MEDIA INFORMATION

Colorado Sports Information Office: The University of Colorado Sports Information Office welcomes and encourages your interest in Colorado Basketball. We will make every effort to service your needs in covering the Buffs. The Sports Information Office maintains information on all current student-athletes and athletic department staff, as well as historical data on former athletes and Colorado's athletic department in general.

Media Credentials: Credentials for CU home men's basketball games can be obtained by e-mailing, faxing, writing or calling the CU Sports Information Office the week prior to the scheduled game. Credentials will be available for pick up only, at the entrance to the practice facility off Regent Drive.

Road Game Credentials: Media credentials for CU road games can either be requested through CU's or the opponent's men's basketball sports information contact. Please be specific when requesting the type of credential needed.

Photographers: Photo passes are available for working photographers for officially recognized media outlets, and/ or individuals on special assignment. Requests should be addressed in the same manner as media credentials.

Visiting Radio Personnel: Visiting radio personnel desiring to broadcast athletic events from CU should contact the Sports Information Office at the earliest possible date to request permission to broadcast. The visiting radio location will be located next to the team bench on the south end. Ethernet lines will be available.

Media Workroom: The media work room is located just off the court on the north end (toward the loading dock). Media are permitted to use this room pregame, during the game, and postgame.

Media Services: Game notes containing updated team and individual statistics, information on upcoming games, Pac-12 Conference standings will be emailed and available online prior to each non-tournament game throughout the season. A limited number of printed copies, meant primarily for live broadcast media, will be available on site in the media work room. Copies of the box score and play-by-play information, as well as post-game quotes, can be e-mailed to your outlet at the conclusion of each game, home or away.

Photography: High-quality photography is available through the Sports Information Office. To request photographs of current CU players and staff, please contact the CU Sports Information Office. Please specify four-color or grayscale, as well as desired resolution and format.

Post-game Interview Policies: After a short cooling off period, CU head coach Tad Boyle and selected players will be available in the media work room. Visiting coaches and players will be available outside their locker room at the discretion of the visiting SID. All requests for player or coach interviews from either home or visiting teams should be directed to a CU Sports Information staff member. The Colorado and opponent lockerrooms are closed to the media.

Interview Policies:

1. Media representatives desiring access to players, coaches and facilities must obtain the consent of the Colorado Sports Information Office.
2. Practices are open to local and national media members covering the Buffaloes with interviews held after practice.
3. All interviews on game days, prior to tip-off, are at the discretion of Tad Boyle.
4. The lockerroom is closed to the media at all times.
5. The training room, equipment room and weight room are off-limits at all times to the media. The only exception to this rule is if a special feature involving one of the areas is requested, and approval must be sought in advance from the Sports Information Office and the appropriate department head.
6. Sunday is the standard day off for players and coaches during the Pac-12 season and varies during the non-conference season. Any requests for athletes and coaches on Sundays and other off days will be handled on an individual basis through the Sports Information Office.
7. Road practices are closed, however head coach Tad Boyle is available for interviews with opponent media based on his personal discretion.
8. It is the request of the University of Colorado men's basketball program that the coaches and student-athletes are not to be called at home, unless permission has been granted by the player himself or through the sports information office. Though most phone numbers are available through campus information, players are allowed and encouraged to decline interviews when they have been reached at home when that interview has not been approved.

PRESIDENT TODD SALIMAN

Todd Saliman was named the 24th president of the University of Colorado in July 2021 after serving briefly in an interim capacity.

A lifelong Coloradan and proud CU alumnus, Saliman was born and raised in Littleton, and he graduated from CU Boulder with a degree in political science. With 30 years of experience in public policy and higher education in Colorado – including serving in the state legislature, working for two Colorado governors and overseeing CU's budget operations for more than a decade – Saliman has devoted his career to advancing the state and CU. He believes deeply in the value of higher education and the power of a four-year degree to unlock opportunity.

As president of CU, Saliman has made it a priority to engage with communities across Colorado so he can better understand the state's evolving needs. He is committed to ensuring that CU reflects Colorado's diverse population and ideas. Saliman counts helping students across the finish line to graduation among the university's primary responsibilities. By doing so, he believes CU positions students for success, which ultimately benefits their communities, the state and the world beyond.

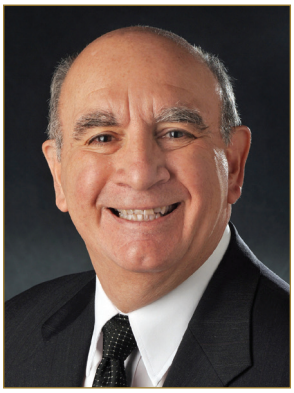
Before being named president, Saliman served as CU's senior vice president for strategy, government relations and chief financial officer. As head of the university's budget and finance operations for more than 10 years, Saliman was instrumental in transforming CU's budgeting process to make it more efficient, transparent and easily understood. His efforts have helped enable the Board of Regents to keep tuition in check while making informed decisions that allow CU to thrive.

Saliman is a former member of the Colorado General Assembly and spent four years on the Joint Budget Committee. During his tenure in office, Saliman worked to protect the disenfranchised and developmentally disabled, and carried legislation to fund mental health, child welfare and other human services. He advocated for creating locally-based systems to provide wraparound services for at-risk youth, protecting affirmative action and developing responsible government fiscal initiatives.

Saliman served in the Cabinet for two governors. During Gov. Bill Ritter's administration, he directed the Governor's Office of State Planning and Budgeting, representing the governor as he worked with the legislature to develop and implement the state's budget and other legislative and strategic initiatives. Saliman and his team worked with every state department to build the governor's budget request and recommended and implemented plans to keep the budget balanced throughout the fiscal year. His office also prepared quarterly economic forecasts for the state. When Gov. Hickenlooper was elected, Saliman continued as a senior advisor during the governor's first legislative session and provided guidance and support on state budget and policy issues.

Earlier in his career, Saliman owned and operated a lobbying firm that represented some of the most prominent organizations and governmental entities in the state, including CU. He and his wife, Michelle Segal, an alumna of the University of Colorado Law School, are the proud parents of Max and Mira.

CHANCELLOR PHIL DISTEFANO



Dr. Philip P. DiStefano is in his 14th year as the Chancellor at the University of Colorado Boulder. Prior to his appointment on May 5, 2009, Dr. DiStefano was the top academic officer at CU-Boulder for eight years as the Provost and Executive Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs. He had also served as interim chancellor twice during pivotal times in the university's history.

Dr. DiStefano co-chaired the steering committee for CU-Boulder's visionary strategic plan, Flagship 2030, conceived with campus, community and statewide input, to guide the university for decades to come. Today, Dr. DiStefano is shepherding its implementation as Flagship 2030 has moved from vision to reality.

Dr. DiStefano first arrived at the University of Colorado in 1974 as an assistant professor of curriculum and instruction at the School of Education. His academic career flourished as he assumed a series of academic and administrative positions, including professor, associate dean, dean and vice chancellor. He was appointed provost and executive vice chancellor for academic affairs in 2001.

Dr. DiStefano is considered a national authority on integrating intercollegiate athletics into the university academic mission. For the eighth consecutive year under Chancellor DiStefano, CU's NCAA Academic Progress Rate, which tracks student-athlete progress toward graduation, is the best in school history.

Dr. DiStefano completed a two-plus year term in June 2020 as the chairman of the Pac-12 Conference's CEO group and also served (August 2016-August 2021) on the Board of Governors of the NCAA representing the Pac 12 (within that role he was a member of the NCAA's revenue distribution working group). He also served five years as the University of Colorado's faculty representative to the Big 12 Conference, as he assumed the role on June 1, 2000, and held it until appointing Dr. David Clough to the position in spring 2005. He has been closely involved with the athletic program for most of his time at CU, and in June 2016, was accompanied by athletic director Rick George to Italy to promote the university and the success of its international students.

As Chancellor he works closely with students, faculty, staff, alumni, donors, governing officials, and business and community leaders in extending CU's legacy as a preeminent national comprehensive research university.

A first-generation college graduate, Dr. DiStefano earned a Bachelor of Science degree from Ohio State University in 1968 and a Master of Arts degree in English Education from West Virginia University in 1971. He holds a Doctorate in Humanities Education from Ohio State University, where he served as a teaching and research associate.

Dr. DiStefano began his educational career as a high school English teacher in Ohio. He has authored and co-authored numerous books and articles on literacy education.

He was born in Steubenville, Ohio, and graduated from Steubenville Catholic Central High School. He has been married to the former Yvonne Pasquarella for more than 50 years, and the couple has three grown daughters, Gia, Nicole and Jennifer, and two granddaughters.

PROVOST RUSSELL L. MOORE

Dr. Russell L. Moore is now in his 13th year as the Provost and Executive Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs for the University of Colorado, having assumed the position July 1, 2010.

Dr. Moore has enjoyed a long and distinguished career at CU, having previously served as interim vice chancellor for research from May 2009 to July 2010, and prior to that appointment, he was the associate vice chancellor for research since 2006.

Dr. Moore served as chair of Kinesiology and Applied Physiology (now Integrative Physiology) from 1994 to 2001, and was an assistant professor (1984-86), associate professor (1993-96) and full professor (1996-present) in that department. He is also an adjunct professor in the Department of Medicine at the University of Colorado Anschutz Medical Campus.

He co-chaired the Flagship 2030 Task Force on Research, Scholarship, and Creative Works.

He holds an adjunct professorship in medicine (cardiology) at the University of Colorado's Anschutz Medical Campus at the University of Colorado Denver.

He was an assistant and associate professor (1986-91) in the departments of medicine, cellular and molecular physiology at the Pennsylvania State University College of Medicine in Hershey, Pa. His research focused on adaptations of the heart to physiological and pathological stress, particularly as they related to the development of heart failure.

Dr. Moore earned a Bachelor of Science degree in biochemistry from the University of California at Davis in 1976, and a doctorate from Washington State University in 1982. He did postdoctoral work at the University of Texas Health Science Center in Dallas (1981-84).

FACULTY ATHLETICS REPRESENTATIVE JOE JUPILLE

Dr. Joseph (Joe) Jupille, an associate professor of political science, is in his sixth year as the University of Colorado's Faculty Athletics Representative (FAR) to the Pac-12 Conference, as he assumed the position on July 1, 2017.

Dr. Jupille is only the seventh FAR in CU history, joining a very prestigious list: Walter Franklin (1947-1948), Warren Thompson (1949-1966), William Baughn (1967-1989), James Corbridge (1989-2000), current CU chancellor Phil DiStefano (2000-2005) and Dr. David Clough (2005-2017).

Now in his 17th year at CU, he joined the faculty in 2005 and became an Associate Professor in 2007. He founded and served as Director of the Colorado European Union Center of Excellence (CEUCE) from 2008-15.

Professor Jupille's research specializes in rules and institutions, which comes in handy in the world of intercollegiate athletics. With James Caporaso (University of Washington) he is completing Theories of Institutions, which distills understandings of rules across a range of disciplinary orientations. He has previously published Institutional Choice and Global Commerce (2013, with Walter Mattli and Duncan Snidal) and Procedural Politics (2004), the latter of which centers on his core substantive and teaching expertise in the European Union (EU). He has been published widely in peer reviewed journals and edited volumes, including in the Annual Review of Political Science, Comparative Political Studies, European Political Science Review, International Organization and West European Politics.

Jupille has been involved with student-athletes almost since arriving at CU over a decade ago, serving on and then chairing the Boulder Faculty Assembly's Intercollegiate Athletics Committee (IAC), which works with the Department of Athletics in managing and thriving at the nexus of athletics and academics. He has served or continues to serve on a number of student-athlete-centered bodies such as the AD's Academic Risk Assessment (ARA) committee, the Title IX Task Force chaired by Senior Woman Administrator (SWA) Ceal Barry in addition to many others.

Jupille wants it all for CU student-athletes: a gold standard education, unparalleled opportunity for personal growth and professional preparation, a chance to enjoy year-round fresh air and sunshine and develop ways of being well, and of course, a world class athletic experience. It is the FAR's job to bring a faculty sensibility to the pursuit of these goals.

He earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in Political Science from UC Santa Barbara in 1992, a Master of Arts in International Public Policy from the Middlebury Institute of International Studies at Monterey in 1995, and his Ph.D. in Political Science from the University of Washington in 2000.

Prior to joining the CU faculty in 2005, he was an Assistant Professor of Political Science at Florida International University for almost six years (2000-05).

He was born in Chicago in 1970 and is the father of four children (Michael, Alex, Jackson and Julia). An avid cyclist, he commutes daily to CU by bike from the town of Superior (six miles southeast of Boulder). He grew up as a fan of the Pacific 10 Conference and in particular the California Bears but his allegiance is now sworn to the Buffaloes.

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR RICK GEORGE

Rick George was named athletic director at the University of Colorado on July 17, 2013, returning to Boulder where he helped play a role in the school's first and only national championship in football some 23 years earlier.

George, 62, came to Colorado from the Texas Rangers baseball club of the American League, where he was named chief operating officer on October 5, 2010 with a promotion to president of business operations in February 2013. He agreed to a 5-year contract at CU, and he officially started on the job on August 12, 2013. He has since had three extensions approved by the Board of Regents, the first in June 2016, the second in June 2019 and the third in June 2021, as he is now under contract through the 2025-26 academic and athletic year.

Now in his 10th year as CU's athletic boss, he is just the sixth full-time director in school history, following in the footsteps of Harry Carlson (1927-65), Eddie Crowder (1965-84), Bill Marolt (1984-96), Dick Tharp (1996-2004) and Mike Bohn (2005-13). Two others have bridged directors in interim capacities, Jack Lengyel (six months between Tharp and Bohn) and Ceal Barry (two months between Bohn and George).

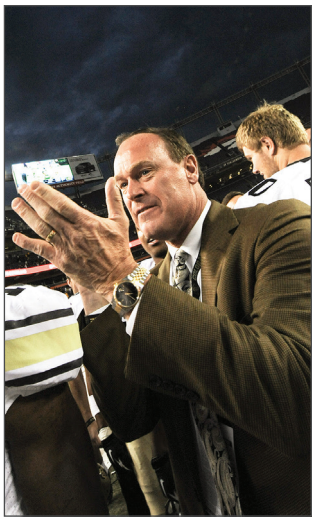
His list of achievements in his first 1,000 days in the position were many, but none more significant than shepherding through a $156 million Athletic Complex Expansion from creation through fruition, gaining approval from the Board of Regents and then raising nearly one-half of the estimated cost to initiate construction, which began May 12, 2014. The project was the core of the Sustainable Excellence Initiative (SEI), the jewel of which was a long-awaited indoor practice facility. Once green-lighted, he spearheaded the most successful fundraising campaign in athletic department history, raising over $100 million for the project.

By the end of his second year, George implemented the department's first-ever comprehensive strategic plan, which mapped CU's immediate and long range purpose and goals. He also redesigned the management teams, made tough budget decisions that reduced deficits he inherited (and has since produced two budget surpluses), and canvassed the state, region and nation in both friend- and fundraising. The department is now in the third year of the second three-year plan orchestrated by George.

In his fourth year in the position (2016-17), 13 of CU's 16 athletic teams were at one time or another ranked among the nation's Top 25 (including all five in the fall; skiing is a coed program with combined rankings). Included in that group was the football team, as the Buffaloes returned to the national rankings for the first time in 11 seasons. All but one team competed in the postseason, most in NCAA Championships, with football making it to a bowl game for the first time since 2007 and both basketball teams going to their respective NIT events.

In 2019, he was one of 30 named to the prestigious National Football Foundation's "Team of Excellence," highlighting those NFF board members who played football and have gone on to success in life. In the spring of 2020, on the 50th anniversary of "Earth Day," he was the recipient of the individual achievement award recognizing his leadership in the sports sustainability programs he developed in the athletic department, as well as the Pac-12 Conference (in which in 2015 he drove the creation of the league's sustainability conference).

His dedication in the area of sustainability that has attracted many purpose-driven corporate sponsors; engineered the global debut in the summer of 2019 of the novel Ball aluminum cup that eliminates the use of recyclable or compostable plastics; hosted the first Fan Engagement for Sustainability Think Camp that produced a strategy that inspires fans to be more sustainable at home, work and play; signed the first U.S. collegiate commitment to the U.N. Sports for Climate Action charter; and continued to lead the nation's first NCAA Division I GreenSports program, Ralphie's Green Stampede.



He has been recognized four times (2014, 2018, 2020, 2021) by CU's Student-Athlete Advisory Committee as its choice for Staff Member of the Year; no token award, the group acknowledged his attendance at most home athletic events, regular meetings with team captains of all programs to interact with them and receive their feedback, his willingness to meet with any student-athlete and that his door is always open to them and his overall leadership, especially through times of crises, such as the COVID-19 pandemic.

George brought the most diverse background to the position than any before him at Colorado: all five others had extensive and primarily exclusive college athletic histories, the only exceptions being when Marolt left CU after 10 years as ski coach to lead the U.S. Olympic ski team before returning, and Tharp, who was a university attorney with strong CU-Boulder campus ties. While George began and worked in the college athletic world for the first half of his professional career, he stepped outside that box for the second half.

George was with the Rangers for less than three years, but saw the team win two American League championships and compile a 243-176 record (.580 winning percentage) during his time there, second-best in the major leagues during that time frame. As the COO, he worked closely with team president and CEO, baseball Hall-of-Famer Nolan Ryan, and was responsible for all facets of the Rangers' business operations, including oversight of all sales and marketing efforts, broadcast and communications, ticket and suite sales, naming rights, etc., in addition to overseeing the finance, human resource and operations departments.

Among his many accomplishments with the Rangers was a comprehensive branding study that successfully rebranded the ball club, and an implementation of a new ticketing strategy that over the course of three seasons increased ticket revenues by over $30 million. The club's attendance saw an increase of 40 percent from the 2010 season to nearly 3.5 million in 2012, second in the American League (behind the New York Yankees) and third in the majors. The 2013 numbers were on pace to exceed the 3 million mark again when he left the franchise for CU.

Prior to joining the Rangers, George served as executive vice president and chief of operations for the PGA TOUR for two-and-a-half years (beginning in June 2008). While with the TOUR, he worked with the corporate marketing department in renewing sponsorships and creating new events. He also oversaw the Tournament Business Affairs division that worked with Tournaments to increase tournament revenue.

He also worked for the PGA TOUR as president of the Champions Tour from 2003-08, and as the executive vice president for championship management his last three years there. His major accomplishments included increasing revenues and sponsorships and the development of strategic plans, the latter including a vision and mission statement as well as core values. The Champions Tour had grown to a minimum 29 events with over $55 million in prize money when he left for the PGA TOUR.

From 1998-2003, George served as President and CEO of the Fore!Kids Foundation, a 501(c)(3) organization that raised money for children's charities via golf-related events, where he led rebranding and organizational efforts that resulted in increases in charitable giving to the Foundation.

At the collegiate level, George worked in three major conferences (Big Ten, Big 8, Southeastern) in football operations, beginning with his alma mater, the University of Illinois, as football recruiting coordinator (1983-87).

He graduated from Illinois in 1982 with a Bachelor of Arts in Liberal Arts & Sciences Individual Study that had an emphasis on Sports Communication and Journalism. He was a four-year letterman at cornerback for the Illini, playing in 44 straight games and starting in 27 games in all, as he played two years each under coaches Gary Moeller and Mike White. He was a two-time recipient of the school's Bruce Capel Award, given for dedication and courage to honor Capel who lost his life serving his country in Vietnam; George received the honor for his junior and senior seasons.

Upon his graduation, White named him the assistant director for player personnel for the Illini, and a year later (1983), he assumed the all sports recruiting coordinator. In March 1984, George took over the recruiting chores solely for football, with his first class ranked No. 1 in the nation by the recruiting services with all in the top 20; he coordinated five classes in all at Illinois when the call came to take him out west to Colorado.

On March 2, 1987, Bill McCartney hired him as Colorado's football recruiting coordinator. Two-and-a-half years later (Dec. 21, 1989), George was promoted to assistant athletic director for football operations, not coincidentally after the Buffaloes finished the regular season with an 11-0 record and the school's first-ever No. 1 national ranking in the polls. CU lost to Notre Dame in the Orange Bowl and would finish No. 4, but came back to go 11-1-1 in 1990, this time defeating the Irish in the Orange Bowl to earn consensus national champion honors.

Shortly thereafter, he left the Buffaloes for Vanderbilt University, where he was reunited with former CU offensive coordinator Gerry DiNardo, who was named the Commodores' head coach a year earlier. In eight years at Vanderbilt (1991-98), he also served as associate athletic director for external operations in conjunction with overseeing the football program. This was where George first expanded his professional role outside of solely football, as he had oversight over all external departments, particularly in the area of managing budgets and developing marketing and promotional strategies for all sports.

