOW IT HAPPENED: The Buffs were once again plagued by a slow start, falling behind midway through the first half by as much as 15 after a 22-7 Stanford run before pulling to within seven, 35-28, with an 8-0 run just before halftime. Eli Parquet and Wright had 3-pointers in the run and Bey added a dunk.

The Buffs then continued their comeback in the second half, slicing Stanford's lead down to three, 45-42, on a Lucas Siewert 3-pointer with 15:07 still to play.

But the Cardinal answered with a 12-2 run to push the edge back to 13, then bumped the cushion to 15 points, 63-48, with 9:17 to go. Wills was almost unstoppable in the run, hitting five baskets, most on drives to the rim.

Colorado, however, refused to go away. Following a timeout and still trailing by 13, Colorado put together a 10-0 run to pull within three, 65-62. Wright had three straight buckets for the Buffs before Bey followed with two more, including a tip-in with 3:46 to play.

"Offensively we played with much more purpose and poise in the second half," Boyle said. "We played inside out much better and we shared the ball. We really went inside and we put some pressure on them."

But CU's rally led to a Stanford timeout, and the Buffs turned it over following the timeout. Colorado then had four more empty possessions while Wills got another bucket with 2:41 remaining to push Stanford's lead back to five. Wills added another basket with just under a minute to play and the Buffs managed just two more points in the final minute.

"Nobody's guarding," CU's Wright said. "We've got three, maybe four guys who really take defense personally. I'm trying my best to figure out how to get this whole team back to the defensive team we were earlier in the year and get guys to guard."

The Buffs also once again found it difficult to get to the foul line. CU was just 7-for-8 from the line, the fifth time in the last six games the Buffs have had 10 or fewer free throws. Stanford didn't have many more, hitting seven of 11.

SALT LAKE CITY — Colorado's hopes for a first-round bye in the Pac-12 tournament were dealt a death blow here Saturday when Utah stole a 74-72 overtime victory at the Huntsman Center.

CU's fourth straight loss dropped the Buffs to 21-10 overall and 10-8 in Pac-12 play to end the regular season while Utah improved to 16-14, 7-11.

Colorado led for more than 37 minutes of the game, but saw Utah's Both Gach hit a basket at the end of regulation to force overtime, then saw Gach hit three free throws with :00.6 on the clock in overtime to hand CU the loss. Gach's free throws came after Colorado's McKinley Wright IV was called for a questionable foul as Gach attempted a desperation 3-pointer just before the buzzer.

The Buffs needed a win to guarantee a top-four finish and first-round bye in next week's Pac-12 tournament. They will now be seeded sixth.

Wright led CU with 20 points, six rebounds and six assists. Tyler Bey had a 16-point, 10-rebound double-double for Colorado, his 12th of the season, and Evan Battey had 15 points for CU. Gach had a career-high 28 points for Utah.

Along with letting a first-round bye slip away — something the Buffs have never had in conference tournament play — CU also missed out on a school-record 22nd regular season win.

HOW IT HAPPENED: The Buffs had their chances to collect the win in regulation and overtime, but could not come up with the key plays when it mattered most.

CU led by two, 64-62, with 19 seconds left in regulation after a Bey three-point play, but couldn't get a defensive stop on the Utes' final possession, as Gach scored on a drive inside with 2.5 seconds remaining.

The Buffs then used an 8-2 run down the stretch in overtime to go up 72-70 on a Wright drive to the basket with 31.7 seconds left. Utah's Timmy Allen hit one of two free throws with 9.1 seconds on the clock and Wright was fouled on the in-bounds pass with eight seconds to go.

Wright, though, missed the front end of the one-and-one and the Utes rushed the ball down the floor and Gach heaved a desperation 3-point try from in front of the Utah bench that badly missed the mark. But Wright was called for a foul on the shot, even though Gach was fading away on the attempt, and Gach hit all three free throws to hand Colorado the loss.

The loss was particularly tough for the Buffs to take because they played well enough to win for much of the night. CU built a 10-point lead midway through the first half and took an eight-point cushion into halftime, 41-33. Colorado dominated the Utes in the paint in the first 20 minutes, holding a 20-10 edge on points inside.

But when Colorado couldn't hit from the outside to start the second half, the Utes began to shut down CU's inside game and Utah used a 7-0 run to cut the Buffs' lead to one, 41-40, less than three minutes in.

The Buffs temporarily pushed their cushion back to six after an Eli Parquet 3-pointer, but Utah put together another 7-0 run to take their first lead of the game, 47-46, with 13:22 to play.

Colorado finished the game shooting 43.8 percent from the field (28-for-64), but that included just 7-for-28 from 3-point range and only 2-for-15 after halftime from beyond the arc.

The Buffs did finally manage to get the ball back inside after Utah took its first lead of the game. After a Wright 3-pointer, CU got buckets from Battey and Maddox Daniels inside, part of a 9-0 run that gave CU an eight-point edge, 55-47, at the midway point of the half.

But Utah once again chipped away at Colorado's cushion, and with 2:34 to go, regained the lead on an Alfonso Plummer 3-pointer that came following a Utes offensive rebound. The two teams then traded the lead twice over the next two minutes before Bey's three-point play with 19 seconds left gave CU a 64-62 edge, only to see Gach's runner from the lane send the game into overtime.

LAS VEGAS — Colorado's hopes for a reboot in the Pac-12 Tournament instead turned into more of the same Wednesday night, as the Buffaloes dropped an 82-68 first-round decision to Washington State at T-Mobile Arena.

The loss, CU's fifth in a row, dropped Colorado to 21-11 and leaves the Buffs at the mercy of the NCAA Selection Committee's decision Sunday afternoon. WSU, the first team this season to score 80 points on the Buffs, improved to 16-16 and will face Arizona State in Thursday's quarterfinals.

The loss was also the first for the Buffs in a Pac-12 Tournament opener after winning their tourney opener the last nine years in a row (including one season in the Big 12). It was Washington State's first conference tournament win since 2009. McKinley Wright IV led CU with 21 points and 9 rebounds and Tyler Bey added 19 points and 8 rebounds.

CJ Elleby led Washington State with 30 points and 10 rebounds.

The Buffs struggled almost from the outset, as WSU led by as much as 14 midway through the first half and by 10 at intermission, 35-25. WSU then pushed the margin to 21 midway through the second half before a 9-0 Colorado run cut the deficit back to 12, 57-45, with 10:25 still to play.

But that was as close as the Buffs could come, as WSU rebuilt the lead into the 20s down the stretch.

Colorado struggled from the floor all night, missing its first 12 3-point shots before Wright finally connected in the second half. The Buffs finished just 21-for-57 from the floor, including 4-for-21 from 3-point range. The Cougars shot 27-for-55 (10-for-21 from long range), and held a 37-34 rebound edge.

CU also finished with a season-low four assists, with two of those coming in the final minutes.

"Our team right now has lost its identity," an obviously disappointed CU coach Tad Boyle said. "We've lost our fight, we've lost our toughness, that we've got to get back. And thank goodness we played really, really well the first 27 games of the season to put ourselves in a position, I think, to be in the postseason. But nothing is guaranteed until we see our name pop up on Sunday."

HOW IT HAPPENED: The Buffs were out of sorts from the beginning, giving up a 15-2 run midway through the first half that paved the way for a 35-25 WSU halftime lead, then allowing the Cougars to bump their cushion to 21, 57-36, less than eight minutes into the second half.

Colorado did manage to make a mini-run at the Cougars, putting together a 9-0 burst to cut WSU's lead to 57-45. Bey had two free throws to start the run before Wright scored seven straight points, including CU's first 3-pointer of the game.

But that led to a WSU timeout, and the Cougars ran off a 15-5 run to regain control for good.

"We've been talking now for the last five games how our defense has not been good enough to win games, whether it's first half, second half, full ballgame, it doesn't matter," Boyle said. "Tonight they shot 70 percent in the second half, and we couldn't get back in the game. We couldn't get a stop, we couldn't claw back."

Along with having a tough time on defense — WSU was 5-for-9 from 3-point range in the second half while Elleby was 6-for-10 from long distance for the game — the Buffs also struggled on the offensive end. The team that led the Pac-12 in shooting percentage and 3-point shooting after 14 games continued to have problems scoring. While Wright did finish with 21 points, the Cougars harassed him into a 6-for-17 night from the floor. Bey shot 6-for-9 from the floor, but he was the only starter above 50 percent. Aside from Bey, the rest of the Buffs finished just 15-for-48.

2019 PAC-12 CHINA GAME

Coloardo and Arizona State tipped off the 2019-20 season in Shanghai, meeting in the fifth edition of the Pac-12 China Game presented by Alibaba Group. Longtime Pac-12 Conference partner Federation of University Sports of China (FUSC), which operates under China's Ministry of Education, served as the co-host for the game.

The Pac-12 China Game is the flagship event of Pac-12 Global, designed to grow the global popularity of Pac-12 athletic programs and universities, fostering cultural exchange through sport, and creating unique educational experiences for Pac-12 student-athletes. China is also an important country for CU Boulder recruiting. More than 1,100 Chinese students study at CU Boulder; they represent the campus' largest population of international students.

The Buffaloes played an exhibition game on Wednesday, Nov. 6, a 109-42 win over Tsinghua University, and defeated the Sun Devils, 81-71, in the Pac-12 China game on Nov. 8 (Nov. 9 in China).

During the week leading up to the Pac-12 China game, the Buffaloes enjoyed sight seeing in the world's third largest city of Shanghai - more than 24 million. Colorado players and coaches spent time with children from the Yao Ming Foundation and participated in a baksetball clinic at Alibaba.

Along with the kids clinic, the Buffaloes took part in educational activities at Alibaba, China's leading e-commerce company. The Pac-12's partnership with the Alibaba Group is what has allowed the conference to fund team travel and other costs for this annual event.

Aside from players and coaches, members of Colorado's Spirit Squad and Chip the mascot were in attendance on the trip along with CU Boulder Chancellor Phil DiStefano and Athletic Director Rick George.

This was the the first intercollegiate regular season event for a Colorado Athletics program in China, or the Eastern Hemisphere for that matter. The Buffaloes had played in a handful of regular season events outside the continental United States. Both basketball programs have played in Puerto Rico; the men in 1998-99 and the women in 2005-06.

2019-20 IN REVIEW

THE BUFFALOES: Colorado finished the 2019-20 season at 21-11 overall and tied for fifth place in the Pac-12 Conference regular season standings at 10-8.

Colorado's 21 regular season wins tied for the most in program history, achieved three other times: 1996-97, 2013-14 and 2015-16. Overall, it tied for the seventh-most wins counting postseason.

It was the sixth time in 10 seasons the Buffaloes have had at least 10 conference wins. CU's Pac-12 best is 11, in 2011-12 (11-7).

The Buffaloes were well in line for an NCAA Tournament bid before the season was shut down on March 12 due to the coronavirus pandemic. Colorado played its last game on March 11, a first round Pac-12 Tournament loss to Washington State. Hours later, the Pac-12 made the decision to cancel the remainder of its tournament and by mid-day on March 12, the NCAA had announced the cancellation of all its winter and spring sport championships.

Colorado was ranked in the Associated Press Top 25 poll for a school record 13 weeks while appearing in 11 USA Today/Coaches polls. The Buffaloes peaked at No. 15 in the Coaches poll and No. 16 in the AP poll on Feb. 10.

Statistically, the Buffaloes were second in the Pac-12 and 41st in the nation in scoring defense at 64.3 points per game. On other Pac-12 charts Colorado ranked second in 3-point field goals (7.5 3mpg), rebounding margin (+5.2), defensive rebounds (26.9 drpg) and rebounding defense (31.8 rpg), third in rebounding (37.0 rpg) and fourth in scoring margin (+6.6), 3-point shooting (.351) and free throw percentage (.736).

During the Pac-12 schedule, Colorado ranked second in field goal shooting (.451), rebounding margin (+3.5), and rebounding defense (31.9 rpg), third in assists (13.4 apg), scoring margin (+4.4), 3-pointers made (7.6 3mpg) and rebounding (35.4 rpg) and fourth in scoring (70.4 ppg), 3-point shooting (.347), assist-to-turnover ratio (1.1) and free throw percentage (.740).

Two-time All-Pac-12 guard McKinley Wright IV led the Buffaloes at 14.4 points and 5.0 assists per game. It was his third straight season leading the team in assists and second time pacing the squad in scoring. He was second on the team in steals (36), blocked shots (11) and free throws made (95) and third in rebounding (5.7 rpg) and 3-point field goals (39).

Overall on the Pac-12 charts, Wright was fourth in assists and minutes (34.9 mpg), fifth in assist-to-turnover ratio (1.7), 12th in free throw percentage (.792), 13th in defensive rebounding (4.5 drpg) and 15th in scoring and overall rebounding.

Wright led the Pac-12 in assists during conference games at 5.7 a contest and was third in assist-to-turnover ratio (1.9) during that span. Wright's 103 assists during the Pac-12 season tied his own school season record originally set in 2017-18.

Wright had six double-doubles on the season, split down the middle with three points-assists doubles and three of the points-rebounds variety. His six double-doubles were the most for any point guard in the Pac-12 and tied for eighth among all players.

Pac-12 Defensive Player of the Year Tyler Bey won the conference rebounding title at 9.0 boards per game. He also paced the Buffaloes in shooting (.530), steals (1.5 spg) and blocks (1.2 bpg). Bey was second on the team in scoring at 13.7 points per game.

Bey held a share of the top rebounding game by a Pac-12 player this season. He had 19 rebounds against Wyoming, the most by a Buffalo since Andre Roberson had 20 against Stanford in Jan. 2013.

Along with leading the Pac-12 in overall rebounding, he was the top defensive rebounder in the conference at 7.0 per game. On other Pac-12 charts Bey ranked third in double-doubles (12), fifth in steals, seventh in blocks, eighth in offensive rebounds (2.0 orpg), ninth in field goal percentage and 17th in scoring.

Junior D'Shawn Schwartz was third on the team in scoring (9.8 ppg), assists (44) and steals (23). He led the Buffaloes with 51 3-point field goals, shooting 36.7 percent from long range.

Schwartz finished 14th in the Pac-12 in 3-point shooting. He made the "Shot of the Year" hitting a 3-pointer at the buzzer to knock off then No. 13 ranked Dayton in overtime on Dec. 21.

Sophomore Evan Battey led the Buffaloes in offensive rebounds (84) while ranking second in field goal percentage (.526) and overall rebounding (5.9 rpg) and fourth in scoring (9.1 ppg) and steals (17).

Battey's 84 offensive rebounds are 16 more than he had has a freshman (and in four fewer games) and the most by a Buffalo since Wesley Gordon had 100, and Josh Scott had 87, during the 2015-16 campaign (34 games).

On the Pac-12 leaderboard, he was fifth in offensive rebounds (2.6 orpg), 10th in field goal percentage and 13th in overall rebounding.

Senior Lucas Siewert was Colorado's top 3-point shooter at 38.6 percent, ranking eighth on the Pac-12 leaderboard. He was second on the team in overall 3-pointers made with 49 and led the Buffaloes in that category during the Pac-12 season (29).

Senior guard Shane Gatling averaged 6.5 points and ranked fourth on the team in 3-point field goals (37) and assists (38).

TEAM AWARDS: McKinley Wright IV received the Chauncey Billups Award as the team's Most Valuable Player. The Chauncey Billups MVP Award is one of five voted on by Colorado men's basketball student-athletes. Tyler Bey won the Best Defender Award, Eli Parquet was named Most Improved, Evan Battey was voted Most Inspirational and Alexander Strating won the Tebo Family P.A.S.S. Award.

In addition, two statistical champion awards were handed out. Bey won the Stephane Pelle Rebounding Award while Wright earned the Jay Humphries Assist Award.

PAC-12 HONORS: Tyler Bey was named the 2019-20 Pac-12 Conference Defensive Player of the Year while McKinley Wright IV was tabbed first team all-conference for the second time by a vote of league coaches the conference announced on Monday.

In addition, Bey was selected to the All-Pac-12 Second Team while joining Wright on the Pac-12's five-member All-Defensive squad.

Bey is Colorado's second Defensive Player of the Year in any conference, joining Andre Roberson who earned the Pac-12's honor in 2012-13. He's the first Buffalo to win two different conference player of the year type awards. Bey was the Pac-12's Most Improved Player of the Year in 2018-19.

Wright is Colorado's third two-time All-Pac-12 First Team honoree, joining Josh Scott (2013-14, '15-16) and Roberson (2011-12, & '12-13) and the 13th Buffalo to achieve multiple first team all-league selections.

Colorado has had a first or second team All-Conference performer in all nine seasons as a member of the Pac-12. Bey is the fourth Buffalo to be named to the All-Pac-12 Second Team. In total, nine different CU players have accounted for 13 All-Pac-12 honors.

Lucas Siewert

McKinley Wright IV

Bey and Wright represent Colorado's fifth and sixth Pac-12 All-Defensive Team members and the ninth and 10th including the program's Big Eight/Big 12 Conference era.

PAC-12 WINTER ACADEMIC HONOR ROLL: Juniors Frank Ryder and Aidan McQuade were named to the 2019-20 Winter Academic Honor Roll on Mar. 31.

The Pac-12 implemented its new honor roll in the fall on the recommendation of the Faculty Athletics Representatives (FARs). The conference changed the all-academic selection process to eliminate all-academic teams and honor anyone that has a cumulative GPA of 3.3 or greater and has served a year in residence at their institution.

Ryder also earned the Clancy A. Herbst, Jr., Student-Athlete Achievement Award presented to CU student-athletes who overcome personal, academic or emotional challenges difficulties to succeed both academically and athletically.

ALL DISTRICT: McKinley Wright IV was named to the National Association of Basketball Coaches (NABC) All-District 19 First Team while classmate Tyler Bey was a second team selection.

A total of 10 individuals were honored on the two five-player All-District 19 teams which encompasses the Pac-12 Conference. Wright is Colorado's first NABC All-District First Team member since Alec Burks in 2010-11. Five Buffaloes in the Pac-12 era had previously been honored on second team squads, most recently Derrick White in 2016-17.

Wright was also one of 10 players named to the U.S. Basketball Writers Association (USBWA) All-District VIII Team.

CHAUNCEY BILLUPS

5-time NBA All-Star, 2004 NBA Champion, 2004 NBA Finals MVP
17-Year NBA Career (Retired Sept. 2014)

COLORADO BASKETBALL HISTORY

A program first known as the Silver and Gold, won its first game back on Jan. 10, 1902 defeating State Prep School, 34-10. That game marked the beginning of what was to become an outstanding tradition of basketball at the University of Colorado.

The Silver and Gold became known as the Buffaloes in 1934, after CU students rented a buffalo calf for the final football game that year. Colorado has been a member of six conferences, joining the Rocky Mountain Conference in 1909, and then the Mountain States in 1937. The Buffs became a member of the Big Seven Conference in 1947, which became the Big Eight in 1958. The Big Eight and Southwest Conferences merged to create the Big 12 Conference in 1996, which Colorado was a member of until joining the Pac-12 Conference in 2011.

A total of 18 coaches have guided the Buffs to victory, but none more so than past leaders of Forrest B. "Frosty" Cox, H.B. Lee, Russell "Sox" Walseth, Ricardo Patton, and Tad Boyle.

1940 NIT Champions, Two Final Fours

Cox spent 13 years roaming the Balch Fieldhouse from 1936-50, collecting a 147-89 record. While at the helm, Cox's teams won four Mountain States titles, was the 1938 NIT runner-up, won the 1940 NIT, advanced to the 1940 NCAA Tournament and 1942 NCAA Final Four. He concluded his CU career with the best won-lost percentage (.623) of any CU coach of more than one season.

Some of CU basketball's finest moments were orchestrated by Lee from 1950-56. In six seasons, he guided the Buffaloes to a pair of Big Seven titles and back-to-back NCAA Tournaments, including the 1955 Final Four. It was the second Final Four trip for Colorado, who fell to eventual champion San Francisco in the semifinals. The Buffaloes rebounded to defeat Iowa in the third place game, cementing the program's best-ever national finish. That 1954-55 season saw Lee's squad win a then-school-best 19 games.

From 1957-76, basketball was under the direction of Walseth. His 261 wins are the most by any coach in school basketball history. Walseth led the Buffs to back-to-back Big Eight titles in 1961-62 and 1962- 63, and both teams reached the NCAA second round before being eliminated by Cincinnati.

Walseth also engineered six Big Eight seasons where his teams finished third or better in the conference, including three titles (one shared). During the 1968-69 season, Walseth's team won a then-school best 21 games and during his tenure won 14 or more games in a season 11 times. His teams also had 13 winning seasons. Today, CU now plays on the "Sox Walseth Floor" in the CU Events Center, a tribute to Walseth's success as a Buff.

Coaches are not solely responsible for the success of each season, and the Buffs have had a wealth of outstanding talent on the hardwood in its proud past. Outstanding Buff performers range from Jack Harvey, CU's first All-American, to Chauncey Billups, the third pick in the 1997 NBA Draft. During that span players such as Hall of Famer Burdette Haldorson, Cliff Meely, Scott Wedman and Jay Humphries donned the Buffaloes' uniform.

The "Big Burd," as Haldorson was called, won the league scoring race in Colorado's 1953-54 and 1954-55 Big Seven championship seasons, netting 21.3 and 23.9 points per game, respectively. After CU finished third in the 1955 NCAA Tournament, Haldorson was selected to the AAU All-America team. His 13.8 rebounds per game that year is still a CU single season record. He would go on to win Olympic Gold with the 1956 and 1960 USA basketball teams.

Meely became another legendary player at Colorado from 1968-71. The sensational center-forward is the Buffaloes' all-time leader in rebounding average (12.1 rpg) and remains fourth in total boards with 971. In addition, Meely held a number of Big Eight scoring marks when his collegiate career ended in 1971.

Named an All-American for his performance during his senior campaign, Meely averaged 28.0 points and hauled in 11.9 rebounds per game. His 47-point, 25-rebound outing against Oklahoma was one highlight of that milestone season. Meely was a two-time Big Eight Player of the Year and led the Buffaloes to the conference title and NCAA Tournament in 1968-69.

The next Buff to make an impact was Wedman, a sharp-shooting forward from 1971-74. Wedman came to CU from Denver's Mullen High School and led the team in scoring and rebounding for two years, field goal percentage three years, and free throw percentage one year. Before leaving Colorado, Wedman was firmly established in the school record books.

His numbers placed him sixth in rebounding (No. 13 today), seventh in scoring (No. 22 today), and eighth in field goal percentage. After enjoying a successful 12-year stint in the NBA, Wedman concluded his professional career in 1987 with the Boston Celtics.

CU Events Center and the Rise of the '90s

A major change in Colorado basketball came in 1979, when the team moved into the Colorado Events/Conference Center with its spacious seating capacity of 11,076. The facility was renamed the Coors Events/Conference Center in 1990, in honor of a donation made by Coors to the campus. The Coors name was synonymous with the arena for just under 28 years, before being renamed the CU Events Center on July 1, 2018.

Arguably the best and most exciting Buff of the 1980s was guard Jay Humphries. While running the Colorado offense from 1980-84, Humphries became the school's all-time assist leader (562), and graduated as the program's fourth-leading scorer with 1,306 points. His specialty, however, was defensive play. He's Colorado's all-time leader in steals with 309; 64 more than the closest alum. Humphries is the only Colorado player with 100-plus steals in a season and led the nation in thefts in 1982-83 with 115.

CU closed out the 1980s and began a new decade of Buffalo basketball with two greats, Shaun Vandiver and Stevie Wise. Both Vandiver and Wise were instrumental in the school's run through the 1991 NIT, CU's first postseason appearance since making the NCAA Tourney in 1969. Colorado finished third in that NIT at the famed Madison Square Garden. Prior to the trip to New York City, the Buffaloes played in front of a standing-room only crowd and cut down the nets after defeating Arkansas State to advance to the semifinals.

Vandiver, a 6'10" center, who transferred to CU in 1988 after leading Hutchinson CC to the junior college national championship, worked his way up the Buff charts with an excellent shooting touch and a desire to hit the boards. A three-time All-Big Eight performer, Vandiver scored 1,876 points and grabbed 962 rebounds while shooting 54.7 percent from the field. All three of those numbers remain in the top five on Colorado's record book.

Wise too, left his mark in the CU record books. Coming to Boulder as a guard in 1987, he managed to suit up for 119 games in a Colorado uniform, at the time the fifth most in team history. Like Vandiver, he too loved to shoot, and is one of the Buffs' all-time three-point specialists. Wise also finished his career as the No. 3 scorer (1,727 points) and sits in seventh today.

Donnie Boyce marked the onset of the 1990s, as the Maywood, Ill., product took CU and the Big Eight by storm. After four incredible seasons, Boyce graduated as Colorado's all-time leading scorer with 1,995 points, a mark that would hold up for 13 seasons. He led the Buffaloes to an NIT bid as a senior in 1994-95.

Chauncey Billups continued CU's tradition of great players as he made his mark early in his career. In only his fourth game as a freshman, Billups posted the first triple-double in CU history. His 24-point, 11-assist, 11-rebound game against George Mason was a harbinger of great things to come for the 6'3" product from George Washington High School in Denver.

As a sophomore, Billups would lead Colorado to its first NCAA appearance (1996-97) in 28 years and earn many postseason accolades, including All-Big 12 first-team honors and first-team freshman All-America kudos from Basketball Weekly and Basketball Times. In two years, Billups scored over 1,000 points (1,020), becoming the 20th player in CU history to accomplish that feat.

Into the 21st Century

The next great point-guard, Jaquay Walls, guided CU toward back-to-back 18 win seasons, both of which brought NIT bids. A junior college transfer who made his impact immediately, Walls was named honorable mention All-Big 12 and to the All-Newcomer team in his junior season. As a senior, he was twice named Big 12 Player of the Week and had a 42-point performance against Iowa State, which set a Big 12 record and remains the top scoring performance by a Colorado player at the CU Events Center. His 15 overtime points in that game was also an NCAA record. That spring, he was selected by the Indiana Pacers in the NBA Draft.

Seven-footer David Harrison made his presence felt during the 2001-02 season being named to the Big 12 All-Freshman team and leading the Buffaloes in scoring (13.9 ppg). The only other players in CU history to stand over seven feet are Frank Wilcox (1955-56), Ben Mills (2010-14) and Dallas Walton (2017-present). Harrison also rewrote the CU record book in field goal percentage finishing the season with a stellar 63.8 percentage and third nationally.

Harrison set a school-record with 106 swats during the 2002-03 season, shattering the previous mark of 73. He also became the first player in school history and in the Big 12 to record a pair of triple-doubles (31 pts., 17 reb., 10 blocks against Stetson; 20 pts., 11 blocks, 10 rebs. versus Nebraska).

In 2002-03, CU made its first NCAA Tournament appearance since 1996-97. With 20 victories on the season, another feat only accomplished twice before by Patton in 1996-97 (22-10) and Sox Walseth in 1968-69 (21-7), the Buffaloes also upset four nationally ranked teams – all at home for the first-time ever.