George was born April 3, 1960 in Woodstock, Ill., and graduated from Collinsville (Ill.) High School, where he lettered in football, basketball and baseball. He is married to the former Nancy Green, and the couple has two grown daughters, Jenni and Christi, and two granddaughters (Harper and Maddie). In 2016, he was presented with an "Honorary C" by CU's Alumni C Club for his years of dedication to Colorado Athletics.

UNIVERSITY OF COLORADO

Founded in 1876 at the foot of the Flatirons, over 146 years has transformed the University of Colorado from a lone building on a bleak, windswept hill to one of the nation's leading public research institutions. Established in 1861, the University was formally founded in 1876, the year Colorado became a state.

The Boulder campus encompasses over 1,100 acres on the main campus in the heart of town, east campus (which includes a research park), south campus, Williams Village and the Mountain Research Station north of nearby Nederland (which supports ecology, chemistry and geology).

While over 35,500 students are educated on the Boulder campus, another 34,000-plus study at the University of Colorado at Denver, the University of Colorado Anschutz Campus (Aurora) and the University of Colorado at Colorado Springs. Nine elected Regents and President Mark Kennedy lead the four-campus system, while each campus has a Chancellor who serves as the chief academic and administrative officer. Dr. Phil DiStefano is in his 14th year as the chancellor of the Boulder campus.

Students can enter any of 11 schools and colleges offering more than 3,900 courses in 150 fields, representing a full range of disciplines in the humanities, social sciences, physical and biological sciences, the fine and performing arts, and the professions. CU-Boulder is regularly ranked among the best of the United States' public universities by the Fiske Guide to Colleges, and a 2010 USA Today/Princeton Review survey rated the University of Colorado as the fifth-best value among American public colleges. CU was recently ranked as the No. 33 university in the world by the Times Higher Education.

CU-Boulder has played a major role in NASA space programs, designing and building many scientific instruments flown in outer space, and graduated 17 men and women who became astronauts, including the late Jack Swigert, one of the three astronauts in the crippled Apollo 13 mission who made it back to Earth safely from the moon. When the Hubble Space Telescope was launched in 1990, it was carrying seven major instruments, including a high-resolution spectrograph to study the evolution of stars and designed and built by an international science team led by astronomer Jack Brandt of CU-Boulder. Since Hubble has been deployed, CU-Boulder faculty and students have been among the top users of Hubble of any institution in the world. CU-Boulder is the only university in the country where undergraduate students have operated a NASA satellite.

The University has produced 21 Rhodes Scholars, five of which were former football student-athletes at CU, with Jim Hansen the most recent recipient in 1992. Faculty member Thomas Cech, a distinguished professor of chemistry and biochemistry, won the 1989 Nobel Prize in chemistry. Other notable alumni other than athletes include former United States Supreme Court Justice Byron "Whizzer" White, former big band leader Glenn Miller and actors Robert Redford and Chris Meloni, the latter starring for years on Law & Order: Special Victims Unit, the creators of South Park, Trey Parker and Matt Stone, and Philip Bailey, co-founder of the popular music group Earth, Wind & Fire.

If the aphorism, "Somewhere between the Rockies and reality," seems too good to believe, then come for a visit. Start with a walk on the historic Pearl Street Mall, a downtown pedestrian mall that is the ceremonial heart of the city. Visitors may be so taken in by the scenery they may not realize the University that put it all together. From Pearl, Broadway leads directly onto campus where the University of Colorado Museum and the CU Heritage Center, in the original Old Main building, both introduce the University's past and present. The hub of campus activity can be found at both the University Memorial Center (UMC) and the Center for Community (C4C). The ATLAS building is one of the most state-of-the-art structures on any college campus.

Take in the fresh mountain air on any part of 100 miles of trails and 30,000 acres of open space. Climb the Flatirons or in Eldorado Canyon State Park. Swim or board sail at the Boulder Reservoir while elite runners sprint around it. Take in a pro sporting event down the road in Denver, just one of 13 cities with teams in all four pro leagues.

> "The University of Colorado, and Boulder, is a town which stops where the Rocky Mountains begin. Normally in America such a superb site would be occupied by a golf course, but somebody goofed and instead they built what may be the most beautifully situated campus in the world… if anyone asks you to Boulder, I have one word of advice: 'Go.'"

PAC-12 CONFERENCE

The roots of the Pac-12 Conference date back nearly 104 years to December 2, 1915, when the Pacific Coast Conference (PCC) was founded at a meeting at the Oregon Hotel in Portland. The original membership consisted of four schools — the University of California at Berkeley, the University of Washington, the University of Oregon, and Oregon State College (now Oregon State University). All still are charter members of the Conference.

Pacific Coast Conference play began in 1916 and, one year later, Washington State College (now Washington State University) was accepted into the league, with Stanford University following in 1918.

In 1922, the PCC expanded to eight teams with the admission of the University of Southern California (USC) and the University of Idaho. In 1924, the University of Montana joined the league roster, and in 1928, the PCC grew to 10 members with the addition of UCLA.

The Pacific Coast Conference competed as a 10-member league until 1950, with the exception of 1943-45 when World War II curtailed intercollegiate athletic competition to a minimum. During that time, the league's first commissioner was named. Edwin Atherton was commissioner in 1940 and was succeeded by Victor Schmidt in 1944. In 1950, Montana resigned from the Conference and joined the Mountain States Conference, essentially replacing Colorado, which left for the Big 7 two years earlier. The PCC continued as a nine-team conference through 1958.

In 1959, the PCC was dissolved and the Athletic Association of Western Universities was formed and Thomas J. Hamilton was appointed commissioner of the new league. The original AAWU membership included California, Stanford, Southern California, UCLA and Washington. Washington State joined the membership in 1962, while Oregon and Oregon State joined in 1964. Under Hamilton's watch, the name Pacific-8 Conference was adopted in 1968. In 1971, Wiles Hallock took over as commissioner of the Pac-8.

On July 1, 1978, the University of Arizona and Arizona State University were admitted to the league and the Pacific-10 Conference became a reality. In 1986-87, the league took on a new look, expanding to include 10 women's sports. Tom Hansen was named the commissioner of the Pac-10 in 1983, a role he would hold for 26 years until 2009. Hansen was succeeded as commissioner by Larry Scott, who took on the role in July 2009 until stepping down on June 30, 2021.

On May 13, 2021, George Kliavkoff was named the conference's second-ever commissioner, assuming the position on July 1, 2021. A long-time sports and media executive, he brings multifaceted expertise in managing change and driving results from roles at MGM Resorts, Hearst, NBCUniversal and Major League Baseball Advanced Media.

George Kliavkoff
Pac-12 Commissioner

In 2010, a monumental change transformed the conference into a modern 12-team league by adding the University of Colorado and the University of Utah. The addition of CU and Utah led to an agreement to equal revenue sharing for the first time in conference history, created two divisions (North and South) for football only, established a football championship game for the first time ever, secured a landmark media rights deal that dramatically increased national exposure and revenue for each school and established the Pac-12 Network and Pac-12 Digital Network that guaranteed enhanced exposure across all sports.

After a courtship of several months (which followed several other attempts to lure the Buffaloes into the conference), Colorado accepted its invitation to join the Pac-12 on June 10, 2010, as the Buffaloes were the first domino to fall in a change of the national landscape Within the next week, Nebraska also left the Big 12 to join the Big 10, Boise State departed the WAC for the Mountain West, and TCU jumped from the MWC for the Big East (before eventually landing in the Big 12). A week later on June 17, Utah agreed to join CU to make it an even dozen in the Pac-12. Big-time rivals for the first half of the last century, the Buffaloes and Utes officially became the 11th and 12th members of the Conference on July 1, 2011, the first additions to the league since 1978. During the 33 years between expansions, Pac-10 teams claimed 258 NCAA titles (130 women's, 128 men's).

At present, the Pac-12 sponsors 11 men's sports and 13 women's sports. Additionally, the conference schools are members of the Mountain Pacific Sports Federation (MPSF) in four other men's sports and two women's sports. CU participates in the MPSF in indoor track and has competed since 1950 in the Rocky Mountain Intercollegiate Ski Association (RMISA) in skiing, which is a coed sport.

The Pac-12 Conference offices are located in the heart of San Francisco's downtown district and are headquartered in the same building as the Pac-12 Network.

2021-22 (Sophomore): Averaged 2.6 points and 2.8 rebounds as a key reserve off the bench. One of five Buffaloes to appear in all 33 games. Had 30 offensive rebounds, tying for the fourth on the team. Scored a career-high 14 points in the road win over Oregon State (2/15). Made 5 of 6 from the floor including 3 of 4 from 3-point range in his first double-figure scoring game and first with multiple 3-point field goals. Shot 44 percent on the season, improving that number down the stretch by hitting his final 15 of 32 from the floor (.469). Grabbed a career-high eight rebounds at home against Oregon State (2/5). Twice dished out a personal-best four assists, at home against Washington (1/9) and again at Stanford (2/19). Recorded a career-best four steals against Maine (11/15) which also tied for the team's season-best mark.

2020-21 (Freshman): Played in 10 games on CU's senior-laden squad, totaling 15 points and seven rebounds while shooting 43 percent (6 of 14) in limited minutes. Saw action in both NCAA Tournament games, pitching in a personal-best four points in the first round win over Georgetown (3/20). Had a career-best four rebounds against California (1/14), a game in which he also made his first career 3-pointer. Made his collegiate debut in the final three minutes of the season opener against South Dakota (11/25) and two days later scored his first career points at Kansas State (11/27).

High School: A 2020 graduate of Columbine High School. Named Colorado's Class 5A State Player of the Year as a senior, averaging 26.0 points, 12.0 rebounds, 3.0 assists and 2.0 blocks per game. Led the Rebels to a 21-5 record in 2020 and spot in the Class 5A State Tournament "Great 8" for the first time since 2011. A two-time Class 5A All-State First Team selection and two-time JeffCo League Player of the Year. Led the JeffCo League in scoring at 21 points per game in 2019 as the Rebels finished undefeated in conference play and advanced to the second round of the state tournament. Four-time All-JeffCo First Team pick. Holds Columbine career records for points, steals, rebounds, field goals made, 3-pointers made, free throws made and scoring average. Played six years for the Colorado Miners club program.

Academics: Majoring in Communication at Colorado. Carried a 3.95 GPA in high school.

Personal: Born on Aug. 21, 2001, in Denver. He is the son of Steve and Corie O'Brien. Has three siblings, an older sister, Emma who attends Colorado State, and two younger brothers, Landon and Levi. His father, Steve, was a walk-on basketball player at CSU. Enjoys golf, bowling and video games and considers himself an above average golfer and bowler. His favorite NBA player is Steph Curry and his favorite pro sports team is Tottenham of the English Premier League. Chose Colorado in part because "the coaches and players were great and it felt like the right fit." The biggest moment of his prep career was scoring 33 points, including all 16 of his team's points in the fourth quarter, in a win over Boulder High School that sent Columbine to the State Tournament at the Denver Coliseum.

G • 6-3 • 190 • So. • 1L

Denver, Colo. (Cherry Creek)

2021-22 (Freshman): Averaged 3.0 points and just over an assist per game in 29 appearances as a true freshman. Averaged 12.5 minutes for the season, but saw his playing time increase significantly throughout the season and was inserted into the starting lineup for the final five games. His first collegiate start was memorable to say the least, helping the Buffaloes to a win in front of a sold-out CU Events Center over No. 2 ranked Arizona (2/26). Dished out 17 of his season's 32 assists over the last six games (2.8 apg). Had a career-high five assists in the Pac-12 Tournament semifinals against Arizona (3/11) along with nine points. Named the Pac-12 Conference Freshman of the Week on Jan. 10 after his effort at home against the Washington schools, averaging 8.0 points, 2.5 rebounds, 2.0 steals and 2.0 assists while hitting 55 percent. In the win over Washington (1/9), he scored a career-high 14 points in just over 12 minutes of action, hitting 5 of 7 from the field including all four 3-point attempts. Against Washington State (1/6), he grabbed five rebounds, had four steals and dished out four assists; the four steals would tie the team's single-hame high for the season. Prior to the WSU game he totaled all of one assist and one steal in his first eight career games. Made his collegiate debut against Maine (11/15) scoring eight points with four rebounds in 16 minutes. Co-winner of team's Most Improved Player Award at the end of the season.

High School: A 2021 graduate of Cherry Creek High School. Averaged 19.4 points, 5.6 rebounds and 1.9 steals over four seasons for the Bruins. As a senior, he was named the Colorado Gatorade Player of the Year and the CSHAA Class 5A Player of the Year, averaging 22.4 points, 5.5 rebounds, 3.8 assists and 2.3 steals while shooting 51 percent from the field and 41 percent from 3-point rage. He helped the Bruins to a 17-1 record, a Centennial Conference championship and a trip to the state semifinals. Two-time all-state and Centennial Conference Player of the Year and a three-time all-conference honoree. Led the Bruins to a 19-5 record in 2019-20, averaging 21.9 points, 7.0 rebounds and 3.6 assists per game. Holds the Cherry Creek record for career points and 3-pointers made. A two-time all-state and all-conference performer at quarterback for the Cherry Creek football team. Led the Bruins to a pair of state championships and had a 23-0 record as a starter. 247Sports listed him as the top player in the state of Colorado and the 25th best combo guard in the nation. Played club basketball for the Chauncey Billups Elite (now known as College Bound Elite). His U15 team was once ranked No. 18 nationally.

Academics: An Open Option major. Plans to pursue a professional career in basketball.

Personal: Born Oct. 2, 2002, in Denver. He is the son of Ruby and Julian Hammond II, who both also played basketball at Cal Poly and Loyola Marymount. His father played professionally in Australia and grandfather, Julian, Sr., played for the Denver Rockets of the ABA from 1967-72. He has two brothers, Christian (16), a junior in at Cherry Creek, and Jeremiah (13), an eighth grader. Played alongside current CU wide receiver Chase Penry both on the basketball court and football field at Cherry Creek. Was recruited by Northern Colorado for both football and basketball, Denver and Wyoming for basketball and Idaho and Montana State for football. Chose Colorado because "It was the school I always wanted to play Division I basketball at."

West Hills, Calif. (Chaminade)

2021-22 (Freshman): Earned All-Pac-12 Conference Freshman Team honors after averaging 7.4 points per game and leading the Buffaloes in assists (86) and steals (26). Shot 76.5 percent from the free throw line overall and increased that to 78.8 percent during conference games, the latter ranking 11th on the league charts during that span. At one point made 17 free throws in a row. The McKinley Wright IV Assist Award recipient, his 86 assists tied for the eighth most in a season by a CU freshman. Dished out a career and team-season high six assists against Oregon (3/10) in the quarterfinals of the Pac-12 Tournament. A two-time Pac-12 Freshman of the Week, earning those honors on Nov. 29 and Feb. 21. His first honor came after averaging 9.5 points and 3.0 assists while shooting 55 percent off the bench in Colorado's two wins over Brown (11/22) and Stanford (11/28). He scored a career-high 12 points, hitting 5 of 8 from the field in the Buffaloes' conference opener against Stanford. He had seven points, including a perfect 5 of 5 from the free throw line, and four assists against Brown, in the Paradise Jam finale in the U.S. Virgin Islands. His second honor came after averaging 13.0 points and 3.0 rebounds during Colorado's three-game road sweep of Oregon State (2/15), California (2/17) and Stanford (2/19). He shot 44 percent from the field and 79 percent from the foul line, hitting 14 of 18 attempts. Scored in double-figures all three games including a career-high 19 points at California where he recorded personal-bests at the free throw line knocking down 8 of 10 attempts. He had 10 points, five rebounds and two assists at Oregon State and finished the week with 10 points, two rebounds and two steals at Stanford. Led or shared the team lead in assists 15 times and in steals 12 times. Had nine double-figure scoring games, twice leading the Buffaloes in scoring both representing his highest-scoring games: 19 at California and 17 at Arizona (1/13).

Harrisburg, Pa. (Glenelg Country School/Yale)

2017-22 (Yale): Played in 78 games in three seasons, over five years, for Yale during his undergraduate career. A two-year team captain for the Bulldogs, he averaged 7.0 points, 3.0 rebounds and 1.2 steals while shooting 45 percent from the field and 77 percent from the line. Helped Yale to a pair of NCAA Tournament appearances (2019, '22) and two Ivy League regular season and tournament titles. Earned All-Ivy Second Team honors as a senior, averaging 11.3 points and 3.6 rebounds per game. He ranked third in the Ivy League in free throw percentage (.806), fifth in steals (1.4 spg) and seventh in field goal percentage (.477). Scored a career-high 32 points against Penn (2/18) and logged a double-double against Seton Hall (11/14) with 14 points and a career-high 11 rebounds. Named the 2019-20 Ivy League Defensive Player of the Year as a junior, averaging 5.9 points and 3.4 rebounds per game. Tied for fourth in the Ivy League in steals with 40. Played in 17 games as a sophomore in 2018-19. Missed his freshman season of 2017-18 with an injury. Yale, along with the rest of the Ivy League, did not compete in 2020-21 due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

High School: A first team all-county selection as a senior at Glenelg Country School in Maryland. Spent his first three years of high school at Harrisburg Academy where he was leading scorer in the state of Pennsylvania as a junior. A first team all-state selection as a junior season, he finished his career with 2,053 points, 228 three-pointers, 666 rebounds, 249 steals and 366 assists/ Scored 60 points in a game in his junior season at Harrisburg. Helped lead Glenelg to the MIAA A Division quarterfinals as a senior. Played AAU for York Ballers.

Academics: Pursuing a master's degree in Engineering Management at Colorado. Earned his bachelor's degree in Computer Science from Yale in 2022. A National Merit Commended Scholar and was the recipient of Yale basketball's Dick Derby Scholarship Award as a freshman in 2017-18.

Personal: Born in Baltimore, he is the son Shaun and Monica Gabbidon. His father played basketball at Christopher Newport University for one year. Has two brothers, Jini and Julian. Jini is a MIT graduate and played one year of basketball there. An uncle, Kurt Samuels played at UNC-Asheville before playing professionally overseas for more than a decade. He moved to Denver during the 2020-21 season – the year sports were canceled by the Ivy League – to co-found, along with another Yale basketball alum, a startup called Launchpad, a performance-enhancing fitness application. Went through Techstars in the summer of 2021. His goal after college is to be a successful entrepreneur and CTO for a startup; loves to build new things and plans to continue pursuing startups as a living. Chose Colorado because the opportunity to play at the highest level and continue to develop his professional skill set in a well-established master's program was perfect for him. He interned at Google's Pittsburgh office in the summer of 2019 and was scheduled to intern at Google's headquarters in California in the summer of 2020 but instead worked remotely from his home in Harrisburg. He worked on the Google shopping team and was part of a software project that went live at the end of his internship. Volunteers at the Central Pennsylvania Food Bank. A National Merit Commended Scholar.

logging a season-best nine minutes at Kansas State.

High School: A 2020 graduate of The Vanguard School. Colorado's 2020 Gatorade State Player of the Year, he averaged 26.3 points, 13.7 rebounds, 3.5 steals and 2.8 blocks, leading Vanguard to a 22-3 record and an appearance in the Class 3A "Great 8." A two-time All-State First Team pick, he led Vanguard to the Class 3A State Championship game as a junior, averaging 18.9 points and 11.3 rebounds per game. A two-time all-conference selection, he helped Vanguard to three-straight district tournament titles. A member of Vanguard's 1,000-point club. He was ranked the top player in Colorado, a four-star recruit and the No. 92 overall prospect in 247Sports' Final 2020 national recruiting rankings. Rivals tabbed him as a four-star guard and the 29th best shooting guard. Played two years for the Colorado Miners club program.

Academics: An Communication major at Colorado with a Leadership minor. A member of the Honor Roll in high school while receiving Citizenship and Student-Athlete Awards.

Personal: Born Feb. 9, 2002, in Colorado Springs. Full first name is Dominique. He is the only child of Akai and Angelique Clifford. Had a five-inch growth spurt between his sophomore and junior years of high school – from 6-0 to 6-5. Enjoys basketball, video games and playing other sports like ping pong. Has a desire to help children, volunteering his time at hospitals, with Teen Court and kids basketball camps. Chose Colorado over Stanford, Wyoming and Colorado State in part "I loved the opportunity it presented on the court and off the court. I loved coach Boyle's vision for me and the program as well as the school having top tier academics. It's also just beautiful here in Boulder." Lists the biggest moment of his prep career as "either playing in the craziest state championship game where I was Tournament MVP even though we lost or dropping 36 points and 15 rebounds against a Top 3 Class 4A team, which is one level bigger than my school, in front of coach Boyle."

Tad Boyle is in his 13th year as the head coach of the University of Colorado men's basketball program with a record of 254-155 (.621). He ranks second in both wins and winning percentage with the Buffaloes, sitting on the doorstep of passing a pair of CU Athletic Hall of Fame coaches during the 2022-23 season.

Boyle's 254 wins at Colorado are seven shy of Russell "Sox" Walseth's 261 wins from 1956-76. His 62.1 winning percentage is just a fraction behind Forrest B. "Frosty" Cox who won 62.3 percent of his games between 1936-50.