CU greats Jay Humphries and the late-Cliff Meely on the night when the Coors Events Center set an attendance record Dec. 5, 2012. The Buffs defeated Colorado State, 70-61 in front of 11,708 spectators.

CU IN THE HISTORY BOOKS

Colorado is one of just 12 schools to have ever qualified for the NCAA Tournament and the National Invitation Tournament (NIT) in the same year, as the Buffaloes made dual appearances in 1940, becoming the first school to ever do that. That year, CU won the NIT and finished fourth in the NCAA West Region. The other schools that have matched this feat are: Arizona (1951), Bradley (1950), Brigham Young (1951), City College of New York (which won both tourneys in 1950), Dayton (1952), Duquesne (1952), Kentucky (1949), North Carolina State (1951), St. John's (1951 and 1952), St. Louis University (1952), and Utah (1944).

David Harrison

Individually, the Buffaloes received four All-Big 12 honors with Michel Morandais (second team) along with Stephane Pelle earning third-team. Morandais and Harrison also were named to the Big 12's specialty teams as two of the conference's most-improved players. Pelle capped his four-year career with 1,367 points and 1,054 rebounds becoming the first of two CU men's basketball players to secure both 1,000 plateaus (Andre Roberson: 2010-13: 1,012pts., 1,045 rebs.). Pelle would go on to become – and to this day – is the school's all-time leading rebounder (1,054).

During the 2003-04 campaign, CU won 18 games for the fifth time under Patton and earned its third NIT berth in eight years. More impressively, the Buffaloes won 10 conference games, the most since recording 11 back in 1996-97 and earning the number four seed at the Big 12 Tournament in Dallas. Harrison also broke the school record for blocks in a career (225) and would on go to rewrite the blocked shot record book despite playing only three years and opting for the 2004 NBA Draft (29th overall, first round, Indiana Pacers).

The Buffaloes saw the arrival of Richard Roby in 2004-05 as he would become the first freshman since Billups (1995-96) to lead CU in scoring with 16 points per game and net double-digits 26 times in 30 games.

The 2005-06 Buffaloes won 20 games for the fourth time in their history en route to the NIT, with 14 of those coming at the Events Center tying the 2002-03 season for the most ever up until that time. The Buffs also re-wrote the school's 3-point record for made (240) and attempts (701), and Roby became the first CU player since 2003-04 and only the fourth player since 1996-97 to be named All-Big 12 first team. CU also reached the national stage by being ranked in back-to-back ESPN/USA Today Coaches' Polls, a school first since the 1996-97 campaign.

From 2007-10 the program was led by Jeff Bzdelik, who came from the United States Air Force Academy, where he led the Buffaloes to a 36-58 (.383) record. His best season was his last, a 15-16 mark and 6-10 in the Big 12 in 2009-10. Over his three seasons with the Buffs, Bzdelik experienced a series of near-misses, losing 27 single-digit games, 18 of those in the Big 12. The 27 losses were an average of 4.6 points.

In 2007-08, Richard Roby set the school scoring record becoming the first CU men's basketball player to eclipse the 2,000-point barrier netting 2,001 points (Cory Higgins would tie the mark in 2011). He would go on to set numerous school records over his outstanding four-year career. The Buffaloes became the first team in Big 12 history as the No. 12 seed in its post-season tournament to beat a No. 5 seed (Baylor).

Roby became the second Buff in its history to lead the team in scoring all four years (Boyce was the other).

In 2009-10, the Buffs provided a duel offensive punch with Higgins and super freshman Alec Burks. Higgins, garnered his second straight All-Big 12 third team honor, while Burks performed a CU first in the Buffs Big 12 history becoming the first Boulder athlete to earn conference freshman of the year honors.

Higgins and Burks scored 587 and 512 points, respectively becoming the first tandem to net over 500 points in the same season since the 1990-91 campaign. Burks would also lead the team in rebounding, only the second freshman since Matt Bullard in 1985-86.

Burks was also named to a number of post-season teams including the Big 12 All-Rookie Team, CollegeInsider.com All-America Freshman Team, 2009-10 Basketball Times' All-Freshman first team, CU Sports Performers of the Year (CUSPY) Male Freshman of the Year, and Sporting News Magazine All-Freshman second team.

Donnie Boyce

He became the first CU freshman to surpass 500 points in a single-season (512). He ranked fourth nationally of all freshmen in points per game (17.1) and field goal percentage (53.8).

The Tad Boyle Era

Over the last 10 years of Colorado Basketball, head coach Tad Boyle and his coaching staff, have built the Buffaloes into one of the elite Pac-12 Conference basketball programs, if not the nation.

In those 10 years the Buffaloes have made eight postseason appearances, a school-first three consecutive NCAA Tournament berths; seven 20-plus winning seasons, and a Pac-12 Conference Tournament championship. Under his tutelage, Boyle has won an impressive 210 games at CU, and his winning percentage of .610 ranks second in history for those coaches with at least four seasons.

Very impressive for coach and a basketball program that had only four 20-plus winning seasons before his arrival during the spring of 2010.

In those 10 years, CU basketball history has been re-written altogether. Boyle's success has brought ESPN College GameDay to Boulder (Feb. 22, 2014); he has won a school record 24 games in a single-season, twice; home dominance at the CU Events Center with a 141-27 record (.839), in addition to school attendance records being broken, then re-broken a year later; and most importantly every senior that has made his final year on the Buff roster, has graduated (Boyle's staff is 28-for-28).

On the court, there have been nine all-tournament team selections; 10 conference first-team recipients; two Most Improved Players of the Year, two Pac-12 Conference Defensive Players of the Year, two "Sixth Man of the Year" winners, and finalists for both the Wooden and Cousy Awards.

Over the last 10 years, six student-athletes have gone on to reach the NBA; five hearing their names announced on draft day. George King was the 59th overall pick by the Phoenix Suns in 2018. Derrick White was the 29th overall pick by the San Antonio Spurs in 2017. Spencer Dinwiddie left school after his junior year (2013-14), where he was selected by Detroit in the second round of the 2014 NBA Draft (No. 38 overall). In 2012-13, Andre Roberson was selected in the first round (No. 26 overall) by Minnesota then traded to Oklahoma City. In the 2011 draft, Alec Burks, became CU's second-ever lottery pick, selected No. 12 overall by Utah.

Rounding out the six former players who have gone on to the NBA after playing for Boyle while at CU is the school's all-time co-scoring leader, Cory Higgins (2,001 points). Higgins played with the Charlotte Bobcats from 2011-13. It should be noted that Higgins is one of several former Buffs to enjoy a successful professional career overseas, helping CSKA Moscow to a pair of EuroLeague championships.

Boyle made the most of his "dream job" in his first year, guiding the Buffaloes to a school-record 24 victories in 2010-11, capping the season with a spot in the NIT semifinals.

Named the 18th head coach in CU men's basketball history (on April 19, 2010), Boyle also etched his name among the school's great coaches becoming first head coach in 20 years to win his coaching debut. CU also won a school-record 18 home games at the Events Center and achieved their highest Big 12 finish (t-5th) since 2005-06.

Statistically, CU ranked first in the Big 12 and fifth nationally in free throw percentage (77.8). Boyle's efficient attack also ranked 12th nationally in scoring (79.6 ppg) and 19th nationally in field goal percentage (47.3).

Individually, the Buffs were led by Burks, who would score a single-season school record 779 points, in addition setting the school mark for most free throws made (249) and attempts (302) in a single-season. He would also become the first player at CU to score over 770 points, 240 rebounds, 100 assists in same season.

A Top-20 Wooden Award finalist and unanimous Big 12 Conference first team selection, Burks was 18th nationally in scoring with 20.5 points per game.

And for the first time in the 15-year Big 12 Championship history, the Buffs advanced to the conference semifinals where Burks became the first CU player to be named to the all-tourney team. Later in the season, the Grandview, Mo. native would be named to the NIT All-Tournament Team (97 points in four games, 24.3 ppg.).

The 2010-11 team was not comprised by one individual, but a cast of others who led to the Buffs success throughout the season. Cory Higgins would end his stellar four-year with 2,001 points. tying former teammate Richard Roby (2004-08), for the most In team history. Higgins was a three-time third team conference selection, also set a number of school records also becoming the career leader in minutes (4,478), games (132, today he's second), starts (131), and single-season minutes played (1,222) set in 2010-11.

Sharp-shooter Levi Knutson ended his career making the fifth most treys (81) in a season during CU's NIT run. The Littleton, Colo. native set the single-season mark for 3-point efficiency (47.4 percent) and notched his name among long-range shooting greats finishing third overall in career 39.3 career percentage, and tied for sixth in treys made (129).

Andre Roberson also made his presence felt during his initial season setting the freshman rebounding (297) and blocked shot (42) records. Roberson also became the first freshman to lead any CU team in rebounds, steals (51), and blocks. The feat among the Big 12 was a rarity, as Roberson became only the fourth conference player to accomplish it.

The 2011-12 season welcomed a new addition to the Events Center since the building first opened in 1979. A basketball and volleyball practice facility located adjacent to the north side of Events Center. The facility is 43,000 square feet of space featuring two basketball/volleyball courts; women's basketball locker rooms; and volleyball coaches' offices costing $10.8 million, funded from private funds.

It was nine years since CU last danced in the NCAA Tournament and in one of the greatest seasons ever, then-second year head coach Tad Boyle equaled the previous season's win total (24), advanced to the NCAA Tourney third round, and won the inaugural Pac-12

Tournament championship by winning four games in four days as the No. 6 seed.

The conference regular season had its ups and downs where at one point, CU could have ended the season as the number one or two seed in the tournament. However, losing three of its last four games and dropping to the No. 6 overall seed, the Buffs overcame No. 11 seed Utah, 53-41 on the opening night at the Staples Center in Los Angeles.

On the day two CU edged No. 3 seed Oregon, 63-62. In the semifinals, CU took care of No. 2 Cal, 70-59 on 59.1 percent shooting from the field in the second half. Senior guard Carlon Brown breakaway windmill dunk served as an exclamation point in the final minute of CU's victory. The play was No. 4 on SportsCenter's Top 10 plays of the day.

In the finals, the Buffs held on again for another upset, edging No. 4 seed Arizona, 53-51 after leading the Wildcats by 12 points in the second half. CU scored only three points in the last nine minutes of the game, however, Brown had a highlight reel dunk in the final minute, snapping a streak of 8:19 without a field goal. CU became the first team to win four games in Pac-12 Conference Tournament history, and just the 10th team from the "big six" conferences to do so since 1952. At the NCAA Tournament, the Buffs, seeded No. 11 upset No. 6 and No. 23/25 ranked UNLV in the first round, then fell to No. 3 Baylor, 80-63, two days later.

Brown was named the tournament's most outstanding player, in addition being named to the all-tournament. Andre Roberson also earned all-tournament team had a superb sophomore year becoming the first CU player to average a double-double for the entire season (11.6 ppg., 11.1 rpg.) since Stephane Pelle (2001-02; 12.8 ppg., 10.8 rpg.). Roberson also became the 12th player in school history to lead the team in rebounding in back-to-back seasons, and just the third CU player to lead the team in rebounds, blocks, and steals in the same season, duplicating that feat during his freshman season.

In addition, Roberson set the single-season rebounding record (401) breaking a 58-year old record (Burdette Haldorson, 1954-55); set the single-season defensive rebounding record (290) breaking the 225 by Shaun Vandiver (1989-90), 23 years prior; and shattered sophomore season record for most rebounds, topping the old mark of 337 (Cliff Meely in 1968-69).

Roberson ranked third nationally in rebounds per game, and his 11.1 average was the program's highest since Alex Stivrins in 1984-85 (11.7 rpg). Roberson finished the season with 20 double-doubles, fifth nationally and was No. 54 nationally in blocked shots (1.86).

Attendance records also set a brand new high standard as the men's basketball team was the best ticket in town setting a number of school records, including seven sellouts; 12 of 15 home games exceeded 10,000 fans or better, in addition to season total (155,884); season average (10,392); conference total (94,371); conference average (10,486); and non-conference total (61,513).

In year two of the conference, Roberson (first team, defensive player of the year, all-defensive team); Dinwiddie (first team) and Josh Scott (all-freshman team) all earned post-season accolades.

Although the 2012-13 season did not capture the exciting moments of another Pac-12 Tournament championship, the Buffs did see another exciting year ranking No. 1 in Pac-12 Conference-only defense (62.2 ppg.); No. 1 in Pac-12 Conference Team (all games); 3-Point Defense (32.0). They also defeated four ranked opponents, a first since 2002-03 and won three-straight road conference games for the first time since 2000-01.

The 2011-12 and 2012-13 seasons marked back-to-back NCAA Tournament berths for the first time in 50 years. The Buffaloes have reached unprecedented heights in the win column. CU won a school record 24 games in both 2010-11 and 2011-12, with another 21 victories in 2012-13. The 69 wins were the most in any three-year span in school history.

Cory Higgins

In 2013-14, the Buffaloes produced another banner year for the program by being seeded eighth at the NCAA Tournament, the highest seed since being the number nine in the 1997 tournament. The 23 victories were the third-most in school history and the Buffaloes' third place Pac-12 finish was the program's best in 18 years.

Attendance records fell once again as the Buffaloes drew 173,429 overall and 84,133 during the nonconference schedule.

For the first time in program history the men's basketball team had seen four-straight seasons where conference attendance exceeded 9,000 fans per game while overall season attendance reached 124,000 each year.

Josh Scott was named All-Pac-12 first team; Askia Booker was an All-Pac-12 honorable mention; and Wesley Gordon an honorable mention on All-Freshman team. Wesley Gordon finished with 41 blocks, the second-most by a freshman.

After a 16-18 record in 2014-15, which still saw the Buffaloes reach a fifth-straight postseason tournament (CBI), Colorado recorded its ninth 20-win season in 2015-16, and fifth in six years while also advancing to the program's 14th NCAA Tournament. The Buffaloes won 21 regular season games, tying a school record, before finishing off the campaign at 22-12.

Colorado made its school-record seventh straight postseason appearance in 2016-17, earning a berth in the NIT.

In 2017-18, Colorado had the youngest team of the Boyle tenure, with nine players that had not played a minute in a Buffaloes' uniform prior to the season. Colorado still had 17 wins, including back-to-back wins over Top 15 teams for the first time in program history.

That core group returned in 2018-19 finishing with a 23-13 record, advancing to the NIT Quarterfinals. The 23 wins tied for the third most in team history and just one off the school record. Colorado won 12 of 16 games down the stretch, giving the program its sixth 20-win season in the Boyle era.

Last season, Boyle guided to Buffaloes to what undoubtedly would have been a fifth NCAA Tournament appeareance during his tenure before the cancelation of the postseason due to the coronavirus pandemic. Colorado spent a school-record 13 weeks in the Associated Press Top 25, peaking at No. 16 in mid February. The Buffaloes ended at 21-11 on the season and ranked No. 25 in the final NCAA Evaluation Tool (NET) ratings.

Entering 2020-21, the Buffaloes boast an all-time record of 1,337-1,225 (.522) in 117 seasons.

ESPN COLLEGE GAMEDAY

ESPN's basketball rendition of College GameDay, in existence for a decade, made its first appearance at the University of Colorado, February 22, 2014.

The telecast from the Coors Events Center was a spectacle from start to finish, with the C-Unit making its presence more than apparent to the national TV audience.

For over two hours, the collective body of CU students – dubbed the C-Unit in 2004 – brought energy, costumes, and witty signs to the GameDay party as a way to kick off the day's national basketball schedule. The lead attraction was Saturday night's Pac-12 Conference game matching CU against No. 4 Arizona.

GameDay was hosted by Rece Davis and featured insights from former Notre Dame head coach Digger Phelps and former Duke star Jay Williams.

After the morning event, Davis spoke with CU athletic director Rick George and told him the "environment and the enthusiasm was right up there with the best that they have seen" for GameDay. "The crowd was attentive, they were into it, they listened to what we were saying on the show and responded accordingly," Davis said. "CU put on a great show."

Students began lining up outside the Events Center, Friday at 11 p.m. and by 5:45 a.m. Saturday there was about 300 students clamoring for their chance to be on national TV. Conditions weren't ideal (high winds and low temperatures), but that wasn't going to stop any crazed fans.

The event goes beyond students showing off their creative humor and asking parents for money via home-made signs; it provides the university a stage to tell the rest of the country what CU is all about – and the school did that Saturday.

Colorado coach Tad Boyle is also hoping to use the exposure for his own recruiting purposes as he seeks to build a national power in Boulder.

Boyle had previously said that being selected to host GameDay was, "a testament to our players, a testament to our fans, a testament to our coaches and how far this program has come."

It's no coincidence that GameDay chose to come to Boulder when the Buffaloes host the nation's fourth-ranked team. However, Saturday's event was more about CU basketball and the atmosphere that has developed at the Coors Events Center during the Boyle regime.

Arizona hosted its first GameDay event on January 28, 2012, and according to Bruce Pascoe of the Arizona Daily Star, the turnout Colorado received was comparable – if not better – than that of the Wildcats, who boast four Final Four appearances and one national championship.

Colorado is proving that its fan support belongs with some of the best in the nation and hopes to prove that its level of play belongs in the same category.

Reflecting on the days when the average attendance at the Coors Events Center was about 3,000 – compared to the nearly 10,000 this season – GameDay being on campus is a culmination of everything we could have ever envisioned when we first moved the C-Unit to behind the basket where they stand today.

"Our students showed themselves well, and their enthusiasm to be out here at six in the morning says a lot about our fans," George said. "It was awesome, you can't measure this kind of exposure."

PAC-12 TOURNAMENT CHAMPIONS

LOS ANGELES - Dust off those dancing shoes, Buffs fans. Pac-12 hoops, who's your Taddy?

The improbable, unflappable, and in the very end undeniable Colorado Buffaloes made history, outlasting Arizona 53-51 at the Staples Center to win the Pac-12 Conference tournament championship in their debut season in the expanded league.

CU is a conference tournament champion for the first time in program history and in the NCAA Tournament for the first time since 2003 after earning the Pac-12's automatic berth.

A season after being denied an NCAA Tournament berth and losing 75 percent of his offense, CU coach Tad Boyle reloaded as best he could and hoped for the best. But Boyle constructed his second season in Boulder with more determination than dreams, ultimately squeezing and coaxing every ounce of effort out of the Buffs during a taxing four-day Pac-12 run that followed a dismaying regular-season finish.

Losing three of its final four games, CU dropped from regular-season title contenders to a sixth tournament seed. No problem; rising up in L.A. was the Buffs' mission. They did it in grand - if gut-wrenching -style, and they did it the hard way, winning four games in four days.

CU (23-11) almost squandered a 12-point lead, scoring only three points in the last 9 minutes but still denying No. 4 seed Arizona (23-11) in its comeback attempt.

"Saying I'm proud of these guys is the biggest understatement I've ever made," Boyle said. "If you believe in destiny, you believe in the Colorado Buffaloes."

Freshman Spencer Dinwiddie led CU with 14 points, and senior Carlon Brown - the Buffs leading scorer in the tournament - added 13, including a dunk in the final minute that was his team's last field goal. Sophomore Andre Roberson submitted his third double-double (10 points, 11 rebounds) in four tournament games.

Brown was named the tournament MVP, highlighting a two-week run that saw him hit lows, highs and finish as high as he's ever been.

Said Boyle on Brown: "I think what you saw out of Carlon these last four games is he's a guy who put this team on his shoulders. He's been more vocal than he's been all year in timeouts, in huddles, on the floor, encouraging his teammates . . . (He) deserves the MVP of this tournament because he was big when we needed him to be big."

Brown, the only member of the CU roster to play in the NCAA Tournament (with Utah), said the late-season scoring slump he encountered finally was put behind him: "I just tried to put everything in the past, knowing I had this opportunity to be aggressive and play in this tournament . . . I just let everything go."

Roberson also was named to the all-tournament team, joining Jared Cunningham (Oregon State), Kyle Fogg (Arizona), Solomon Hill (Arizona) and Jesse Perry (Arizona). That trio led the Wildcats in scoring Saturday - Fogg with 14, Hill with 13 and Perry with 11.

Arizona coach Sean Miller was effusive in congratulating CU and Boyle: "I want to say the job that Tad Boyle has done at Colorado and what Colorado represents to the future of the Pac-12, I can make the argument that there's been no greater gift to college basketball in the Pac-12 than adding Colorado."

Miller said whoever draws CU in the NCAA Tournament "is running into a hungry, well-coached, disciplined team. I really believe that's the story of today. They beat us. They were the better team."

CU had 8- to 10-point cushions in the final 10 minutes of the previous two games and held on - barely against Oregon, handily against Cal. But could the Buffs stay composed in their biggest tournament game thus far?

Some doubt surfaced when Arizona scored five straight and cut its deficit to 50-43 on one of two free throws by Perry with 5:29 remaining. And no nerves were calmed when Tomlinson and Askia Booker both misfired badly on consecutive possessions from the same spot in the left corner.

The Wildcats capitalized on those botched trips with a layup by Hill to cap a 7-0 run and close to 50-45 with 4 minutes remaining. At the 1:41 mark, without a field goal in almost 8 minutes and seven consecutive missed shots, Boyle called a timeout.

It might not have been what Boyle had drawn up, but Roberson drove to the basket as the shot clock wound down and was fouled with 1:23 showing. He hit one of two, sending CU up 51-46.

At the other end, 22 seconds later, Perry sank two free throws, but Brown drove the lane and countered with a thunderous dunk to push the Buffs ahead 53-47 with 49 seconds to play.

CU's first trip to the NCAA Tournament in nine seasons appeared all but booked . . . but not quite. Fogg's pair of free throws at 34.5 cut CU's lead to 53-49, and Hill also converted at the other end to make the score 53-51.

Dufault, who let a pass from Tomlinson bound away from him for a turnover, also missed a pair of free throws with 14.4 to play.

"It would have been nice if we had ended the game smoother . . . if I could have knocked down a couple of free throws or caught that pass," Dufault said.

Arizona had a final chance, but Fogg's tightly contested shot with 1.4 seconds left was badly off to the left.

Continued Dufault: "We went down to the other end, and once again we just dug in defensively and got a stop."

It was done . . . CU in the Big Dance.

They still managed to reach the Pac-12 Tournament semifinals and finished the conference season with a 10-8 record, tying four other schools for third place. It was CU's highest conference finish in 18 years. The faithful Buff Nation reached a record number who attended games at Coors Events Center with a school-best 173,429 spectators over the 18 home games, and of the nine non-conference home games, another school-best of 84,133 fans were in attendance.

The defending Pac-12 Tournament champions won their first six games of the season en route to being nationally ranked for the first time since the 2005-06 campaign. CU made the national tournament for the second straight season, a school-first in 50 years (since Sox Walseth). Head Coach Tad Boyle and his staff won 21 games, the third-straight season over 20 wins (a school-first) and the 69 victories over the last three years, are the most in any three-year span. The Buffs finished fifth in the conference standings and earned an at-large seed at No. 10 in the East Region falling to No. 7 Illinois, 57-49 in Austin, Texas. Andre Roberson was named Pac-12 Defensive Player of the Year as well as a first team selection. Spencer Dinwiddie led the Buffs in scoring, assists and free throw shooting, was also named to the conference first team, while Josh Scott was named to the freshman team. The fifth place conference finish was the first time since the Cliff Meely era (1968-71), the Buffs finished fifth or better in three straight years. The Buffs also set a number of attendance records including seven sellouts, 12 of 15 home games exceeding 10,000 fans, in addition to season total (155,884); season average (10,392); conference total (94,371); conference average (10,486). Over the last three years, there have been 16 sellouts with 13 wins. The Buffs would finish second Pac-12 attendance average (all games) and third in conference-only games.

2011-12

It was nine years since CU last danced in the NCAA Tournament and in one of the greatest seasons ever, second year head coach Tad Boyle equaled the previous season's win total (24), advanced to the NCAA Tourney second round, and won the inaugural Pac-12 Tournament championship by winning four games in four days as the No. 6 seed. The conference regular season had its ups and downs where at one point, CU could have ended the season as the number one or two seed in the tournament. However, losing three of its last four games and dropping to the No. 6 overall seed, the Buffs overcame No. 11 seed Utah, 53-41 on 34.9 percent shooting on the opening night at the Staples Center in Los Angeles. On the day two and against No. 3 seed Oregon, CU edged the Ducks, 63-62 for the second time in three meetings this season. A put-back field goal by sophomore forward Andre Roberson with 13 seconds remaining and a defensive stand by senior point guard Nate Tomlinson proved to be the difference in the one point win. In the semifinals, CU took care of No. 2 Cal, 70-59 on 59.1 percent shooting from the field in the second half. Senior guard Carlon Brown breakaway windmill dunk served as an exclamation point in the final minute of CU's victory. The play was No. 4 on SportsCenter's Top 10 plays of the day. In the finals, the Buffs held on again for another upset, edging No. 4 seed Arizona, 53-51 after leading the Wildcats by 12 points in the second half. CU scored only three points in the last nine minutes of the game, however, Brown had a highlight reel dunk in the final minute, snapping a streak of 8:19 without a field goal. CU became the first team to win four games in Pac-12 Conference Tournament history, and just the 10th team from the "Big Six" conferences to do so since 1952. At the NCAA Tournament, the Buffs, seeded No. 11 upset No. 6 UNLV in the first round, then fell to No. 3 Baylor, 80-63, two days later.

The 2002-03 season was one of the most successful campaigns in Colorado history. Standards were set high as the team returned five of their top six scorers from a year ago. Rarely in athletic competition can a team live up to the expectations of the media, and the fans; but the Buffs were able to not only meet expectations, but surpass them. CU finished the season 20-12, the third time in school history that a 20 win season had been accomplished. That included a nearly perfect record at home, as they went 14-1 on Sox Walseth Court. The game of the year came on January 22nd when the Buffs were able to topple the #6 ranked Kansas Jayhawks; a feat not accomplished since 1991. Sophomore David Harrison had a breakout year, setting several school records. Harrison broke, and then re-broke the record for blocked shots in a game when he recorded 10 against Stetson, and then 11 at home against Nebraska. Harrison also added two triple-doubles that year against Stetson and Nebraska.

The Buffs were back. Not since the late 1960s had CU basketball made the NCAA Tournament, or had an AP top 25 ranking. Both of those droughts ended during the season, as Colorado made it back to the big dance. Led by sophomore phenom Chauncey Billups, the Buffs stormed to a 22-10 record. Conference play did not change their winning ways, as they went 11-5 in the Big 12. The 22 wins, along with their 11 Big 12 victories each are school records. With their stellar record, break into the AP Poll for the first time since 1968-69 at #24. The season was highlighted by two upsets, as the Buffs were able to defeat #20 ranked Texas Tech, and then exactly one week later topple the #8 ranked Cyclones of Iowa State. Billups turned in one of the best seasons ever by a Buffalo. He finished the season with 555 total points, the first time a sophomore had scored that many points since Cliff Meely put up 667 points during the '68-'69 season. Electing for the NBA Draft, Billups left Colorado after his sophomore year, but not after becoming the 23rd all time scorer in school history in just two years.