Entering his 17th overall season as a collegiate head coach, Boyle has won 58 percent of his games with a record of 310-221.

Boyle owns nine of Colorado's 13 all-time seasons of 20-plus wins, including all five of the Buffaloes' top single-season win totals. He has guided Colorado to 10 postseason appearances in 11 possible seasons; with no postseason in 2020 due to covid. Included in that span is a school-record seven-straight appearances from 2011 to 2017. Prior to that seven-year run, no Colorado team had participated in the postseason more than two consecutive years.

"Tad continues to make Colorado more than relevant," NCAA.com Basketball Writer Andy Katz said. "He has made them into one of the top teams in the West. Now you can count on Colorado being in play for the top tier in the Pac-12 and an NCAA bid. Colorado may have joined the Pac-12 for football first but the Buffaloes have been a boon in basketball."

Five times, Boyle has led the Buffaloes to the NCAA Tournament, and a sixth was surely in the mix had it not been for the cancelation of the 2020 postseason. Boyle's postseason success is highlighted by a memorable run of four wins in four days to claim the 2012 Pac-12 Tournament championship. He owns more than half of Colorado's all-time conference tournament wins, with an 18-11 mark in that span (16-10 in the Pac-12, 2-1 in the Big 12). Boyle has led the Buffaloes to a pair of conference tournament championship games and six semifinals. Overall Boyle's 26 postseason wins and .553 winning percentage (26-21) are tops in Colorado history.

Boyle has led Colorado to 23 wins over ranked opponents, by far the best in team history. In fact, Boyle coached teams, with a record of 23-42, have accounted for 34 percent of the program's wins over ranked opponents (67) since 1949-50.

Colorado has finished with winning records in 11 of his 12 seasons on the bench. The Buffaloes have been above .500 during conference play nine times, including the last four seasons. Boyle's 110 Pac-12 regular season wins tie for 19th in the conference's storied history.

Nine former Buffaloes coached by Boyle have made NBA rosters during his time in Boulder. Seven have been selected in the NBA Draft, led by 2011 lottery pick Alec Burks, the 12th selection by the Utah Jazz. Colorado has been represented in four of the last six NBA Drafts with Derrick White in 2017 (San Antonio), George King in 2018 (Phoenix), Tyler Bey in 2020 (Philadelphia, traded to Dallas) and Jabari Walker in 2022 (Portland).

Twenty seven former Buffaloes that played in Boyle's program have gone on to professional careers overseas.

The 18th head coach in school history, Boyle has also represented the Buffaloes on a national, and world, stage. Boyle served has head coach of the USA Basketball Men's U18 Team, guiding the squad to the Gold Medal at the 2022 FIBA U18 Americas Men's Championship.

Boyle was an assistant coach for USA Basketball's 2017 Men's U19 World Cup Team that earned a bronze medal in Cairo, Egypt. He also earned bronze as an assistant for USA Basketball's 2015 Pan American squad in Toronto. Boyle was one three court coaches for the 2013 USA Basketball Men's World University Games training camp at the U.S. Olympic Training Center in Colorado Springs.

A former chair of the NCAA Men's Basketball Rules Committee, Boyle was appointed to the National Association of Basketball Coaches (NABC) Board of Directors in June 2022.

Boyle is also an active ambassador in the community throughout the Centennial State. He is a five-time participant in the National Association of Basketball Coaches (NABC) Infiniti Coaches' Charity Challenge where coaches across the country compete against each other to raise money for their charities. In 2018, he helped Special Olympics Colorado earn $13,000 through the program.

In September 2012, Boyle was invited to Washington, D.C. with other college basketball coaches to urge Congress to protect federal funding for cancer research and prevention programs on Capitol Hill. In September 2011, Boyle joined 20 other coaches from the Front Range for a two-day coaching seminar with former Denver Nuggets head coach George Karl, the 2012-13 NBA Coach of the Year.

Boyle and his teams have also participated in a multitude of events. The Buffaloes participated in the 2015 Special Olympics Unified Relay Across America in Boulder. He was the official starter of the 34th Annual Bolder Boulder (May 2012), the largest road race in the United States where all participants are timed and the fifth largest road race in the world.

In December 2012, the men's basketball team visited the Children's Hospital at the Anschutz Medical Campus in Aurora. In December 2011, the team volunteered with the non-profit Share-A-Gift program, an organization helping families of need acquire children's toys for the holidays. Both programs are part of the CU Athletics Leadership Development Program. The program is designed to develop a culture of leadership in which CU student-athletes act with personal responsibility, integrity and accountability while staying committed in both principle and actions to the greater good.

"This is it (my dream job), there's no doubt," Boyle said after being named head coach on April 19, 2010. "I remember talking with (Maryland men's head coach) Mark Turgeon once when he asked me where I wanted to be in 10 years, and I said, the head coach at the University of Colorado. This is a destination job. I'm humbled and honored."

In his first season (2010-11), Boyle began to set the standard for exciting things to come, capping the season with a trip to the World's Most Famous Arena – Madison Square Garden and a National Invitation Tournament semifinal appearance. The Buffaloes won a school-record 24 games, including 18 school-best wins at the CU Events Center, establishing one of the best home court advantages in all of college basketball.

His initial season saw CU rank fifth nationally in free throw percentage (77.8), 12th in scoring (79.6 ppg) and 19th in field goal percentage (47.3).

Boyle earned National Coach of the Week honors (Hoops Report, Jan. 10-16) after leading the Buffs to a 3-0 conference start, including wins over No. 9/8 Missouri and No. 21/20 Kansas State. The win over the Wildcats gave CU its first road win over a nationally ranked opponent since January 1997 (No. 20 Texas Tech). CU defeated four ranked teams, including a 22-point comeback win (second greatest comeback in school history) upsetting No. 5/5 Texas, 91-89.

In year two (2011-12), Boyle became the first CU coach to begin the conference season with back-to-back 3-0 starts, and was the first coach since Frosty Cox (1935-36, 1936-37) to win his conference opener in back-to-back years. He also won his 40th game (home win vs. Oregon) in just 61 games tying Cox (1935-39).

Boyle continued to make most of his "dream job" a reality for CU fans guiding the Buffaloes to the 2011-12 NCAA Tournament (third round), another 24-win season, and a conference championship in its inaugural season of the Pac-12, winning four games in four days at the Staples Center in Los Angeles.

For his efforts, Boyle became the first CU head coach to earn the District 20 Coach of the Year by the National Association of Basketball Coaches (NABC), an award voted among his coaching peers. The 48 wins were a school-best in any two-year span of the program.

In year three (2012-13), Boyle guided the Buffs to another NCAA Tournament appearance, the second year in-a-row, becoming the first CU coach in 50 years to guide the program to back-to-back tournament appearances. CU won 21 games, the third straight season the program eclipsed the 20-win plateau, also a school-first. After the team won their first mid-season tournament since the 2002-03 season, the Charleston Classic, the Buffs reached the nation's Top-25 polls for the first time since 2005-06 (No. 19 AP/ USA Today Coaches' Poll, Nov. 26); AP No. 23 ranked, Nov. 19).

Attendance records also set a brand new high standard as the men's basketball team proved to be the best ticket in town setting a number of school records, including seven sellouts; 12 of 15 home games exceeded 10,000 fans or better, in addition to season total (155,884); season average (10,392); conference total (94,371); and conference average (10,486). The attendance surge ranked third nationally among all Division I programs for largest increased average from the previous year.

Success continued for Boyle and his coaching staff in year four (2013-14) as the Buffs won 23 games, the third most victories in school history. Another NCAA Tournament followed for a school record third consecutive season, in addition setting a pair of attendance records (season total: 173,429; non-conference total: 84,133). The staff enjoyed their best start to a season in four years (14-2 record) with a No. 15 nationally ranking, the highest a CU team has seen since 1997.

In 2014-15, a 16-18 record marked the first time in five years the program failed to notch a winning season, however the Buffaloes reached the College Basketball Invitational (CBI) quarterfinals. The Buffs did defeat NCAA Sweet 16 participant UCLA and the National Invitation Tournament Champion Stanford during the season.

Attendance remained steady for the fifth straight year, finishing with third place numbers across the board in all-time marks in season total, season average, and conference total. Conference average was fourth. Overall, Boyle and his CU teams, hold the top five attendance marks in season and conference total, and conference average since 2010-11; and the four of the top five attendance figures in season average.

The Buffaloes rebounded nicely in 2015-16, sporting a record of 22-12 and finishing in fifth place in the Pac-12 at 10-8. Boyle led Colorado to 11 straight wins during the nonconference schedule, the fifth longest in program history and best run since 1961-62. Colorado's 21 regular season wins tied a school record – joining the 2013-14 and 1996-97 teams – and 22 overall tied for fourth in the school annals. Colorado reached the NCAA Tournament for the fourth time under Boyle.

Boyle's 2016-17 team marked seven-straight years with a postseason tournament appearance; a school record. The Buffaloes were 19-15 overall and 8-10 in the Pac-12, earning a spot in the NIT. Colorado's regular season was highlighted by wins over three ranked teams, inlcuding No. 13/14 Xavier and No. 10/10 Oregon, teams that would eventually end up in the Elite Eight and Final Four respectively.

In 2017-18, Boyle had the youngest team of his tenure, with nine players that had not played a minute in a Buffaloes' uniform prior to the season. He led Colorado to 17 wins, the program's seventh winning season in the last eight years. Last year's young group had some bright moments including back-to-back wins over Top 15 teams for the first time in program history.

In 2018-19, Boyle led Colorado to a 23-13 record, tying for fourth place in the Pac-12 (10-8). The 23 wins tied for the third most in team history and just one off the school record. Boyle's teams now own the top four season win totals in team history and five of the top six.

In 2019-20, Boyle guided to Buffaloes to what undoubtedly would have been a fifth NCAA Tournament appearance during his tenure before the cancelation of the postseason due to the coronavirus pandemic. Colorado spent a school-record 13 weeks in the Associated Press Top 25, peaking at No. 16 in mid February. The Buffaloes ended at 21-11 on the season and ranked No. 25 in the final NCAA Evaluation Tool (NET) ratings.

The bulk of that team returned in 2020-21, and while navagating the continuing effects of the pandemic, put together one of the best seasons in modern CU history. Colorado was 23-9, finished as the Pac-12 Tournament runner-up and advanced to the second round of the NCAA Tournament. The Buffaloes won a school-record 14 conference games and were ranked in both the final AP and Coaches polls for the first time since 1996-97.

With a young team in 2021-22, Boyle led the Buffaloes to their fourth-straight 20-win season, finishing at 21-12, a fourth place finish in the Pac-12 and an appearance

WHAT THEY ARE SAYING …

"Tad has bought back a resurgence to Colorado basketball with his energy and enthusiasm. I am impressed with his knowledge of the game and his ability to communicate to his Buffaloes team."

-– Dick Vitale, ESPN College Basketball Analyst

"Tad has done something few thought possible -- turn Colorado into a basketball school. The Buffaloes have as much of an impact in their new conference as any other team transitioning to a new league and that is a credit to Tad and his staff."

– Andy Katz, NCAA.com Basketball Writer

"I'm a believer in Tad Boyle. He is not only a terrific teacher of the game with great basketball knowledge, he keeps it simple and gives his players an understanding of what you need to do to win, but a firm understanding of how teams lose, too. Boyle has tremendous toughness in him. He is demanding without being demeaning, and he puts his players in position to achieve together without fear of failing. That's what truly outstanding coaches do, and Tad Boyle is a truly outstanding coach."

– Jay Bilas, ESPN College Basketball Analyst

"I've been blessed to work with many hall of fame caliber coaches during my career and I can say without reservation that Tad Boyle is as talented as any coach I've been around! Whether you're talking about X's-and-O's, in-game adjustments, or recruiting...he's the total package. And, best of all...he's an even better human being."

in the Postseason NIT. The 2021-22 campaign capped off a four-year run with 88 wins, second in program history only to his first four-year stretch with 92 wins from 2010-14.

Prior to his arrival to Boulder, Boyle resurrected the basketball program at the University of Northern Colorado, where he guided the Bears to a 56-66 record (.459) the past four seasons, including a breakout season in 2009-10, when the Bears were 25-8 (.758) and finished second in the Big Sky Conference. For his efforts, he was awarded the NABC Division I All-District Coach of the Year, the Big Sky Coach of the Year by both The Sporting News and CollegeInsider.com, where he was also named a finalist for the National Mid-Major Coach of the Year award.

A Greeley, Colo., native, Boyle was named the 17th coach in UNC history on April 25, 2006. At that point, the Bears were in the midst of a transition to Division I in its first season as a member of the Big Sky Conference. Northern Colorado finished 4-24 in his first season when squad finished last nationally in the final RPI rankings for that season. There were, however, flashes of times to come that season, including close losses to both Colorado (88-86) and Colorado State (75-66).

Over the next two seasons at UNC, he improved the team's win total from four to 13 and then 14. The Bears defeated Colorado State, 72-59, in his second season and also knocked off San Diego State, 72-59. The Aztecs were ranked among the nation's top 50 teams in the RPI rankings at that time. In year three, the Bears had improved from one conference win his first season to an even 8-8 mark and earned the school's first Division I post season trip, to the Sun Belt Conference Tournament.

It all came together for Boyle in his fourth season in Greeley, as the Bears advanced to the post season for the first time in school history, advancing to the quarterfinals of the CollegeInsiders.com Tournament while racking up a school record 25 victories. He coached one first-team All-Big Sky member and also the Big Sky Conference Defensive Player of the Year.

Prior to Northern Colorado, he spent six seasons as an assistant coach at Wichita State and was part of another turn around that saw the Shockers improve from 9-19 (.321) his first year there to one of the nation's top mid-major teams in 2006 when Wichita State went 26-9 and advanced to the Sweet 16 of the NCAA Tournament. The Shockers eventually lost to Final Four Cinderella George Mason in the regional semifinals, but not before they had secured the No. 21 ranking in the final collegiate polls.

Boyle played collegiately for legendary coach Larry Brown at Kansas (1981-85). He was a member of two NCAA Tournament teams (1984, 1985) and was part of the 1984 Big Eight Tournament championship squad. As a senior, Boyle captained the Jayhawks, which featured freshman Danny Manning, who three years later led the Jayhawks to the NCAA Championship.

After earning a bachelor of science degree in business administration from Kansas in 1985, Boyle went on to serve six years as a high school basketball coach at various Colorado programs. He was the sophomore basketball coach at Greeley (Colo.) West for a year and then was an assistant coach at Loveland (Colo.) High School for two years.

From there, he served at Longmont (Colo.) High School for three years before returning to the college ranks.

It was at Kansas that Boyle played alongside Turgeon, whom he also coached with at Oregon under Jerry Green. Boyle's first collegiate coaching job in 1994 was on Green's Ducks staff, where he spent three seasons and helped the Ducks to the 1995 NCAA Tournament and the 1997 National Invitational Tournament. In 1997, Boyle followed Green to Tennessee, where he was director of basketball operations when the Vols won 20 games and advanced to the NCAA Tournament.

Boyle reconnected with Turgeon the following year, this time as an assistant coach at Jacksonville State (Ala.), where they helped turn a team that was 8-18 into a 17-11 squad in just one season.

Before heading to play collegiately at Kansas, Boyle was a standout performer at Greeley Central High School, where he led the Wildcats to a state championship as a senior in 1981 and earned Colorado Player of the Year honors as well –as being selected to the Converse All-American team. His high school jersey was retired at the conclusion of his senior season.

Boyle is married to the former Ann Schell of Greeley, and they have two sons, Jack and Pete, and a daughter, Claire.

Mike Rohn is in his 13th year as a coach and head recruiting coordinator with the University of Colorado men's basketball program. He was elevated from assistant to associate head coach on Oct. 18, 2017.

Rohn, who has been with Tad Boyle from the beginning, is an integral part of the coaching staff that has re-energized the basketball program to national prominence and continues to do so each and every year.

During Rohn's tenure in Boulder, the Buffaloes' have accumulated 254 victories, seven shy of becoming the winningest staff in team history. In addition he has helped guide the Buffaloes to postseason appearances in 10 of 11 seasons (there was no postseason in 2020 due to the coronavirus pandemic), including seven in a row (2010-17), a program first.

"One of the steadiest people I have ever worked with," CU head coach Tad Boyle said. "Mike is the ultimate grinder; works extremely hard and he's a guy that thinks, a forward-thinker. He's ready to be a head coach. He has all the tools in what it takes to be a head coach, and is invaluable to our staff, and to me."

Rohn has helped Colorado five NCAA Tournament appearances, including a program-best three consecutive trips from 2012-14.

Rohn has helped build the CU Events Center into a dominant home court advantage, making the Buffs' one of the most feared arenas to play in with a 12-year mark of 164-34 (.828).

As the recruiting coordinator, Rohn helped deliver the 13th ranked recruiting class in the nation, and best in the Pac-12, in 2021 according to 247Sports.com. Rivals had the 2021 class ranked 15th. It was Colorado's second Top 25 nationally ranked class in the last five years as the 2017 class was ranked 25th according to Rivals and Scout. That 2017 class would end up with four 1,000 point scorers.

The groundwork of the program's success was built during the first two years where Rohn assisted with back-to-back 24-win campaigns of 2010-11 and 2011-12. The 24 victories continue to be a school record for victories in a single-season. The 24 wins in his first season were part of CU's run to the NIT semifinals at Madison Square Garden in New York City, the school's last year in the Big 12 Conference.

The following year (2011-12), the program equaled another 24 victories, CU's first year in the Pac-12 Conference. The Buffaloes became just the 10th team in the nation to win at least four games in four days to capture the tournament title at the inaugural conference tournament. The tournament title was the Buffaloes first since winning the Big 8 in 1968-69.

With the automatic tournament berth, CU earned its first NCAA Tournament appearance since 2002-03 and saw the Buffs upset No. 6 UNLV in the first round.

Another successful season followed in 2012-13 (21 wins), where Rohn and the Buffs earned back-to-back NCAA Tournament berths for the first time in 50 years (1961-62 & 1962-63). The following year (2013-14), another NCAA Tournament followed with 23 wins, setting a school record with three consecutive NCAA Tourney appearances and four-straight 20-winning seasons.

The 2013-14 campaign saw CU register 23 wins, the third-most victories in school history. That CU team also tallied a third place finish in the final Pac-12 Conference standings, the program's highest placing in 18 years.

After a 16-18 campaign, and a trip to the CBI Quarterfinals in 2014-15, Colorado rebounded with its fifth 20-win season in six years in 2015-16. The Buffaloes sported a record of 22-12 and finished fifth in the Pac-12 at 10-8. Rohn helped Colorado to 11 straight wins during the nonconference schedule, the fifth longest in program history and best run since 1961-62. Colorado's 21 regular season wins tied a school record – joining the 2013-14 and 1996-97 teams – and 22 overall tied for fourth in the school annals.

Colorado made its seventh-straight postseason appearance in 2016-17 with a 19-15 overall record and a berth in the NIT.

In 2017-18, Colorado had the youngest team of his tenure, with nine players that had not played a minute in a Buffaloes' uniform prior to the season. He helped Colorado to 17 wins, the program's seventh winning season in the last eight years. This young group had some bright moments including back-to-back wins over Top 15 teams for the first time in program history

That core group returned in 2018-19 finishing with a 23-13 record, advancing to the NIT Quarterfinals. The 23 wins tied for the third most in team history and just one off the school record. Rohn has now been part of the top four season win totals in team history and five of the top six.

In 2020-21, Rohn helped the Buffaloes to a 21-11 mark, and what would have certainly been a fifth NCAA Tournament appearance during his tenure before the postseason was canceled due to the coronavirus pandemic. Colorado was ranked for a school-record 13 weeks in 2019-20, peaking at No. 16 in mid February.

The bulk of that team returned in 2020-21, and while navagating the continuing effects of the pandemic, put together one of the best seasons in modern CU history. Colorado was 23-9, finished as the Pac-12 Tournament runner-up and advanced to the second round of the NCAA Tournament. The Buffaloes won a school-record 14 conference games and were ranked in both the final AP and Coaches polls for the first time since 1996-97.

With a young team in 2021-22, Rohn helped guide the Buffaloes to their fourth-straight 20-win season, finishing at 21-12, a fourth place finish in the Pac-12 and an appearance in the Postseason NIT. The 2021-22 campaign capped off a four-year run with 88 wins, second in program history only to his first four-year stretch with 92 wins from 2010-14.

During his 12 years in Boulder, Rohn has mentored nine former CU student-athlete standouts who have made NBA rosters and 27 who have continued their professional careers overseas.

Alec Burks, a sophomore, was CU's second-ever lottery pick and selected No. 12 overall by the Utah Jazz in the 2011 NBA Draft; Andre Roberson left after his junior year, was the No. 26 overall selection by the Minnesota Timberwolves in 2013 (later traded to Oklahoma City).