Coming off an uninspiring 9-16 overall record the previous year, Colorado was looking for a way to get the program back on track. A 3-11 conference record had coach Sox Walseth reeling. The Buffs were in need of a spark plug; and they found it in Cliff Meely. Never in school history had a first-year player given the program a jolt in the way Meely was able to do in the 1968-69 season. The Buffs tore through the season, finishing with a 21-7 mark and an 11-4 conference schedule. That record included a perfect 11-0 at home. The 21 wins were a school record that would stand for 27 years. Colorado earned a #18 national ranking for its success, the first time the Buffs were able to crack the top 25 since 1963. Meely finished the season with 667 points, the most ever by a sophomore and fourth overall. His ability to score was complimented by superb rebounding. Meely finished the '68-'69 campaign with 337 rebounds. This mark is also the most by any sophomore, and ranks second all time in CU history.

The 1962-63 season opened with all eyes on the Buffs. Coming off an impressive 19-win campaign and NCAA Tournament berth the year before, Colorado was receiving national attention. Coach Sox Walseth knew his team was under the microscope from the very beginning. Some critics thought a team who was not used to being in the spotlight would crumble under the pressure; these Buffaloes proved them wrong. CU stormed through the season, accumulating a 19-7 record while going 11-3 in conference play. It was the second year in a row that Colorado had gone 19-7 overall. A perfect home record and a #10 national ranking helped to keep Boulder in a basketball induced frenzy. The previous year had ended with CU having 499 wins as a program, and they seized first opportunity they had during the '62-'63 campaign to reach that 500-win milestone. CU defeated Wichita State 79-69 in double overtime on Dec. 3, 1962, for the 500th win in program history. Senior Ken Charlton paced the Buffs in scoring for the season. En route to an All-American selection, the fifth in CU's history, Charlton put up 514 points and 214 rebounds. His point total was well above the rest of the team, outpacing the second best scorer, Jim Davis, by 154 points.

A 19-win season was something the Colorado Buffaloes had seen only once in their history. The last time they won 19 games (in 1955), was the last time CU received a bid to play in the NCAA Tournament. With that goal in their heads, Sox Walseth and his Buffs marched to a 19-7 record, and a near perfect 13-1 mark in conference play. The #9 ranked Buffaloes finished the regular season on a torrid pace, winning 14 of their 15 final games. The one loss was their one conference loss as well, falling at Kansas State. That span included a 12-game winning streak, as CU decimated their Big Eight opponents. Colorado finished the season at #9 in the AP Poll, its highest-ever final ranking. Colorado scorers were paced by junior forward Ken Charlton, who finished the season with 498 points and 216 rebounds. Charlton was the only member of the team to record 400 points and 200 rebounds. One of the great storylines of the season was the play of senior forward Wilky Gilmore. Gilmore was the only member of the team to play in all 26 contests, as he accumulated 330 points and 163 rebounds. Gilmore left the program as the second all time leading scorer in CU history with 1026 career points.

1954-55 FINAL FOUR

It was a season of firsts for the Buffaloes. The year marked the first time in school history the Buffs were offered an invitation to the NCAA Tournament. Once they arrived, the success they had during the big dance is unmatched in school history to this day. Advancing to the national semifinals, they were eventually defeated by San Francisco. CU won the consolation game two days later, to finish third, the Buffaloes' highest NCAA finish. The season also saw the first time Colorado could put the number 19 in the win column. They finished with a 19-6 overall record, going 11-1 in conference play. The season opened with a bang, as CU set a school scoring record as they took down Brigham Young by a score of 88-66. Colorado had an amazing winning streak during the season, capturing 15 of 16 games spanning from December to March. Colorado was ranked #15 in the final AP Poll. The '54-'55 Buffs were blessed to have the single most dominating rebounder in the history of Colorado. Senior Burdette Haldorson tore apart record after record, many of which are still standing today. His accomplishments were highlighted by a 21-rebound effort against Oklahoma, and later a 22-rebound game against Nebraska. His season mark of 346 rebounds is still the school record, as his single season rebounds/game average. He also knew how to put the ball in the basket; his 1125 career points was the best in school history when he left.

1953-54

Under the direction of coach H.B. Lee, the Buffs finished the season with a less than stellar 10-10 regular season mark. It was their inspired 10-2 Big Seven record, however, that helped the Buffs reach the NCAA Tournament for the fourth time in school history. Colorado started its season by losing seven in a row. Fans and the media had already stuck the proverbial fork in the Buffs' season. After a loss at home to Iowa State though, a fire was lit under the Buffs, and they went flying to finish out the season. They won 11 of their next 13 games to storm back into tournament contention. That win streak was highlighted by a home win against the defending champion Kansas Jayhawks, along with road wins against contenders Iowa State, Nebraska, and Oklahoma. At season's end, the impressive winning streak was not enough to ensure an NCAA berth. The selection was eventually made when Colorado's name was literally pulled out of a hat. Talk about luck of the draw. CU was paced by junior center Burdette Haldorson. The 6'7 center led the team with 367 points and 199 rebounds. At the time, Haldorson's average of nine rebounds per game tied him for the all time high with Frank Gompert.

One of the youngest CU teams to ever make the NCAA Tournament came in the 1945-46 season. The Buffs did not have one senior to help coach Forrest Cox direct the untested youth. Thankfully for Coach Cox, and for Buffs fans, they didn't need one. Colorado battled their way to a 12-6 overall record, and a 9-3 Mountain States Conference record. The season was highlighted by a five-game win streak during the heart of the schedule. During that span they were able to defeat conference foes Denver, Colorado State, Utah, and Brigham Young. The inexperienced Buffs were lead by center Hank Knocke. The sophomore transfer exploded out of the gates: scoring 49 points in his first four games as a Buffalo. With a sturdy 6-4 frame, Knocke was able to control the area under the basket, and maintain CU's distinction as a force to be reckoned with. Knocke's season was highlighted by two 26-point efforts; once against Utah State, and again just two weeks later against Denver. At the time, those stood as the third and fourth all-time, single-game scoring records. The Buffs ended their season with an NCAA Regional consolation game victory over Baylor.

1941-42 FINAL FOUR

Very little could stop Colorado in its march toward its second NCAA Tournament appearance. The Buffs decimated their competition, going 15-1 in the regular season. Behind the direction of head coach Forrest B. Cox, CU's explosive attack and stingy defensive work won them their first 14 games. The Buffs finally lost their first game of the season on March 3, a 40-39 loss to conference foe Wyoming. A perfect 6-0 home record had the fans in Boulder excited; and their 9-1 away record had the rest of the nation trembling. Colorado would eventually finish their season 16-2, as they took down Kansas in the NCAA Western Region semifinals. They would later bow out to Stanford in the regional finals. Their stellar play helped the Buffs capture their fourth Mountain States Conference title in five years. Two All-American players helped to pace CU during this dominating season: Robert Doll and Leason McCloud. Doll was the big play man for the Buffs. His imposing presence down in the paint allowed him to out rebound all of his opponents. He would later go on to play for the Boston Celtics in the NBA. Doll was supplemented by the stellar play of McCloud. The leading scorer on the team, McCloud was seen by coach Cox as the Buffs "go to guy." McCloud's inspired 19-point performance was the turning factor in Colorado's first round victory against Kansas.

1939-40 NCAA and NIT

Coming off of an impressive NIT championship, Colorado was invited to play in the NCAA Tournament for the first time in school history. Under the direction of coach Forrest Cox, the Buffs had compiled an impressive 17-2 record previous to the NCAA Tournament. This included a near perfect 11-1 record in conference play, a flawless 8-0 home performance, and a mid-season 12-game winning streak. Although CU had to bow out after the first round of the tournament, they did not end the season without some hardware to show. They had earlier defeated Duquesne University for the NIT championship. A 52-37 romping of the University of Denver had given the Buffs their third-straight Mountain States Conference title. Colorado was lead by Jack Harvey: a two time All-American selection. Over a two year span, CU went 31-8 with Harvey wearing the silver and gold. Harvey was a dominating presence in the defensive end of the court; as well as being the catalyst in an explosive fast break offense.

Colorado was 23-13 overall and finished in a tie for fourth place in the Pac-12 regular season standings at 10-8. After a 2-6 start to Pac-12 play, the Buffaloes won 12 of their final 16 games, reaching the NIT Quarterfinals. Colorado's 8-2 run in the final 10 games of the regular season tied for the program's fourth-best in the NCAA Tournament era (since 1938) and the best since 1961-62. It was the 10th 20-win season in team history and sixth under head coach Tad Boyle. Colorado's 23 wins tied for the third most in team history and just one away from the school record of 24. The Buffaloes recorded double-digit conference wins for the fifth time in eight seasons of the Pac-12 era and the first since 2015-16. Colorado claimed record of .500 or better in conference play (includes Big 12) for the sixth time in nine seasons. Following a run to the Pac-12 Tournament semifinals, Colorado claimed a No. 4 seed in the NIT, defeating Dayton and Norfolk State at home, before falling to eventual champion Texas in the quarterfinals. Sophomores McKinley Wright IV and Tyler Bey were selected to the All-Pac-12 First Team while Bey was voted the league's Most Improved Player of the Year.

Colorado made its school-record seventh-straight postseason appearance after a seventh place finish in the Pac-12 Conference. The Buffaloes rebounded from an 0-7 start to their league season to win nine of 13 down the stretch to claim their 10th NIT invite. Colorado had its share of big moments throughout the season. The Buffaloes won three games against ranked opponents, including a 74-65 triumph over No. 10/10 Oregon at the Coors Events Center; a Ducks team that would eventually reach the Final Four. Colorado also took down No. 22/21 Texas in Brooklyn and topped No. 13/14 Xavier during the nonconference schedule. Senior guard Derrick White had one of the finest seasons by an individual in a Buffaloes uniform. White earned All-Pac-12 first team and All-District honors averaging 18.1 points, 4.1 rebounds and 4.4 assists per game. He joined Shaun Vandiver as the only CU players to score 30 or more points twice in a single postseason. White had 31 points in the Pac-12 quarterfinals vs. Arizona and then would score 30 in CU's NIT opening round loss at UCF. A former Division II All-American at UCCS, White catapulted into the national spotlight during his one year at Colorado and was selected 29th overall in the 2017 NBA Draft by the San Antonio Spurs.

In Tad Boyle's first season as Colorado's head coach, the Buffs won a school-record 24 games (14 losses) in reaching the NIT semifinals at Madison Square Garden. Considered by most analysts to have been the NCAA Tournament's biggest snub, CU made the most of their NIT appearance by winning three-straight games before ultimately falling to Alabama in the semis. Led by senior Cory Higgins, who tied Richard Roby for CU's all-time career scoring title (2,001 points), and All-Big 12 unanimous first team selection Alec Burks, the Buffs boasted a potent offensive attack that ranked 12th nationally in scoring (79.6 ppg) and fifth nationally in free throw percentage (77.8 percent). Burks set a CU record for most points in a season with 779, surpassing Cliff Meely's mark that stood for 40 years. The season marked the first time that the Buffs had six players record over 100 made field goals in a season (Burks 251, Higgins 200, Levi Knutson 158, Marcus Relphorde 148, Austin Dufault 104, Andre Roberson 101). Roberson set a CU freshmen record by recording 297 rebounds for the season, and also became the first freshman in school history to lead the team in rebounds, steals (51) and blocks (42). Knutson was honored with the co-Big 12 Sixth Man of the Year Award.

Led by a veteran roster of 10 seniors and an All-Big 12 first team selection, in sophomore Richard Roby, the Buffs tallied a 20-10 overall record to earn the school's eighth NIT berth. Coach Ricardo Patton's club ran off to one of the best starts in the program's history, with a 10-1 record before conference play. The season marked the first time three players had made over 50 3-pointers in a season (Roby 63, Andy Osborn 53, Chris Copeland 50). CU became nationally ranked for the first time since the 1996-97 season, coming in at No. 25 team in the country by the USA Today/Coaches' Poll for two straight weeks (Jan. 30-Feb. 12), and tied the school record for home wins in a season, with 14.

Colorado won 18 games for the fifth time under coach Ricardo Patton, including 10 in conference play, the most since recording 11 back in the 1996-97 season, and earned a number four seed in the Big 12 Tournament in Dallas. The trio of David Harrison, Blair Wilson, and Michel Morandais each surpassed the 1,000 points in a career mark, en route to the Buffaloes' third NIT berth during Patton's eight years as head coach. Harrison would break the CU record for blocks in a career with a three-block performance against Utah. Harrison went on to block 85 shots during the season and after only three years in a CU uniform, would hold every blocked shot record category. Wilson also broke a bundle of records during the season, as the senior made six treys in a game against Iowa State to break or tie four school records, most notably the school record for career 3-pointers. The Buffaloes ended the year with a first round loss at Oregon, 77-72, in overtime.

The Buffaloes marched out to an 11-5 pre-conference record to start out the 1999-2000 season, led by senior guard Jaquay Walls' 17-point scoring average and Jamahl Mosley and Stephane Pelle's control of the paint, with 7.1 and 6.9 rebounds per game, respectively. On Dec. 3 in Hawaii's Rainbow Classic, Colorado defeated Gonzaga 81-77, making it the Buffs' third-straight victory over 1999 NCAA Tournament teams. In what many CU fans believe to be the best game at the Coors Events Center, CU came from behind to defeat Iowa State 102-90 in overtime. Walls scored a NCAA-record 15 points in the overtime, on his way to an astounding 42-point performance. At regular season's end the Buffs were invited to play in the NIT, only to fall in the first round to Southern Illinois 94-92. The invitation marked the third time in four years the Buffs had played in post-season tournaments.

Colorado opened the 1998-99 campaign 9-3, where it would see five Buffs average double digits in scoring over the season. By the year's end, many Colorado players had established themselves as some of the elite in the Big 12. Junior Jaquay Walls was named to the All-Big 12 All-Underrated Team, as well as earning All-Big 12 Honorable Mention status. Senior guard Kenny Price was named to the All-Big 12 Third team, while also ranking third in the conference in points per game. Price's nine three-pointers in a Big 12 second round game against Texas would set a single game record, breaking his mark of eight from the year before. With his nine treys, Price would bring his total for the year to 97, the highest single-season total in CU history. In March, Colorado was selected to the NIT, marking the second time in three years that the Buffs made a post-season appearance. CU defeated first round opponent Pepperdine 65-61 in the tournament's opening round, before losing to intra-state rival Colorado State 76-86 in the second round.

Colorado started off the 1994-95 season with a 10-3 record, including a convincing win of the Mile High Classic. The Buffs beat Eastern Washington and Hofstra by a combined 39 points for CU's fifth consecutive victory of their home tournament. On Jan. 7 in Boulder, the Buffs ended their 16-game losing streak against ranked teams, when they defeated No. 16 Iowa State 71-57, forcing a school record 31 turnovers by the opponent. After throwing down a fast break dunk, senior guard Donnie Boyce surpassed Cliff Meely (1967-71) to become Colorado's all-time leading scorer, finishing his illustrious career with 1,995 points. Boyce remains the only Colorado player to lead his team in scoring for four consecutive years. On Jan. 17 against Texas-San Antonio, senior Ted Allen blocked five shots to become CU's all-time leader in blocks, finishing with 53 on the year. At the season's end, Colorado qualified for the NIT, for only the second invitation to post-season play in 25 years and the first since the 1990-91 season. The Buffs finished the year with an above .500 winning percentage, for the first time since coach Joe Harrington's debut season with the team.

The inside-outside combination of Shaun Vandiver and Steve Wise led the way for the Buffaloes in the 1990-91 season, where the duo combined for an average 41 points per game. The Buffs scored a school record 124 points, twice, in pre-conference match-ups against Central Connecticut State and Tennessee State, both ending in CU victories. Colorado ended a 22-year post-season drought by receiving an invitation to play in the NIT. The Buffaloes beat Michigan (71-64), Wyoming (83-75), Arkansas State (81-75), and Massachusetts (98-91) en route to a third place finish. Vandiver finished the year averaging 21.2 points and 10 rebounds per game, which was good enough to earn the senior center first team All-Big Eight honors, and a spot on the NIT All-Tournament team. Colorado finished the season with a 19-14 record, the team's best in 21 seasons.

The 1939-40 edition of the Buffaloes tallied one of the best records in school history, finishing the year at 17-4. The team, led by coach Forrest Cox, dominated the Mountain States Conference with a conference record of 11-1, the sole loss coming from Utah State 31-29. Colorado qualified for the 1940 NIT in New York City, beating DePaul 52-37 and Duquesne 51-40. The Buffaloes then went on to participate in the NCAA Tournament, losing close games to Southern California (32-38) and Rice (60-56 OT). Colorado was the first team, and one of a select few, to play in both the NIT and NCAA tournaments in the same year.

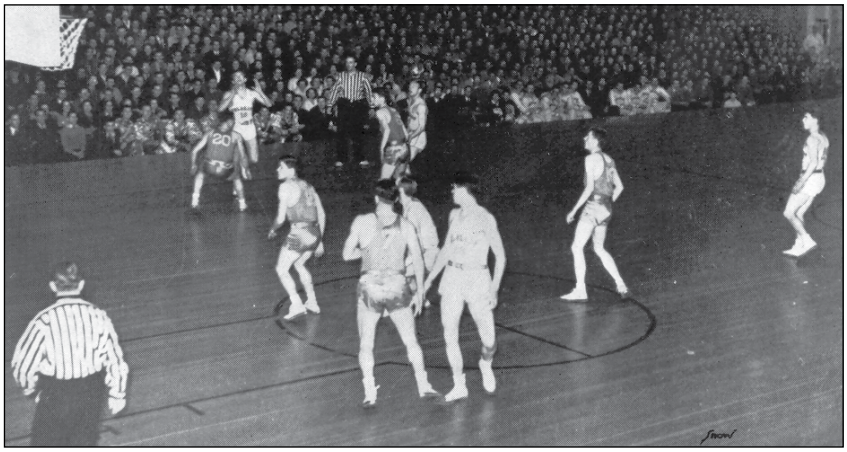
The Colorado men's basketball program earned its first postseason berth in the 1937-38 season, under the direction of third-year head coach Forrest Cox, in which the Buffs went undefeated at home during the season. 1938 featured the debut of the Mountain States Conference, in which the Buffaloes stacked up a record of 10-2 in conference play. Colorado went on to the NIT in New York City, where the Buffs edged out New York University 48-47 in their first game, before succumbing to Temple University by a score of 60-34, turning in a 15-6 record on the season.



Balch Fieldhouse was the home floor for the Buffaloes during the 1937-38 season.

BUFFS IN THE PROS

Chauncey Billups

Boston Celtics, 1997-98 • Toronto Raptors, 1997-98 • Denver Nuggets, 1998-2000 • Minnesota Timberwolves, 2000-02 • Detroit Pistons, 2002-08 • Denver Nuggets, 2008-11 • New York Knicks, 2010-11 • Los Angeles Clippers, 2011-13 • Detroit Pistons, 2013-14

One of the most talented players in Colorado basketball history, Chauncey Billups helped transform the Buffaloes into an NCAA tournament contender in the two years he played in Boulder. His hard work, dedication and exceptional basketball skills not only drew the attention of college basketball aficionados, but of professional teams as well. Billups was the No. 3 overall selection of the first round of the NBA Draft in 1997 by the Boston Celtics. As a captain of the Detroit Pistons, he led the team to the NBA championship in 2004 earning the NBA Finals Most Valuable Player award honors by averaging 21 points and 5.2 assists in the five games.

NBA

- Retired in Sept. 2014 after 17 seasons.
- Career averages: 15.2 points, 5.4 assists, 2.9 rebounds per game.
- Five-time NBA All-Star (2006, 2007, 2008, 2009, 2010).
- Helped lead the Nuggets to a franchise-best 54 wins in 2008-09, the most since moving to the NBA.
- Retired fifth in free throw percentage (.894), sixth in 3-pointers made (1,830) and ninth in 3-pointers attempted (4,725) in NBA history.
- Still ranks sixth in free throw percentage, 14th in 3-pointers made and 16th in 3-point attempts entering the 2019-20 season.
- NBA Champion (2004)
- NBA Finals MVP (2004)
- Five-time NBA All-Star (2006–2010)
- All-NBA Second Team (2006)
- Two-time All-NBA Third Team (2007, 2009)
- Two-time NBA All-Defensive Second Team (2005–2006)
- J. Walter Kennedy Citizenship Award (2008)
- NBA Sportsmanship Award (2009)
- Colorado Sports Hall of Fame (2015)
- CU Athletic Hall of Fame (2015)

CHAUNCEY BILLUPS

George Washington High School

- named Mr. Colorado Basketball three times and in 1995 was a McDonald's High School All-American
- averaged 23.8 ppg. during his four years

USA Basketball

- selected to be a part of Team USA that competed at the 2007 FIBA Americas Championship, a qualifying tournament for the Beijing Olympics
- played for USA Basketball's Men's 22-and-under team against the Dream Team III during the summer of 1996
- played at the 1995 Olympic Festival in Denver, competing for the North team that won the gold medal
- played for Team USA at 2010 FIBA Summer World Championships in Turkey (9-0, Gold Medal)

Colorado

- Led the Buffs to their first NCAA Tournament in over two decades, where CU topped perennial power Indiana in the opening round of the 1997 tournament.
- As a sophomore was named a first-team All-American by The Basketball News, becoming the eighth All-American in Colorado history; named 1996-97 All-Big 12 first team by the league coaches and Associated Press.
- In two seasons in Boulder, averaged 18.5 points, 5.6 rebounds, 5.1 assists in 55 games; also connected on 120 3-pointers and shot .857 (306-for-357) from the free throw line.
- Set then-CU freshman records for points (465) and assists (143).
- One of two players at CU to score over 1,000 career points in only two seasons
- Holds the school record in scoring average by a freshman (17.9 ppg.)
- Second fastest player to record 500 points scored in only 28 games played

Donnie Boyce

Atlanta Hawks, 1995-97

Donnie Boyce finished his career in 1994-95 as Colorado's all-time leading scorer with 1,995 points (he's currently third). However, Boyce's career ended prematurely when he broke his leg during the first half of CU's 1995 Big Eight Tournament game against Oklahoma. During his career in Boulder, Boyce was named All-Conference three times, twice on the league's first team. Boyce also held school records for games started (107), field goals attempted (1,648), free throws made (480) and free throws attempted (721). In four consecutive seasons (1991-95), Boyce led the Buffaloes in scoring, and led the Big Eight in scoring (league games only) as a junior (26.8 ppg). A gifted player on all levels, Boyce will be remembered as one of the greatest players in CU and Big Eight history.

Matt Bullard was a Big Eight All-Freshman and honorable mention all-conference selection in 1985-86. The next year he led the team in both scoring (16.6 ppg) and rebounding (9.3). He finished the 1986 season ranked 18th in the country in field goal percentage. Bullard joined the Rockets as a free agent in 1990, and was a member of Houston's 1994 NBA Championship team. He is the third-leading three-point shooter in franchise history.

An electrifying guard for two years, Burks showcased on a nightly basis he was something special in a Buffs uniform. The holder of numerous school records in just two years, Burks owns the freshman (512) and sophomore (779) scoring records for those seasons. His 19.0 career points per game average ranks third all-time behind CU greats, Cliff Meely (24.3) and Shaun Vandiver (20.6). Named to the Big 12 Conference and NIT All-Tournament teams, Burks was also a conference unanimous first team selection, in addition being named a finalist (top 20) for the 2010-11 John R. Wooden Award. Burks scored a career-best 36 points (w/ a personal-high 12 field goals) in an upset win over No. 9/8 Missouri (Jan. 8, 2011). He's the 18th player in school history to score that many in a single game and the 36-point performance was the third highest ever at the Coors Events Center.

Chris Copeland

New York Knicks, 2012-13 • Indiana Pacers, 2013-15 • Milwaukee Bucks, 2015-16

Chris Copeland had an interesting path in order to fulfill his dream of playing in the NBA after graduating from CU in 2006. Copeland originally signed with the NBA D-League's Fort Worth Flyers for the 2007 season. He then moved on to play overseas for teams in Spain, the Netherlands, Germany, and Belgium. Finally, Copeland got his shot with an NBA team in 2012 when he signed with his hometown New York Knicks, where he averaged 8.7 points on 47.9 percent shooting (including an impressive 42.1 percent from three-point range) and 2.1 rebounds per game. At CU, Copeland was a four-year letterwinner helping the Buffs to a pair of NIT Tournaments (2004, 2005) as well an NCAA Tournament appearance (2003). During his junior and senior seasons he was second on the team in scoring, trailing only Richard Roby. In his senior season he led the team in blocked shots with 32.

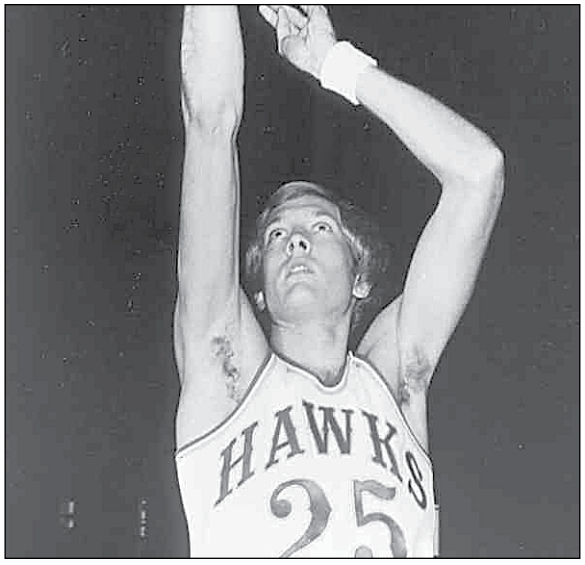
Jim Creighton

Atlanta Hawks, 1975-76



After playing in the shadows of Cliff Meely for two years, Jim Creighton came into his own during his junior and senior seasons. He quickly became a stalwart performer for the Buffs. Not big for a center (6-7, 190), Creighton played much bigger with his great jumping ability. Following an excellent senior season, he was named to the NCAA's District V All-Star squad. Creighton enjoyed a one-year stint with the Atlanta Hawks. Used primarily for his defensive ability, he played in 32 games, averaging one point and 1.4 boards per game.

Jim Davis

St. Louis/Atlanta Hawks, 1967-72 • Houston Rockets, 1972 • Detroit Pistons, 1972-75

Jim Davis guided Colorado to two Big Eight championships during a brilliant three-year career. During that time, Davis emerged as one of the school's all-time top rebounders (863 boards) and scorers (1,110 points). In addition to being a fine rebounder and scorer, Davis was also known for his defensive skills. As a professional ball player, Davis played for three different clubs, St. Louis/Atlanta, Houston and Detroit. His most successful seasons were spent with St. Louis/Atlanta as he averaged 7.9 points per game and totaled 1,484 career boards.