Spencer Dinwiddie, also a junior, was drafted by the Detroit Pistons in the 2014 NBA Draft (second round, No. 38 overall); and Cory Higgins, the school's all-time co-leader in points, played with the Charlotte Bobcats during the 2011-12 season.

Colorado has been represented in four of the last six NBA Drafts with Derrick White in 2017 (San Antonio), George King in 2018 (Phoenix), Tyler Bey in 2020 (Philadelphia, traded to Dallas) and Jabari Walker in 2022 (Portland)

Rohn has also coached a number of CU student-athletes to conference excellence.

In 2010-11, Burks was a Wooden Award Top-20 finalist and unanimous All-Big 12 first team selection; Levi Knutson was the Big 12 Conference Sixth Man of the Year, and Higgins was All-Big 12 third team.

In CU's first year of the Pac-12, Roberson (first team, All-Defensive, All-Tournament team), Carlon Brown (second team, tournament's Most Outstanding Player), and Dinwiddie (freshman team) garnered all-Conference honors.

In year two of the conference, Roberson (first team, Defensive Player of the Year, All-Defensive team); Dinwiddie (first team) and Josh Scott (All-Freshman team) earned post-season accolades, and in year three, Scott continued CU's prominence among the elite Pac-12 Conference players selected to the first team.

Scott repeated his all-conference honor in 2015-16 and was a finalist for the Kareem Abdul-Jabbar Award, given to the nation's best big man. Scott was also on the Pac-12 All-Defensive team while front-court mate Wesley Gordon earned honorable mention. George King was named the Pac-12's Most Improved Player of the Year.

White earned 2017 All-Pac-12 First Team honors while also being selected to the league's All-Defense team.

King was named to the 2018 All-Pac-12 Second Team. McKinley Wright IV was a Pac-12 All-Freshman Team member while earning honorable mention to the overall All-Conference and All-Defensive teams.

Wright would go on to be a three-time All-Pac-12 First Team selection. Tyler Bey was the 2019-20 Pac-12 Defensive Player of the Year while earning a pair of all-conference honors.

In August 2014, Rohn was the head coach the Athletes In Action team, a school-first for any CU assistant. AIA is a worldwide Christian sports organization was also comprised of then-CU sophomore Tre'Shaun Fletcher and other college basketball players from around the nation embarking on an eight-day Baltic tour of Russia. Team USA won three of four games against professional competition.

Prior to his arrival to Boulder, Rohn spent the three years as the director of basketball operations at Texas A&M (2007-10) where he was part of the coaching staff that helped the Aggies to a trio of NCAA Tournament Round of 32 appearances. During those three years in College Station, the Aggies won 73 games, in addition to 28 Big 12 Conference games. A&M also led the conference in scoring defense (65.8 ppg.) for the first time in league history during the 2009-10 campaign.

During the 2009-10 season, Rohn helped the development of current NBA players Deandre Jordan, Kris Middleton, and Donald Sloan.

At Wichita State, where Rohn spent seven years (2000-07) as an assistant coach to Mark Turgeon, in addition with current CU Associate Head Coach, Jean Prioleau, the Shockers engineered an impressive resume, earning three-straight NIT trips (2003, 2004, 2005). During the 2005-06 season, the Shockers not only won their first Missouri Valley Conference championship in 19 years, they capped off a 26-9 record with a 2006 NCAA Tournament berth and a Sweet 16 appearance, a school-first in 18 years.

Rohn also helped coach fifth-year student-athlete Paul Miller cap off one of the best careers of any Shocker center by being named the MVC Player of the Year, the first Shocker to earn the award in 21 years, in addition to Jamar Howard (Missouri Valley Conference Defensive Player of the Year).

Prior to Wichita State, Rohn served three seasons as head coach from 1996-2000 at Dodge City (Kan.) Community College, where he built a 55-38 record and coached the Conquistadors to three consecutive state playoff appearances, including a 21-10 mark in 1999-2000. Rohn was also an assistant coach at Dodge City from 1993-96. In 1997, Dodge City was crowned the 1997 Jayhawk West Conference Champions.

Rohn was a graduate assistant coach at Fort Hays State (1991-93) while earning a master's degree in sports administration and coaching. He earned a bachelor's degree in physical education in 1990 from McPherson College, where he was a two-time all-conference selection. There he was named the league's newcomer of the year as a junior and was the conference player of the year as a senior. He also was named McPherson's Male Athlete of the Year in 1989. On Oct. 11, 2019, Rohn was inducted into the McPherson College Athletics Hall of Fame.

He also served as an assistant coach at Colby Community College (1990-91) and at his alma mater, McPherson College (1989-1990). Rohn transferred to McPherson after playing two seasons at Dodge City Community College.

Rohn, and his wife, Stephanie, have two daughters, Raegen and Rylee.

COACHING CAREER

Assistant Coach, University of Colorado

2015-16
Assistant Coach, Oklahoma State University

2007-15
Head Coach, University of San Diego

1992-2007
Assistant Coach, Gonzaga University

1990-91
Head Coach, Creswell (Ore.) High School

Bill Grier is in his seventh season as an assistant coach for the University of Colorado's men's basketball team.

Grier has helped coach the Buffaloes to 124 wins over his first six seasons which has included four-straight 20-win campaigns. Colorado has advanced to three Postseason NIT events during his tenure and the 2021 NCAA Tournament, which would have been two-straight if not for the 2020 event being canceled due to COVID-19.

Eight Buffaloes have earned All-Pac-12 Conference honors in Grier's first six seasons. He helped mentor McKinley Wright IV to three of those honors from 2018-21. Tyler Bey was the 2019-20 Pac-12 Defensive Player of the Year while earning a pair of all-conference honors. Jabari Walker (2021-22) and Derrick White (2016-17) were First Team picks while Evan Battey (2021-22) and George King (2017-18) were Second Team selections.

In his first season, Grier helped the Buffaloes to a 19-15 overall record and a spot in the 2017 Postseason NIT. It was Colorado's seventh-straight postseason appearance; a school record. The Buffaloes' regular season was highlighted by wins over three ranked teams, including No. 13/14 Xavier and No. 10/10 Oregon, who would eventually advance to the 2017 NCAA Elite Eight and Final Four respectively.

In his second season, he helped guide a young Buffaloes' team to 17 wins. Despite suiting up nine players who had never played a minute in a Colorado uniform prior to the season, the Buffaloes earned their seventh winning season in the last eight years which included back-to-back wins over ranked teams for the first time in team history.

That core group returned in 2018-19 finishing with a 23-13 record, advancing to the NIT Quarterfinals. The 23 wins tied for the third most in team history and just one off the school record.

In 2020-21, Grier helped the Buffaloes to a 21-11 mark, and what would have certainly been an NCAA Tournament appearance before the postseason was canceled due to the coronavirus pandemic. Colorado was ranked for a school-record 13 weeks in 2019-20, peaking at No. 16 in mid February.

The bulk of that team returned in 2020-21, and while navagating the continuing effects of the pandemic, put together one of the best seasons in modern CU history. Colorado was 23-9, finished as the Pac-12 Tournament runner-up and advanced to the second round of the NCAA Tournament. The Buffaloes won a school-record 14 conference games and were ranked in both the final AP and Coaches polls for the first time since 1996-97.

With a young team in 2021-22, Grier helped guide the Buffaloes to their fourth-straight 20-win season, finishing at 21-12, a fourth place finish in the Pac-12 and an appearance in the Postseason NIT. The 2021-22 campaign capped off a four-year run with 88 wins, second in program history (92 from 2010-14).

"We're fortunate to have a guy like Bill Grier to our coaching staff because he brings a wealth of experience," Boyle said. "Most importantly he has recruiting contacts on the west coast, and internationally. He's one of those guys that I knew if I ever had an opening on our staff, he was a guy that I wanted to go after…we're lucky to have him."

Colorado has been represented in four of the last six NBA Drafts with Derrick White in 2017 (San Antonio), George King in 2018 (Phoenix), Tyler Bey in 2020 (Philadelphia, traded to Dallas) and Jabari Walker in 2022 (Portland).

Grier gives Colorado an extra asset in West Coast recruiting. An Oregon native, Grier is in his 30th season as a collegiate coach, with 24 years spent in Washington and Southern California. That expertise was noted in the fall of 2017 as Colorado was able to secure a Top 25 recruiting class according to Rivals and Scout.

Grier won 117 games in eight seasons as the head coach at San Diego (2007-15) and played an integral role in Gonzaga's rise to prominence in 15 years as an assistant with the Bulldogs (1992-2007). Most recently, Grier spent the 2015-16 season as an assistant coach at Oklahoma State.

The span of his experience, from serving as an assistant on a top-level program, to being head coach, to spending a year in the Big 12 Conference, enhances the abilities of the Colorado coaching staff.

"Anytime you have the opportunity to hire a former head coach it's a plus," Boyle said. "It's not a requirement to be a good assistant, but I think when guys have been head coaches and then they become assistant coaches they're better assistant coaches because they understand what the head coach is going through; they understand the issues, they understand the decisions that have to be made."

Now residing in Colorado, it gives his family a sense of home being back in the west. He grew up in Oregon and met his wife, Nicole, in Spokane where they lived before moving to San Diego. Colorado is a place the Grier's are thrilled about to raise their two daughters, Giselle and Ashley.

"My wife is from Montana, we met in Spokane," Grier said. "We like that Colorado, Boulder, is that type of setting that we've become so accustomed to. I'm really excited for our children to be in that environment."

Grier led the Toreros to the 2008 West Coast Conference Tournament championship, and rode that momentum into the NCAA Tournament with a first-round upset of No. 4 seed Connecticut - the only NCAA Tournament win in school history.

He led San Diego to six wins over top 25 teams, took down Kentucky in Rupp Arena and racked up eight All-West Coast Conference selections and nine WCC All-Academic Team nods during his tenure. In 2014, the Toreros advanced to the quarterfinals of the CollegeInsider.com Tournament.

Grier finished his time in San Diego with a 117-144 record, including 51 WCC wins, which ranks 24th in the conference's history.

During his time at Gonzaga as the program's defensive coordinator, the Bulldogs led the WCC in field goal percentage defense six times, including the third best mark in the nation in 2004.

Grier served as the recruiting director for his last 10 years with the Zags, and his 2007 class was the program's best to that point. That class ranked 11th in the nation by Rivals, and boasted four recruits among the top-100 in the country.

"He was extremely well prepared and you could tell that in his practice and game preparations," said Dan Dickau, former WCC Player of the Year at Gonzaga and current Pac-12 Network analyst. "He's a guy that knows how to relate to coaches and players; parents during the recruiting process…a great hire by Boyle."

Grier also successfully developed both post players (1997-2003) and perimeter players (2003-2007). Post players Bakari Hendrix (1998) and Casey Calvary (2001) were both WCC Players of the Year. Perimeter players he worked with included Derek Raivio (2007), the WCC Player of the Year; Adam Morrison (2006), a First Team All-American and WCC Player of the Year; and Blake Stepp (2004), a Second Team All-American and two-time WCC Player of the Year.

"He is one heck of a basketball mind," said Gonzaga head coach Mark Few, prior to Grier's appointment to Oklahoma State. "Bill is hard working and loyal, and he played a huge part in building Gonzaga basketball to where it is now. I leaned on him heavily up here at Gonzaga, especially on the defensive side of the floor. When he went to San Diego he really evolved on the offensive side, and did some special things with those teams. Bill is an unbelievable student of the game who is always looking to learn and get better."

Graduate Assistant Coach, Nebraska-Omaha

Rick Ray is in his third season as an assistant coach for the University of Colorado men's basketball team, joining the program on July 20, 2020.

His first season in Boulder was memorable to say the least. The Buffaloes navigated through the COVID-19 pandemic, managing to achieve one of the best seasons in team history. Colorado finished 23-9 overall and third in the Pac-12 Conference at 14-6. The Buffaloes were the runner up at the 2021 Pac-12 Tournament and advanced to the second round of the NCAA Tournament as a No. 5 seed - the best in program history.

With a young team in 2021-22, Ray helped guide the Buffaloes to their fourth-straight 20-win season, finishing at 21-12, a fourth place finish in the Pac-12 and an appearance in the Postseason NIT. The 2021-22 campaign capped off a four-year run with 88 wins, second in program history (92 from 2010-14).

Ray helped coach McKinley Wright IV to All-Pac-12, All-District and honorable mention All-America honors. He also helped the Buffaloes bring in the 13th ranked recruiting class in the nation, and best in the Pac-12, in 2021 according to 247Sports.com.

Ray has 25 years of experience coaching at the NCAA Division I level, including eight as a head coach. Prior to coming to Colorado, he spent five years as head coach at Southeast Missouri State (2015-20) after initially joining the head coaching ranks at Mississippi State from 2012-15.

"I have a ton of respect for coach Boyle and what he's done at CU," Ray said. "He's well renown in this business for doing it the right way. I want to work for people in that same ilk; Brad Brownell (Clemson head coach), Matt Painter (Purdue head coach), just reminds me of those guys who do it the right way and are in it for the right reasons."

Boyle has known Ray for more than two decades, dating back to their days as assistant coaches in the Missouri Valley Conference; Boyle at Wichita State and Ray at Indiana State in the early 2000s.

"He's a tremendous coach on every level," Boyle said. "He can teach the game, knows the game, recruits and builds relationships with players. We are very fortunate to be able to bring him on board."

Ray brings a wealth of relationships and recruiting experience in the Southeast and Midwest, and now turns his attention to the Mountains, and West, of the Pac-12 Conference.

"I'm in this business to help young men," Ray said. "I'm there to help them on and off court. I want (the players) to know there's no ego, I'm humble, I just want them to reach their goals and dreams in classroom and on the court. Recruiting is about relationships. I'm a person who is honest and truthful to recruits and parents and people appreciate that."

Ray's best year at SEMO came in his second season (2016-17) where he led the Redhawks to 10 more wins than the year before, ranking 22nd among Most Improved Teams in NCAA I. SEMO finished at 15-18 and second in the Ohio Valley Conference West Division with a 9-7 record after going 5-24 and placing last in the league in 2015-16.

His three-year tenure at Mississippi State was highlighted by the development of two All-SEC Freshmen in Craig Sword and Gavin Ware, as his recruiting classes received national attention. Ray also led the Bulldogs to a pair of SEC Tournament wins including an upset over Vanderbilt in 2014.

Before embarking on his first head coaching position with MSU, Ray was an assistant coach, or associate head coach, at four schools over 15 seasons. During that span Ray's teams went to seven NCAA Tournaments, including a pair of Sweet 16 appearances.

Ray spent two seasons at Clemson (2010-12), where he was the associate head coach. Ray also spent four successful years on the staff at Purdue (2006-10) and two seasons at Northern Illinois (2004-06). He began his Division I coaching career at Indiana State, serving seven seasons (1997-2004).

All three programs participated in the NCAA Tournament.

While at Clemson coaching in the highly-competitive Atlantic Coast Conference, the Tigers won 38 games during Ray's two-year stint as associate head coach. In 2010-11, the Tigers finished the year with a 22-12 overall record and 9-7 mark in the ACC en route to making the NCAA Tournament for the fourth-straight season. Clemson advanced to the second round of the tournament that year.

Ray was an assistant coach from 2006-10 under Painter at Purdue, where the Boilermakers won 103 games during his first four years on staff, including 15 victories over Top 25 competition. During his tenure, Purdue advanced to the NCAA Tournament each season and made the Sweet 16 his last two years there.

In 2009, the Boilermakers won the Big Ten Tournament and secured a No. 5 seed in the NCAA Tournament. A year later, Ray helped the Boilermakers to 29 wins, tied for the most in Purdue history for a single season. Purdue earned a No. 4 seed and lost in the round of 16 to eventual NCAA champion Duke during the 2010 NCAA Tournament.

Ray was part of the 2006-07 Purdue staff that signed arguably the top class in school history, a group that was rated No. 5 nationally by Scout.com and No. 6 by Rivals.com. That class included All-Americans Robbie Hummel and JaJuan Johnson and current NBA player E'Twaun Moore.

While at Purdue, Ray was on Painter's staff that also included Cuonzo Martin (Missouri head coach) and Paul Lusk (former head coach at Missouri State).

Ray coached at Missouri Valley Conference member Indiana State for a period of seven years (1997-2004), helping ISU to consecutive 20 -win seasons and NCAA Tournament appearances in 1999-2000 and 2000-01. In 1999-2000, the Sycamores compiled a 14-4 record in the MVC and won the regular season title. ISU then won the MVC Tournament the following season. The Sycamores later upset No. 4 seed Oklahoma in the first round of the 2001 NCAA Tournament. In addition, Ray was part of the ISU staff that defeated perennial power Indiana in back-to-back seasons.

Following his time at ISU, Ray spent two seasons (2004-06) as an assistant coach and recruiting coordinator at Northern Illinois. In 2005-06, the Huskies were regular season Western Division champions in the Mid-American Conference for the first time in school history with a 17-11 overall record and 12-6 ledger in the MAC.

Ray began his coaching career as a graduate assistant at the University of Nebraska-Omaha, a Division II program. He helped orchestrate a seven-win turnaround during his second season in 1996-97.

A standout player for Grand View College (Iowa), Ray was an All-American Scholar-Athlete and honorable mention all-conference performer in 1993. He earned his undergraduate degree in applied mathematics and secondary education from Grand View in 1994. Ray received his master's degree in athletic administration from Nebraska-Omaha in 1997.

In 2013, he was the recipient of Grand View's Distinguished Alumni Award.

DIRECTOR OF BASKETBALL OPERATIONS BILL CARTUN

Bill Cartun is in his 13th year with the University of Colorado men's basketball staff and his 11th as the Director of Basketball Operations.

Cartun is responsible for directing the day-to-day operations of the basketball program, overseeing the budget, and coordinating team travel and video. He also serves as the camp director of the CU basketball summer camps, which continues to grow with record numbers each and every summer.

In addition to his operation duties, Cartun is also the team's video coordinator, supervising all aspects of the team's film and video needs, including opponent scouting, coordinating film exchange, managing the video room and supplying the coaching staff with game film.

"Bill is very dependable and continues to branch out in his roles on our staff with the operations and team travel, along with his video coordination ability," said CU head coach Tad Boyle. "Bill's the best video guy I have ever been around in the business; very dependable and handles a lot of details in our office. He continues to develop and grow as a coach."

Prior to coming to the Boulder campus, Cartun spent three years (2007-10) with the Charlotte Bobcats of the NBA as the basketball operations assistant and assistant video coordinator. With the Bobcats, he prepared video scouting edits for the coaches and players, scouted collegiate talent, and assisted in NBA draft preparation.

He is a 2005 graduate of Bates College where he received his bachelor's degree in economics. Cartun earned a master's degree in sport management from the University of Connecticut in 2007. While at UConn he worked with the men's basketball team as a student assistant.

Cartun is a 2000 graduate of Avon High School in Avon, Conn., where he was a two-time all-State basketball selection. After high school he did a post graduate year at Cheshire Academy in Cheshire, Conn.

Cartun, his wife Ashley and their daughters Julianna and Finley, reside in Superior.

DIRECTOR OF PLAYER DEVELOPMENT ZACH RUEBESAM

Zach Ruebesam is in his second season as Director of Player Development for the University of Colorado men's basketball team, joining the program on Sept. 13, 2021.

A Colorado native and CU Boulder graduate, Ruebesam was a student manager for the Buffaloes from 2012-16, serving as the head student manager for the last three of those seasons. During that span, Colorado advanced to the NCAA Tournament three times (2013, '14 & '16), winning at least 20 games in each of those seasons.

He earned his bachelor's degree in Business Management with a minor in Leadership Studies from CU in 2016 and received his master's degree in Sports Coaching from Denver in 2018.

Ruebesam was an assistant coach for Team Colorado, the Buffaloes alumni squad in the The Basketball Tournament, in 2019 and was slated to be the head coach for 2021 before the team backed out due to COVID-19 issues.

Ruebesam spent two seasons as an assistant men's basketball coach on Dan Ficke's staff at Belmont Abbey, an NCAA Division II school in Belmont, N.C., helping lead the Crusaders to a 39-15 record and two NCAA Tournament berths.

In 2020-21, Belmont Abbey was 18-5 overall and finished second in the in the Carolinas Conference with a record of 13-4. The Crusaders won the Carolinas Conference Tournament and claimed the NCAA Southeast Region's No. 1 seed, advancing to the semifinal round.

Ruebesam served as the team's recruiting coordinator in 2020-21 and primarily worked with the guards. In his first season, he worked with the bigs while serving as the head coach of the program's development team.

In 2019-20, Belmont Abbey was 21-10 overall and runner up in the Carolinas Conference. The Crusaders were set to be the No. 8 seed in the Southeast Region before the tournament was cancelled due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

Prior to Belmont Abbey, Ruebesam spent three years on staff at the University of Denver under former CU assistant coach Rodney Billups. Ruebesam was the Director of Player Development at DU for the 2018-19 season. He assumed the role of director of operations leading into the 2019-20 season, but when Ficke, who at the time was a DU assistant, took the job at Belmont Abbey, Ruebesam went with him as an assistant coach. He was a graduate manager for the Pioneers his first two seasons while completing his master's degree.