Spencer Dinwiddie

Detroit Pistons, 2014-16 • Brooklyn Nets, 2016-present

One of the most outspoken, clutch players in CU basketball history, Spencer Dinwiddie helped the Buffaloes to three-straight NCAA Tournament appearances and a Pac-12 Tournament Championship during his outstanding three seasons in Boulder. With a career scoring average of 13.0 points per game, Dinwiddie was the 30th player in school history to reach the 1,000-point plateau (1,115 points). He started every game (86) as a Buff and also averaged 3.4 rebounds, 2.6 assists, 1.1 steals per game. He ranks in a number of all-time top-10 statistical categories, including No. 3 in free throw percentage (.830), No. 4 in 3-point field goal percentage (.386), No. 5 in FT made (420), and No. 7 in FT attempts (506). He once made 33-straight free throws (Feb. 7-21, 2013; 5 games), which is the fourth longest streak in school history. During his junior season cut short by an ACL injury, Dinwiddie's biggest scoring game of the campaign came against in-state rival Colorado State, where he lit up the Rams for 28 points and a 67-62 win at Colorado State (Dec. 3, 2013). During his sophomore year, he victimized the Rams once again in Boulder, scoring a career-high 29 points with a personal-best five treys. On Feb. 10, 2013, he set school record by scoring the most points by a Buff without missing a shot at Oregon State (6-of-6 FG; 4-of-4 3 pt.; 8-of-8 FT). Dinwiddie was selected by the Detroit Pistons in the second round of the 2014 NBA Draft (38th overall).

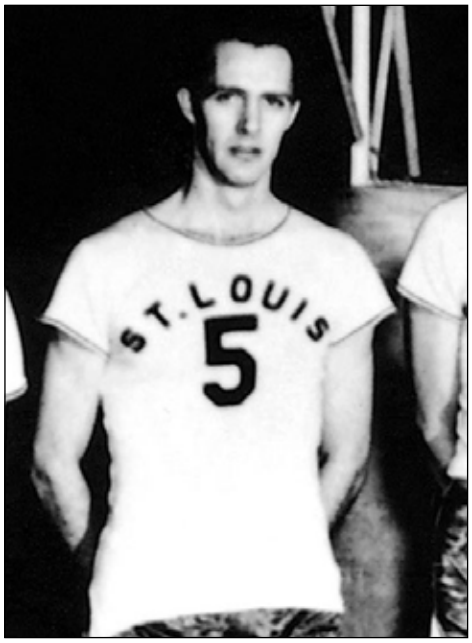
Robert Doll

St. Louis Bombers, 1946-48 • Boston Celtics, 1948-50



One of the key players for Coach Forrest "Frosty" Cox's 1941-42 Big Seven championship squad, Robert "Ichabod" Doll was known for his aggressive defense as he was named a unanimous first-team All-Conference player following his senior season. That same year, he also garnered All-America honors in Look, Pic and Time magazines. In 1940, Doll led the Buffaloes to bids in both the NCAA Tournament and NIT. He was named the NIT Most Valuable Player after averaging 15.5 points per game. Two years later, Doll was named a consensus second team All-American and led Colorado to its first Final Four. Doll played professionally for two years with the St. Louis Bombers, then joined the Boston Celtics as a free agent. During his two-year stint with the Celtics. Doll averaged 8.4 points and 1.4 assists per game.

Pat Frink

Cincinnati Royals, 1968-69

Known as an excellent shooter, Pat Frink finished his career at Colorado as the second leading scorer in Buff basketball history at that time (1,288 points). He accomplished that feat even though he missed the 1966 season due to a knee injury. Frink was also chosen as a member of the second-team academic All-America squad in 1968. After graduation, Frink went on to play professionally with the Cincinnati Royals for one season. While a member of the ABA team, he played in 48 games and averaged 2.6 points per game.

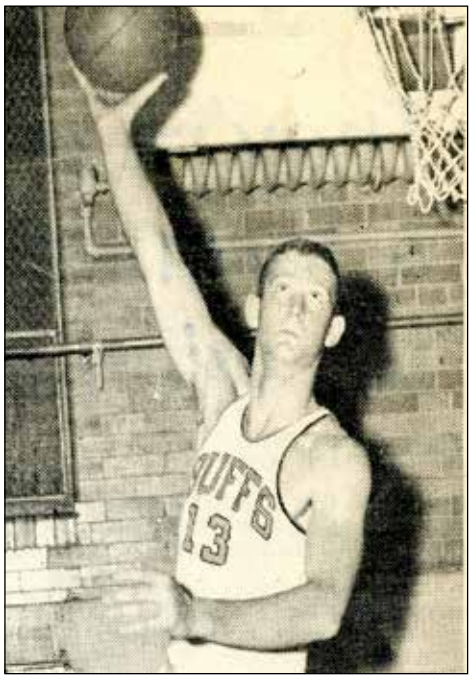
Chuck Gardner

Denver Rockets, 1967-68



Chuck Gardner led the Buffs his senior year in scoring (20.2 ppg), rebounding (9.8 rpg), field goal percentage (.524) and free throw percentage (.650). A two-time All-Big Eight selection, Gardner was also chosen as a scholastic All-American his senior season. His excellent touch around the basket and dangerous hook shot enabled him to be an outstanding inside scorer. Although he only played one year professionally, he did record some notable marks with the ABA's Denver Rockets. In 42 games, he averaged 4.7 points and 3.2 boards per game.

David Harrison

David Harrison had his best season with the Buffs during his junior year leading the Buffaloes in scoring (17.1 ppg.) and shooting an impressive 63.1 percentage from the field. The seven-foot, 250-pound presence led the Big 12 Conference in field goal percentage and more impressively was third nationally. Following his junior season in 2003-04, he opted for the NBA Draft where he was the 29th overall pick by Indiana. In four seasons with the Pacers he averaged 5.0 points, 2.9 rebounds a game and shot 53 percent from the field. Although his NBA career would not produce the numbers he performed in college, Harrison is currently the CU blocked shot record holder (225) and eclipsed the 1,000-point barrier (1,317 pts.). Harrison holds or shares every blocked shot record in school history and helped the Buffs to the 2002-03 NCAA Tournament and a 2003-04 NIT appearance.

Cory Higgins

A solid four-year letterwinner who played a then-school record 132 games, Higgins is the only player in CU history with at least 2,000 points (2,001); 500 rebounds (547); 300 assists (320); and 150 steals (192) during his career. He shares the all-time scoring record with 2,001 points and at the time of his graduation was the holder of 17 school records. He's also the CU and Big 12 record holder with 45 consecutive free throws made (Dec. 10, 2008–Jan. 14, 2009) covering eight games as a sophomore. Higgins was a three-time All-Big 12 third team selection and a Wooden Award Preseason Top 50 Watch List nominee entering his senior year. His 2,001 career points ranked sixth all-time among Big 12 Conference scorers (in all games played) and during his junior and sophomore seasons, led the Big 12 (conference games-only) in steals with a 2.1 steals per game average.

Jay Humphries

Jay Humphries had an outstanding career at CU, as he was elected twice for both All-America and All-Conference honors. Humphries is the current all-time leader in both steals (309) and assists (586), evidence of both his great quickness and ball handling abilities. Humphries finished his career with the Utah Jazz, after spending four seasons with Phoenix and four with Milwaukee. He reached two milestones in 1992-93, tallying his 4,000th assist and 8,000th point. He averaged a career-high 15.3 points per game in 1989-90, and never averaged under 7.5 points per game. Humphries joined the Jazz on draft day '92, when he was traded from Milwaukee to Utah.

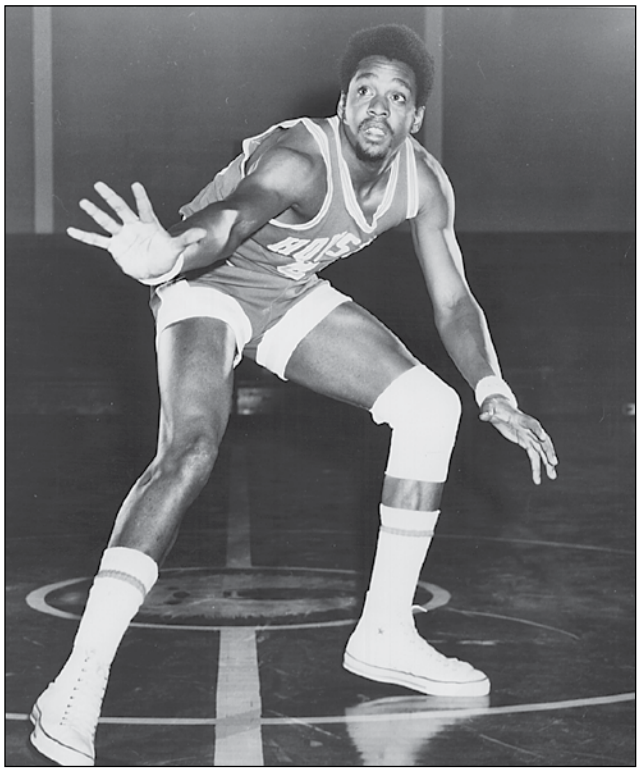
George King

Phoenix Suns, 2018-2019

George King was a 2017-18 All-Pac-12 Conference Second Team pick and the 2015-16 Pac-12 Most Improved Player of the Year. After playing sparingly as a freshman, and taking a redshirt season in 2014-15, he averaged 12.5 points and 6.4 rebounds over his final three seasons at Colorado. He led the Buffaloes in rebounding over his final two seasons and ranked fifth in the Pac-12 as a senior at 7.8 per game. King also finished as one of the greatest 3-point shooters in Colorado history. His 40.1 3-point percentage is the second best in team history while his 181 3-pointers rank fifth. He finished with 1,294 points and 681 rebounds, ranking 18th and 14th respectively on Colorado's career charts. King won the Pac-12 3-point shooting title as a sophomore, hitting 45.6 percent. He played in the annual NABC All-Star game prior to the 2018 Final Four where he was named MVP of the East team after scoring 21 points on 8 of 11 shooting with nine rebounds and three blocked shots. He then participated in the Portsmouth Invitational, a pre-NBA Draft showcase for college seniors. King was named to the Portsmouth All-Tournament team averaging 18 points and 7.7 rebounds in three games. For his efforts, he received an invitation to the 2018 NBA Draft Combine. King was selected in the second round of the 2018 NBA Draft by the Phoenix Suns (59th pick overall). He signed a two-way deal and spent the majority of the season with the Northern Arizona Suns of the NBA G-League. King appeared in one game with Phoenix during the 2018-19 season, grabbing one rebound.



Cliff Meely

Houston Rockets, 1971-76 • Los Angeles Lakers, 1976

One of two players in Colorado basketball history to have his jersey number retired (20), Cliff Meely was named an All-American following the 1970-71 season. Meely was truly a graceful performer who could shoot from anywhere on the court. He finished his career at CU possessing eight Big Eight Conference marks and 16 school records, including at the time CU's all-time scoring record (1,940 points). He still owns the school mark averaging 24.3 points per game. Meely transferred to CU as a junior college All-American from Northeastern JC. While there, he scored 40 or more points on five separate occasions. Meely played in more than 300 professional games over six seasons with the NBA's Houston Rockets and Los Angeles Lakers. He averaged 8.7 points and 5.6 boards per game throughout his career with the Rockets, only playing in 20 games with the Lakers at the end of the 1975-76 season.

André Roberson

Oklahoma City, 2013-present

After three record-breaking seasons at CU, Roberson chose to forego his senior year and enter the 2013 NBA Draft. The decision proved to be a wise one as the 6-7 power forward was selected with the 26th overall pick in the draft. Roberson left Boulder as the only CU men's basketball player with 1,000 points (1,012), 1,000 rebounds (1,045), 150 blocks (150), 150 steals (164), and 100 assists (119). He was also the first CU player to lead the team three straight years in rebounding, steals, and blocked shots. His 1,045 rebounds were only 10 boards short of the school record set by Stephane Pelle; however Pelle did so over the course of four seasons (1999-2003), while Roberson only played three seasons. Roberson's 150 blocks ranks fifth all-time at CU. In 105 career games, he tallied double-digit rebounds in 59 games, and scored in double-figures 52 times. Roberson also holds the freshman (297), sophomore (401), and junior (347) season rebounding records. Roberson helped Oklahoma City to the 2016 Western Conference Finals. He was named to the 2016-17 NBA All-Defensive Second Team.

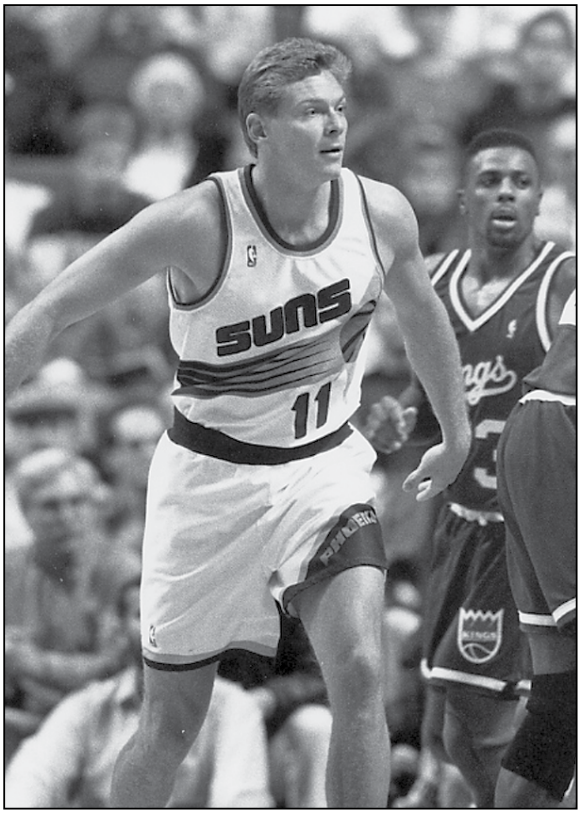
Seattle SuperSonics, 1985-86 • Phoenix Suns, 1992-93 • Atlanta Hawks, 1992-93 • Los Angeles Clippers, 1992-93 • Milwaukee Bucks, 1992-93



Alex Stivrins led Colorado in rebounding both years he was a Buff, and finished sixth in the country in 1985. He finished his collegiate career at CU with averages of 13.9 points and 10.4 rebounds per game. His first year in the NBA was spent with the Seattle SuperSonics, in 1985-86. Following that he played in both the CBA and the Italian League before returning to the NBA ranks in 1992-93. That season, he had stints with four different teams.

Scott Wedman

Kansas City Kings, 1975-81 • Cleveland Cavaliers, 1981-82 • Boston Celtics, 1982-87

Scott Wedman provided the backbone for CU basketball in the early '70s. Head Coach Sox Walseth called Wedman "one of the best we've ever had here." With his great touch, he was smooth as silk with the ball, and was also a big factor on the boards. Wedman's outstanding play earned him All-Big Eight honors in both his junior and senior seasons. Wedman began his professional career with the NBA's Kansas City franchise, where he played for six seasons. While there, he averaged 17.4 points per game and 6.0 rebounds in 466 games. He was traded to Cleveland for the '81-82 season and then was sent to Boston where he averaged 5.6 points per game in 301 contests. He was named to the 1979-80 NBA All-Defensive Second team as a member of the Kings.

Chuck Williams

Denver Nuggets, 1971-72, 1975-76 (ABA); 1976-77 (NBA) • Kentucky Colonels, 1972-75 • Buffalo Braves, 1977-78

A floor leader, Chuck Williams was known for his precision passing, slashing drives to the basket and his tenacious defense. He possessed exceptional quickness and speed. Following a serious knee injury his junior year, he rebounded his final campaign to have an excellent season. Williams began his professional basketball career with Denver. He played in 163 games with the Nuggets franchise during two different stints in both the ABA and NBA, and had a scoring average of 9.8 points per game. He also played for three years with the ABA's Kentucky Colonels and finished his career with the Buffalo Braves.

Derrick White

San Antonio Spurs, 2017-present

Derrick White made the most out of his one season in Boulder. He led the Buffaloes with 18.1 points, 4.4 assists and 1.2 steals per game while shooting 51 percent from the field and 81 percent from the free throw in 2016-17. He was named to the Pac-12's 2017 All-Conference First Team, All-Defensive Team and All-Tournament Team. He was also selected to the USBWA All-District VIII First Team and NABC All-District 20 Second Team. On the Pac-12 leaderboard, White ranked third in scoring, fifth in free throw percentage, sixth in assists, seventh in blocks (1.4 bpg), 10th in assist-to-turnover ratio (1.8), 14th in 3-point percentage (.396) and steals and 15th in field goal percentage. White was one of two players, joining the 2017 No. 1 overall pick Markelle Fultz, to rank in the Pac-12 Top 10 in scoring, assists and blocked shots. White was the league's second-leading scorer during the conference season at 18.5 points an outing. He had 14 games with at least 20 points, 11 of those coming against Pac-12 competition and included in that were three of his four 30-point outings. He's the ninth player with four or more 30 point games in a CU career and first with four in one season since Chauncey Billups in 1995-96. Following a memorable summer where he shined at the Portsmouth Invitational and NBA Combine, White was selected by the San Antonio Spurs in the first round with the 29th overall pick in the 2017 NBA Draft.

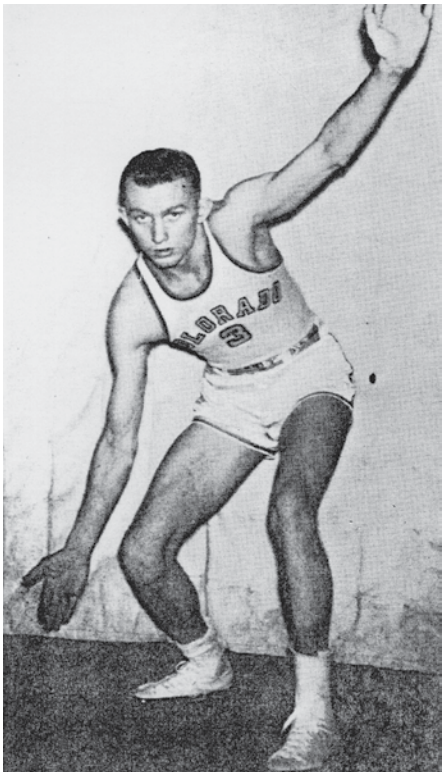
ALL-AMERICA SELECTIONS



Jack Harvey

In his back-to-back All-America campaigns, Jack Harvey led the Buffs to two conference championships and a trip to the NCAA Tournament in his senior season. During those two years, CU posted an amazing 31-8 mark and received recognition as the No. 1 team in the land. Known for his tough defense, Harvey proved to be key in numerous Buff victories. He was also an outstanding ball-handler for a big man and was a key component in the CU fast break. A solid All-Conference performer, Harvey is the only CU cager to be selected twice as an All-American

Bob Doll was the big-play man for coach Frosty Cox's 1941-42 Big Seven Championship squad. Doll, along with fellow All-American Leason McCloud helped lead CU to a 16-2 record and the NCAA Western Tournament finals as a senior. He scored 168 points (9.4 ppg.) and was known as an outstanding rebounder and controlled the paint in many CU wins. He was also renowned for his shooting prowess, finishing second to McCloud in scoring. An unanimous All-Big Seven selection, Doll was selected to All-America teams by Look, Pic and Time magazines. He was also tabbed as MVP of New York's Metropolitan Tournament as a sophomore and was a huge factor in CU's three conference titles in a four-year span. After graduation, Doll went on to play for the Boston Celtics.

Jim Willcoxon

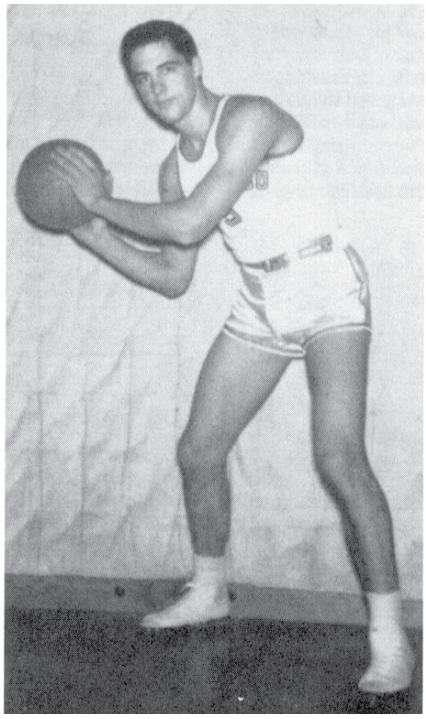
Known for his defense, Jim Willcoxon continued Coach Frosty Cox's tradition of talented cagers. Willcoxon helped anchor the 1937-38 and 1938-39 Big Seven Championship teams with tough play on the defensive end. He also led the Buffs to national prominence with strong showings on East Coast road trips. His hard-nosed style of play earned him both All-Big Seven and All-America honors as a senior.



Leason McCloud

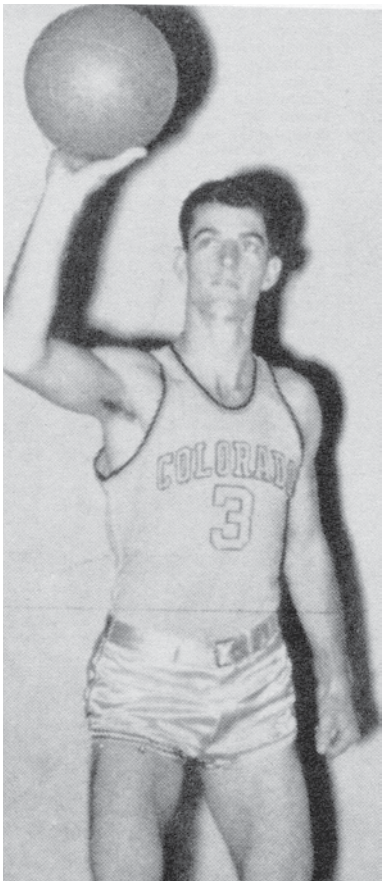
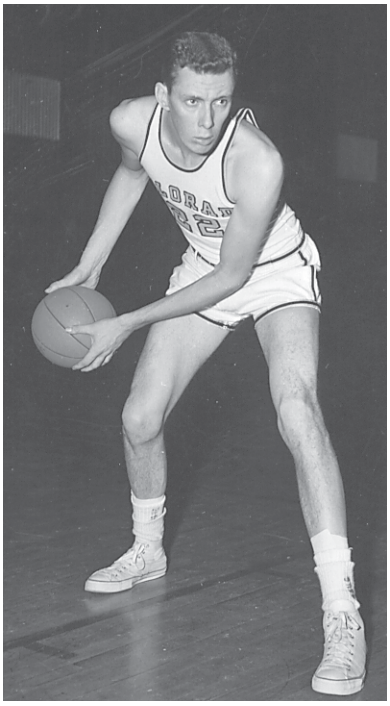
The leading scorer for the 1942 Big Seven Champion Buffs, Leason McCloud was Coach Frosty Cox's "go-to guy." Known for his silky-smooth shot, McCloud was also a great passer and rebounder. McCloud was key in CU's NCAA Western Tournament semifinal win over Kansas, pacing the Buffs with 19 points. His play caught the attention of national media and he joined fellow Buff Bob Doll on the Look, Pic and Time magazines' All-America squads and was a unanimous All-Big Seven selection.





Burdette Haldorson

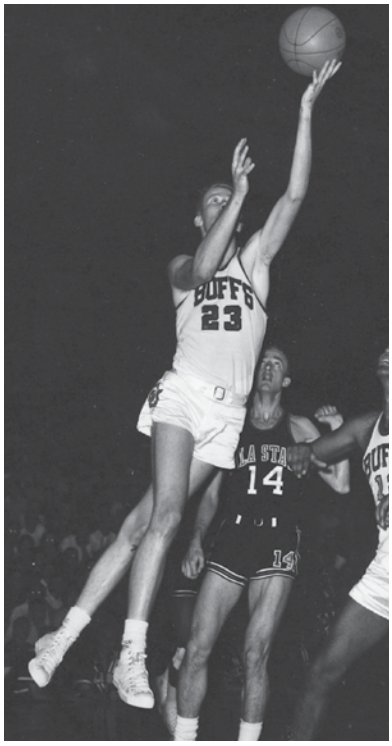
Burdette Haldorson was virtually unstoppable in 1955. Prior to the season, Coach H.B. Lee said, "We'll be just as good as Haldorson. We need the big man to play well for us." And play well he did, leading CU to a conference championship and a third-place finish in the National Collegiate Tournament. The big man led the Big Seven in scoring at 23.9 points per game and set what still stands as a CU record with an amazing 346 boards on the year. For his efforts, the Amateur Athletic Union tabbed Haldorson a first-team All-American. Haldorson's talents were nationally recognized, as the standout was selected to the 1956 and 1960 U.S. Olympic teams. Upon graduation, Haldorson turned down a $7,000 contract with the NBA's St. Louis franchise. He did continue playing, however, and led amateur powerhouse Phillips 66 to a National Industrial Basketball League title. Haldorson joined Cliff Meely as the only two Buffs to have their jerseys retired in 1994, and was named to the CU Hall of Fame in 1999.



Ken Charlton

Ranking No.12 on CU's all-time scoring charts, Ken Charlton battled through a history of knee problems to lead Colorado to two Big Eight titles and in 1963, Charlton was named an All-American by the United States Basketball Writers Association and Look magazine. Along with his penchant for scoring, Charlton was also a force inside, ranking in the top 10 on the CU rebounding charts with 671 career caroms (No. 11 at CU). He also succeeded in the classroom and was named an Academic All-American in 1963 as well. Buff Coach Sox Walseth said of Charlton's play, "On a leg and a half, he's better than anyone else in the Big Eight." Charlton was elected to the CU Hall of Fame in 2010.

In 1971, Cliff Meely was a scoring machine. He tallied a then-CU record 729 points and set a Big Eight record with 427 points in conference. Coach Sox Walseth said of Meely, "He is the most complete player I have ever coached." Known for his quickness and agility, Meely could play any position on the floor. He was named to several All-America teams as a junior and senior and played in numerous all-star games after graduation. Meely went on to play in over 300 games in the NBA for the Houston Rockets and the Los Angeles Lakers.

One of CU's top perimeter threats in hoops history, Chauncey Billups graced the CU campus for two seasons before departing for the NBA. As a sophomore in 1997, Billups was named a first-team All-American by Basketball News, becoming the eighth All-American in Colorado history. Known for his playmaking skills and ability to penetrate, Billups also led the Buffs to their first NCAA Tournament in over two decades, where CU topped perennial-power Indiana in the opening round. Billups went on to be the third pick in the NBA draft by the Boston Celtics. In 2004, Billups helped lead the Detroit Pistons to the NBA title, in addition was named The NBA Finals Most Valuable Player.

HALDORSON NAISMITH HALL OF FAME

Burdette "Burdie" Haldorson, one of the early stars in the history of the University of Colorado men's basketball program, was inducted along with his teammates from the 1960 United States Olympic team into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame. The 2010 class was inducted on August 13 in Springfield, Mass.

That 1960 team brought home the gold medal from Rome and also featured Jerry West (West Virginia), Oscar Robertson (Cincinnati), Jerry Lucas (Ohio State) and Walt Bellamy (Indiana). The 12-man squad cruised to an 8-0 record, the average winning margin a gaudy 42.4 points. The team beat Brazil, 90-63, to clinch the gold after disposing of the USSR (81-57) and host Italy (112-81) leading up to the gold medal contest.

The 1992 "Dream Team" also will be inducted, along with Karl Malone and Scottie Pippen, among others. The 1960 and 1992 squads are generally considered the top two men's basketball teams in U.S. Olympic history.