Ruebesam served as the National Association of Basketball Coaches (NABC) Stay in to Win Coordinator for the DU men's basketball program.

Scott Wilke
KOA Radio Analyst

Scott Wilke enters his 10th year as the analyst for CU Basketball. Wilke left his mark on the CU record book from 1984-88 averaging 12.4 points and 5.2 rebounds per game. Entering the 2016-17 season, Wilke continues to rank in a number of categories, including No. 9 in field goal percentage (.536), No. 15 in scoring (1,366) and No. 26 in rebounding (576). After college, Wilke played professional basketball for 12 years in Europe, including five years in England, and three years in Luxembourg. He also played in Australia, Japan, Austria, and Finland. Wilke is in his 17th year at Horizon High School in Thornton, where he teaches business and marketing courses. He's also an advisor for DECA and FBLA (co-curricular clubs). Wilke graduated with a bachelor's degree in business from CU in 1988 and earned a master's degree in business administration through Bellevue University (Nebraska) in 2006. Wilke and his wife, Susan, have two sons, Alex, a May 2014 CU graduate; Jax and a daughter, Phoenix.

BOULDER — Colorado coach Tad Boyle knew his young Buffaloes would endure some growing pains this season.

But his Buffs barely escaped a very painful season opener Tuesday, overcoming a 13-point second-half deficit to force overtime, then outscoring Montana State 14-10 in the extra period for a 94-90 victory at the CU Events Center.

Keeshawn Barthelemy led five Buffs in double figures with 19 points. Elijah Parquet added 17 and Evan Battey, despite playing with foul trouble for much of the game, finished with 16 points. Jabari Walker chipped in 14 and Nique Clifford scored 11 off the bench and added nine rebounds.

Abdul Mohamed and Jubile Belo each had 16 points for MSU.

CU built a seven-point lead early in the game, but foul trouble, turnovers and some defensive lapses allowed the Bobcats to take a 38-35 lead into intermission.

CU's troubles continued early in the second half, as Montana State built a 13-point lead, 51-38. But CU slowly chipped away at the lead and went ahead with just under three minutes to play before Montana State regained a five-point advantage with less than a minute remaining in regulation.

But Battey hit two free throws, MSU missed the front end of a one-and-one and Parquet hit maybe the biggest shot of the game, a 3-pointer off an assist from Walker to tie the game at 80-80 and send it to overtime.

CU scored the first five points of the extra period, with Battey tallying the first bucket and Parquet adding a free throw and basket to put CU in control for good.

HOW IT HAPPENED: The Buffs started strong, hitting their first six field goal tries, including four 3-pointers, to take a 20-13 lead nine minutes in.

But from that point on, things went south. Montana State slowly chipped away at the lead as the Buffs committed some critical turnovers and also ran into foul trouble inside. Battey played just six minutes in the first half after two early fouls, and freshman Lawson Lovering was whistled for his second soon thereafter.

That opened up the paint for the Bobcats and they took advantage. MSU finally tied the game at 33-33 late in the first half on a RaeQuan Battle dunk, then took the lead with 37 seconds left in the half on another dunk. CU momentarily tied the game at 35-35, but Battle hit a 3-pointer at the buzzer on an inbounds play and the Buffs trailed by three at intermission, 38-35.

CU's woes continued in the opening minutes of the second half. Battey drew his third foul early in the period and Lovering was whistled for his fourth and fifth soon thereafter. That opened the door for an 11-1 MSU run and Colorado trailed by 13 points, 51-38, less than four minutes into the half.

But the Buffs' defense finally started to kick in. Colorado managed to cut the deficit back to single digits at several junctures over the next eight minutes, then put together an 11-2 run to close the deficit to one, 70-69, with just more than five minutes to play.

Tristan da Silva started the 11-2 run with a bucket inside before Walker scored on a drive. Clifford then hit two free throws and Barthelemy hit a layup to cut MSU's lead to 68-66.

MSU temporarily stopped the run with a Belo bucket, but Walker added a three-point play with 5:05 to go to pull CU within one, 70-69.

The Bobcats then hit a 3-pointer to extend their lead to four, but Colorado came back again and finally took the lead.

Battey hit a jumper at the 4:25 mark to pull CU within two before Walker had a nice assist to Clifford, who cashed in a dunk to tie the game at 73-73. Parquet then hit two free throws with just under three to play and Colorado had a 75-73 lead.

But the Bobcats responded with five straight points to go up 78-75 with 1:44 to play, then pushed their lead to five with 53 seconds remaining, 80-75.

The Buffs, though, had one more rally in their pocket. Battey hit two free throws to cut the deficit to three before MSU's Xavier Bishop missed the front end of a one-and-one free throw opportunity. Parquet then drained a 3-pointer off a great assist from Walker to tie the game at 80-80 with 18 seconds remaining.

MSU called a timeout with 10 seconds remaining on the ensuing possession, but turned the ball over under the basket to send the game into overtime.

Battey finally gave the Buffs the lead for good early in the overtime period, scoring inside after an offensive rebound by Barthelemy. Parquet hit one of two free throws before he grabbed an offensive rebound and scored after an MSU miss, giving CU an 85-80 lead with 2:30 to play.

Colorado then pushed its lead to 91-82 in the final minute of overtime before MSU made a late push with five straight points. But Barthelemy hit two free throws with 13 seconds remaining to give CU a 93-87 lead and Parquet hit one more free throw after an MSU 3-pointer to wrap up the 94-90 win.

BOULDER -- Tad Boyle's Colorado Buffaloes battled down the stretch and held on for an 87-76 victory over the New Mexico Lobos in front of an energetic CU Events Center crowd of 7,115 Saturday afternoon.

Sophomore Keeshawn Barthelemy led the Buffs with 20 points on 3-of-4 shooting from behind the arc. Sophomore Jabari Walker finished with a double-double, notching 17 points and leading the team with 10 boards. Senior Evan Battey tacked on 16 points of his own and was a perfect 2-2 from 3-point range.

Jaelen House led the Lobos in scoring with 22.

Colorado led by as many as nine in the first half and Barthelemy's 14 first half points aided the Buffs as they held a 42-36 lead at intermission.

The Buffs struggled early in the second half and the Lobos were able to keep themselves in the game. New Mexico was within one, 60-59 with just under 10 minutes left, but the margin never got closer than that the rest of the way.

Later in the period, New Mexico was hit with a major blow when House was called for his fifth foul and he was done for the afternoon. Shortly after the call, Colorado's lead was at just three points, 77-74. The Buffs dominated from there, and took advantage of the Lobos being without their leading scorer as Battey hit a driving layup to spark a 10-2 CU run. With just under a minute left, Walker met New Mexico's Jay Allen-Tovar at the rim and came up with a huge block to seal the victory for the Buffs.

HOW IT HAPPENED: The Buffs started off slow and struggled to make shots as the Lobos held a slight 15-14 edge nine minutes in.

From there, Colorado began to build some momentum and schemed together an 11-2 run to take a 28-21 lead late in the first half. The Lobos responded with a 10-3 run of their own capped off by a three on the right wing by House to level things at 31 a piece.

Following a Colorado timeout, Barthelemy and Battey nailed back-to-back 3-pointers to help the Buffs take a 42-36 lead at halftime.

The Buffs got off to a sluggish start in the second period, turning the ball over on their first three possessions and allowing the Lobos to shrink the CU lead to just one, 42-41.

Colorado settled down, and after a pull-up jumper from Nique Clifford, the Buffs were the first to hit the 50-point mark and took a 50-45 lead into the first media timeout.

Out of the break, House hit a three and then stripped Barthelemy on the following position en route to a 9-2 run by the Lobos.

Lawson Lovering halted the Lobo run with a two underneath. Following a pull-up jumper from Elijah Parquet, Lovering slammed home a dunk off a feed from Barthelemy to give CU a 60-56 advantage with just under 11 minutes to go.

Back-to-back turnovers from the Buffs out of the second media timeout helped the Lobos cut the Buffalo lead to 60-59. Then a bucket from K.J. Simpson and a driving dunk from Tristan da Silva gave CU a 65-59 advantage with just under eight minutes left.

The Buffs stretched their lead to eight after a step-back two by Battey just inside the 3-point line. Just when it seemed the Buffs were going to pull away, the Lobos' Javonte Johnson drilled a left corner three to make it a five point, 70-65 game.

Barthelemy took over from there, hitting a floater on the right baseline, sinking two free throws and then coming up with a huge steal at the four-minute mark with the score at 74-69.

New Mexico's Johnson hit a pair of threes and Battey hit a hook shot to make the CU lead 76-71. Following a New Mexico three, the Lobos leading scorer, House, fouled Parquet for his fifth foul and was out for the rest of the game with 2:25 left to play.

Parquet hit one-of-two from the line and then Mashburn hit a layup and a free throw for the Lobos to make it a three point, 77-74 CU lead.

Battey then came up with a huge play, splitting two Lobo defenders and finishing at the hole. This gave the Buffs the momentum they needed down the stretch, and after a block from Walker with under a minute left, Colorado held the Lobos at bay the rest of the way.

BOULDER — Colorado's Keeshawn Barthelemy scored a career-high 22 points and the Buffaloes recovered from a slow start Monday night to roll to a 90-46 win over Maine at the CU Events Center.

Tad Boyle's Buffs improved to 3-0 while the Black Bears dropped to 1-2.

Barthelemy scored his 22 points on 9-for-12 shooting in 23 minutes on the floor. Jabari Walker had 15 points and six rebounds for CU and Nique Clifford added 10 points. Evan Battey and Lawson Lovering shared CU's rebounding lead with seven each.

Vukasin Masic led Maine with 11 points.

After falling behind early, the Buffs built a 46-29 lead at the half, then outscored Maine 44-17 in the second half.

Colorado dominated virtually every statistical category. The Buffs had a 45-23 edge on the boards and held Maine to only four offensive rebounds. Colorado finished with just 10 turnovers, including just one by Barthelemy, who had seven in last weekend's win over New Mexico, and forced 17 Maine turnovers, which CU converted into 25 points.

Colorado also held Maine to just 33 percent shooting from the floor (16-for-49) while the Buffs shot 54 percent (31-for-57).

"Not a nail-biter tonight, thank goodness," said Boyle, whose team went to overtime to win its opener over Montana State, then fought off New Mexico down the stretch for its second win. "I thought our guys took about eight minutes to kind of wake up and figure out that part of the game plan was defensive pressure and intensity. I was pretty pleased with that for 32 minutes, but we're still trying to figure out a 40-minute game … But overall, I'm pleased."

HOW IT HAPPENED: The Buffs were a bit sluggish out of the gate and the Black Bears took a 13-12 lead seven minutes in.

But Colorado finally turned up the defensive pressure with some full-court pressure, and that ignited the offense. A Barthelemy dunk with 8:39 left in the half broke a 15-15 tie and the Buffs never trailed again.

"Our defensive intensity from the get-go has to get better," Barthelemy said. "We just lacked energy and the press helped us get some stops and some steals and we got some baskets and that got us going."

Colorado pushed its lead to 25-17 before Maine cut the margin to 25-22, but CU responded with an 8-0 run to take control for good.

Clifford started the surge with a 3-pointer and Barthelemy followed with another trey. Tristan da Silva then rolled in a layup to give CU its first double-digit lead of the game, a 33-22 edge with 3:33 to play.

The Buffs continued to build their cushion, finally taking a 46-29 lead into intermission after outscoring the Black Bears 31-14 over the last nine minutes of the half.

The second half was all Colorado. After Maine opened the period with a 3-pointer, the Buffs put together a 14-0 run that saw CU record eight consecutive stops on the defensive end. Barthelemy had six points in the run, including the first four, and Elijah Parquet, Walker, Lovering and K.J. Simpson also scored as Colorado surged to a 60-32 lead.

Maine finally halted the run with a bucket at the 13:42 mark but the Buffs quickly answered again, and a Simpson layup with 12:51 to play pushed Colorado's margin to 30 points, 64-34.

The Buffs continued to build their lead down the stretch, expanding the cushion to as much as 45 in the final minutes.

"If our team will not play with an individual agenda, we have a chance to be pretty good," Boyle said. "One of our mantras has been to make plays for each other."

The rout enabled Boyle to get playing time for every player in uniform, with 14 Buffs seeing action.

Ten different Buffs played at least 14 minutes.

ST. THOMAS, U.S. Virgin Islands — Colorado couldn't contain Southern Illinois' 3-point shooters Friday and the Buffaloes dropped a 67-63 decision in the first round of the Paradise Jam.

Tad Boyle's Buffs, who fell to 3-1 with the loss, will face Duquesne in a 3:45 p.m. game Saturday. Duquesne lost to Northeastern, 71-55, in its opener. The Salukis improved to 2-1 and will face Northeastern on Sunday.

Jabari Walker led CU with 16 points. Tristan da Silva added 15 points and 7 rebounds while Evan Battey and Keeshawn Barthelemy each had 12 points.

Steven Verplancken led the Salukis with 18 points, including four 3-pointers, and Marcus Domask added 17 points, as SIU drained 12 treys in the game.

Colorado jumped out to a 12-1 early lead but saw the Salukis knock down five 3-pointers to come back to take an eight-point lead, 27-19, by halftime. CU managed to narrow the gap to three at several junctures in the second half and had it down to two with 1:33 to play, but could never completely get over the hump. Every time the Buffs threatened to take the lead, the Salukis seemed to answer with a 3-pointer.

"That was the key to the game," Boyle said. "After the game, I look at our defensive keys and there it was ... The No. 2 most important thing to beat Southern Illinois, defend the three. We didn't do it. ... We did not execute defensively like we're capable. We shot 50 percent from the field. That's good enough to win a game, but it wasn't good enough tonight."

Colorado finished 25-for-50 from the field, including 17-for-26 in the second half, but SIU's 12-for-29 night from long range provided the difference.

CU also hit only 9 of 15 free throw attempts, including two misses in the final minutes, and is shooting just over 70 percent from the line this season. Last year, Colorado threatened the NCAA season record for free throw percentage, finishing at 81.9 percent.

HOW IT HAPPENED: After watching an early 11-point lead turn into a 27-19 deficit at the half, the Buffaloes managed to narrow SIU's lead to three midway through the second half.

Battey, who played just six minutes in the first half because of foul trouble, scored seven straight for CU to help the Buffs shave a 41-32 deficit down to 43-30 with 11 minutes to play.

SIU rebuilt its cushion to eight before Colorado again pulled back to within three, 57-54, on five points from Walker and a da Silva dunk.

But the Salukis answered with their 12th 3-pointer of the game to bump their lead back to six, 60-54, with just 3:42 remaining.

CU, though, managed to cut the deficit to two, 60-58, with 1:33 on the clock. Walker cashed in a putback and da Silva hit one of two free throws to pull the Buffs within just two.

But that was as close as the Buffs could get. SIU came up with a free throw and dunk on its next two possessions, sandwiched around a CU turnover, for a 63-58 lead with 42 seconds to play. The Salukis then added four more free throws down the stretch for a 67-58 lead before da Silva scored five points in the final seconds to round out the scoring.

Colorado started fast, jumping out to a 12-1 lead barely four minutes into the game. The Buffs hit their first five field goal attempts while collecting six straight defensive stops and they looked ready to turn the game into a rout.

Barthelemy had seven points in the run, with da Silva and Walker also scoring.

But the Salukis didn't go away. Instead, they began chipping away at CU's lead while the Buffs went ice-cold on the offensive end, enduring a four-minute scoreless stretch. SIU finally took a 15-14 lead with 7:17 left in the half.

The Buffs did momentarily regain the lead, and with 3:20 to go in the half, the score was tied at 19-19.

But the Salukis came out of a timeout to score the final eight points of the half and Colorado never came closer than two again the rest of the night.

Colorado finished the half shooting 8-for-25 from the field — 3-for-20 after the 5-for-5 start — and the Salukis had an 18-16 rebound edge, including five offensive boards. One of those offensive rebounds opened the door for a Verplancken 3-pointer with 5 seconds remaining in the half.

The Buffs were also plagued by foul trouble in the first half, with big man Evan Battey playing just six minutes in the opening period after drawing his second foul midway through the half.

ST. THOMAS, U.S. Virgin Islands - Sophomore Tristan da Silva hit a game-tying 3-point shot with two seconds left in regulation and Colorado outscored Duquesne by eight in the extra session to take an 84-76 decision over the Dukes in a consolation bracket game at the Paradise Jam Saturday night at the U.S. Virgin Islands Sports and Fitness Center.

Colorado, which never led in regulation, scored the first five points of overtime to pull away from the Dukes. The Buffaloes, 4-1 overall, will battle Brown in the fourth place game Monday, Nov. 22, at 1:15 p.m. MT.

Evan Battey led Colorado in scoring with 18 points along with five rebounds and three steals. Jabari Walker had his second double-double of the season with 13 points and a career-high 13 rebounds. K.J. Simpson scored 11 points off the bench and dished out a team-best four assists.

Duquesne's Kevin Easley led all scorers with 19 points and pulled down 12 rebounds. The Dukes (1-4) will face Bradley in the seventh place game on Monday.

Similar to the season-opening overtime win over Montana State, Colorado had to overcome a double-digit second half deficit and rely on a clutch shot as time was running out to extend the contest.

"This is a team, and I feel it now five games in, that we're going to have a lot of games like this," Colorado head coach Tad Boyle said. "I just don't know if we have the consistency to put teams away. Maine we did, but Montana State we didn't, New Mexico we didn't, Southern Illinois we didn't and we didn't tonight – and we were fortunate to get to overtime in two of those games."

The Buffaloes trailed by 60-49, with 7:45 remaining in the game before an 11-0 CU run over the next 2:40 evened the game.

Colorado struggled to get stops throughout the game, and that continued down the stretch. After the Buffaloes tied it at 60, Duquesne guard Toby Okani scored the next four points to put the Dukes back up 64-60 with 3:04 left.

The Buffaloes responded with a Simpson three-point play but was countered by a Trae Williams basket.

Keeshawn Barthelemy drove for a layup to pull the Buffaloes to 66-65 with 2:00 left and did get a stop on a turnover, but returned the favor with one of their own.

Another Duquesne turnover led to a fast break by the Buffaloes, but Battey was turned away at the rim by Williams. Colorado seemed to get another stop on a missed Leon Ayers III 3-point attempt, but da Silva was called for a foul away from the play on the rebound. Williams cashed in with an acrobatic jumper in the lane to give the Dukes a 68-65 lead with 35 seconds left.

Colorado took a timeout with 17 seconds left to draw up a play with options for a quick two or a 3-pointer. That play never materialized and Simpson found himself scrambling at the top of the key. With time running down he drove the middle of the lane and found da Silva for the equalizer.

"Our execution out of that timeout was awful," Boyle said. "The play we had drawn up didn't even resemble (what happened). But players make plays and K.J. made a heck of a drive and got Tristan in the corner and he made a big time shot. So we'll take it."

Barthelemy opened overtime with a 3-pointer and Battey scored on a layup for a 73-68 lead. An Easley 3-pointer cut the lead back to two, but Battey countered with another layup and a Walker 3-pointer gave the Buffaloes a 78-71 lead with under two minutes left. Colorado made five free throws down the stretch, including four from Walker, to put the game away.

As the case for several of CU's early season games, it was a sloppy start. The Buffs had three early turnovers and didn't score for the first three minutes as Duquesne built an early 15-7 lead.

Once the Buffaloes got some footing, Battey and Nique Clifford scored on consecutive paint touches to cut the lead to 15-11.

Simpson attacked the rim on two straight trips down the floor, scoring five points as the Dukes led by just one at 17-16.

Duquesne built its lead back up to eight with the help of consecutive 3-pointers by Ayres and Jackie Johnson III. It was about to be a 10-point lead as Easley had a steal with a breakaway dunk in his future, but Simpson tracked him down and blocked him from behind. The Buffaloes completed a four-point swing as Luke O'Brien scored on a put back and the Buffaloes trailed 35-29 at the half

ST. THOMAS, U.S. Virgin Islands - Colorado's defense shined when the shots weren't falling as the Buffaloes squeaked out a 54-52 win over Brown in the final game of the Paradise Jam at the University of Virgin Islands Sports and Fitness Center on Monday.

Evan Battey had a game-high 16 points as the Buffaloes improved to 5-1 overall, officially placing fourth in the tournament with a 2-1 record. Jabari Walker had his second-straight double-double finishing with 10 points and 11 rebounds.

Brown, 4-3 overall and sixth place in the Paradise Jam (1-2), was led by 14 points from Paxson Wojcik.

Colorado shot 40 percent for the game, but only 27 percent in the first half. Battey, who entered the game shooting nearly 70 percent, made just six of his 15 attempts.