They will become the seventh and eighth teams that the Hall is inducting, the first Olympic ones, joining others that include the Harlem Globetrotters, the original Celtics, and the 1966 Texas Western team that shattered the race barrier when it beat Kentucky to win the NCAA title. Members of inducted teams go into the Hall as a full group, not as individuals.

"I don't really know that much about it yet, but it will be a real honor to go into the Hall with the group of players that was on that team," Haldorson said from his winter home in Scottsdale, Ariz. "There were 12 guys, and all but two of us went into the NBA. I was one of those two, and I had invitations to turn pro as well, but I was basically ending my career. Some of those guys were outright starts, and I really believe Jerry West and Oscar Robertson would be stars in the game today."

"I've run into Oscar and Jerry a few times, but we all really went our own directions, so most of us haven't really seen each other since we parted ways that summer," he added. "We've never had a reunion so we kind of lost track of each other, but I can't think of a better way to finally get us all together again."

Haldorson averaged 2.9 points and 4.3 rebounds per game on the '60 team, and also won a gold medal as a member of the '56 team, when he averaged 8.6 points per contest. With Haldorson as a team member, the United States went 16-0 in the two Olympic games.

Haldorson's uniform, No. 22, is one of just two retired basketball jerseys in CU history. He left quite an imprint in the school's basketball annals, and the 6-foot-7 Austin, Minn., native still holds four school rebounding records some five-plus decades after his CU playing days, including the most in a half (21), game (31) and season (346).

As a senior in 1954-55, he led the Buffs to the Big Seven Conference title by averaging 23.9 points per game, and was named a first-team All-American. CU eventually went on to finish third in the nation, losing in the Final Four to eventual champion San Francisco and the legendary Bill Russell.

He averaged 15.0 points and 9.5 rebounds for his CU career, and was the first of only eight players to this day to score at least 1,100 points and record 700 or more rebounds. He was inducted into CU's Athletic Hall of Fame in the school's second class in 1999; he previously had been inducted into the Colorado Sports Hall of Fame, the first with ties to CU's basketball programs, in 1977.

Haldorson went on to have a brilliant career in the National Industrial Basketball League as a member of the Phillips 66ers, the team entry for Phillips 66, who then hired him after his career. He then moved to Colorado Springs to form his own gas and oil distribution business. In October 2011, Haldorson was inducted into the 12th class of the Colorado Springs Hall of Fame at the Colorado Springs World Arena, and in March 2012, he was named to the Pac-12 Conference Men's Basketball Hall of Honor, recognizing former men's college basketball players and coaches who have made a significant impact to the tradition and heritage of the conference.

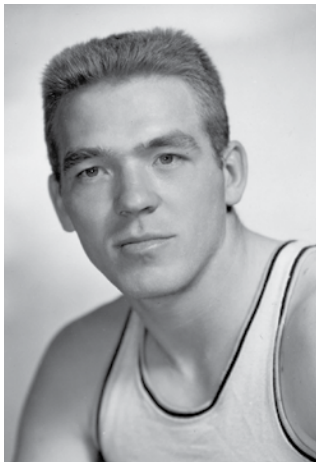
COLORADO ATHLETIC HALL OF FAME

CHAUNCEY BILLUPS

A first-team All-American and unanimous All-Big 12 performer as a sophomore in the 1996-97 season, he led the Buffaloes to a 22-10 record, including an 11-5 mark and a second place finish in the inaugural season of the Big 12, as well as their first NCAA Tournament appearance in 28 years … In two seasons at Colorado before declaring for the NBA Draft, he averaged 18.5 points, 5.6 rebounds and 5.1 assists in 55 games played; he also connected on 120 three-point field goals and converted at 85.7 percent from the free throw line … He averaged 19.1 points as a sophomore, and scored 24 in an 80-62 upset over Indiana and its legendary coach Bobby Knight in the first round of the NCAA's … In 1995-96, he set the school freshman records for points (465), scoring average (17.9) and assists (143), and was the second fastest player to score 500 points in a career, doing so in just 28 games (and is one of just two players to score 1,000 points in just two seasons in Boulder) … The Boston Celtics made him the third pick overall in the 1997 NBA Draft, but would trade him to Toronto a little over halfway into the season … Played 17 seasons in the NBA with seven teams (Boston, Toronto, Denver — twice, Minnesota, Detroit — twice, New York and the Los Angeles Clippers), but would rise to the ultimate stardom with Detroit, as he led the Pistons to the 2003-04 NBA title and would be named the Finals MVP … In his second stint with the Nuggets, in 2009 he helped the team reach the Western Conference finals for just the third time in franchise history. … A five-time All-Star, averaging 15.2 points, 5.4 assists and 2.9 rebounds per game, with his 89.4 free throw percentage the fifth-best in NBA history (his 38.7 percentage from three point range ranks 65th, but there's no ranking for game winning or clutch shots, as he would be even higher considering he earned the nickname "Mr. Big Shot") … He retired prior to the 2014-15 season and lives full-time in his native Colorado … One of just a handful of players to be named All-State four times as a prep at Denver's George Washington High School, and was named Colorado's "Mr. Basketball" three times … He was on the North team that won the gold medal in the 1995 Olympic Sports Festival … In 2013, he was inducted into the National High School Sports Hall of Fame (one of just four CU athletes to be honored, along with Byron White, Joe Romig and Bill Fanning), and in 2015, he was inducted into the Colorado Sports Hall of Fame, and in November 2015, the CU Hall of Fame.

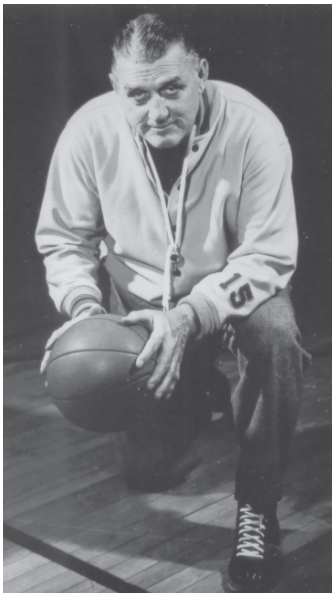


DON BRANBY

Don Branby was one of the last three-sport lettermen in Colorado history, as he earned nine in all playing football, basketball and baseball ... His top honor was being named an Associated Press All American in football in 1952 ... A seventh round draft pick by the New York Giants in the 1953 Draft (the 79th player selected overall), he went on After his playing days, he went into coaching in college at Montana State, and then in the Canadian Football League with the British Columbia Lions and the Ottawa Roughriders ... In basketball, he scored 165 points in 45 career games in primarily a reserve role, though he led the Buffaloes in free throw percentage in 1951-52, making a then unheard of 39-of-48 tries (81.3%) ... In baseball, he played first base, third base and in the outfield; his 16 runs batted in were the third most on the team his senior year ... He also spent four years in the Air Force, playing service football in which he also earned high accolades.

KEN CHARLTON

Ken Charlton was a member of back-to-back Big 8 Conference titles and two straight NCAA tournament appearances under the late-Sox Walseth ... Often going out and scoring 20-plus points a day or two after having his knees drained of excess fluid, Charlton was CU's all-time leading scorer at the time of his graduation with 1,352 points in just three seasons ... Walseth often referred to him as, "the finest offensive player I ever coached." ... Thirteen on CU's all-time scoring chart, Charlton was named an All-American in 1963 by the United States Basketball Writers Association and Look magazine ... Two-time All-Big 8 Selection ... Along with his penchant for scoring, he was also a force inside, ranking in the top 10 on the CU rebounding charts with 671 career caroms (he's 15th today) ... He also succeeded in the classroom and was named a 1963 Academic All-American ... Charlton's 514 points scored during the 1961-62 season ranks 22nd today for most points tallied in a single season ... Owns a pair of 35-point efforts at Kansas (Jan. 5, 1963), and at Missouri (Mar. 5, 1962) that still rank among the top-20 scoring games in school history ... Walseth said of Charlton's play, "On a leg and a half, he's better than anyone else in the Big Eight." ... Inducted in the CU Hall of Fame in 1989.



FORREST "FROSTY" COX

The winningest men's basketball coach in CU history in terms of percentage ... Forrest B. "Frosty" Cox coached the Buffaloes to a 147-89 record (.623) in 13 seasons in Boulder (1935-42, 1944-50) ... He led Colorado to three NCAA tournament appearances (1940, 1942, 1946) and to a pair of NIT berths (1938, 1940), the latter considered the more significant postseason tourney at the time ... His 1940 won the NIT championship in New York City, defeating DePaul and Duquesne at Madison Square Garden (in 1938, the Buffs defeated BYU but lost to Temple in the title game) ... In 1942, CU defeated Kansas, 46-44, in the NCAA quarterfinals to advance to the Final Four, one of two appearances by CU to this day; the Buffs lost to eventual champion Stanford, 46-35 ... Colorado was considered by many to have the top basketball program west of the Mississippi during the first half of Cox's tenure … His four teams that made the postseason were the most by any coach in CU history until Tad Boyle surpassed that with his fifth team in 2014-15 ... During Cox's tenure, CU won four Mountain State Conference titles (1938, 1939, 1940, 1942) and the 14-game winning streak by his '41-42 squad is still the longest in CU annals ... He coached CU's first four All-Americans in basketball: Jack Harvey, Jim Willcoxon, Robert Doll and Leason "Pete" McCloud ... Five of his former players are in the Colorado Sports Hall of Fame: Harvey, Byron White, Harry Simmons, Art Unger and Russell "Sox" Walseth ... He passed away on May 22, 1962 at the age of 54 ... Inducted into the Colorado Sports Hall of Fame (April, 2014).

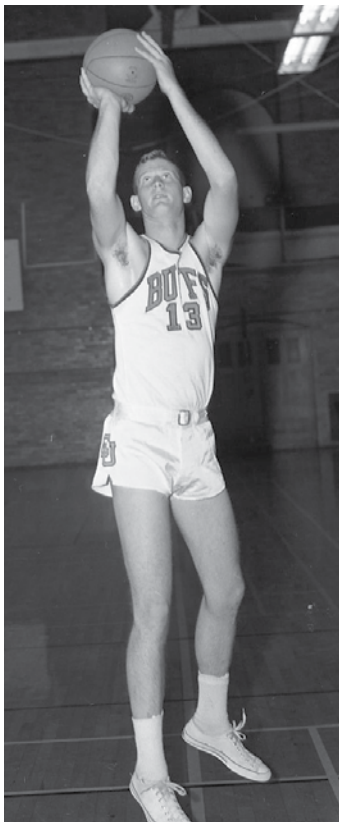
JIM DAVIS

Three-year letterman under the legendary Sox Walseth, he earned first-team All-Big 8 honors from both the Associated Press and United Press International his junior (1962-63) and senior (1963-64) seasons … CU was 53-24 in his career, winning two Big 8 titles and earning two trips to the NCAA Tournament … Scored 1,110 career points, converting 411-of-841 field goal attempts for a 48.9 percentage, considered very good for the day … Averaged 14.4 points per game over his career, including 18.5 his senior season, when he also averaged 12.7 rebounds for a second straight season, leading the Big 8 both years … With a 13.8 scoring norm as a junior, that makes him one of the few players in school history to average a double-double for two seasons … He averaged 11.2 rebounds per game over his career (77 games) … At the time of his graduation, he was CU's all-time leading rebounder and third all-time scorer … Fourth round selection by Detroit in the 1964 NBA Draft, but the 27th player overall in a 9-team league at the time … Waived by the Pistons that September, he persevered and eventually signed as a free agent with the St. Louis Hawks in 1967; he went on to play for the Hawks, both in St. Louis and when they moved to Atlanta … He was traded to Houston for a month during the 1971 season and finished up his career after being traded to Detroit … He played eight seasons in all, scoring 3,997 points with his best year coming in 1969-70 when he averaged 13.6 points and 9.7 rebounds for Atlanta, helping the Hawks to a 48-34 record and first place in the NBA West Division … From Muncie, Ind., where he prepped at Central High, and currently resides in Windsor, Ontario.

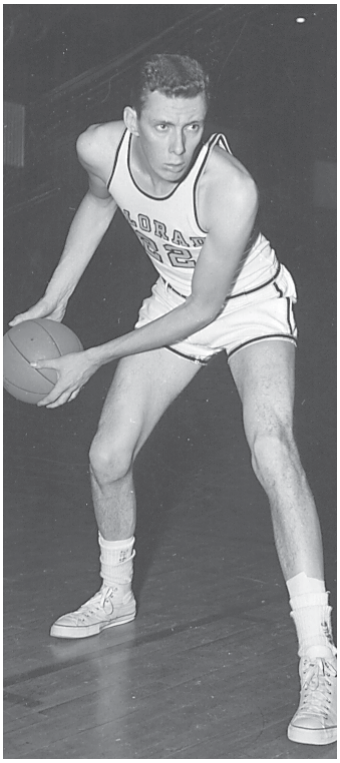
CARLIE GARDNER

A three-time letterman under the legendary CU basketball coach Sox Walseth, Gardner was a two-time first-team all-Big Eight Conference performer at center … He was noted for having an excellent touch around the basket and a dangerous hook shot that made him an outstanding inside scorer … The 6-foot-8 Gardner led the Big Eight in scoring in conference games as a senior in 1965-66, owning a 20.2 average (third in overall games), and the same year was second in rebounding (9.8) and field goal percentage (52.4) as well as fourth in free throw percentage (65.0); his finishing first or second in three categories and fourth in a fourth was the best all-around effort at the time in Big Eight history … The 20.2 average was the second-highest in program history at the time and it still ranks as the 10th-best … He scored 845 points in 70 career games (12.1 per), the fifth-most points in CU annals at the time; he had 456 rebounds (6.9 per), which ranked seventh at the end of his career … He was a two-time Academic All-Big 8 team member and a honorable mention Scholastic All-American … He played one year of professional ball with the Denver Rockets of the American Basketball Association, playing in 42 games in the '67-68 season (averaging 4.7 points and 3.2 rebounds per game) … He then spent four seasons as an assistant coach under Walseth (1968-72), and was instrumental in recruiting Cliff Meely to Boulder before entering private business … He is a member of CU's National Buff Club Cabinet and is an annual contributor to the Sox Walseth Basketball Endowment.

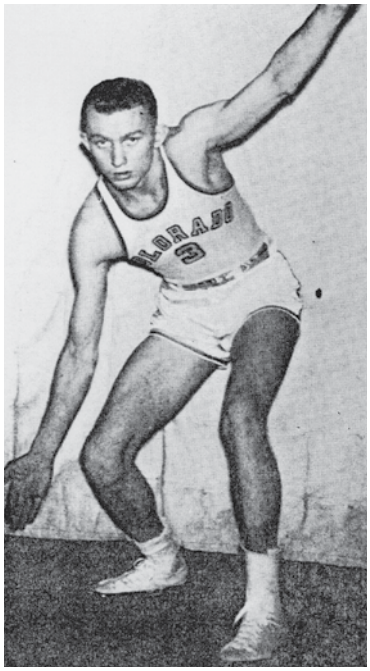


BURDETTE HALDORSON

Burdette Haldorson, No. 22 is one of just two retired basketball jerseys in CU history, left quite an imprint in the school's basketball annals … The 6-7, 210-pound Austin, Minn., native still holds a pair of school rebounding records some five decades after his CU playing days, including the most in a half (21) and game (31) … As a senior in 1954-55, he led the Buffs to the Big Seven title by averaging 23.9 points per game, and was also named as a first-team All-American … CU eventually went on to finish third in the nation, losing at the Final Four to eventual champion San Francisco and the legendary Bill Russell … Haldorson earned two gold medals in 1956 and 1960 as a member of the United States Olympic team, went on to have a brilliant career in the National Industrial Basketball League as a member of the Phillips 66ers, the team entry for Phillips 66, who then hired him after his career … He then moved to Colorado Springs to form his own gas and oil distribution business ... In August 2010, Haldorson and his 1960 United States Olympic teammates were inducted into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Mass.



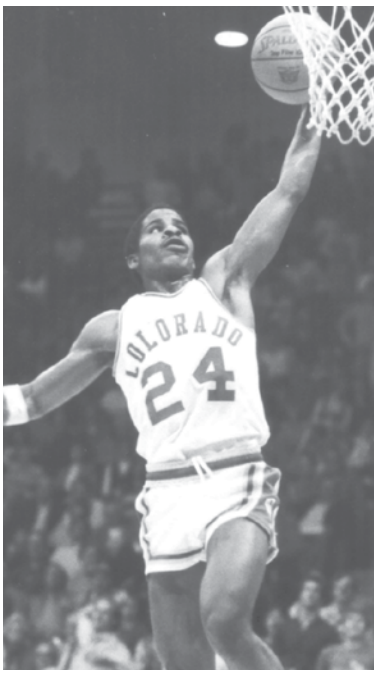
JACK HARVEY



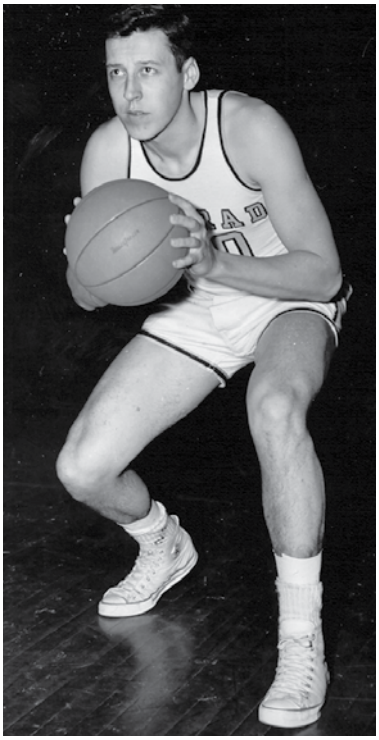
Jack Harvey remains the only CU basketball player to be selected twice as a first-team All-American (1938-39, 1939-40), when he led the Buffs to two Mountain States Conference titles, and as a senior, an N.I.T. title and a trip to the NCAA Tournament … Scored 27 points in CU's 52-37 win at Denver in 1940, at the time the most points scored by a Buff in a single game and virtually an unheard total west of the Mississippi at the time … Known for his tough defense, he was a key performer in limiting the opponent to just 31.2 points per game his junior season and only 37.0 his senior year.

JAY HUMPHRIES

He was a two-time Associated Press honorable mention All-American as a junior and senior (1982-83, 1983-84), when he earned first-team All-Big Eight honors … Arguably the best and most exciting Buff of the 1980s, he became the school's all-time leader in assists (562) and steals (309) … He finished his stellar career averaging five assists and 2.8 steals per game … On the scoreboard, Humphries became the then-fourth all-time scorer (1,306 points, or 11.7 per game – he is still 14th on the list), with his go-to shot being the top of the key jumper which in his day was only worth two points … His specialty, however, was his defensive play, as he led the nation in steals with 115 for the 1982-83 season, which remains CU's single-season mark; his 101 thefts his senior year (1983-84), ranks second on the CU list and was third in the NCAA … He had an incredible 10 steals against Wisconsin-Milwaukee as a junior … Humphries also holds the second (174) and third (173) season assists totals, in addition to the school mark in assists in a conference game (14), and double-figure assist games for a career with eight … He had 10 career games with six or more steals … He owned a career field goal percentage of 49.8 percent, shooting .500 or better in three of his four seasons … He named to the league's All-Freshman team for 1980-81 and was a member of the Big Eight's All-Decade Team for the 1980's (honorable mention) … The Phoenix Suns selected him in the first round of the 1984 National Basketball Association Draft (the 13th player overall); he went on to play 11 seasons in the NBA with four teams (Phoenix, Milwaukee, Utah and Boston), playing in 794 games and finishing with an 11.3 scoring average; he racked up 8,938 points, 4,424 assists, 2,033 rebounds and 1,161 steals … After his playing days, he went into coaching and has been an assistant coach with several NBA teams in addition to coaching in South Korea for five seasons and in China for one



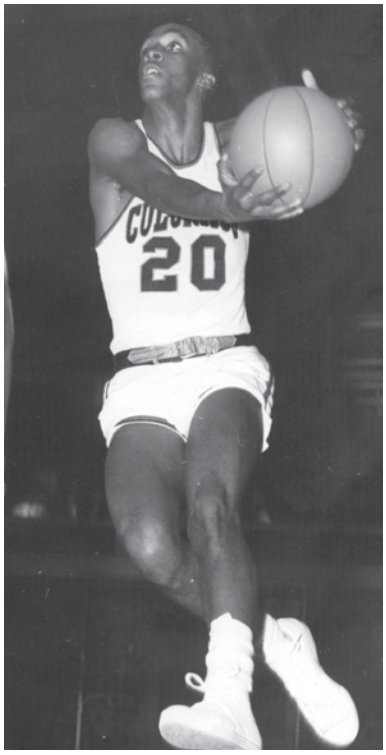
BOB JEANGERARD



Three-year letterman (1952-1955) under head coach H.B. Lee … Two-time All-Big Seven Conference first-team selection … Member of two NCAA Tournament teams in 1953-54 and 1954-55 (Final Four) under coach H.B. Lee … Averaged 12.4 points and 6.1 rebounds per game during his collegiate career… His senior year, he averaged 16 points and 6.8 rebounds per game, ranking second on the team in both categories … CU won a then-school-best 19 games and reached the national semifinals falling to eventual champion San Francisco … Named the NCAA Tournament Regional Most Outstanding Player … Also that season, member of the CU team that rallied from a 23-point first half road deficit to edge Kansas State. The 23-point deficit remains to this day, a school record … As a junior, he was second on the team in scoring (12.8 ppg) and rebounding (6.1 rpg.) … as a sophomore, his tip-in at the buzzer defeated Oklahoma, 56-55 (Dec. 20, 1952) … Entering the 2015-16 season, ranks No. 43 in rebounding (413) and No. 46 in scoring (842) … Member of the 1956 Olympic Gold Medal basketball team in Melbourne and scored a team-high 16 points in the gold medal game against the Soviet Union … The U.S. team dominated the games and brought home the gold medal after going undefeated (8-0), winning those games by an average of 53.5 points; the U.S. defeated the USSR twice, 85-55 in the quarterfinals and 89-55 in the gold medal game … The team was loaded, with CU teammate Burdie Haldorson, his college teammate and close friend, and future NBA Hall of Famers, Bill Russell and K.C. Jones … Jeangerard was the team's second-leading scorer when all was said and done, scoring exactly 100 points for a 12.5 average, behind only Russell's 14.1 … In shooting a sizzling 60 percent from the field, practically unheard of in that day and age, he scored a team-high 16 points in the gold medal game, with a best of 21 points in a win over the Philippines … In 1959, he was once again chosen to represent the U.S., playing on its team for the Pan American games … Teaming again with Haldorson and college basketball stars Oscar Robertson and Jerry West, the team again captured the gold medal … Jeangerard went on to have an outstanding career in AAU ball … He passed away in July 2014 at the age of 81.

BILLY LEWIS

The first African-American varsity basketball player at Colorado (and the first to letter), enrolling at CU in September 1956; at that time, freshmen were ineligible to play and he thus made his debut in the 1957-58 season … As with his football counterparts, though treated well in Boulder, he often had to endure harsh racism on the road in pre-Civil Rights America and thus blazed the trail for all those who would follow him to CU … The 6-3 forward played in 67 career games, scoring 244 points and grabbing 197 rebounds in lettering three times … His best season on the court was his junior year, when he averaged 5.9 points per game with a career-high 21 against Nebraska … In 1959, after the basketball season was complete, he decided to come back out for track in his specialty, the high jump; he cleared 6-6¾ and finished second in the CU Invitational (to Wyoming's Jerry Lane, who jumped an inch higher) which topped his previous personal best of 6-2 as a senior at Denver's Manual High School, where he was coached by CU great and Hall of Fame member Gil Cruter

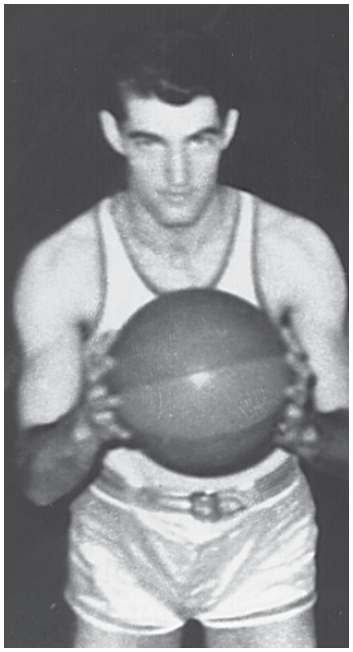


… Just as important if not more so were his contributions as a student leader, becoming the first African-American elected by the student body as commissioner of the ASUC (Associated Students of the University of Colorado); he led a delegation of students and testified on the resolutions against discrimination in housing and employment practices and headed the SFHD, Students For Human Dignity, two of many causes he championed that helped change CU in a positive way forever … Upon his graduation from CU in 1960, he clerked for a Denver judge, and after marrying fellow CU grad JoKatherine Holliman (the first African American woman on CU's homecoming court), they relocated to Washington D.C. where he would work for Colorado senator Peter Dominic in 1963 and 1964 while earning his Juris Doctor of Law degree from Howard University … In '64, he was recruited by IBM and took a position as the first African-American corporate attorney at the company's headquarters in Armonk, N.Y., and returned to Colorado two years later (1966) to be the junior counsel for IBM in its Niwot offices … He almost made a successful bid to become a state representative in 1968 against Tom Bastien, but lost by just 100 votes; he then opened a private law practice in Denver with partner Morris Cole.

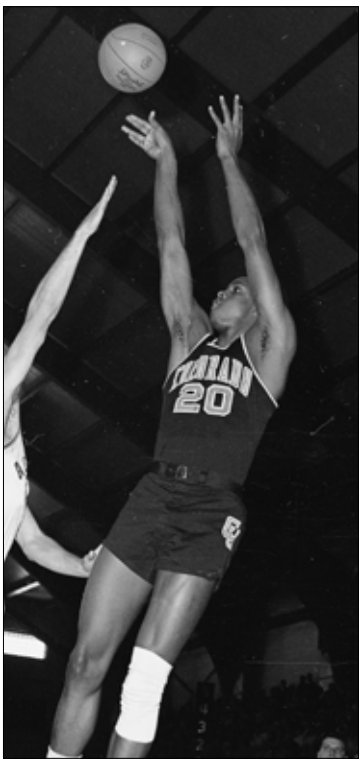
DAVE LOGAN

A first-team All-American as a senior in 1975 as selected by The Sporting News and a Playboy Preseason All-American prior to his junior season (1974), the lone Buff to ever make the squad as a non-senior … Logan caught 68 passes for 1,078 yards in his CU career, numbers that both ranked second at the time of his graduation and remain in the top 20 all-time … He led the Buffs in receiving in both 1974 and 1975, after finishing second to the late J.V. Cain as a sophomore in 1973 … A two-sport star at CU (he also lettered in basketball, averaging 14.1 points in 58 career games), Logan is one of a handful to ever be drafted in three sports: he was a third round pick by Cleveland in the 1976 NFL Draft (65th overall); the Kansas City Kings nabbed him in the ninth round of the 1976 NBA Draft; and the Cincinnati Reds had drafted him as an infielder and pitcher in the 19th round of baseball's June draft out of high school (longtime MLB outfielder Dave Winfield was also drafted in three) … Played in 119 NFL games with Cleveland (1976-83) and Denver (1984) catching 263 passes for 4,250 yards and 24 touchdowns in his pro career. Logan settled back home in Colorado where he starred as a prep … Is a longtime participant in the radio sports talk scene in Denver, and was the radio play-by-play voice of the Denver Broncos after several years as the color analyst … Also worked several CU football games for KCNC-TV in the 1990s as the color commentator.