The key was the Buffaloes didn't allow Brown to get going either and kept them close enough to clamp down at the end. The Bears shot just 30.2 percent for the game (16 of 53) and 17 percent from 3-point range.

Both teams struggled offensively for large portions of the game. After Wojick scored a bucket with 15:00 left in the half to give Brown a 9-5 lead, seven-plus minutes went off the clock before either team made a field goal again.

Cold shooting was one culprit, but the half was also a foul fest. Twenty-two fouls were called in the first 20 minutes, 13 of them on the Buffaloes.

Brown was 13 of 19 from the line in the first half – eclipsing their averages in both categories through its first six games.

Colorado was at least able to keep pace at the line. The Buffaloes shot five fewer free throws, but made 12 of them.

The plethora of fouls did cause the Buffaloes some early concern. All-Pac-12 defender Elijah Parquet picked up two in the first four minutes of the game, and a third early in the second half. Walker picked up his second with six minutes still to play. Five Buffaloes had at least three fouls midway through the second half.

But the Bears only shot four free throws in the second half as the Colorado defense played much better – only Parquet picked up a fourth foul with that coming in the closing seconds.

Colorado trailed 37-30 with 14:30 remaining in the game before the Buffaloes went on a 9-0 run to take its first lead since the opening minutes. K.J. Simpson converted a 3-point play and Trista da Silva scored consecutive layups to tie the game at 37-37.

On the defensive side, the Buffaloes really clamped down, generating five straight stops. During the 9-0 run the Buffaloes forced a Brown shot clock violation and a couple other tough shots late in the shot clock.

Keeshawn Barthelemy finally put the Buffaloes back on top, 39-37, scoring on a layup in transition.

The game stayed within one possession from there and the lead changed eight times in the final 10 minutes. Battey, who was 3 of 9 in the first half scored six points down the stretch, including a bucket with 1:05 left that gave the Buffaloes the lead for good at 51-50.

After a Brown timeout, Walker forced Dan Friday to lose the inbounds pass out of bounds with 55 seconds left. Following a CU timeout, Barthelemy extended the Buffaloes lead to 53-50 with jumper at the top of the key with 32 seconds remaining.

Once again, Colorado forced Brown to work the whole shot clock, but Wojcik was fouled by Parquet with 2.8 seconds left underneath the basket. Wojcik made both free throws to cut the CU lead to 53-52. Barthelemy was immediately fouled, made the first of two for the final margin. Brown got the rebound off the second free throw but a desperation three-quarter court heave was way off.

Brown built an eight-point lead in the first half, leading 22-14 with 4:10 left in the half. The Buffaloes quickly cut that lead in half. Simpson made a pair of free throws and then Battey scored on a layup off a nice feed from Simpson.

Battey scored six points down the first half stretch and the Buffaloes cut the lead to 25-22 with a minute left. Brown's Kino Lilly, Jr., hit the first 3-pointer of the game by either team to put the Bears back up 28-22. After an offensive foul on Luke O'Brien, David Mitchell got a layup in traffic to extend Brown's lead to eight at 30-22. Barthelemy drew a foul and sank a pair of free throws as the Buffaloes went into halftime down by six at 30-24.

BOULDER — Colorado's Evan Battey scored a career-high 22 points Sunday and the Buffaloes recovered from a slow start to collect an 80-76 win over Stanford in their Pac-12 opener at the CU Events Center.

Tad Boyle's Buffs improved to 6-1 overall while Stanford dropped to 4-3.

Battey, who surpassed the 1,000-point mark for his career, was 4-for-4 from 3-point range as part of his 22-point night. CU's Jabari Walker had his third straight double-double and fourth of the season with 12 points and 13 rebounds, Tristan da Silva added 13 points, K.J. Simpson had 12 and Keeshawn Barthelemy added 10 to give the Buffs five players in double figures.

Spencer Jones led Stanford with 15 points. Da Silva had a stellar defensive night against Cardinal leading scorer Harrison Ingram, holding him to eight points on 3-for-13 shooting.

Colorado fell behind early, 21-10, but used an 18-2 run to take the lead and carried a 37-32 edge into halftime. Stanford regained the lead with a 9-0 run to start the second half but Colorado went back ahead three minutes later and held the lead until the Cardinal finally tied the game again, 66-66, with just under four minutes to play.

But the Buffs responded one more time with a 7-0 run to take the lead for good and clinched the win with five free throws in the final 36 seconds.

Stanford shot 50 percent for the game (26-for-52) and outrebounded CU, 32-28. But the Buffs shot 49 percent from the floor (27-for-55) and hit 19 of their 26 free throws. CU also forced 15 Stanford turnovers, converting them into 12 points.

Five of the Buffs' seven games this year have been decided by single digits, including two overtime contests.

"Another hard-fought win that went down to the wire," Boyle said. "It was closer than it probably needed to be. Stanford's a good team. They've got good players … Our defense and rebounding was not good enough to win tonight. But our offense won the game. We shared the ball, and we moved the ball. I was really pleased with our offensive effort tonight."

HOW IT HAPPENED: Colorado led by five at intermission, 37-32, but the Cardinal scored the first nine points of the second half to retake the lead, 41-37.

CU, though, regained control with a 7-0 run that saw Battey hit a bank shot off the glass and a 3-pointer, sandwiched around a Simpson layup, to give CU a 51-44 lead.

Battey's fourth 3-pointer of the night gave him 999 career points, and he surpassed the 1,000 mark a few minutes later with a bucket inside.

The Cardinal, though, wouldn't go away. Stanford stayed within striking range and with 3:58 to play, a Spencer Jones 3-pointer tied the game at 66-66.

But the Buffs did have an answer on the offensive end. Following a timeout, Colorado reeled off seven straight points, getting an Elijah Parquet layup, a Walker offensive rebound and putback and a da Silva 3-pointer off a beautiful drive and dish from Battey. The run gave Colorado a 73-66 lead with 1:49 to play.

Stanford did manage to cut CU's lead to two, 75-73, with 36 seconds to play before Barthelemy hit two free throws to bump the cushion back to four.

The Buffs then held on for the win in the final seconds, hitting three more free throws in the final seconds.

Colorado started slowly on both ends of the floor and eight minutes in, Stanford held a 21-10 lead. The Cardinal hit seven of its first 10 field goals, including three 3-pointers, while the Buffs went scoreless in the first three minutes, missing four field goal tries and turning it over twice.

But following a timeout, the Buffs found their rhythm. Walker started an 18-2 run with a bucket from the key before Battey hit two free throws, Walker scored on a follow-jam and Battey then delivered back-to-back 3-pointers for a 12-0 surge that gave Colorado a 22-21 lead.

Stanford momentarily stopped the run with a pair of free throws, but the Buffs then scored six straight to push their lead to 28-23.

CU's defense turned up the heat to fuel the run. Colorado held Stanford without a field goal for 6:30, forcing six turnovers in that stretch.

Colorado extended its lead to eight, 37-29, late in the half on a Simpson 3-pointer and Luke O'Brien free throw before Stanford hit a 3-pointer just before intermission to send the Buffs into the locker room with a 37-32 lead.

LOS ANGELES — Colorado endured a poor shooting night from the floor early and foul trouble all evening Wednesday as the Buffaloes dropped a 73-61 decision to No. 5 UCLA at Pauley Pavilion.

Tad Boyle's Buffs fell to 6-2 overall and 1-1 in Pac-12 play while UCLA improved to 7-1, 1-0.

Colorado's Jabari Walker notched his fourth consecutive double-double and fifth of the season with 22 points and 11 rebounds. Elijah Parquet added 11 points for the Buffs.

CU's leading scorer for the season, Evan Battey, played just 15 minutes because of foul trouble and finished with four points and two rebounds.

Tyger Campbell led UCLA with 21 points.

Colorado never led in the game as UCLA held a 39-23 edge at intermission. The Buffs did manage to narrow the gap to four midway through the second half, 48-44, but that was as close as they could come. UCLA soon rebuilt the lead to 10 and the Buffs never cut the margin to single digits again down the stretch.

CU shot 42.6 percent for the game (23-for-54), but just 24 percent from 3-point range (5-for-21). The Bruins shot 47 percent (27-for-58), including 7-for-16 from beyond the arc.

After committing eight turnovers in the first half, the Buffs finished with 12, but the Bruins outscored Colorado 23-9 in points off turnovers. The Bruins also outrebounded Colorado 36-29.

"Opportunity missed," Boyle said. "I knew our guys had fight in them. I told them that at halftime. I don't question their heart and ability to come back, and we did in the second half … But (the Bruins) were the better team. They were the more physical team. That's two games in a row we've been outrebounded and that can't happen."

HOW IT HAPPENED: Colorado started slowly and trailed by 16 at the half, 39-23, thanks in large part to an 11-0 UCLA run midway through the half. CU committed eight turnovers in the first half, including five in the 11-0 UCLA run, and the Buffs shot just 10-for-27 in the first 20 minutes.

"We've got to slow down," Boyle said. "A lot of our turnovers were because we're getting sped up. UCLA is a high-pressure team. We have to be able to handle that offensively, play with more poise."

But the Buffs managed to keep the Bruins within striking distance in the second half and used a 12-1 run midway through the period to cut the deficit to four, 48-44.

Walker started the run with a short jumper, followed by a Tristan da Silva dunk, five straight points from Nique Clifford and three CU free throws. At the same time, CU's defense forced an 0-for-8 Bruins shooting drought.

"We talked at every media timeout about chipping away and our guys did that," Boyle said. "But we just couldn't get over the hump."

Indeed, the Bruins ended CU's run with six straight points to push the lead back to 10. Battey temporarily ended the run with a bucket inside, only to be whistled for his fifth foul on UCLA's next possession.

Battey finished the game with just 15 minutes on the floor and the Bruins kept the Buffs at bay over the final minutes.

"(The Bruins) were looking to take it on the chest and fall down," Boyle said. "It's supposed to be a flop but it wasn't called tonight. We have to adjust to that … It was frustrating for Evan."

The Buffs trailed from the beginning, hitting just two of their first 10 field goal tries while UCLA hit its first four.

Still, Colorado trailed by just six, 22-16, with 7:56 to play in the first half after buckets from Walker and Elijah Parquet.

But UCLA then reeled off an 11-0 run following a timeout, with Colorado committing five turnovers in a four-minute span. The Buffs finally ended the Bruins run with a K.J. Simpson bucket, but UCLA kept up the pressure and the Buffs trailed 39-23 at intermission.

BOULDER — Turnovers plagued Colorado early and the Buffaloes had no answer for Tennessee guard Kennedy Chandler on Saturday as CU dropped a 69-54 decision to the No. 13 Vols at the CU Events Center.

Tad Boyle's Buffs fell to 6-3 overall with their second straight loss while Tennessee improved to 6-1.

Evan Battey led CU with 12 points, Tristan da Silva added 11 and Jabari Walker had 10. Keeshawn Barthelemy had just four points on 2-for-13 shooting, but did have a team-high nine rebounds.

Chandler led the Vols with 29 points, with the majority of his buckets coming on drives to the basket.

Colorado committed 15 turnovers — 12 in the first half — leading to 21 Tennessee points. CU was also outscored 42-28 in the paint and the Buffs shot just 19-for-55 (35 percent) from the floor while Tennessee shot 47.5 percent (29-for-61).

It was the third straight game the Buffs have allowed an opponent to shoot at least 46 percent from the floor, with the Vols cashing in 17 layups in the game.

The Buffs trailed by 10 at halftime after Chandler scored the last six points of the half. CU did manage to reduce the margin to five at several junctures midway through the second half, but the Vols never let Colorado get any closer.

"This was an opportunity that if we play the way we're capable of playing, we can win this game — but we didn't," Boyle said. "We were not good enough on offense or defense. We don't have that (defensive) identity yet. We don't have players that have a defensive mindset. We just don't."

HOW IT HAPPENED: After trailing by 10 at intermission, 34-24, the Buffaloes slowly cut the deficit in half by the midway point of the second period.

A K.J. Simpson dunk pulled CU to within 46-41 at the 10:27 mark and a Walker bucket inside a minute later kept the deficit at five.

But every time the Buffs threatened to seize momentum, the Vols had an answer.

After another Simpson basket cut Tennessee's lead back to five one more time, 50-45, the Volunteers reeled off an 8-0 run to take a 58-45 lead with 6:45 remaining — their largest lead of the game to that point.

"We have a lot of guys thinking about their offense and they're not hanging their hats on defense," Boyle said. "Third game in a row we're in the upper 40s in defensive field goal percentage."

Tennessee's decisive 8-0 run essentially put the game away as Colorado never truly threatened again. The Buffs managed to narrow the margin back to single digits with just more than two minutes to play, but that was as close as they could come.

Colorado's offense never found anything resembling a rhythm over long stretches. Along with the 15 turnovers, the Buffs also had eight of their shots blocked.

"Your offense better be making shots and executing better than we did tonight and taking care of the ball — and not having 23 possessions when the ball doesn't get to the rim," Boyle said.

CU jumped out to a quick 8-0 lead to start the game but the Vols reeled off an 11-0 run to take an 11-10 lead.

The two teams then traded the lead seven times over the next four minutes before Tennessee slowly began to take control. Tennessee outscored Colorado 18-7 over the last nine minutes of the half, including a 6-0 run in the final minutes — all on Chandler drives — to turn a 17-16 Buffs lead into a 34-24 halftime CU deficit.

Turnovers plagued Colorado in the first half, as CU committed 12 miscues in the opening 20 minutes, which the Volunteers turned into 17 points. CU also gave up 26 points in the paint, including 10 layups.

BOULDER — Colorado allowed a 15-point first-half lead to become a four-point deficit late in the game Wednesday, but the Buffaloes rallied in the final minutes to take a 60-57 win over Eastern Washington at the CU Events Center.

Tad Boyle's Buffs improved to 7-3 while the Eagles fell to 4-5.

Jabari Walker led CU with 17 points and 10 rebounds, his fifth double-double in the last six games and sixth of the season. Keeshawn Barthelemy had nine points for CU — all in the first half — and Evan Battey also had nine, all in the second half.

Steele Venters led Eastern Washington with 23 points.

CU built a 15-point cushion, 33-18, with six minutes to go in the first half, but the Eagles managed to narrow the lead to eight, 39-31, by halftime. EWU then slowly but steadily chipped away at CU's lead in the second half and finally took the lead with just more than five minutes remaining.

The Buffs, though, collected themselves down the stretch and came up with just enough defensive stops and some big buckets from Battey and Walker in the final minutes to salvage the win.

Colorado shot 43 percent from the floor (24-for-56), but just 4-for-20 from 3-point range. The Buffs also shot just 33.3 percent from the floor in the second half (8-for-24) and committed nine of their 14 turnovers after halftime, but did finish with a 40-28 rebounding edge.

"We were lucky to win tonight," Boyle said. "We didn't need a three to put it in overtime, thank goodness, because I'm not sure we could have made one, but we did what we had to do to win a game when we weren't at our best. To me you take a little bit of solace in that. But we have to get better offensively."

HOW IT HAPPENED: Colorado led by as much as 15 in the first half and still had an eight-point edge at intermission, 39-31.

After shooting 50 percent from the floor in the first half, the Buffs went cold in the second and also suffered from a rash of turnovers.

That combination helped the Eagles slowly chip away at CU's lead. EWU tied the game at 49-49 with 7:04 to play on a Venters 3-pointer, then finally went ahead, 53-51, on a Mason Landeck layup with 5:05 to play.

Landeck then hit two free throws 30 seconds later after Colorado's ninth turnover of the half to extend Colorado's deficit to four, 55-51, with the Buffs scoring just 12 points in the first 15 minutes of the second half.

After falling behind by four, the Buffs finally did manufacture a response.

Following a timeout, Battey hit a bucket inside and added a free throw to pull Colorado within one before the Buffs got a defensive stop on the other end. CU then regained the lead, 57-55, on a Walker three-point play with 2:17 to play.

Eastern Washington tied the game again on a Venters bucket, but Colorado regained the lead for good on a Battey jump hook with 1:31 to play. It was Battey's ninth point of the game, all coming in the second half.

CU got defensive stops on EWU's next two possessions and although the Buffs missed three of four free throw attempts in the final seconds, the Buffs survived when an Eastern Washington 3-pointer at the buzzer came up just short.

Colorado stumbled at the game's outset but quickly recovered with a 14-0 run to take a 14-6 lead less than five minutes in. Walker started the run with a three-point play, Barthelemy had seven points in the surge and Elijah Parquet added four.

The Buffs then built their margin to double digits with a 7-0 run midway through the half and extended the cushion to as much as 15 when a Walker drive to the basket gave Colorado a 33-18 edge with 6:24 left in the half.

The Eagles, though, slowly chipped away and reduced the deficit to eight, 39-31, with a 3-pointer from Venters just before the half.

CU outrebounded the Eagles, 18-12, in the opening half and also forced eight turnovers, which the Buffs converted into 11 points.

BOULDER — Colorado once again allowed a healthy lead to slip away in the second half Friday, but the Buffaloes again had an answer down the stretch, rallying to take a 65-54 win over Milwaukee at the CU Events Center.

Tad Boyle's Buffs improved to 8-3 while the Panthers fell to 2-7.

Colorado led by four at the half and built its lead to nine, 39-30, early in the second half. But the Panthers rallied with an 18-7 run to take the lead before the Buffs regrouped to put together a 12-0 surge in the final minutes for the win.

Evan Battey led CU with 15 points, Jabari Walker added 14 — all in the second half, with eight in the decisive run — and Elijah Parquet scored 11.

Jordan Lathon led Milwaukee with 14 points while CU held Panthers leading scorer Patrick Baldwin Jr. to just 12 points on 3-for-13 shooting, including 2-for-10 from 3-point range.

The game was a near mirror image of Wednesday's 60-57 win over Eastern Washington, when CU let a 15-point lead turn into a deficit late before clawing back for the win.

"It's the old Forrest Gump line," Boyle said. "We're like a box of chocolates — you never know what you're gonna get. That doesn't mean night to night. It means timeout to timeout, first half to second half … But our guys did a good job down the stretch making plays and we got the win."

CU's offense struggled again for much of the game, but the Buffs' defense held Milwaukee to 36 percent shooting (20-for-55) and Colorado held a 39-30 rebound edge.

HOW IT HAPPENED: Thanks to 15 points from the bench in the first half, the Buffs led by as much as seven early and built the margin to nine in the second half when a Battey bucket gave CU a 39-30 lead three minutes in.

But Colorado couldn't protect the lead. Milwaukee slowly but steadily chipped away, and a Baldwin 3-pointer with 8:58 to play completed an 18-7 run to give the Panthers a 48-46 lead. Colorado endured an 0-for-10 stretch from the field to aid Milwaukee's comeback, but finally regained the lead momentarily on two free throws from Parquet and one from Walker.

The two teams then traded the lead three more times in the ensuing minutes.

Battey finally ended Colorado's drought from the field with an offensive rebound and bucket to give CU a 51-50 lead with 5:37 to play. Milwaukee temporarily regained the edge with a Baldwin bucket inside, but the Buffs then put together their decisive 12-0 run.

Battey started the run with a pair of free throws to give CU a 53-52 lead with 3:41 to play, and Walker took control from there.

The CU sophomore drove for a shot over Baldwin to extend CU's lead to three, then stole the ball from Baldwin for a dunk on the other end that also resulted in a free throw.

CU's defense, meanwhile, produced three straight stops and with 1:40 to play, Walker drained a long 3-pointer to give the Buffs a 61-52 lead.

The Buffs then held the Panthers at bay over the final 90 seconds for the win.

The game did not start well for Colorado. The Buffs missed their first seven field goal tries and did not score until a Lawson Lovering layup put Colorado on the board nearly six minutes in.

The good news for the Buffs came from Milwaukee's shooting, as the Panthers hit just two of their first 10 shots and Lovering's bucket pulled CU to within 5-2.

Both teams continued to struggle from the floor, but the Buffs finally took the lead, 13-11, on a Battey offensive rebound and bucket with 7:50 to play in the half. Sophomore Luke O'Brien came off the bench to add seven early points — he finished with a career-high nine — and CU built its cushion to as much as seven, 26-19.

Milwaukee, though, managed to shave the lead to 28-24 heading into intermission.

BOULDER — Colorado built a 17-point second-half lead Saturday and the Buffaloes held off CSU Bakersfield down the stretch to collect a 60-46 win at the CU Events Center.

Tad Boyle's Buffs improved to 9-3 with their third straight win while CSUB dropped to 4-4.

The Buffs led by nine at the half and extended their cushion to 17 midway through the second half. A mini-rally from the Roadrunners cut the margin to eight with five minutes to play, but the Buffs rebuilt the lead to double digits and maintained control in the final minutes.

Guard Keeshawn Barthelemy led CU with 12 points and added six rebounds. Nique Clifford had 10 points, seven rebounds and three assists, Elijah Parquet added 10 points, and Lawson Lovering had six points and four rebounds.

CU's leading scorer for the season, Jabari Walker, did not play in the second half because of an injury. Walker took an apparent blow to the head in the first half, and did not score in the game.