LEASON "PETE" McCLOUD



A first-team All-American, the third in CU basketball history … Just the sixth CU athlete in any sport at the time, he was the Buffs' leading scorer on the 1941-42 team that reached the Final Four … Scored 19 points in a 46-44 win over Kansas that enabled CU to advance in the tournament … Member of the 1939-40 team that won the N.I.T. and was invited to the first NCAA tournament … Two-time All-Mountain States performer (junior, senior seasons), he led the league in scoring both as a junior (14.1 per game) and senior (16.5, big for its day).



CLIFF MEELY

In exiting CU following his senior year with all the scoring records and as the runner-up in all the rebounding marks, some three-plus decades later Cliff Meely still holds the mark for a single game (47) … Today he's third in rebounds (971) and fourth in career points (1,940) … His name remains either at or near the top in over a dozen statistical categories, and he still owns the two top single season scoring averages in CU history: 28.0 as a senior in 1970-71, and 23.8 as a sophomore in 1968-69 … The 12.1 rebounds per game average for his career remains one of the top numbers ever posted collegiately … Led Colorado to the Big Eight title in 1968-69, as the Buffaloes were 21-7 with a 10-4 mark in league play … A three-time All-Big Eight team member, he earned first-team All-America honors as a senior, and set 16 school and eight conference records during his career … Additionally, Meely's 24.3 points per game scoring average is still a school record … Leader on the Buffs' last Big Eight Conference title team … Overall, the Buffs won 49 games during his time on the CU campus under late coach Russell "Sox" Walseth, the fourth most over any three-year span in CU history, with his jersey number (20) just one of two retired in CU annals … Went on to play six seasons in the National Basketball Association with the Houston Rockets and Los Angeles Lakers … In 1995-96, Meely was named to the Associated Press' all-time Big Eight Conference Basketball first team … Along with Meely, the-late Wayman Tisdale (Oklahoma), Danny Manning (Kansas), Jo Jo White (Kansas State), and Rolando Blackman (Kansas State) were named to the team … In addition the conference honor, Meely also earned the NCAA's Silver Anniversary Award presented to six former collegiate athletes who have gained recognition or done great work in their postgraduate careers.

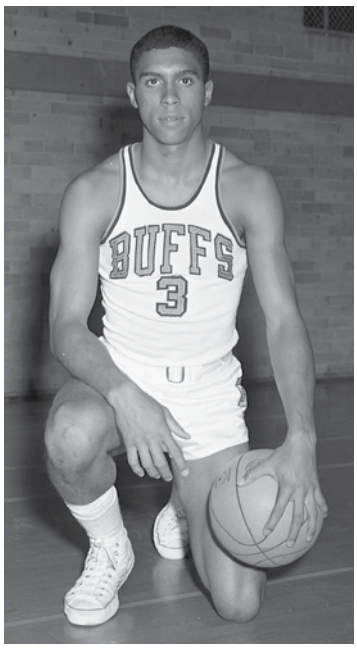
SHAUN VANDIVER

A three-year letterman (1988-91) … Two-time All-Big 8 and Associated Press first team selection (1989-90, 1990-91) … After leading Hutchinson Community College to the national junior college championship in 1988, he transferred to Colorado where he was the Big 8 Newcomer of the Year as a sophomore in 1988-89 … Ranks among the top five in both career scoring (fifth, 1,876 points) and rebounding (third, 962) … Holds the school-record for career double-doubles (59) and is tied for most doubles in a season (21) … One of two players in school history to average a double-double in each of his three years as a Buff … Also one of two players at CU to have a pair of single-season scoring averages among the top 10 … His junior season was his finest as a player, being named an 1989-90 UPI Honorable Mention All-American after leading the team in scoring (22.3 points per game), rebounding (11.2 per game), blocks (36) and field goal percentage (59.3), in addition leading the Big 8 in scoring … His 668 points during the season became the most scored by a CU big man, a feat he surpassed as a senior in 1990-91 with 699 … In the 1989-90 Big 8 Tournament, Vandiver earned most valuable player honors after he helped CU upset Missouri and Oklahoma State in back-to-back games, as CU became the first No. 8 seed to advance to the title game (he scored 75 points and had 41 rebounds in the three games) … Other school marks he holds are career rebounds by a center (962); consecutive double-figure rebounding games (16); and is tied for first in career field goals made (750) … He is third in career in field goal percentage (.574) … Selected No. 25 overall in the 1991 NBA Draft by the Golden State Warriors, but would play nine seasons overseas in Europe … Once returning to the states, he was an assistant coach at Wyoming, Bowling Green, Northern Colorado and Boise State before being named head coach at Emporia State ahead of the 2011-12 season (he has a 78-93 record in six seasons there).

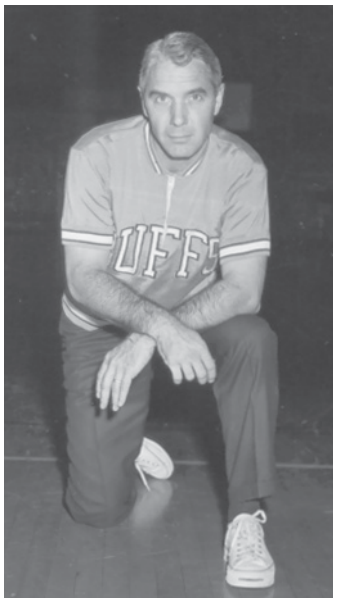
CHUCK WILLIAMS

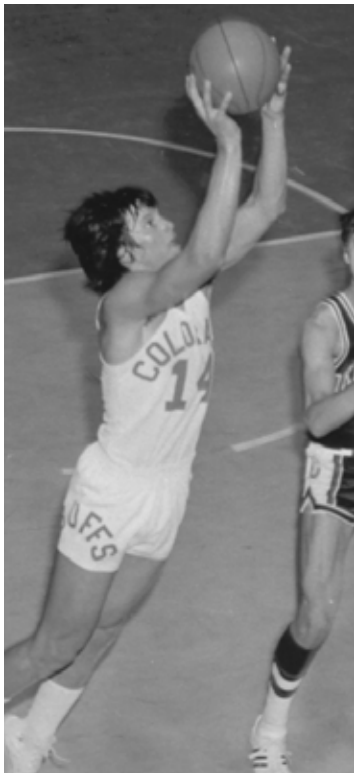
A three-year letterman at guard under Coach Sox Walseth for the 1965-66, 1966-67 and 1967-68 seasons … Stood 6-foot-2 and weighed 185 pounds, one of the bigger guards in the nation for his day … A floor leader, he was known for his precision passing, slashing drives to the basket and his tenacious defense, possessing exceptional quickness and speed … Following a serious knee injury his junior year that cost him over a third of the season, he rebounded his final campaign to have an excellent year … An honorable mention All-Big Eight Conference performer as a senior, when he was second on the team in scoring (18.0 points per game), along with averaging 5.1 rebounds per game (assists and steals were not official statistics at the time) … Led the team that season in both field goal percentage (.439) and free throw percentage (.748) … Scored a career-high 38 points against Iowa State in Boulder on Feb. 28, 1968; still tied for the 13th-most points in a single game in CU history, at the time it was the fourth-most … His 802 career points were the ninth-most upon his graduation … He was drafted by the Philadelphia 76ers in the 1968 National Basketball Association Draft (sixth round, No. 76 overall), but began his professional basketball career with the Pittsburgh Condors and then the Denver Rockets in the old American Basketball Association … Between 1970-71 and 1977-78, he would play in 638 regular season games in the pros, 500 in the ABA and 138 in the NBA, averaging 10.8 points and 4.5 assists per game … Also appeared in 37 playoff games, all in the ABA, averaging 11.9 points and 4.1 assists per contest … He played in 184 games with the Rockets/Nuggets franchise during three different stints in both the ABA and NBA, and also had stints with Pittsburgh, San Diego, Kentucky and Memphis in the ABA and finished his career with the NBA Buffalo Braves … A two-time ABA All-Star … Represented the Nuggets' decade in the ABA, along with Spencer Haywood and Ralph Simpson, at the team's 50th anniversary celebration in 2018 (also attended an Indiana Pacers 50th anniversary celebration that had over 100 ABA players from all different teams) … He earned two degrees from CU, his bachelor's in 1968 and his Master's in 1969 … Previously inducted into the Denver East High School Sports Hall of Fame (in its inaugural class in 2007) and the Colorado High School Sports Hall of Fame (2015) … Co-founded three highly successful businesses in sports medicine, environmental remediation and transportation … Born Edward Williams in Pittsburg, Calif., on June 6, 1946, and currently resides in Denver, where he is the national business development manager for BELFOR Environmental.



RUSSELL "SOX" WALSETH

A player and long-time basketball coach at Colorado, Russell "Sox" Walseth was likely the first and one of just a few to have coached both the men's and women's program at the same NCAA school … His time at CU spanned 38 years, starting as an athlete in the 1940s when he lettered in both basketball and baseball a total of six letters He then worked as the head freshman coach for five years (three under his coach, Frosty Cox, and two under H.B. Lee); after two years as head coach at South Dakota State, he replaced Lee for the 1956-57 season and would proceed to coach 20 Buffalo teams … The winningest coach in CU men's basketball history, posting a 261-245 record, the Buffs won three Big Eight titles under his direction, in 1961-62, 1962-63 and 1968-69 … He was the Big Eight Conference coach of the year on five occasions, and his star players included Ken Charlton, Jim Davis, Cliff Meely and Scott Wedman … Coached the women's team from 1980-83, then known as the "Lady Buffs," compiling an impressive 77-21 record … That mark included an incredible 43-0 record at home, and once again, he earned coach of the year accolades … The basketball floor at the Coors Events Center is named after him, and he is a member of the Colorado Sports Hall of Fame.





SCOTT WEDMAN

A three-time letterman for Sox Walseth at Colorado, he still ranks 20th all-time on CU's scoring charts with 1,251 career points (16.7 per game, which remains eighth-best for a player with 75-plus games in a Buff uniform) … At the time of his graduation, he was CU's fourth all-time leading scorer and rebounder … In 75 games, he converted 516 of 1,046 field goal attempts, a solid 49.3 percent … He twice earned All-Big Eight Conference honors, leading the Buffs in scoring as a junior (17.7 per game in 1972-73) and as a senior (20.0 in 1973-74); he was second as a sophomore with a 12.8 average in '71-72 … One of just 12 players in school history to average 20 or more points in a season … Scored a career-high 32 points against Long Beach State his senior year … Led the team in rebounds with 9.3 per game both his junior and senior campaigns, with his 684 career boards still the 11th-most ever by a player in a CU uniform (his career-high of 19 came against Nebraska his junior year) … Selected as a second-team member of the conference's all-decade team for the 1970s … Sixth overall pick in the 1974 NBA Draft by the Kansas City-Omaha Kings, he was just the second CU player in history at the time to be drafted in the first round, as well as the highest pick; to date, only Chauncey Billups has been a higher selection (third overall); he was the second pick in the '74 ABA Draft by Memphis but opted for the NBA … 13-year NBA veteran with Kansas City, Cleveland and Boston, he played in 906 games with a 13.2 career scoring average, pouring in 11,916 points; he shot 48.1 percent from floor, 79.4 percent from the free throw line and averaged 4.8 rebounds per game … Also played in 85 playoff games (with a 10.4 scoring average) … The first former Buffalo to play on an NBA championship team, he won two rings with the Celtics (1984, 1986) as he participated in all three of the classic Celtic-Los Angeles Laker NBA Finals battles in the mid-80s … A two-time NBA All-Star … Shares the mark for field goal perfection in the postseason with two others when he hit all of 11 of shots, including four three-pointers, for 26 points in a win over the Los Angeles Lakers in Game 1 of the '85 NBA Finals (a 148-114 win come to be known as the "Memorial Day Massacre") … His jersey was officially honored by CU in the spring of 2006 … Inducted into the Colorado Sports Hall of Fame in 2007.

LARRY ZIMMER, Announcer

Larry Zimmer is the first inductee into the Hall who is not a former athlete, coach or administrator; but he's been a part of more football and men's basketball games than perhaps anyone else in school history, calling 478 for football, including a string of 251 in a row until he fell ill, along with 525 men's basketball contests … He is a member of both the Colorado Sports and CU's Athletic Hall of Fames … Almost as synonymous with CU as Ralphie, the school's live buffalo mascot, Zimmer has spent 41 years in the booth at Folsom Field and traveling with the team, broadcasting some of the Buffaloes' greatest moments … "Zim" has missed only 12 football games CU overall; prior to the six due to illness, he had missed three bowls (two due to contracts forbidding teams to originate broadcasts) and three regular season games due to travel conflicts; his 400th at CU was also the 1,000 of his professional career … At their current school, only Bob Robertson, Washington State (535) has called more games than Zim, who is tied for fourth in consecutive years calling major college football (41st) behind Robertson (48), Bill Hillgrove, Pitt (45) and Don Fischer, Indiana (42) … Awarded an Honorary "C" in 1992, and was honored as the 15th recipient of the Chris Schenkel Award by the National Football Foundation in 2009, which recognizes those who have enjoyed a long and distinguished career broadcasting college football at a single institution.

A two-time All-Pac-12 Conference selection, Wright was second on the team in steals (36), blocks (11) and free throws made (95) and third in rebounding (5.7 rpg) and 3-point field goals (39).

2018-19: McKinley Wright IV - A first team All-Pac-12 pick, he averaged 13.0 points and 4.8 rebounds per game while leading the Buffaloes in assists and steals – all while dealing with a shoulder injury that kept him less than 100 percent since the beginning of the conference season.

2017-18: McKinley Wright IV - Wright led Colorado by averaging 14.2 points, 5.5 assists and 1.0 steal per game while shooting 45 percent from the field and 77 percent from the foul line. The freshman point guard was named to the Pac-12 Conference All-Freshman Team while earning honorable mention to both the overall All-Conference and All-Defensive teams. He topped all Pac-12 freshmen in assists and assist-to-turnover ratio (1.9) and ranked third in scoring.

2016-17: Derrick White - White led the Buffaloes at 18.1 points, 4.4 assists and 1.2 steals per game while shooting 51 percent from the field and 81 percent from the free throw line. He was named to the Pac-12's 2017 All-Conference First Team, All-Defensive Team and All-Tournament Team. He was also selected to the USBWA All-District VIII First Team and NABC All-District 20 Second Team.

2015-16: Josh Scott - The All-Pac-12 senior forward finished off his illustrious career by leading the Buffaloes at 16.3 points and 8.8 rebounds while hitting 53 percent from the field and 75 percent from the free throw line. He was one of 10 finalists for the 2016 Kareem Abdul-Jabbar Award given to the nation's top big man. Scott was also a Pac-12 All-Defensive team selection and a NABC All-District second team member.

2014-15: Josh Scott – Despite missing eight games due to injury, second in points per game (14.5), rebounds (219), blocked shots (46), and FG% (.544) • 8.4 rpg. average was first • Led team in scoring/rebounding in the same game, nine times.

2013-14: Josh Scott – Led the Buffaloes in scoring (14.1) and rebounding (8.4), along with a team-best 51.1 field goal percentage from the field. He also shot 81 percent at the free throw line and was named All-Pac-12 Conference first team. His 493 points ranks sixth by a forward, and 10th by a sophomore. Scott also had 40 blocks and led the Buffs in scoring & rebounding in the same game 11 times.

2012-13: Spencer Dinwiddie – Led CU in scoring with 15.3 points per game and a team-best 82.5 percent from the free throw line. He was also named a Pac-12 Conference first team selection and his 15.3 average was tied for the eighth in the conference (all games). Dinwiddie also led the Buffs with eight, 20+ point scoring games.

2011-12: Carlon Brown – Led the Buffaloes in scoring, in his only year with the team averaging 12.6 points per game. He earned the Pac-12 Tournament Most Outstanding Player award, helping CU win four games in four days en route to the conference championship. Brown averaged 15.8 points, 4.8 rebounds 2.3 steals per game. He shot 50 percent from the field and scored the game-winning basket with an uncontested dunk in the final seconds against Arizona in the conference title game.

2010-11: Alec Burks – Led CU in scoring with a 20.5 points per game average, the highest scoring average in a single season over the 20-point plateau in 16 years. Burks also scored a school record 779 points breaking a 40-year mark. He was an unanimous Big 12 Conference selection who also led the Buffs in assists with 112.

SEASON NOTES

- Art Bunte claimed All Big-Seven first team honors leading the team in points and rebounds per game.
- Bunte averaged 22 points per game in Big Seven Conference games.
- The 1952-53 team had only five letterwinners return from a year ago after losing five seniors the previous season.
- Bob Jeangerard's tip-in at the buzzer defeated Oklahoma State (Dec. 20).
- One of CU's three conference wins came against eventual Big Seven champion and national runner-up Kansas.
- Mel Coffman came to CU after spending three years in the Marine Corps.
- Charlie Mock is a member of the Indiana High School Basketball Hall of Fame.
- Tommy Harold was Mr. Basketball in Indiana (1951) where both played on the state championship team at Muncie Central, coached by Art Beckner, father of later CU basketballer Joe Beckner.

SEASON NOTES

- The Buffs were the Big Seven co-champions, earning their first major [Big Seven] league title.
- CU received a NCAA Tournament Western Regional berth on a draw from a hat.
- Started the season with a seven-game losing streak, the first time a Buff team would begin a season with that many consecutive losses.
- On Feb. 2, CU established itself as a serious championship contender by defeating defending conference champion Kansas, 70-62, to move into a first-place tie.
- An eight-game conference win streak was highlighted by road wins at Iowa State, at Nebraska and at Oklahoma.
- In the game at Ames, CU trailed at the half by 12 points and by two points with seconds to play. Wilbert Walter made a free throw, then Jim Ranglos tipped-in Walter's second free throw at the buzzer.
- Burdette Haldorson led the Big Seven in conference scoring at 21.3 ppg. During CU's eight-game winning streak, Haldorson averaged 21.9 per game, including 33 points at Oklahoma.

Burdette Haldorson

SEASON NOTES

• CU won a school-record 19 games and its first outright Big Seven basketball championship with an 11-1 record (fourth time CU had won 11 conference games in a season).

• Bob Jeangerard and Burdette Haldorson earned All-Big Seven honors on both AP and UPI teams (a school-first that two CU players on the same teams together).

• Jeangerard was named outstanding player at the NCAA Regional Tournament, while Jim Ranglos was named to the Big Seven All-Tournament team.

• Haldorson became the first CU player to average a double-double for a season (21.0 ppg, 13.8 rpg.).

• On Feb. 26, CU completed one of the most improbable comebacks in Big Seven history, overcoming a 23 point first-half deficit to edge Kansas State 63-60.

• On March 21, CU defeated Big Ten champs Iowa, 75-74, to finish with a No. 15 (AP)/No. 11 (UPI) national ranking.

• Burdette Haldorson set school records in points (524), conference points (287), rebounds (346), free throws (160). He also led the conference in scoring (23.9 ppg.).

• CU set school marks for most points scored in a season (1772), conference season (885), points scored in a game (93).

Jim Ranglos

SEASON NOTES

- Jim Ranglos was the lone Buffalo to earn All-Big Seven honors after a season in which he finished ninth in league scoring (14.8 points per game).
- On Feb. 11, CU beat Kansas State for its 19th straight home victory.
- In the final game for both coaches, CU's H.B. "Bebe" Lee and the Buffs, defeated Dr. Forrest C. "Phog" Allen's Kansas squad, 75-67, to bring an end to two illustrious coaching careers.
- Lee resigned as head coach to become the athletic director at Kansas State College. He coached CU for six years with 63 victories. His teams generated a pair of eight-game winning streaks in 1953-54 and 1954-55.

SEASON NOTES

- The CU head-coaching job was taken over by 30-year-old Russell "Sox" Walseth, who replaced H.B. Lee.
- In his first season, Walseth was named Big Seven Coach of the Year.
- On Dec. 3, the Buffs stunned highly regarded Oregon State, 67-58, in Sox Walseth's coaching debut. Jim Jochems scored 18 points, Bob Helzer and Dave Mowbray each added 14. Jochems would be plagued by a knee injury the rest of the season, played in only 10 games.
- After upsetting Missouri, the Buffs set a Big Seven Christmas Tournament record shooting 42-of-49 from the free throw line in a 90-87 victory over Michigan State. This marked the first time a CU team reached the finals of the tournament. CU lost the title game to Kansas, who was led by Wilt Chamberlain's 45 points.
- CU guard Dave Mowbray was selected to the All-Big Seven All-Tournament second team. Mowbray led the Buffs in total points with 273, an average of 11.9 per game.
- After pre-season predictions labeled CU for not much success (five top scorers from a year ago did not return), the Buffs finished 14-9 and tied for fourth in the conference. Only six other CU teams had won more than 14 games.

SEASON NOTES

- On Dec. 7, the Buffs beat Montana and former CU coach Frosty Cox, 77-60.
- On Jan. 20, CU upset conference leader Iowa State to earn Colorado's first victory in Big Eight Conference play.
- On March 8, CU's Gerry Schroeder tipped in a shot at the final buzzer to beat Nebraska, 54-52, for a thrilling finish to the basketball season.
- Schroeder was the lone CU player to average over 10 points a game (13.2 ppg.). His 304 points was the most scored ever by a CU guard.
- On Feb. 10 against Kansas, the Buffaloes "held" Wilt Chamberlain to his lowest point total in his high school, college, and professional career of six points. Chamberlain deliberately held onto the ball choosing to pass the ball to his teammates opposed to shooting.
- Gerry Schroeder (8-of-14) and Larry Pitts (7-of-12) combined for all of CU's 15 made field goals (the rest of the team went 0-for-14) in CU's 59-45 victory at Missouri (Mar. 3). The only two players to score all of CU's points from the field, is believed to be a school record for fewest players to score a basket.

SEASON NOTES

- On Dec. 5, the Buffs shocked highly favored Washington, 70-63, in an overtime thriller.
- On Dec. 8, former CU coach Frosty Cox's return to Boulder was spoiled by an 86-55 drubbing by the Buffs.
- On Jan. 19, in one of the most accurate shooting performances in CU history, Russ Lind scored 25 points, shooting 10-of-11 from the field and 5-of-5 from the free throw line in a 73-64 victory over Iowa State.
- On Jan. 31, CU upset Kansas, 66-64, in the Buffaloes' first nationally televised appearance.
- CU guard Gerry Schroeder was named to both the AP and UPI All-Big Eight teams. Schroeder finished a brilliant three-year career with a total of 813 points, the third highest career total for a Buff, only topped by and Burdette Haldorson (1125) and Bob Jeangerard (842).
- Schroeder set a school-record for points scored in a season by a guard (321 points).
- Schroeder (13.4 ppg.) and Don Walker (13.1 ppg.) finished ninth and 10th, respectively in Big Eight scoring (all games).
- CU's 8-6 conference mark tied for third, its best conference finish over the last four seasons.

Wilky Gilmore

SEASON NOTES

- Wilky Gilmore earned UPI All-Big Eight first team honors. He led CU in scoring (13.9 ppg.) and rebounding (10.6 rpg.). It's just the second time a Buff player averaged a double-double for a season (Burdette Haldorson (21.0 ppg, 13.8 rpg., 1954-55).
- On Feb. 6, CU, without two starters, managed to down Kansas State, 65-50, to snap the Wildcats 19-game conference winning streak.
- On Feb. 27, the Buffs lost to Iowa State, 83-80, in five overtimes, which was the longest game ever played in the Big Eight.
- On March 5, Wilky Gilmore ended the Buffs season on a winning note by tipping in a missed Russ Lind shot with two seconds remaining to give CU a 41-39 victory over Oklahoma State.
- Gilmore scored the most points (334) and rebounds (254) by a first-year player.
- Gilmore (13.9 ppg.), Russ Lind (11.8) and Stan Williams (10.0) ranked the top-15 in Big Eight scoring. Gilmore was seventh, Lind was ninth, Williams 14th.
- The 1959-60 team also marked the first time four players eclipsed the 200-point plateau in a single season.
- CU also played four overtime games (going 2-2),it's the most overtime games in any season.

%-In a special ruling by the Big Eight Conference faculty representatives in September, Colorado was forced to forfeit seven victories during the 1960-61 season, six in conference play and the Buffs' lone victory in the pre-season tournament the previous December. The ruling came as a result of CU's Wilky Gilmore's playing in an organized summer league during 1960. At that time, such play was prohibited by conference rules, since rescinded. The ruling revised Colorado's record from 15-10 to 8-17, and the conference finish from a fourthplace tie to last.

SEASON NOTES

- On Dec. 5, former CU teammates Sox Walseth and Bob Sweeney pitted their teams against each other with favored Colorado rallying late to secure a 74-65 win over New Mexico.
- Head Coach Sox Walseth was named Big Eight Coach of the Year (his second).
- On Dec. 14, with the score tied at the end of the second overtime, Wilky Gilmore hit two free throws to give CU the win, and the free throws capped a CU season-high 35-point performance by Gilmore.
- On Dec. 19, the Buffs set a new school scoring record in a 99-79 victory over Missouri.
- Gilmore garnered NCAA All-District Five honors. District five was comprised of schools in Missouri, North Dakota, South Dakota, Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Iowa and parts of Illinois, Ohio, Colorado and Texas.
- The 1960-61 team marked the first time three players scored over 300 points in season. Juniors Roger Voss (441) and Wilky Gilmore (362), sophomore Ken Charlton (340). CU also broke a school record with 1,246 rebounds highlighted with another mark of three players averaging over eight rebounds a game.
- Voss would become just the third player in school history to average a double-double (17.6 ppg., 10.1 rpg.).

SEASON NOTES

- This was only the second team in CU history to win 19 games. The other was the 1955 team, which went 19-6.
- On March 10, CU rallied from 10 points down with 4:14 remaining to beat Kansas, 63-59 to win the Big Eight Conference title.
- On March 17, CU defeated Texas Tech, 67-60, in the first round of the NCAA playoffs. In the Midwest Regional Championship game, the Buffs fell to defending national champion Cincinnati, 73-46.
- Jim Davis' .502 FG% was the highest ever by a Buff, topping the old mark of .487 by Wilky Gilmore (1960-61).
- Ken Charlton set the single-game and single-season records in free throws for the Buffs, making 19 free throws against Missouri and converting 172 on the season. Charlton's mark of 498 points scored was the second highest single-season total in CU history.
- Wilky Gilmore became the second most prolific scorer in CU history (1,026 points in three years as a Buff).
- Gilmore and Charlton were both named to the All-Big Eight team, marking only the second time CU placed two men on the first team. Burdette Haldorson and Bob Jeangerard were the first duo in 1954-55.
- Charlton was named to the All-Big Eight Tournament team. He finished second in conference-only scoring (19.3). Gilmore finished eighth in scoring (13.7).
- CU went unbeaten at home (11-0), the second time with a minimum of 10 games played at home (1937-38:10-0).

SEASON NOTES

- CU won 19 games for the second straight season, a school-first. The 38 overall wins and 24 conference truimphs were the best in school history over a two-year span.
- CU went unbeaten at home (12-0) for just the third time with a minimum of 10 home games (1937-38, 1961-62).
- Ken Charlton and Jim Davis became the third CU pair named to All-Big Eight Conference AP & UPI teams (Gilmore/Charlton, 1961-62; Haldorson/Jeangerard, 1954-55).
- Charlton scored 514 points, only the second CU player to reach the 500-point plateau in a single season. He would be named to the All-Big Eight All-Tournament team and lead the conference in scoring (19.2).
- Davis led the Big Eight in rebounding (329). He would become the fourth CU player to average a double-double in a season (13.8 ppg.,12.7 rpg.).
- On Dec. 3, CU beat Wichita State, 79-69, in double overtime for the 500th win in CU history.
- On March 9, CU's 69-56 victory over Kansas State in Manhattan gave CU a share of the Big Eight title with the Wildcats. The Buffs advanced to the NCAA playoffs because they had more wins.
- On March 16, CU defeated Oklahoma City in Lawrence, Kan., 72-82, to advance to the NCAA Midwest Regional championship for the second straight year. CU would lose to familiar foe Cincinnati, who had beaten the Buffs in the Midwest Regional championship the previous year.

SEASON NOTES

- CU finished the season with a 15-10 record, marking the Buffs' seventh winning season in eight years. The Buffs also recorded their first second-place Big Eight finish.
- On Dec. 16, the Buffs set a new fieldhouse single game high in points with a 93-70 win over Arizona State. The previous high was 92 against Missouri during the 1962-63 season.
- CU set two new team scoring records during the 1963-64 season-1,812 total points (old mark 1,779 previous year) and 1,013 points in Big Eight play (old mark 947 previous year).
- Center Jim Davis finished his career as the Buffs' all-time rebound leader (836 boards). He left CU as the third highest scorer with 1,110 points (Ken Charlton: 1,352 and Burdette Haldorson: 1,125).
- Jim Davis led the conference in rebounding (184, 13.1 rpg.) for the second consecutive year and was selected to the All-Big Eight Conference AP & UPI first team.
- Sox Walseth was named the Big Eight Conference Coach of the Year, his second coaching honor (1956-57, Big Seven).
- Jim Davis was fourth (19.3 ppg.) in conference-only scoring, while Bob Joyce (12.6) and Mike Frink (12.2) were ninth, and tenth, respectively.
- Davis is the only CU player to have a pair of 300-plus rebounding seasons in career (1962-63: 329; 1963-64: 318).
- Davis would average a double-double (18.5 ppg., 12.7 rpg.) for the second straight season. It's the fifth time a CU player has accomplished that feat.

SEASON NOTES

- Chuck Gardner (AP, UPI) and Pat Frink (UPI) were selected to the All-Big Eight first team. Frink was named the conference's Sophomore of the Year and to the Big Eight Tournament team.
- Gardner and Frink are the fourth CU pair to make first team honors (Charlton/Davis, 1962-63; Gilmore/Charlton, 1961-62; Haldorson/Jeangerard, 1954-55).
- On Jan. 9, four Buffs scored in double figures with Pat Fink (25) leading the way as the Buffs upset conference foe Kansas State, 80-77.
- On Jan. 11, Colorado beat Kansas and snapped the Jayhawks seven-game win streak to record CU's second straight upset in a three day span.
- On Feb. 20, the Buffs never trailed as they knocked off conference leader Oklahoma State, 57-54 to move within one game of the Cowboys for the conference lead.
- Gardner ranked fifth in conference-only scoring (16.4); Frink came in sixth (15.0)
- Gardner was named to the All-Big Eight Academic first team and was a scholastic All-American honorable mention.

SEASON NOTES

- Injuries plagued the 1965-66 season: Pat Frink did not play due to an injury that he suffered at practice in early November; Lynn Baker injured his knee in the season opener against Texas Tech and was forced to sit out the remainder of the season.
- Chuck Gardner earned All-Big Eight first team honors (AP & UPI). He led the conference in scoring, finished second in rebounding and field goal percentage and finished fourth in free throw percentage. This 1-2-2-4 finish was the best the Big Eight had on record.
- Gardner became the third player in school history to score over 500 points in a season. His 506 total ranks third all-time.
- On March 5, CU defeated ninth ranked Nebraska 95-88 to knock the Cornhuskers out of a Big Eight Championship tie. CU forward Chuck Gardner drove Nebraska's middle defense crazy scoring 42 points to set a new school scoring record.
- Gardner led the Big Eight (conference-only games) in scoring (20.3 ppg.).

SEASON NOTES

- CU won 17 games, the most in four years, in addition winning 10 games in conference play.
- Although the Buffs and the Huskers had identical 10-4 records tying for second place, CU was snubbed by the National Invitational Tournament, despite beating tournament-bound Nebraska in the final game of the season.
- Pat Frink and Lynn Baker were both selected to the All-Big Eight second team.
- Bob Bauers capped his collegiate career leading CU in rebounding (7.4) and finishing second in scoring (13.5). Both were career highs for a season average.
- On Dec. 5, Frink scored 36 points in a 93-89 victory over Utah. This was Frink's first season back after a year of inactivity due to a knee surgery.
- On Jan. 7, CU shot 59.9 percent from the field and stunned highly touted Kansas State 71-68.
- On Jan. 17, CU upset Kansas 62-59 at the CU Fieldhouse. The Jayhawks suffered their lone conference loss and would finish the season No. 3 (AP) and No. 4 UPI in the final polls.

SEASON NOTES

- CU won 20 games for the first time in its history (21) and went unbeaten at home (12-0) for just the fourth time with a minimum of 10 home games (1937-38, 1961-62, 1962-63).
- The Buffs finished the season No. 12 in the final UPI top-20 poll, and No. 18 in the Associated Press poll.
- Cliff Meely closed out the conference portion of his first season with 348 points, an average of 24.9 points per game, to become the first player to win the conference scoring title in his first season since KU's Wilt Chamberlin (25.4 ppg. in 1957). In the process, Meely topped Chamberlain's total points (310) record for sophomores.
- Meely became the fifth CU player to lead the Big Eight in conference-only scoring. He also led in all games (23.8). Overall, Ron Smith (12.6) was 13th; Gordon Tope (12.4) was 15th, and Mike Coleman (11.1) was 20th.
- Meely was named unanimous Big Eight Player of the Year, and Sophomore Player of the Year.
- Meely shattered CU's single season scoring mark (667 pts.) and became just the fourth player to grab 300+ rebounds in a season (337, second all-time).
- On Mar. 8, CU won the Big Eight championship, beating Missouri 92-73 for the Buffs' school record 20th win. It was CU's fifth Big Eight title.
- On Mar. 15, CU capped the season with a 97-82 victory over Texas A&M, securing a third-place finish in the NCAA Midwest Regional Tournament.
- CU set a team record for most points scored in a season (2,146). It's also the first time four players averaged over 10 points a game.
- Head Coach Sox Walseth was named Big Eight Coach of the Year. It was his third conference coach of the year honor.

Gordon Tope

SEASON NOTES

- The Buffs started the season ranked 10th in the AP pre-season basketball poll.
- Cliff Meely and Gordon Tope were named Big Eight Conference first team selections. It's the fifth time a CU pair were named to the first team (Gardner/P. Frink, 1964-65; Charlton/Davis, 1962-63; Gilmore/Charlton, 1961-62; Haldorson/Jeangerard, 1954-55).
- Cliff Meely finished third in Big Eight scoring (20.9), while teammate Gordon Tope was 10th (13.8 ppg.). Meely was second in rebounding (12.8); Tope (.731) and Jim Creighton (.711) were 10th and 11th, respectively in FT%. Creighton finished second in FG% (.531).
- On Dec. 27, the Buffs defeated Nebraska, 72-60, for CU's 11th straight win over the Huskers.
- On Dec. 29, after trailing by 15 points at the half, the Buffs rallied to beat Missouri 75-73 and advanced to the Big Eight Christmas Tournament final.
- Cliff Meely finished second in the conference in rebounding (196) and third in scoring (295).
- Meely scored 544 points to rank second among all CU scorers; his 332 rebounds ranks third.

SEASON NOTES

- Senior Cliff Meely firmly established himself as the greatest scorer in Big Eight history. Meely was the first player in the Big Eight to average more than 30 points per game in conference play during a single season.
- Meely garnered first-team All-America and All-Big Eight honors.
- Meely scored 427 conference points, an average of 30.5 points per game, in 14 league contests to win the scoring title for the second time in three years.
- On Dec. 22, Meely became CU's all-time leading scorer with a 22-point performance against Texas Tech, surpassing Ken Charlton (1,342 points).
- On Feb. 13, Meely scored a Big Eight record 47 points with 25 rebounds in a 99-69 win over Oklahoma.
- Jim Creighton was 13th in Big Eight scoring (13.2 ppg.), all games, and fifth in FG% (.538).
- Meely became the first CU player to average at least 20 points in three straight seasons. He was the fifth different player to record a season double-double, doing it three times.
- Meely held 14 of 19 Fieldhouse single-game records including points (47), rebounds (25) and field goals made (19).

Emmett Lewis

SEASON NOTES

- On Nov. 29, freshman guard Emmett Lewis scored 31 points in his first collegiate game, a 78-75 loss to New Mexico.
- Lewis' 31 points is a CU freshman record in a college debut since the NCAA allowed freshmen to participate (Jan. 8, 1972).
- Lewis would become the first CU freshman to lead the team in scoring (15.0 ppg.) and first of four straight years leading the team in scoring.
- On Jan. 17, CU opened Big Eight Conference play with a 71-69 victory over Oklahoma. Dave Logan led the way for the Buffs with 19 points and eight rebounds.
- CU led the Big Eight in free throw percentage, connecting on 188-255 free throws for a .737 team average.
- Sox Walseth would coach his last season (20 years) with the men's basketball team becoming the all-time winningest coach in school history (261-245, .516). He was conference coach of the year five times; won three Big Eight titles; won 19 or more games three times; and tallied a top-4 or better placing in the conference 11 times.
- On April 4, Bill Blair was named CU's 12th head coach.

SEASON NOTES

- Emmett Lewis finished second in Big Eight scoring (16.9 ppg.) and was named to the Big Eight All-Conference first team (AP & UPI) for the first time in his career.
- Lewis moved into second place on the Buffs' all-time scoring list finishing his four-year career (1,680 points). His career point total ranked ninth on the Big Eight's all-time scoring list.
- CU came roaring out of the gates, winning 10 of its first 11 games of the season to mark the best start in school history.
- On Dec. 2, CU's 66-62 victory over South Dakota State in Boulder marked the program's 700th win.
- On Dec. 30, in the Big Eight Christmas Tournament, the Buffs finished a surprising second, losing to Kansas. Lewis was named to the all-tournament team.
- The Buffs finished the season 14-13. It was the first time that a CU team had finished above .500 since the 1970-71 season.
- CU played its last game at the Balch Fieldhouse on Feb. 24 falling to KU, 71-60. The Buffaloes played 41 seasons in Balch (1937-42, '44-79) with a record of 298-115 (.722), including 11 undefeated seasons.
- Brian Johnson was named to the All-Big Eight Academic team.

SEASON NOTES

- CU's 17-10 record marked the program's best since 1968-69 (21-7). This was only the sixth time in history that CU had won 17 games in a single season.
- On Nov. 8, the first game at the new CU Events/ Conference Center was played as the Russian National Team defeated the Buffaloes 88-73 in an exhibition in front of 9,679 fans.
- On Dec. 21, the Buffs played Colorado State for the first time in a decade. CU defeated the Rams, 96-82, before a crowd of 7,812, the largest audience of the season.
- On Jan. 30, against Iowa State, CU sank 36-of-39 free throws, including a record-setting 16-of-16 by Jo Jo Hunter, as CU defeated the Cyclones 78-68.
- Craig Austin set a school record for field goal percentage in a season, hitting 116-of-204 shots for a .569 mark. He was an honorable mention among the Big Eight AP and UPI teams.
- Brian Johnson was named to the All-Big Eight Academic team for the second straight year.
- Jo Jo Hunter was named to the Big Eight Conference UPI second team and the AP's third team.
- CU won a then-school-best 13 home games.

SEASON NOTES

- Jo Jo Hunter won the Big Eight scoring title (19.1 ppg.) scoring 535 points.
- Hunter garnered first-team All-Big Eight accolades, named to the conference all-tournament team, and earned honorable mention All-America honors.
- Jay Humphries was named to the Big Eight All-Freshman team (led CU in assists and steals).
- Hunter finished the season No. 29 nationally in free throw percentage (.845).
- On March 3, CU won at Nebraska, 70-66, and became just the second team in the five-year history of the Big Eight playoffs to win on the road.
- On March 6, CU made its first appearance in the Big Eight "final four" at Kansas City, falling to Kansas State 64-61.
- On March 13, CU's head coach Bill Blair announced his resignation. After leading Colorado to a 16-12 record (67-69, .493). Blair joined the New Jersey Nets coaching staff, where he became an assistant coach under Larry Brown.
- On April 4, Tom Apke was named as Colorado's 13th head basketball coach.

- Jacques Tuz earned All-Big Eight honorable mention.
- The 1981-82 had four players average 10 or more points in a season for the first since 1968-69
- On Dec. 8, the Buffs fell to Tennessee in Boulder 64-63, marking the first win by a non-Big Eight team in the CU Events Center in the building's three-year history.
- On Dec. 10, the Buffs' late rally helped propel CU over nationally ranked Wyoming, 75-73.
- On Feb. 17, the Buffs upset Kansas in Boulder, 89-80. Jacques Tuz scored 26 points (8-of-13 from the field; 10-of-11 from the free throw line). He also added 12 rebounds, six assists, five steals and two blocked shots. His performance helped earn him Big Eight Player-of-the-Week honors.
- Tuz led CU in scoring (13.9 ppg.), rebounding (7.5), and field goal percentage (.530).

- Alex Stivrins was a Big Eight Conference (AP & UPI) second team selection.
- Humphries finished his career with 562 assists and 309 steals, both are first all-time among CU players.
- On Nov. 25, in a season opening 87-77 victory over Rockhurst College, Humphries led the Buffs with 31 points, nine assists, seven rebounds and six steals.
- On March 7, CU's 65-62 win at Iowa State earned the team its second trip to the league's final four in Kansas City. CU became the first team in league history to win twice on the road in league playoffs.
- For the second consecutive season, CU set a new attendance record. In 14 games, CU drew a record 104,545 fans, only the second time in history the Buffs eclipsed the magical 100,000-mark.
- The Buffs posted a 13-2 home mark, second best home record in the Big Eight Conference.
- Stivrins was named to the Big Eight All-Academic first team.
- Randy Downs named to the Big Eight All-Tournament team; he shot a school-record best 58.2 FG%.
- CU tied the school mark for home wins (13).

SEASON NOTES

- Alex Stivrins was selected to the Big Eight All-Conference (AP & UPI) second team.
- Randy Downs led the Buffs in scoring (16.4 ppg.). He became only the third player in CU history to reach the 1,000-point plateau as a junior.
- Stivrins finished sixth nationally in rebounding (11.7 rpg.) and averaged a double-double (15.7 ppg.).
- Michael Lee was named to the UPI All-Off-The-Bench first team.
- CU enjoyed another fine season at home, as the Buffs posted an 11-4 mark in Boulder, including a 5-2 in league play.
- Stivrins became the seventh player at CU to average a double-double, and CU's first since 1971-72 (Jim Creighton).
- Stivrins was named the Big Eight NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship winner, he also made the Academic All-Conference team for the second straight year.
- From Feb. 7 through Feb. 16, CU won three-straight conference games - all at home (Iowa State, Nebraska, Oklahoma State). It was CU's first three game win streak in conference play in nine years (1976-77).

Matt Bullard

SEASON NOTES

- Matt Bullard was named to UPI's All-Freshman team, as he became only the second player ever to lead CU in scoring as a freshman. He was named an AP & UPI conference honorable mention.
- Bullard's 12.7 ppg. average was the second best ever by a frosh, topped only by Emmett Lewis (14.9 in 1975-76). Bullard also shot school record 60.4 FG%, that ranked second in the conference. Bullard is the fourth CU frosh to average 10+ or points a game.
- On Dec. 11, CU's 78-65 victory over Colorado State marked the 800th win in the program's history.
- On March 1, a 94-86 loss to Missouri gave Colorado the dubious distinction of being the only team in Big Eight history to go winless in league play.
- This was only the second 20-loss season in CU history, as the Buffs also ended the year with a seven-game home losing streak and a nine-game road losing skid.
- Mike Reid was named to the Big Eight All-Academic first team.
- The 1985-86 team had at least three seniors on the roster for the fifth straight year.
- Tom Apke coached the Buffs for four years from 1981-86 (59-81, .421).
- On April 2, Tom Miller was named CU's 14th head basketball coach.

1986-87 – 1989-90

- On Dec. 18, in CU's first ever ESPN appearance, the Buffs defeated Tulsa behind Matt Bullard's 15 points and nine assists.
- On Feb. 14, Bullard's 3-point shot with seven seconds remaining snapped CU's 26-game losing streak against Big Eight opponents, as the Buffaloes edged Iowa State 77-74.
- On Feb. 25, CU outscored Kansas 42-38 in the second half to stun the No. 16 Jayhawks 65-56 at the Coors Events Center.
- Ken Countryman became the first player since 1984-85 to lead the team in both assists (72) and steals (32).
- Matt Bullard scored 464 points ranking as the 11th most for a season in CU history; his 260 rebounds were the ninth highest season total.
- The Buffs' 1-2 scoring punch of Matt Bullard and Scott Wilke turned out to be the third highest scoring combination in CU history. Bullard and Wilke both received All-Big Eight AP & UPI honorable mention honors.

SEASON NOTES

- Scott Wilke was named to the All-Big Eight AP & UPI second team.
- Wilke averaged 21.5 points a game, the first time a CU player averaged that many since Scott Wedman in 1973-4 (20.0 ppg.).
- On Nov. 28, Wilke scored 24 points to lead CU to its 12th consecutive home-opening victory at the Events Center, as the Buffs defeated the Washington 75-61.
- On Jan. 9, CU broke a four-game losing streak as Wilke scored 24 points to lead the Buffs to a 83-72 victory over San Diego. Wilke's second basket of the evening gave him his 1000th career point, which made him the 14th Buff to reach the milestone.
- On Feb. 13, CU won its 500th game in Boulder, as the Buffs beat Oklahoma State 73-71.
- David Kuosman was named to the All-Big Eight Academic team.

SEASON NOTES

- Shaun Vandiver earned Big Eight Conference Newcomer of the Year (AP & UPI) and All-Big Eight second team honors (AP & UPI).
- Vandiver led the Big Eight in rebounding (10.5 rpg.) in all games and conference-only (10.0 rpg.).
- Vandiver became the eighth player at CU to average a double-double (18.2 ppg., 10.5 rpg.). His scoring average was sixth in the Big Eight and his rebounding average was No. 15 nationally.
- On Feb. 1, CU forward Brian Robinson scored 24 points with 12 rebounds, and Brent Vaughan added a career-high 20 points as CU knocked off Oklahoma State, 102-86, to snap a seven-game losing streak and picked up the teams' first conference victory of the season.
- On Feb. 8, Robinson poured in a career high 29 points with 11 rebounds, and Shaun Vandiver added 27 points and 15 rebounds, as CU held off Nebraska 83-80.
- CU forward Brent Vaughn was selected to the All-Big Eight Academic first-team.
- Vandiver was one of two Big Eight players to average a double-double (OU's Stacey King).
- Vandiver scored 509 points ranking ninth on the CU scoring list.

SEASON NOTES

- Shaun Vandiver (22.3 ppg.) and Steve Wise (20.0) finished the season as the Big Eight's No. 1 and 2 scorers, respectively, marking the first time two Buffs have accomplished that.
- Vandiver was selected to the All-Big Eight first team (AP & UPI); named honorable mention All-American.
- Wise earned All-Big Eight honorable mention honors (AP & UPI).
- On March 9-11, CU, seeded last at the conference tourney, pulled off back-to-back upsets over Missouri and Oklahoma State to become the first eighth-seeded team to make it to the championship game of the Big Eight Postseason Tournament.
- Vandiver scored 75 points (sixth-best all-time tourney effort) and grabbed 41 rebounds (tournament record) in CU's three games. He became only the third tournament MVP to come from a losing team.
- Vandiver scored the second-most points (668) in school history. Cliff Meely scored 729 in 1970-71.
- Head coach Tom Miller ended his four-year run (1986-90) with a record of 35-79 (.307).
- On March 29, Joe Harrington was named as CU's 15th head basketball coach.

Shaun Vandiver, Cliff Meely, Stevie Wise

SEASON NOTES

- Shaun Vandiver averaged 21.2 points and 10 rebounds per game, to earn first team All-Big Eight honors (AP & UPI) and a spot on the NIT all-tournament team.
- Vandiver is the first CU player to average a double-double in all three years since Cliff Meely (1968-71).
- Stevie Wise was an All-Big Eight second team selection (AP & UPI).
- The Buffs' win at Iowa State snapped their 56-game regular-season road-losing streak in league play.
- CU ended a 22-year postseason drought earning a berth to the 1991 National Invitation Tournament, finishing third.
- CU won their last game of the season for the first time in 16 seasons.
- The Buffs finished the season with a 19-14 record, their best in 21 seasons.
- The Events/Conference Center, home of the Buffaloes, was renamed the Coors Events Center.

SEASON NOTES

- Donnie Boyce led the team in points (14.9 ppg.), was second in assists (3.1 apg.), third in rebounds (4.8 rpg.); and was selected to the Big Eight All-Freshman team.
- Boyce became the third freshman to lead the team in scoring and first since Matt Bullard (1985-86).
- CU earned the nickname of "Wednesday Warriors" after pulling off three upset defeats of top-ranked teams on successive Wednesdays. During the first three Wednesdays of February, the Buffs surprised No. 22 Oklahoma, No. 2 Oklahoma State, and No. 9 Missouri.
- Poncho Hodges finished No. 16 nationally in blocked shots (73).
- Randy Robinson led the Buffs from the field with a 54.9 FG% tying for 10th at CU.
- Boyce scored 21 points in first game with CU making it the second-best debut since Emmett Lewis (31 pts.) in 1975.
- CU played their way to an 11-4 home record and a .733 winning percentage.

Poncho Hodges

- CU had multiple players receive post-season honors, including All-Big Eight first team (Donnie Boyce), Phillips 66 Academic All-Big Eight Team (Kirk Williams), All-Big Eight Defensive Team (Poncho Hodges), All-Big Eight Most Improved Team (Poncho Hodges).
- Donnie Boyce continued to develop and prove himself as a top-notch player in the Big Eight. Boyce led CU and was second in the Big Eight in points per game (19.1); he also led CU in assists per game (3.6), and was second in rebounds per game (6.2).
- Poncho Hodges (30, 2.1) and Ted Allen (27, 1.9) finished first and second, respectively in the conference blocked shots, marking the first time since 1953 that two teammates ranked one-two in that category.
- Ted Allen was named to the Hoosier Classic All-Tournament Team with a career-best 11 rebounds vs. IU.
- The Buffs began the season with a 5-1 mark after six games, notching the best starting record in the Joe Harrington era.
- For the fourth straight season the Buffaloes finished with an above .500 winning percentage at home.

Ted Allen

SEASON NOTES

- Donnie Boyce garnered All Big-Eight (AP) first team accolades for the second straight year. He led all conference-only scorers with 26.8 ppg. (second in all games, 22.4 ppg.).
- The 22.4 ppg. average was the third highest average by a Buff only behind Cliff Meely (28.0: 1970-71; 23.8: 1968-69).
- Ted Allen was second (all games) and fourth (conference) blocked shots; and Mark Dean was runner-up in games rebounding (9.5 rpg.).
- At the end of his junior year, Boyce ranked among CU's best on the career list: tied for second in steals (179); sixth in scoring (1,514 points); No. 7 in assists (299); and No. 20 in rebounds (474).
- Boyce scored 16 points against Colorado State (Dec. 16) putting him over the 1,000-point career; making him the 17th player in CU school history to reach the 1,000-point plateau.
- CU breezed its way through the Mile High Classic, notching its fourth straight title in the event. Boyce led the way for the Buffaloes, averaging 21 points and 5 rebounds on his way to earning the tournament's most outstanding player award.
- On March 5, in a game against Oklahoma State, Donnie Boyce set a school record for most points in a half with 31. Boyce ended the game with a team season-high 46 points.

Donnie Boyce

SEASON NOTES

- After throwing down a fast break dunk, Donnie Boyce surpassed Cliff Meely (1967-71) to become CU's all-time leading scorer. Boyce would finish his illustrious career with 1,995.
- In Boyce's final season he led the team at 18.5 points, 4.1 assists and 6.5 rebounds per game.
- CU received a bid to the 1995 NIT, only the second postseason invitation in 25 years.
- CU won four in a row from Feb. 22 thru Mar. 4, it's the longest win streak that late in the season since winning five straight Feb. 23-Mar. 15, 1963.
- The Buffs finished the season over .500 for the first time under Coach Joe Harrington.
- The Buffs again won the Mile High Classic in resounding fashion, beating Eastern Washington and Hofstra by a combined total of 39 points. It was the fifth consecutive time the Buffaloes won their home tournament.
- On Jan. 7, the Buffs ended their 16-game losing streak against ranked teams defeating No. 16 Iowa State 71-57. CU forced a school record 31 turnovers.
- On Jan. 17 against Texas-San Antonio, Ted Allen blocked five shots to become CU's all-time leader in blocks.

Chauncey Billups

SEASON NOTES

- Chauncey Billups became the fourth CU freshmen to lead the Buffs in scoring with a school record 17.9 ppg. He would score 31 points in his second career game, the most points by any CU freshman. He's the sixth CU frosh to average 10 or more points at the end of the season.
- Midway through the season, after suffering an 82-80 overtime loss to Southern Utah, head coach Joe Harrington resigned and Ricardo Patton was named interim head coach.
- On Jan. 29, 1996, Ricardo Patton won his first game as CU's head coach, as his Buffs beat Missouri 106-94. The game was televised on ESPN's "Big Monday," and the win was CU's first on ESPN since they upset No. 2 Oklahoma State in 1992.
- Billups earned Big Eight Freshman of the Year and the coaches All-Big Eight Second Team. He scored the most points by freshman (465) and the only CU frosh in history to break the 30-point in a single game (he did four times).
- On Dec. 2, Billups recorded the first ever triple-double by a Buff, and the sixth in Big Eight history with 24 points, 11 rebounds and 11 assists against George Mason.
- On Feb. 7, CU turned in one of its best performances of the year in a 64-63 overtime win at Kansas State. The win marked the first overtime road win in Big Eight play since beating Missouri 81-79 in January of 1973.
- On March 5, Patton was named head coach on a permanent basis, making him CU's 16th head coach.