Kaleb Higgins led the Roadrunners with nine points. The Buffs held the Roadrunners to 15-for-55 shooting (27.3 percent) while CU shot 19-for-45.

While Colorado had a 40-34 overall edge on the boards, CSUB did grab 11 offensive rebounds. But CU forced 14 turnovers and had 16 assists on 19 field goals.

"A good win," Boyle said. "I have a lot of respect for (CSUB coach) Rod Barnes and his program. They're physical, they're tough, they're a great rebounding team. It was a good test and a good win."

HOW IT HAPPENED: The Buffs led by nine at the half, 24-15, and slowly pushed the margin to 17 midway through the period. A Barthelemy 3-pointer gave Colorado a 42-26 edge before a Lovering offensive rebound and bucket and two free throws from K.J. Simpson helped CU to a 48-31 edge with 10:24 remaining.

Barthelemy entered the game having hit just one of his last 21 3-point attempts. But he was 4-for-7 from the field Saturday, including 2-for-3 from 3-point range.

Lovering, meanwhile, had what Boyle called "his best game so far. He still got sped up a few times in the post, but you can see the growth happening with him."

But the Roadrunners didn't go away quietly. Thanks to some second-chance buckets and a couple of Colorado turnovers, CSUB cut the deficit to eight, 52-44, on a Justin McCall bucket with 5:13 to play.

Colorado, though, regained control and built the cushion back to double digits on buckets from Tristan da Silva and Evan Battey and CU held the Roadrunners at bay over the final minutes.

"Finishing has been a mantra for this team," Boyle said. "We have to finish better at the rim, we have to finish free throws, we have to finish plays, finish possessions defensively. That continues to be an area we have to focus on."

Colorado used an 8-0 run early to jump out to a 14-4 lead less than seven minutes in. Barthelemy started the surge with a drive to the hoop, da Silva added a three-point play and Parquet drained a 3-pointer to put CU in control.

But the Buffs went stale after that, scoring just 10 more points the remainder of the half. After hitting three of their first five shots, the Buffs shot just 5-for-18, including an 0-for-8 stretch.

"We had some good offensive possessions," Boyle said. "We did have our drought in the first half, but it wasn't turnovers that were killing us. We had four missed layups, two wide-open threes and a missed post move. We were getting shots."

Colorado's defense, though, kept the Buffs comfortably in the lead, as they limited the Roadrunners to 5-for-27 shooting in the half and CU held a 24-15 edge at intermission.

BOULDER — Colorado broke open a close game in the second half Thursday with a 13-2 run and the Buffaloes had four players in double figures as CU collected an 83-78 Pac-12 win over Washington State at the CU Events Center.

The Buffs, who were playing their first game in 19 days, improved to 10-3 overall and 2-1 in Pac-12 play. Washington State fell to 8-6, 1-2.

Big man Evan Battey led CU with 20 points. Jabari Walker had 16 points — all in the second half — and eight rebounds; Keeshawn Barthelemy also had 16 points; and Tristan da Silva chipped in 10.

Tyrell Roberts led the Cougars with 25 points. CU defensive specialist Elijah Parquet held WSU leading scorer to seven points on 2-for-10 shooting — half his season average.

Colorado trailed by one at intermission, 38-37, but the Buffs used a 13-2 run midway through the second half to turn a 58-55 deficit into a 68-60 lead and they never trailed again.

While WSU shot 46 percent (28-for-61) from the floor, CU was even better, shooting 52 percent (29-for-56), including a blistering 18-for-28 in the second half.

HOW IT HAPPENED: The Buffs trailed by as much as six in the first half but managed to cut the deficit to one by intermission, 38-37, after scoring the final five points of the first 20 minutes.

The two teams then traded the lead seven times over the first 10 minutes of the second half before Colorado finally took control with a 11-0 run to take a 66-58 lead with 9:59 to play.

Walker, who was scoreless in the first half, started the run with a bucket inside before Julian Hammond III cashed in a layup in transition.

Hammond had a sterling effort for Colorado, getting 14 minutes on the floor after regular backup guard K.J. Simpson went down with an injury in the first half. The CU freshman finished with five rebounds, two points, four assists, four steals and no turnovers.

After Hammond's bucket, Battey drained a long 3-pointer to give CU a 62-58 lead, forcing WSU coach Kyle Smith to call a timeout.

But the Buffs continued their surge when play resumed, as Walker scored four more for the Buffs to give CU an eight-point cushion, 66-58, with 8:54 to play.

WSU finally ended the run with a TJ Bamba bucket, but Colorado responded with a Walker follow-dunk with 7:12 to play, finishing a 13-2 CU surge. The dunk gave Walker his 14th point of the game and the Buffs were in control.

Washington State managed to cut CU's lead down to three with under four minutes to play, but a Battey three-point play gave the Buffs some breathing room, 74-68, with 3:28 on the clock.

A Walker bucket with 2:08 to play then gave CU a 78-72 lead with just more than two minutes to play and the Buffs held WSU off down the stretch for the win.

Colorado jumped out to a quick 8-2 lead, thanks to 3-pointers from da Silva and Battey in the first four minutes.

But the Buffs went cold, Washington State started to warm up and the Cougars finally used a 7-0 run to take an 18-12 lead eight minutes in.

CU finally ended a 3:30 scoring drought with a Barthelemy 3-pointer and the Buffs momentarily regained the lead at the 10:40 mark on a Battey bucket off the glass.

But the Cougars quickly regained the lead and held the edge for the rest of the half, building their cushion to six at several different junctures. WSU shot 47 percent from the field in the first 20 minutes (14-for-30).

Colorado, though, scored the final five points of the half to narrow WSU's lead to 38-37 at intermission. Nique Clifford started the surge with a 3-point play before da Silva hit two free throws with 5 seconds on the clock to pull the Buffs to within one after the first 20 minutes.

BOULDER — Colorado's Tristan da Silva poured in a career-high 22 points and the Buffaloes gave coach Tad Boyle his 300th career win Sunday, topping Washington 78-64 at the CU Events Center.

The win, CU's fifth in a row, improved the Buffaloes to 11-3 overall and 3-1 in Pac-12 play. The Huskies fell to 6-7, 1-2.

Da Silva was one of three Buffs in double-figure scoring. Freshman guard Julian Hammond III added a career-high 14 points and sophomore Jabari Walker collected his seventh double-double of the season, finishing with 11 points and 13 rebounds.

Cole Bajema led the Huskies with 18 points, but CU's Elijah Parquet held Terrell Brown — the conference's leading scorer — to 12 points on 4-for-16 shooting.

The Buffs dominated UW on the boards, 47-27, and shot 48 percent from the floor (31-for-64). CU also held the Huskies to just 36 percent shooting (21-for-58).

Colorado did finish with 14 turnovers, but just two in the second half.

"We did a much better job of taking care of the ball in the second half," said Boyle, whose record at Colorado now stands at 244-146. "We had some solid performances off the bench and we were aggressive. When we're aggressive, we're pretty darned good."

HOW IT HAPPENED: Colorado led by 11 at halftime, 39-28, and built the margin to 15 early in the second half on an Evan Battey bucket inside.

But the Huskies slowly battled back and used a 7-0 run to cut Colorado's lead to five, 48-43, with 12:23 left to play.

The Buffs, though, answered with a decisive run. CU got three unanswered baskets to push the margin back to 11 as Parquet scored on a layup, Battey followed with a basket inside and da Silva drove the lane to push CU's lead back to 11, 54-43.

"I had an opportunity today and I was aggressive," said da Silva, whose previous scoring high was 15 points (twice). "My teammates got me the ball and I took advantage."

Colorado then continued to build its lead, pushing the cushion to as much as 17 with just under five minutes to play when a Walker bucket gave CU a 69-52 edge. Hammond helped CU build its lead with a pair of 3-pointers en route to his career high.

Hammond was part of an outstanding effort from CU's reserves. Along with Hammond's 14 points, sophomore Nique Clifford had eight points, eight rebounds, three assists and two blocked shots; and sophomore Luke O'Brien had five rebounds and four assists.

The Buffs also helped their cause by eliminating turnovers. After giving the ball away 12 times in the first half, CU had just one turnover in the first 16 minutes of the second.

After Walker's bucket gave CU a 17-point lead, Washington never mounted another serious threat down the stretch.

Colorado's defense was solid for 40 minutes, holding the Huskies to just 36 percent shooting, including a woeful 4-for-16 day from Brown, who came into the game averaging more than 21 points per game.

The first half featured seven lead changes in the first 13 minutes before Colorado finally took the lead for good with an 11-0 run that turned a one-point deficit into a 10-point lead, 33-23.

Da Silva fueled the run with seven points. The CU sophomore started the surge with a jump hook inside, then added another drive to the bucket before finishing the burst with a 3-pointer.

The Huskies momentarily closed the gap to seven, but Colorado answered again with six points in the final 2:27 while holding UW scoreless in that stretch. The final six points added up to a 17-5 Colorado run over the last seven minutes of the half and CU took a 39-28 lead into halftime.

While Colorado did commit 12 turnovers in the first 20 minutes — resulting in 10 Huskies points — CU also had a commanding 23-8 edge on the boards.

TUCSON, Ariz. — Colorado couldn't overcome poor shooting Thursday night and Arizona turned up the heat in the second half as the Buffaloes dropped a 76-55 decision to the sixth-ranked Wildcats at the McKale Center.

Tad Boyle's Buffs saw their five-game win streak come to an end while falling to 11-4 overall and 3-2 in Pac-12 play. It was CU's 10th straight loss on the Wildcats' home floor in the Boyle era. Arizona improved to 13-1, 3-0.

The Buffs trailed by as much as 15 in the first half before narrowing the deficit to four by intermission, 32-28. But the Wildcats pushed their lead back into double digits early in the second half and Colorado never had another answer, as CU endured a five-minute scoring drought in a key second-half stretch.

Freshman K.J. Simpson led Colorado with 17 points, 14 in the first half. Simpson, who originally committed to Arizona last year before signing with Colorado, also added four assists, three rebounds and three steals. Evan Battey had nine points and seven rebounds for CU.

Azuolas Tubelis and Justin Kier each had 14 for Arizona.

CU shot a season-low 33 percent from the floor (21-for-64), including 4-for-20 from 3-point range. The Wildcats shot 51 percent (29-for-57) and outrebounded the Buffs, 44-33, including a 27-12 edge in the second half.

Arizona also had a 42-28 edge in points in the paint and the Buffs gave up 22 fast-break points.

"I was really proud of our guys' fight in the first half," Boyle said. "Once we settled in, our guys fought back. But in the second half, I did an awful job of coaching. We gave up too many layups and we got selfish on offense. That's my fault."

HOW IT HAPPENED: The Buffs trailed by just four at the half, 32-28, after using a late surge to shave a 15-point deficit down to single digits by intermission. But the Wildcats rebuilt their cushion in the first five minutes of the second half, using a 7-0 run to go up 49-34 six minutes into the half.

Colorado did momentarily cut the deficit back to 10 on a Battey 3-pointer with 11 minutes to play. But the Wildcats responded with another run that included back-to-back 3-pointers to push their lead to 17 with nine minutes remaining and CU never mounted another serious threat. CU suffered through a five-minute scoring drought and the Wildcats led by as much as 25 in the final minutes.

Colorado struggled to open the game, missing its first seven field goal attempts, and the Wildcats took advantage, jumping out to an 11-2 lead less than six minutes in.

The Buffs finally tallied a field goal at the 14:07 mark, but Arizona soon stretched its cushion to 15 when a Benedict Matherin free throw gave UA a 25-10 lead.

But after committing seven turnovers in the first 13 minutes, the Buffs finally found their footing. Simpson fueled an 11-2 surge that included seven points in 38 seconds and CU closed the gap to three, 29-26, with 1:08 left in the half.

Luke O'Brien started the Colorado run with a pair of free throws before Simpson delivered a coast-to-coast layup. Arizona momentarily stopped the run with a Christian Koloko bucket, but Colorado answered with a Simpson three-point play, a Battey bucket off a Simpson assist and an O'Brien basket in the paint to pull CU within 27-21.

That brought on a UA timeout, and the Wildcats scored out of the break to go back up by eight.

But Simpson responded by draining a long three, then recording a steal and collecting two free throws to cut Arizona's lead to 29-26.

The Wildcats then hit a long 3-pointer and Battey hit two free throws just before the halftime buzzer to send Colorado into the locker room trailing by four, 32-28.

Simpson finished the half with 14 points and the Buffs did not have a turnover in the final seven minutes of the half.

CU also forced eight Arizona turnovers in the first half, which the Buffs converted into 10 points.

TEMPE, Ariz. — Colorado broke open a tight game with a second-half barrage of 3-pointers and stellar defense and Jabari Walker notched his eighth double-double of the season Saturday to lift the Buffaloes to a 75-57 win over Arizona State at Desert Financial Arena.

The win gave Tad Boyle's Buffs a split of their road trip to the desert, as they improved to 12-4 overall and 4-2 in Pac-12 play. Bobby Hurley's Sun Devils, who were playing just their second game in 26 days, fell to 5-9, 1-3.

Colorado jumped out to a big lead early, taking a 15-3 edge six minutes in before the Sun Devils battled back to close the gap to three by halftime, 37-34. But the Buffs regained command for good by hitting five 3-pointers in the first seven minutes of the second half to rebuild their lead to double digits and ASU never threatened again.

Walker finished with 18 points and 13 rebounds for the 10th double-double of his career. Guard Keeshawn Barthelemy just missed a double-double, finishing with 16 points and nine rebounds, and Evan Battey and Tristan da Silva each scored 11. Nique Clifford added eight points and seven rebounds off the bench.

Jalen Graham led ASU with 16 points.

The Buffs held ASU to just 34 percent shooting (20-for-59), including a 9-for-29 effort in the second half. Colorado shot 43 percent for the game (25-for-58), including 10-for-25 from beyond the arc, and also held a dominating 46-31 edge on the boards.

Colorado also finished with 17 assists on its 25 baskets.

"Our guys really responded to the whooping we took in Tucson (a 76-55 loss on Thursday)," Boyle said. "We took a big step forward, especially in the second half, on both offense and defense."

HOW IT HAPPENED: After taking a three-point lead into intermission, the Buffs took control early in the second half with five 3-pointers in the first seven minutes. Walker, da Silva, Nique Clifford, Battey and K.J. Simpson each drained bombs as Colorado pushed its lead to 56-45 with 12:49 remaining.

CU then methodically built its lead to as much as 18 and the Sun Devils never challenged again. The Buffs held ASU scoreless over a four minute stretch in the final minutes to put the game away, as Arizona State scored just five points in the final eight minutes.

The Buffs received key contributions from a number of players at critical junctures all night.

Defensively, CU's Elijah Parquet held ASU leading scorer DJ Horne to just nine points on 4-for-11 shooting. Clifford came off the bench to post a solid defensive effort along with a 3-pointer and blocked shot in Colorado's decisive second-half run, Walker was a rebounding machine and Barthelemy, Battey and da Silva all had key baskets.

"Our young guys are growing up," Boyle said. "They're still growing, they're still learning. We knew that this year would have some ups and downs. I know we're not a veteran team, but our young guys are learning and they're learning quick. It was a really good team team effort."

Colorado threatened to blow the game open early, jumping out to a 15-3 lead in the first six minutes. Walker, coming off a season-low four points in Thursday's loss to Arizona, hit CU's first three shots and assisted on the next two while ASU hit just one of its first 11 shots.

But the Buffs went cold and ASU chipped away at the lead, using a 12-1 run to cut Colorado's lead to 16-15 midway through the half.

The Buffs momentarily regrouped and rebuilt their lead to 10 on a Barthelemy 3-pointer and five straight points from da Silva gave CU a 29-19 cushion.

But Arizona State rallied again, using a 9-0 run to cut CU's lead to one before the Buffs pushed their edge back to three, 37-34, at halftime.

BOULDER — Colorado came up just short in its bid for a win over a ranked team Thursday, as the Buffaloes dropped a 61-58 decision to No. 16 USC at the CU Events Center.

Tad Boyle's Buffs dropped to 12-5 overall and 4-3 in Pac-12 play while also falling to 0-4 against ranked teams this season. The Trojans, who ended a seven-game losing streak to Colorado, improved to 15-2, 5-2.

The Buffs led, 50-45, with 6:40 to play, but USC outscored Colorado 16-8 down the stretch for the win.

Jabari Walker led CU with 13 points and Evan Battey and Tristan da Silva each added 10.

Chevez Goodwin led USC with 14 points and had 18 rebounds.

The Buffs shot just 31 percent from the floor (16-for-51) and were outrebounded, 47-32. USC had 18 offensive rebounds for 15 second-chance points and Colorado committed 16 turnovers that led to 14 USC points.

The Buffs did hit 19 of their 25 free throw attempts as well as seven of their 15 3-point tries. Colorado also held USC to 37 percent shooting (23-for-62).

"I'll take the blame for this one, especially in terms of our offensive inefficiency," an obviously disappointed Boyle said. "I thought we had made strides offensively, but we did not move the ball and we did not move our bodies … But I will not take the blame for being outrebounded by 15. That is where toughness shows up and they were the tougher team tonight."

HOW IT HAPPENED: After a late CU rally in the first half sent the Buffs into intermission tied at 25-25, the Trojans jumped out to a six-point lead early in the second half. USC used a 7-0 run to take a 43-37 edge seven minutes in as the Buffs came up empty on five straight possessions.

But Colorado responded with a 10-0 run over the next six minutes to take a 47-43 lead with 8:18 to play. Nique Clifford, who had his first career start in place of injured Elijah Parquet, began the run with a thunderous dunk on a fast break, fueled by a Walker steal. Battey then added a bucket inside, Luke O'Brien drained a long 3-pointer and Clifford capped the drive with another long trey.

Minutes later, Colorado stretched its cushion to five, 50-45, on a da Silva 3-pointer with 6:40 remaining. That brought the crowd of 7,475 alive and the Buffs were in position to knock off a top-25 team.

But from that point on, the Buffs went cold while also committing some critical turnovers. The Trojans, meanwhile, methodically worked their way back in the game with five straight points to knot the score at 50-50 with five minutes to play.

Colorado did momentarily regain the lead on two K.J. Simpson free throws before the Trojans went ahead, 53-52, on a Boogie Ellis three-point play. The Buffs again tied the game on a Battey free throw with 2:43 to play before USC took the lead for good, 55-53, when USC's Goodwin corralled a loose ball under the bucket and slipped it home.

Colorado did close the gap to one with two Walker free throws in the final minute before Goodwin hit one of two free throw tries for a 58-56 USC lead with 26 seconds left.

That gave the Buffs a chance to tie on their next possession, but CU missed a shot at the rim and the Trojans added another free throw. The Buffs then turned it over on their next possession and the Trojans added two more free throws with six seconds left to ice the win.

CU connected on just one of its final nine field goal tries.

Colorado took an early lead and held the edge for the first nine minutes of the opening half as CU limited the Trojans to 3-for-13 shooting in the span.

But USC put together a 9-0 run to take a 17-11 lead with 7:49 to go in the half as Isaiah Mobley scored six straight points for USC with Colorado's Walker on the bench with two fouls.

Colorado, though, rallied over the final minutes of the half. CU used an 8-2 run in the final 3:17 to send the game into intermission tied at 25-25. Battey had four points in the surge and Simpson and Walker each hit a pair of free throws.

BOULDER — Colorado's furious second-half rally came up just short Saturday and the Buffaloes dropped a 71-65 decision to No. 9 UCLA at the CU Events center.

The Buffs (12-6, 4-4) trailed by 15 at intermission and by 17 early in the second half, but slowly chipped away at the lead and cut the deficit to just one, 62-61, with 1:54 to play. But they could never completely get over the hump, as the Bruins hit a crucial 3-pointer and six free throws in the final 1:30 to slip away with the win.

Jabari Walker led CU with 19 points and seven rebounds. Evan Battey added 15 points and K.J. Simpson and Tristan da Silva each scored 10.

Johnny Juzang led UCLA (13-2, 5-1) with 23 points.

The Buffs were their own worst enemy in the first half, committing 14 of their 21 total turnovers before intermission, which the Bruins converted into 18 points. But after allowing UCLA to shoot 50 percent from the floor in the first half, CU limited the Bruins to 37 percent shooting after halftime to help fuel the comeback.

CU shot 50 percent for the game (22-for-44), including 15-for-27 in the second half. The Buffs also won the rebound battle, 33-26, one game after getting pummeled on the boards in a loss to USC.

But despite the comeback, they couldn't get completely over the hump and fell to 0-5 against ranked teams this season.

HOW IT HAPPENED: Colorado trailed by 15 at the half, 43-28, after the Bruins outscored the Buffs 22-8 over the last eight minutes of the first half, and by 17 early in the second half.

But CU slowly chiseled away at the lead when the Bruins hit just four of their first 15 shots of the second half.