SEASON NOTES

- The Big Eight Conference adopted Texas, Texas A&M, Texas Tech, and Baylor and became the Big 12 Conference.
- Chauncey Billups was a first team Basketball Times All-American, a Big 12 First Team selection and an AP Second Team All-American. He's the eighth CU All-American (ninth overall honor).
- On Dec. 5, Chauncey Billups surpassed the career 500-point barrier. With his 17-point performance against Texas Arlington, Billups matched Shaun Vandiver as the fastest CU player to reach the 500-point plateau after only 28 games as a Buff.
- On Jan. 11, CU upset No. 20 Texas Tech in Lubbock, 80-78 breaking what was the nation's longest current home-court winning streak (35 games). It was also CU's first road win against a nationally ranked team since 1973. The win improved the Buffs' conference record to 3-0 for the first time since 1968-69.
- With a win over Wofford in February, CU recorded 20 wins for only the second time in program history.
- The Buffaloes were selected to play in the NCAA Tournament for the first time since 1968-69.
- In the first game of the NCAA Tournament against Indiana, Chauncey Billups scored 24 points and became just the 19th player in CU history to record 1,000 points in his career. The win over Indiana was the 22nd of the season, a then-school record.
- At season's end, Chauncey Billups closed the book on his storied collegiate career and declared for the NBA Draft. He was selected third overall by the Boston Celtics.

SEASON NOTES

- CU would cruise through their non-conference schedule, finishing with an 8-4 record, and the ninth consecutive season over .500 against non-conference opponents.
- Kenny Price scored a team season-high 28 points in a conference victory over Texas late in the season. Price drained eight 3-pointers to set a new single-game record.
- Price's eight treys against Texas brought his total to 90 on the season and moved him into first place atop CU's all-time single-season 3-pointers made list.
- On Feb. 16, against No. 4 Kansas, CU drew a season-high attendance of 10,822; it was also the third most attended game of the season, home or away.
- Kenny Price was named the Big 12 Newcomer of the Year.
- Price and Ronnie DeGray were conference honorable mentions.
- Jamahl Mosley was an All-Big 12 Academic First Team selection.

Kenny Price

SEASON NOTES

- Kenny Price set a school single-game record with nine 3-pointers against Texas at the Big 12 Championship. His 97 3-pointers on the season is also a school record.
- Jaquay Walls was named to the All-Big 12 All-Underrated Team as well as earning All-Big 12 Honorable Mention status. Kenny Price was named to the All-Big 12 third team, while ranking third in the conference in points per game.
- Nick Mohr became the seventh CU freshman to average double-digits points (10.6 ppg.) in his first year. He played only 10 games because of a torn ACL.
- With a win over Iowa State (March 4), the Buffs broke a nine-game conference tournament losing streak.
- In March, CU was selected to play in the National Invitational Tournament. It marked the second time in three years under head coach Ricardo Patton that the Buffs qualified for postseason play.

SEASON NOTES

- In the opening game of the season, sophomore Jose Winston tied his career-high with eight steals, the second-highest single-game total in CU history.
- On Jan. 19, CU beat No. 17 Oklahoma 88-80, breaking an 11-game losing streak to the Sooners.
- With a victory in late January over Kansas State, head coach Ricardo Patton moved into sole possession of fourth on the all-time coaching wins list at CU with 68.
- In what many CU fans believe to be the best game at the Coors Events Center, CU came from behind to defeat Iowa State in overtime 102-90. Jaquay Walls scored an NCAA-record 15 points in the overtime on his way to an arena single-game record 42 points.
- The Buffs were once again invited to play in the National Invitational Tournament. They lost to Southern Illinois in the first round, 94-92. The invitation marked the third time in four years that the Buffs had played in a postseason tournament.

SEASON NOTES

- On Nov. 18, in a 91-86 loss to Austin Peay, D.J. Harrison scored 38 points, a season-high and Colorado record for a neutral site game.
- On Nov. 19, Ricardo Patton took sole possession of third place for career wins for a CU basketball coach with 77.
- On Dec. 3, CU scored 119 points in a victory over UT-Arlington with the help of a school-record tying 15 3-pointers.
- On Dec. 6, the Buffs picked up one of their most lopsided road wins ever with a 105-61 victory over St. Mary's. It marked the first time in school history Colorado had scored 100 points in back-to-back games.
- On Jan. 2, in a 91-63 victory over Coppin State, Jose Winston dished out a school-record 15 assists, with no turnovers.
- On Jan. 13, five Buffaloes recorded double digit scoring efforts in CU's most lopsided conference victory in 32 years, as the Buffs routed the visiting Aggies 88-58.
- On Jan. 22, in front of a then-Coors Events Center record 11,363 fans, Jamahl Mosley eclipsed 1,000 career points against No. 5 ranked Kansas State.
- CU finished its season with a 15-15 record (.500), marking the first time in 35 years the Buffs posted three consecutive .500 seasons or better.

SEASON NOTES

- On Nov. 19, the CU men's basketball program claimed its 1,000th victory.
- With a victory over Morris Brown College on Jan. 9, Ricardo Patton improved his all-time non-conference record to 57-22 (.721).
- On Jan. 16, Patton earned his 100th career coaching victory with an exciting last-second home win over Iowa State, 63-61. Stephane Pelle converted a 10-foot fade away with 2.9 seconds remaining.
- On Mar. 6, Stephane Pelle garnered his first Big 12 postseason honor, earning a third team selection by the conference coaches. Pelle was the first Buff in 11 years to average a double-double in a single season (12.8 ppg., 10.8 rpg.).
- In a Big 12 quarterfinal game against Kansas, Stephane Pelle recorded two blocks, moving him to ninth on the all-time list. In that same game, CU gave up a Big 12 tournament record 102 points to the top-ranked Jayhawks.
- David Harrison became the fifth freshman to lead the team in scoring (13.9 ppg.) and eighth frosh to average 10 or more points.
- At the end of the 2001-02 season, Blair Wilson was selected to the third Big 12 all-star team that toured Scandinavia later that summer.

SEASON NOTES

- Colorado reached 20 wins for the third time, and second under Ricardo Patton (1996-97).
- For the first time in school history, CU went undefeated at home in Big 12 play (8-0); with a victory over Nebraska on March 8, CU secured their 14th home win, the most wins at home in any year.
- It was the first season in which CU defeated four ranked teams in the same year. CU defeated No. 6 Kansas 60-59, No. 3 Texas 93-80, No. 22 Missouri 89-68, and No. 20/18 Oklahoma State 68-56.
- David Harrison recorded a pair of triple-doubles: 31 points, 17 rebounds and 10 blocks against Stetson and 20 points, 10 rebounds and 11 blocks vs. Nebraska.
- CU lured their highest home attendance average in 20 years, 8,995 fans.
- For the first time in school history, CU had three players selected as the Phillips 66/Big 12 Players of the Week: Blair Wilson (Feb. 24), Stephane Pelle (Jan. 27), and David Harrison (Nov. 25).
- Michel Morandais earned Al-Big 12 second team honors, while Stephane Pelle made the conference third team.
- Head coach Ricardo Patton led the team to a .500 record or better for the fifth straight year, and for the fourth time in seven years as head coach, he led the team to more than 18 victories.

SEASON NOTES

• CU earned its third NIT berth during Coach Patton's eight years as head coach.

• Harrison and Michel Morandais would be named to the All-Big 12 first and second teams, respectively.

• The Buffs won 10 conference games; the most since recording 11 conference wins in 1996-97, and earned the fourth seed at the Big 12 Tournament in Dallas.

• Morandais became the 21st player in school history to eclipse 1,000 career points. He would finish his career ranked seventh on CU's all-time scoring charts with 1,428 points. • Blair Wilson reached the 1,000-point barrier on Dec. 31 against Richmond. He would leave Boulder ranked 14th on the Buffs' all-time scoring list with 1,253 points. • David Harrison scored his 1,000th point during the 2003-04 campaign amassing 1,317 career points for 11th on CU's all-time list.

• Harrison set Colorado's career record for blocked shots at 225, passing Ted Allen's eight-year old mark of 161 during the game against Utah.

• Wilson set Colorado's career 3-point mark in the Feb. 7 win over Kansas State. In that game, he matched a single-game record with six 3-pointers in one half. He matched his career-best with seven 3-pointers, which he also achieved against the Wildcats on Jan. 1, 2002.

SEASON NOTES

- Richard Roby (Big 12 honorable mention) became the sixth CU player to lead the team in scoring as a freshman, and ninth frosh overall to average double digit scoring.
- On Dec. 28, Ricardo Patton won his 150th career game, defeating Gardner Webb 97-88.
- Marcus Hall scored CU's last 18 points of the first half and first two points of the second half at Oregon State, topping Donnie Boyce's mark (March 5, 1994) of consecutive points by one player.
- Richard Roby made seven 3-pointers against Texas Tech (Feb. 2) and Kansas State (Feb. 26) to become only the fourth CU player ever to record seven or more treys in two or more games.
- Seeded 11th in the Big 12 Tournament, CU upset Texas, 81-69, to become the first school in Big 12 Tournament history to knock off a No. 6 seed.
- Colorado set a school single-season record with 223 3-pointers made and fell one short of the record for attempts (632). The Buffs made 129 treys against Big 12 opponents, besting the previous school record for 3-pointers made during conference play (114 in 2003-04). CU's 380 three-point attempts during conference play topped a previous mark (297 in 2001-02).
- CU and Oklahoma State combined for 30 3-pointers in Boulder on Jan. 30. The Buffs made a school record 17, while the Cowboys added 13.

SEASON NOTES

- Richard Roby was named to the All-Big 12 First Team. Roby was also named NABC District 12 First Team, Big 12 Player of the Week (Jan. 10-16), Co-Big 12 Player of the Week (Jan. 16-22) and The Sporting News Player of the Week (Jan. 16-22).
- The 2005-06 season was the first time three players made over 50 3-pointers in a season (Roby 63, Osborn 53, Copeland 50).
- The Buffs broke school records in 3-pointers made (240, old: 223) and 3-pointers attempted (701, old: 633).
- CU won at Oklahoma State for the first time since Jan. 12, 1980 (20 games). The Buffaloes notched a road win at Missouri for the first time since 1996-97, which also marked the Buffs second win in Columbia since Jan. 15, 1973 (a span of 32 games).
- The Buffs started Big 12 play with a 5-2 record, a first since 1996-97. The 5-2 start is the 14th time CU started 5-2 or better in league play in 59 years.
- CU earned a NIT berth, their eighth appearance in school history.
- CU was nationally ranked for the first time since the 1996-97 season (USA Today). They were ranked No. 25th in the USA Today/ Coaches' Poll for two straight weeks (Jan. 30-Feb. 5; Feb. 6-12).
- Head Coach Ricardo Patton recorded his 175 career victory when CU defeated Missouri, 78-60 (Feb. 25).

SEASON NOTES

- With eight freshmen on the roster, the 2006-07 team was the youngest in CU's 105-year history.
- CU upset No. 12/14 Oklahoma State in Boulder, marking the fifth straight season CU defeated a nationally ranked opponent at home.
- Richard Roby was named All-Big 12 honorable mention.
- Xavier Silas became the 10th CU player to average double-digits as a freshman.
- Jermyl Jackson-Wilson was named to the Kansas City Star All-Newcomer team.
- Dominique Coleman set a school record for most rebounds (185) in a season by a guard.
- The Buffaloes suffered their most losses in a season (20) since 1988-89 (21). CU's 13 conference losses marked the most by a CU squad since 1985-86 (14).

SEASON NOTES

- Richard Roby became the school's all-time leading scorer (2,001 points). Roby is the third player in school history to lead the team in scoring four consecutive seasons.
- CU shot a season-best 62 percent from the field at Texas A&M (a school second-best .773 from the field in the second half).
- CU's win over Baylor at the Big 12 Championships marked the first time a No. 12 seed defeated a No. 5 seed.
- CU held its opponents to 64.4 points per game compared to an 80.1 average in 2006-07. The 64.4 points per game that the Buffs yielded marked the lowest opponent scoring average in 46 years.
- Nine of CU's losses were by an average of 4.8 points.
- The Buffaloes committed 13.4 turnovers per game-their lowest in 28 years- and the Buffs' 12.9 turnovers per game in conference play was the lowest average by any CU team in the 12-year history of the Big 12.
- In conference play, including the Big 12 Tournament, the Buffaloes lost games by: one point, two points, four points, five points, six points, and seven points.
- CU shot over 50 percent from the field in 11 conference games.

SEASON NOTES

- The Buffaloes youth of freshmen and sophomores attributed 72.3 percent of the team scoring, the highest percentage of any Buffs team since the Big 12 Conference began in 1996-97.
- CU fell short by single-digits 11 times, an average of 4.6 points; and in conference play on eight occasions by a 5.3 point margin. Four of those single-digit setbacks came against NCAA Tournament opponents, Texas (in overtime), at Kansas, at Oklahoma and Texas A&M.
- In two seasons, there have been 20 single-digit losses (15 in Big 12 play).
- All-Big 12 Conference Third Team selection Cory Higgins turned in a successful sophomore campaign that saw him become one of only 13 players nationally to lead or finish second on his team in five major statistical categories (points, rebounds, assists, steals, blocked shots). He also ranked nationally in a trio of categories (steals, FT%, scoring).
- Higgins' 538 points ranked the 13th best single-season mark in team history. It ranks third all-time among CU sophomores and seventh all-time among guards for a season.
- Dwight Thorne II made great strides putting together his best season-to-date recording 12 ppg. He made 48 percent of his shots and led CU from the three-point arc with 45.
- Levi Knutson was an All-Big 12 Academic First Team selection. During the spring 2009 semester, the men's basketball team achieved their highest grade point average on record a 2.926.

Alec Burks

SEASON NOTES

• Alec Burks became CU's first-ever Big 12 Conference Freshman of the Year recipient. Burks also made the Big 12 All-Rookie Team, CollegeInsider.com All-America Freshman Team, 2009-10 Basketball Times' All-Freshman First Team, CU Sports Performers of the Year: Male Freshman of the Year, Sporting News Magazine All-Freshman second team.

• Burks became the first CU freshman to surpass 500 points in a single-season (512). He was fourth nationally of all freshmen in ppg. (17.1) and FG% (53.8), and became only the second CU freshman to lead CU in rebounding (5.0 rpg.). He's also the 11th freshman to average 10 or more points in his initial season.

• Cory Higgins scored 587 points, the most in a season since 1991-92. His 1,391 career points ranks ninth all-time. He led the Big 12-only in steals for the second straight year (2.1).

• CU ranked third nationally in FT% (76.6) and for the first time led the Big 12. CU also ranked 21st nationally in 3-pt. percentage, 26th in FG%, 30th in steals. The 47.3 FG% tied for 10th in school history, was also the highest from any CU team since 1989-90 (47.9). The 409 turnovers, was a team low over 30 games played in a season since the stat was first kept in 1977-78.

• Attendance in eight Big 12 games was the highest ever at the CECC (65,607) with an average of 8,201 ranking second.

SEASON NOTES

Tad Boyle 2010-pre.

- First-year head coach Tad Boyle led CU to the most wins ever in one season (24).
- The Buffs also won a school-best 18 home games including four attendance marks: most sellouts a season (5); all games (140,284); conference total (78,472); conference average (9,809).
- Buffs advanced to the NIT semifinals in NYC for the first time since 1990-91.
- Highest Big 12 conference finish (t-5th) since 2005-06.
- CU set a number of school records as many as 19 including most games played in a season (38), a school-first over 3,000 points (3,025), rebounds (1,367), FGs made (1,058),
- Cory Higgins tied the all-time school record for career points (2,001),
- Alec Burks was an unanimous Big 12 First Team selection; Cory Higgins was Third Team; Levi Knutson co-Big 12 Sixth Man of the Year Award.
- Burks and Higgins led an offensive attack that ranked 12th nationally in scoring (79.6 ppg) and 5th nationally in free throw percentage (77.8 percent).
- Burks set a CU record for most points in a season with 779, surpassing Cliff Meely's mark that stood for 40 years.
- Six players recorded over 100 made field goals in a season (Burks 251, Higgins 200, Levi Knutson 158, Marcus Relphorde 148, Austin Dufault 104, Andre Roberson 101).
- Roberson also set a CU freshmen record by recording 297 rebounds, and became the first freshman in school history to lead the team in rebounds, steals (51) and blocks (42).
- Defeated NCAA Tournament Teams: Kansas State (three times), Texas and Missouri.

SEASON NOTES

- NCAA Tournament (second round) for the first time in nine years (2002-03).
- CU seeded No. 6, won the Pac-12 Tournament winning four games in four days.
- Became the first Pac-12 school to win four games in four days, in addition just the 10th team ever among the six major conferences to win four games en route to the title.
- Won 24 games for the second-straight year. The 48 wins over two seasons is the best two-year span in school history.
- Carlon Brown (15.8 ppg., 4.8 rpg.) named Pac-12 Tournament Most Outstanding Player. Brown & Andre Roberson named to All-Tournament team.
- Seeded No. 11 at the NCAA Tournament, CU upset No. 6 UNLV.
- Roberson set the CU single-season rebounding mark (401) breaking 58-year old mark held by Burdette Haldorson (1954-55).
- Roberson shattered sophomore season record for most rebounds (401) topping old mark of 337 (Cliff Meely, 1968-69).
- Roberson set defensive rebounding mark (290) breaking Shaun Vandiver (1989-90). Roberson was third nationally in rebounding; fifth in double-doubles (20); No. 54 in blocks.
- Dinwiddie (360 pts.) & Booker (317 pts.) became highest scoring frosh pair in CU history (677 pts). Only two with 250-plus points. Dinwiddie became the 12th freshman to average 10 or more points in his initial season.
- Austin Dufault set the school record for most games played in a career (136) & career conference games played (66).
- Dufault and Nate Tomlinson set the school mark for most wins over a four-year career (72-64, .529, 2008-12).

George King

SEASON NOTES

- Colorado reached 20 wins for the ninth time in program history and fifth in six years.
- The Buffaloes made their 14th NCAA Tournament appearance and fourth in the past five seasons.
- Senior Josh Scott was All-Pac-12 First Team and NABC All-District Second Team. He was a finalist for the Kareem Abdul-Jabbar Award.
- Scott was named to the Pac-12 All-Defensive team while Wesley Gordon was given honorable mention to that squad.
- Junior George King was the Pac-12's Most Improved Player of the Year and led the conference in 3-point shooting at 45.6 percent.
- Colorado won 21 games during the regular season, matching the school standard achieved previously by only the 1996-97 and 2013-14 squads. Including postseason play, Colorado's 22 wins tied for the fourth most in one season.
- Colorado led the Pac-12 in free throw percentage (.734), 3-point percentage (.398), overall rebounding (42.1 rpg) and defensive boards (29.0 drpg) while ranking second in rebounding margin (+8.6) and offensive rebounds (13.1 orpg) and fourth in 3-pointers made (7.4 3mpg).
- The Buffaloes won 11 straight games during the nonconference schedule, the fifth longest in team history. Colorado won 11 of its first 12 games, its best start to a season since the 1942 NCAA Final Four squad won their first 14.
- Colorado set new school single-season records for 3-pointers made and 3-point percentage.

SEASON NOTES

- Colorado made its school-record seventh-straight postseason appearance with its 10th all-time trip to the NIT.
- After beginning the Pac-12 season at 0-7, the Buffaloes rallied their way to the postseason with an 8-3 mark to finish the regular season and finished in sole possession of seventh in the league standings (8-10).
- Colorado's 19 wins tied for the 10th most in team history
- Colorado was 3-5 against ranked teams this season, marking the first time with three wins over ranked teams since 2012-13 (4-3 overall).
- Head coach Tad Boyle moved into third on CU's all-time coaching wins list at 149.
- Senior Derrick White was named to the Pac-12's 2017 All-Conference First Team, All-Defensive Team and All-Tournament Team. He was also selected to the USBWA All-District VIII First Team and NABC All-District 20 Second Team.
- White finished the 2016-17 season with 615 points, ranking seventh at Colorado in a single season while also ranking eighth in assists (148), 10th in field goals (205) and 11th in bocks. His 49 blocks are the most by a guard in a season in team history.
- White was selected by the San Antonio Spurs in the first round of the 2017 NBA Draft with the 29th overall pick.

- Colorado won the 2017 Paradise Jam which was relocated to Lynchburg, Va., from the U.S. Virgin Islands due to damage from Hurricanes Irma and Maria.
- Colorado defeated No. 4/6 Arizona State and No. 14/16 Arizona on the same weekend, marking the first time in program history the Buffaloes defeated AP Top 15 teams in back-to-back games. Colorado was named the NCAA Division I Team of the Week by the NABC, NCAA.com and Dick Vitale. Freshman guard McKinley Wright IV was named the Wayman Tisdale Freshman of the Week by the USBWA and the Pac-12 Player of the Week.
- Wright broke Chauncey Billups' freshman season assists record (143 in 1995-96) and his 175 assists rank second overall in one season.
- Wright was named to the 2018 Pac-12 All-Freshman Team while earning honorable mention to the overall All-Pac-12 and All-Defense teams.
- Senior Dominique Collier was named the co-Pac-12 Sixth Man of the Year. Collier was second in the Pac-12 in 3-point shooting during conference play while averaging 8.0 points and 1.6 assists during that span.
- Senior George King was named to the All-Pac-12 Conference Second Team.
- King was selected by the Phoenix Suns in the second round of the 2018 NBA Draft (59th pick overall).

SEASON NOTES

- The 10th 20-win season in team history and sixth under head coach Tad Boyle.
- Colorado's 23 wins tied for the third most in team history and just one away from the school record of 24.
- Colorado led the Pac-12 in rebounding defense and rebounding margin while ranking second in free throw percentage, scoring margin and 3-point defense.
- Colorado won 12 of its final 16 games after opening the conference season at 2-6.
- The Buffaloes recorded double-digit conference wins for the fifth time in eight seasons of the Pac-12 era and the first since 2015-16. Colorado claimed record of .500 or better in conference play (includes Big 12) for the sixth time in nine seasons.
- Colorado's 8-2 run in the final 10 games of the regular season tied for the program's fourth-best in the NCAA Tournament era (since 1938) and the best since 1961-62.
- Colorado made its 11th NIT appearance and second in three seasons. The Buffaloes were the No. 4 seed in one of four eight-team regions and advanced to the quarterfinals.
- Sophomores McKinley Wright IV and Tyler Bey were selected to the All-Pac-12 Conference First Team
- Bey was named the Pac-12 Most Improved Player of the Year.

SEASON NOTES

- The 11th 20-win season in team history and seventh under head coach Tad Boyle.
- Colorado's 21 regular season wins tied for the most in program history.
- Colorado was ranked in the Associated Press Top 25 poll for a school record 13 weeks while appearing in 11 USA Today/Coaches polls. The Buffaloes peaked at No. 15 in the Coaches poll and No. 16 in the AP poll on Feb. 10
- On the Pac-12 charts CU was second in scoring defense, 3-point field goals, rebounding margin, defensive rebounds and rebounding defense, third in rebounding and fourth in scoring margin, 3-point shooting and free throw percentage.
- The Buffaloes were well in line for an NCAA Tournament bid before the season was shut down on March 12 due to the coronavirus pandemic. Hours after CU's Pac-12 Tournament loss to WSU, the Pac-12 made the decision to cancel the remainder of its tournament and by mid-day on March 12, the NCAA had announced the cancellation of all its winter and spring sport championships.
- Junior Tyler Bey was named the 2019-20 Pac-12 Defensive Player of the Year and was an All-Pac-12 Second Team selection.
- Junior McKinley Wright IV was a 2019-20 All-Pac-12 First Team pick and was named to the league's All-Defensive team along with Bey.

FRESHMAN SCORING (Points Per Game)

When the NCAA allowed freshman to compete in varsity football and basketball on January 8, 1972, there's only been seven CU men's basketball players to lead the team in scoring their freshman year.

Emmett Lewis: 15.0, 1975-76
Matt Bullard: 12.7, 1985-86
Donnie Boyce: 14.9, 1991-92
Chauncey Billups: 17.9, 1995-96
David Harrison: 13.9, 2001-02
Richard Roby: 16.0, 2004-05
McKinley Wright IV: 14.2, 2017-18

Three freshman have led CU in scoring all four years:

Emmett Lewis: 15.0, 1975-76
Donnie Boyce: 14.9, 1991-92
Richard Roby: 16.0, 2004-05

Only 14 players since 1972 have averaged 10 or more points in their freshman year:

Emmett Lewis: 15.0, 1975-76
Dave Logan: 12.4, 1972-73
Randy Downs: 11.9, 1982-83
Matt Bullard: 12.7, 1985-86
Donnie Boyce: 14.9, 1991-92
Chauncey Billups: 17.9, 1995-96
Nick Mohr: 10.6, 1998-99
David Harrison: 13.9, 2001-02
Richard Roby: 16.0, 2004-05
Xavier Silas: 12.0, 2006-07
Alec Burks: 17.1, 2009-10
Spencer Dinwiddie: 10.0, 2011-12
Josh Scott: 10.2, 2012-13
McKinley Wright IV: 14.2, 2017-18

*-conference game

Since 1967-68, there have been three players to average at least 18 points per game in a season, only to finish second overall that year. Chuck Williams in 1967-68 (18.0 ppg.); Stevie Wise did it twice, 1989-90 (20.0) and 1990-91 (19.8).

Cory Higgins became the first player to score over 2,000 points, 500 rebounds, 300 assists, and 150 steals during his four-year collegiate career.

Jim Davis is one of seven players in school history to grab at least 860 career rebounds. Of the seven players, only three, including himself only played three years (Meely, Vandiver).

In his three years at CU, Andre Roberson was second nationally in rebounding during the 2012-13 season, and third nationally in 2011-12. He led the Pac-12 Conference on the glass (all games and conference-only) in each of those two seasons.

CONSECUTIVE FGS MADE: Then-sophomore Andre Roberson shot 66.7 percent during the Pac-12 Tournament (20-of-30). Roberson made 11 straight field goal attempts dating back to the game-winning put-back against Oregon in the quarterfinals. His streak tied for the third longest, and just one off the school record of 12 held by teammates House Guest and Shaun Vandiver one year apart. Roberson's 11-straight are the most on the road or at a neutral site. His 6-of-6 performance from the field against Cal, which included two 3-pointers, was a career-best percentage.
12 — Shaun Vandiver vs. Illinois State in Boulder, Dec. 4, 1989.
12 — Rodell "House" Guest vs. Central Connecticut State (5) & Eastern Michigan (7) in Boulder, Dec. 7-8, 1990.
11 — Andre Roberson vs. Oregon (1), California (6) & Arizona (4) in Los Angeles, Mar. 8-10, 2012.
11 — Jim Creighton vs. Iowa State in Boulder, Feb. 14, 1972.

Rodell Guest made 12 consecutive field goals tying for the most ever at CU.

David Harrison tops the list as CU's single-season and career leader in FG%.