The Buffs finally shaved the deficit to single digits with 11 minutes to play when a 6-0 surge pulled them within 49-41, with Simpson scoring four and Battey adding a short jumper off a Julian Hammond III assist.

Simpson had one of his best games as a Buff, adding seven rebounds and five assists — and just one turnover — to his 10 points, along with playing some solid defense in 25 minutes on the floor.

The Bruins finally answered to push the lead back to 10, but a Lawson Lovering bucket inside cut the deficit back to eight and UCLA called timeout.

But after a Bruins bucket out of the break, Colorado answered with two straight buckets from da Silva, both off offensive rebounds. That brought another UCLA timeout with 8:09 to play and the Buffs trailing by just six, 53-47, as they limited UCLA to just 10 points in the first 13 minutes of the half.

Colorado then narrowed the gap to three, 55-52, on a Battey 3-pointer with five minutes to play, then pulled back within three again a minute later on a Walker three-point play.

UCLA momentarily pushed the lead back to five before the Buffs got back-to-back buckets from Battey and Walker, whose thunderous dunk off a pass from da Silva cut the deficit to 62-61 with 1:54 to play.

But that was as close as Colorado could get. The Bruins answered with a 3-pointer from Tyger Campbell — his first field goal of the game — to go back up by four, 65-61, with 1:30 to play.

Colorado came back with two free throws from Battey on its next possession to pull within 65-63, then forced a UCLA miss and the Buffs called timeout with 36 seconds remaining.

But the Buffs couldn't convert on the possession, missing a layup, and they were forced to foul. Juzang hit two free throws with 16 seconds left to rebuild the Bruins' cushion to four, 67-63, and the Bruins hit four more free throws in the final seconds to ice the win.

Colorado survived a slow start and cut an early 10-point UCLA lead down to one, 21-20, with eight minutes to go in the half on a da Silva 3-pointer. Walker had seven of his 10 first-half points in the comeback and Colorado's defense forced six straight empty UCLA possessions to pull the Buffs back into the game.

But the Bruins quickly regained control, as CU endured a crushing plague of turnovers, including five in a six-possession stretch that helped the Bruins to a 9-1 run. UCLA outscored Colorado 22-8 over the last eight minutes of the half to take a 43-28 lead into intermission.

Colorado finished the half with 14 turnovers, which the Bruins converted into 18 points, UCLA also shot 50 percent from the floor (15-for-30).

EUGENE, Ore. — After two heartbreaking losses at home, Colorado wasn't about to let an opportunity for a big win slip away on the road. Instead, they seized the chance. The Buffs overcame a 15-point first-half deficit Tuesday and rallied to collect a Pac-12 road win, knocking off Oregon, 82-78, at Matthew Knight Arena.

The Buffs improved to 13-6 overall and 5-4 in Pac-12 play while the Ducks had their six-game win streak come to an end to fall to 12-7, 5-3.

CU's Jabari Walker recorded his ninth double-double of the season with 24 points and 11 rebounds. Keeshawn Barthelemy added 19 points and four assists and Tristan da Silva had 15 points. Quincy Guerrier led Oregon with 22 points.

The win was CU's first on Oregon's home floor since 2013 and ended a streak of 13 straight games between the two teams with the home team winning.

Colorado trailed by 15 early in the game, but managed to cut the deficit to five by halftime. The Ducks momentarily rebuilt their lead to nine early in the second half before CU began chipping away at the deficit.

The Buffs took their first lead of the game, 62-61, on an Evan Battey 3-pointer with 9:20 remaining, then went ahead for good with a 7-0 run that gave CU a 69-63 edge with 7:28 on the clock.

The Ducks cut Colorado's edge to three in the final seconds, but a Battey free throw with 4.9 remaining gave CU a four-point lead to clinch the win.

Colorado shot 58 percent from the floor in the second half (15-for-26) and finished with a 30-22 rebounding edge for the game.

HOW IT HAPPENED: The Buffs needed every bit of poise they could muster after Oregon hit six of its first seven shots of the game to jump out to a 13-0 lead, a cushion the Ducks later extended to 20-5.

CU didn't help its own cause early, committing nine turnovers in the first half.

But despite the Ducks' big early run, the Buffs never blinked. They shaved the deficit to five by halftime, 42-37, then withstood another Oregon run early in the second half before beginning their winning rally.

After Oregon rebuilt its lead to nine early in the second half, the Buffs responded with a 9-0 run to finally tie the game at 57-57 with 12:05 to play.

Walker had four points to start the run, including a putback dunk, before K.J. Simpson scored on a drive to the rim. Then, following Oregon's fourth straight empty possession, Simpson assisted on a da Silva three-point play.

After Oregon went back ahead two more times, Battey's 3-pointer gave CU its first lead of the game, 62-61, with 9:20 still to play. The Ducks then took the lead one more time, but Colorado responded with a 7-0 run to take 69-63 lead and the Buffs never trailed again.

Walker started the decisive run with a bucket inside on a Barthelemy assist before Barthelemy drove the lane for a basket. CU then forced an Oregon turnover and Barthelemy found an open Luke O'Brien for a 3-pointer to complete the run.

Colorado's defense came up big in the decisive stretch, forcing four Oregon turnovers and holding the Ducks to 1-for-8 shooting.

The Ducks finally ended their drought with four unanswered points to cut Colorado's lead to two, 69-67, but CU answered with two free throws from Barthelemy and a Walker bucket to push the lead back to six, 73-67, with under four minutes.

But the Buffs went cold after Walker's basket. CU endured three straight turnovers in a two-minute span and Oregon finally converted, getting a Quincy Guerrier 3-pointer with 1:35 to play to cut the Buffs' lead to 73-70.

CU finally found its footing, getting a da Silva basket with 1:04 on the clock and two more Barthelemy free throws with 47 seconds left while stymying the Ducks on the defensive end to rebuild their cushion to seven.

The Buffs then made their free throws down the stretch to hold on for the win, including Battey's game-clincher with 4.8 seconds on the clock to make it a two-possession game. CU finished 20-for-22 from the line.

The Ducks threatened to turn the game into a blowout early, jumping out to a 13-0 lead and extending the margin to 20-5 with 14:22 still to play.

The Buffs hit just two of their first nine shots from the floor while Oregon was 6 for its first 7. CU also didn't grab its first rebound until more than five minutes in.

But Colorado refused to go away quietly. CU slowly chipped away t the deficit and finally whittled it down to just five, 31-26, on a 3-pointer from Simpson and an offensive rebound and bucket from da Silva with 4:55 to play.

The Ducks briefly pushed their lead back to double digits, but Colorado had one more answer. Simpson, da Silva and Walker all had 3-pointers in a closing 11-4 run and Colorado trailed by just five at intermission, 42-37.

SEATTLE, Wash. — Another furious Colorado rally came up just short Thursday as the Buffaloes dropped a 60-58 decision to Washington at Alaska Airlines Arena.

Jabari Walker was the only Buff in double figures, finishing with 14 points and nine rebounds. Elijah Parquet and Keeshawn Barthelemy each scored nine for CU (13-7, 5-5). Terrell Brown Jr. tossed in 26 for Washington (10-8, 5-3).

The Buffaloes shot just 34 percent from the floor (18-for-53), committed 16 turnovers that led to 21 Washington points and gave up 15 offensive rebounds.

But despite their shooting and turnovers woes, the Buffs managed to cut a 15-point second-half deficit down to two in the final minute. CU had a chance to tie the game in the waning seconds but Walker's baseline shot drew iron and the Huskies won despite not scoring for the final four minutes of the game.

"Absolutely pathetic by the Colorado Buffaloes tonight," head coach Tad Boyle said in his post-game radio interview. "We could not have played worse. This is on us. This is totally on us. We got bullied tonight. We got punked, we got out-toughed and there's no excuse for it, and I'm the coach that let it happen."

HOW IT HAPPENED: Thursday was the third straight game in which the Buffs staged a big rally. They came up just short against UCLA a week ago after falling behind by 17, then came from 15 down to win at Oregon on Tuesday.

But their miscues proved to be too much to overcome against the Huskies, as their shooting woes couldn't make up for their turnovers. CU's 34 percent shooting effort was the Buffs' second-lowest of the season, and it included an 8-for-24 night from 3-point range.

Early in the game, Colorado looked ready to win its third straight road game. The Buffs led by as much as seven in the first half and still had a one-point edge, 32-31, at intermission.

But everything went south in a hurry for CU after halftime. The Huskies turned up their defensive pressure and the Buffs cooperated by committing six turnovers in the first 10 minutes while also missing eight of their first nine shots.

That stretch produced a 19-3 Washington run that included a 10-0 surge at the end, resulting in a 52-37 UW lead with 9:54 remaining in the game.

Still, the Buffs managed a comeback despite their problems. Colorado ended a five-minute scoring drought with a Parquet 3-pointer, then slowly cut the deficit back down to six, 59-53, on a 3-pointer from Julian Hammond III and a Walker dunk with 4:45 to play.

Washington hit a free throw to push its lead back to seven, but neither team then scored over the ensuing three minutes before the Buffs pulled to within four, 60-56, on another Parquet 3-pointer with 1:23 to play.

The Huskies then virtually invited the Buffs to take control.

Washington then missed a free throw with a minute to go and Hammond hit two free throws with 58 seconds left to pull Colorado to within two, 60-58. Washington's Brown then missed two more free throws with 24 seconds remaining, giving CU one last shot at a tie.

But a Walker fadeaway from the baseline came up short and the Huskies held on for the 60-58 win, despite not scoring in the last 4:18 of the game.

After trading the lead with the Huskies three times in the first nine minutes of the game, CU took control with a 9-0 run, turning a 15-13 deficit into a 22-15 lead. Barthelemy started the surge with a 3-pointer and Walker followed with a drive to the bucket before Nique Clifford made it seven in a row with a fastbreak dunk.

That brought on a Washington timeout, but the Buffs added two more to the run after the break with two Walker free throws.

Washington, however, slowly chipped away and outscored Colorado 11-5 over the last three minutes of the half to cut the Buffaloes' lead to one, 32-31, by intermission.

The Buffs committed seven turnovers in the first half, but just one in the final 11 minutes. Still, UW converted those miscues into eight points.

While CU was just 9-for-30 from the field in the opening half, the Buffs maintained their lead by hitting 10 of 12 free throw tries.

PULLMAN, Wash. — A road trip that started out with a bang for Colorado ended with a thud Sunday, as the shorthanded Buffaloes dropped a 70-43 decision to Washington State at Beasley Coliseum.

Tad Boyle's Buffs, who started their three-game road trip with a win at Oregon, fell to 13-8 overall and 5-6 in Pac-12 play with their second straight loss. WSU improved to 12-7, 5-3.

Jabari Walker was the only CU player in double figures, finishing with 11 points and eight rebounds. Nique Clifford scored eight for CU and freshman K.J. Simpson, who received his first start as a Buff, had four points, five assists and three rebounds.

Michael Flowers led four Cougars in double figures with 16 points.

The Buffs played without the services of regular starters Elijah Parquet (injury) and Tristan da Silva (illness), but Colorado was missing more than just two key players. The Buffs were once again plagued by turnovers and poor shooting and the Cougars were happy to take advantage.

The Buffs trailed by 13 midway through the first half and by 21 at intermission. But unlike the last three games, when the Buffs rallied from double-digits to make it a close game — including the win at Oregon — there was nothing resembling a comeback against WSU.

Instead, the Cougars steadily built their cushion in the second half, pushing their lead to as much as 35 down the stretch.

Colorado shot just 29 percent from the floor (16-for-56) while the Cougars were 26-for-53, including 12 3-pointers, tying the most by a CU opponent this year. WSU also won the rebound battle 39-30 and the Buffs committed 16 turnovers that led to 26 Washington State points.

"After the Washington loss I was angry, I was disappointed, I was frustrated," Boyle said. "Tonight, I'm just embarrassed. This was an embarrassing performance by our basketball team and it falls on me. I'm the head coach. I've been here for almost 12 years as the head coach and I've not experienced that kind of loss like we experienced tonight. This is a new one for me."

HOW IT HAPPENED: Almost nothing went right for the Buffs from the very beginning. Washington State used an 18-1 run over a six-minute span to take a 23-6 lead midway through the half, and the Cougars pushed their advantage to 21 by intermission, 39-18.

Colorado shot just 7-for-27 in the half and the Buffs once again compounded their shooting woes with turnovers. CU committed nine miscues in the first half, which WSU converted into 14 points.

"Offensively we really struggled shooting the ball and finishing," Boyle said. "Our Achilles heel on offense is finishing around the rim and we had that trouble tonight. There's going to be nights like that, but you can't give them the ball. Some of the turnovers we had were shake-your-head turnovers."

The Buffs went 6:30 without a field goal during WSU's big run, and allowed WSU to collect 10 second-chance points in the half, including a late 3-pointer that came after three straight offensive rebounds.

The second half was basically a repeat of the first. Colorado momentarily cut the deficit to 20 on buckets from Walker and Simpsonk but that was as close as CU could dome. The Buffs shooting troubles continued, the Cougars shot better than 50 percent from the floor and WSU steadily extended its lead.

Colorado's deficit hit the 30-point mark with 9:32 to play, and the Buffs trailed by as much as 35 over the final minutes.

BOULDER — Colorado couldn't contain the turnover bug Thursday and the Buffaloes watched Oregon break open a tight game in the second half to take a 66-51 win at the CU Events Center.

CU's third straight loss dropped the Buffs to 13-9 overall and 5-7 in Pac-12 play. The Ducks recorded their first win ever in Boulder after 10 straight defeats to improve to 14-7, 7-3.

The Buffs, who won at Oregon just nine days previously, received 16 points from Keeshawn Barthelemy, all in the first half. CU's Jabari Walker recorded his 10th double-double of the season with 11 points and 12 rebounds and Evan Battey had 10 points for the Buffs.

Jacob Young led Oregon with 21 points.

The Buffs had a solid first half and were down by just one, 36-35, at intermission. But they committed 13 of their 20 turnovers in the second half, leading to 19 points for the Ducks as Oregon outscored Colorado 30-16 in the final 20 minutes.

It was the Buffs' fifth straight game with at least 16 turnovers. CU shot just 39 percent (19-for-49), including a 6-for-22 effort in the second half, meaning the Buffs had twice as many turnovers as baskets in the final 20 minutes.

Oregon connected on 42 percent of its field goal tries, but hit 13 of 28 attempts after halftime.

Colorado coach Tad Boyle, who tested positive Covid-19 earlier in the week, missed the game. Associate head coach Mike Rohn served as acting head coach.

"I didn't do a very good job in the second half," Rohn said. "We knew turnovers were going to be important in this game and I think we just got sped up a little when we got down in the second half. You can't turn the ball over against a good team like Oregon. That was basically the whole game."

In CU's 82-78 win in Eugene last week, the Buffs had 17 turnovers but shot 50 percent from the floor, including 8-for-15 from 3-point range. Thursday, CU hit just 5-of-19 from long range.

HOW IT HAPPENED: After trailing by one at intermission, the Buffs pulled into a 40-40 tie on two Tristan da Silva free throws three minutes into the second half.

Oregon then regained the lead but Colorado pulled back to within two, 45-43, on Battey's 3-pointer four minutes later.

But from that point on, the Ducks took control as Colorado's turnover woes exploded. CU committed 12 miscues over the next 12 minutes, leading to 17 Oregon points, and the Ducks pushed their lead to double digits midway through the half, 54-43, following four straight CU turnovers.

Oregon then extended its cushion to as much as 19 in the final minutes, as the Ducks finished with 25 points off CU's 20 turnovers.

While it was the first home loss ever against the Ducks, including eight straight wins in the Boyle era, the Buffs refused to use Boyle's absence as an excuse.

"Coach instills confidence in me and my teammates and there was that sense of presence missing, but that doesn't have anything to do with the game," Battey said. "It's just more on us throwing away the ball. He can't save us from turning the ball over 20 times."

Colorado trailed by one at intermission, 36-35, after a first half that featured 10 lead changes and four ties.

The Buffs' biggest lead of the half came with three minutes remaining after Barthelemy registered a steal and dunk to give CU a 32-27 advantage.

But Colorado managed just one more field goal down the stretch while Oregon put together a 9-3 run, taking the lead into the locker room on a Young 3-pointer at the buzzer.

BOULDER — A matchup with struggling Oregon State proved to be just the get-well tonic Colorado needed Saturday, as the Buffaloes rolled to an 86-63 win over the Beavers at the CU Events Center.

CU coach Tad Boyle returned to the bench and the Buffs ended a three-game overall losing streak and a three-game skid on their home court to improve to 14-9 overall and 6-7 in Pac-12 play. The Beavers — who beat the Buffs in the Pac-12 tourney title game last year and reached the NCAA Tournament Elite Eight — lost their seventh in a row and fell to 3-17, 1-9.

Jabari Walker led four Buffs in double figures, finishing with 15 points and 11 rebounds for his 11th double-double of the season. Keeshawn Barthelemy scored 16 (14 in the first half), Nique Clifford added 15 and Tristan da Silva had 10 points, six rebounds and five assists. Luke O'Brien chipped in seven points and a career-high eight rebounds.

Glenn Taylor Jr. led the Beavers with 15 points.

The Buffs were red-hot from the beginning, hitting their first nine 3-point tries en route to 11 treys in the first half, paving the way for a 49-27 halftime lead. CU then built the cushion to as much as 35 in the second half to coast to the win, finishing 14-for-25 from 3-point range and 32-for-56 overall from the floor.

The Buffs finished with 19 assists and registered a commanding 40-23 edge on the boards.

"This team needed this," said Boyle, who missed Thursday's loss to Oregon because of Covid-19 protocols. "We needed it emotionally and we needed it mentally. We caught a wounded duck at home and it's what we needed."

HOW IT HAPPENED: The Buffs did indeed hit their shots. They knocked down their first four attempts from the floor to take a 10-0 lead less than four minutes in, and they stayed hot the rest of the half.

A 16-2 surge, which included another 10-0 run, gave Colorado a 32-13 lead with nine minutes still to play in the half, as the Buffs hit four threes in the burst, part of a 9-for-9 start from long range.

K.J. Simpson, Julian Hammond III, da Silva and O'Brien all had 3-pointers in what proved to be the decisive stretch of the game.

"When you're making shots, it cures a lot of ills," Boyle said. "We made shots tonight."

After hitting their first nine 3-point tries, CU finished the half 11-for-15 from beyond the arc, part of a 19-for-28 first-half shooting effort. Colorado led by as much as 23, taking a 49-26 lead late in the half, before settling for a 49-27 lead at intermission.

The 11 3-pointers in the first half surpassed Colorado's previous season high for treys in a game (10 against Arizona State) and matched a program record for 3-pointers in a half, equaling the 11 CU hit in the first half of last year's NCAA Tournament win over Georgetown.

Six different Buffs hit at least one 3-pointer in the first half, led by Barthelemy, who had four en route to 14 points in the first half.

"It's definitely been a rough stretch the last three or four games, but our attitude stayed positive," O'Brien said. "It showed today. Overall we played with a lot of energy."

The Buffs also had 11 of their 19 assists in the first half — matching their total in Thursday's loss to Oregon.

"I was really pleased to see them move the ball and share the ball," Boyle said. "When we do that, we're a good offensive team."

Colorado continued to roll in the second half. Evan Battey and Nique Clifford hit 3-pointers early in the half and the Buffs pushed their lead into the 30s less than nine minutes in. CU's big lead, a 35-point margin, came on two Clifford free throws that gave the Buffs a 72-37 advantage with 8:54 still to play.

Oregon State never had an answer on defense, and the Beavers compounded their woes by struggling on the offensive end as well, shooting just 23-for-60.

Colorado's big lead also gave Boyle the opportunity to empty his bench at game's end and give Buffs walk-ons some game experience.

BOULDER — Colorado's Jabari Walker recorded his 12th double-double of the season Saturday, helping fuel a big second-half comeback as the Buffaloes rallied to take an 81-76 win over Utah at the CU Events Center.

Tad Boyle's Buffs won their second in a row to improve to 15-9 overall and 7-7 in Pac-12 play. The Utes lost for the 12th time in their last 13 games to fall to 9-16, 2-13.

Walker finished with 22 points and 13 rebounds for his Pac-12-leading 12th double-double and third in a row. Evan Battey added 16 points, Tristan da Silva and Keeshawn Barthelemy each scored 14 and Nique Clifford had 10.

Brendan Carlsen led Utah with 25, with 21 coming in the first half.

The Buffs trailed by as much as 11 in the second half before staging their rally. Walker had 14 of his 22 points in the final 6:25 of the game, all after being whistled for his fourth foul.

Colorado shot 51 percent from the floor (25-for-49) and also hit 24 of 29 free throw tries. The Utes finished 29-for-66 from the floor, but the Pac-12's leading free throw team hit just 10 of its 19 attempts from the stripe.

Colorado also committed 14 turnovers that led to 15 Utah points.

HOW IT HAPPENED: The Buffs closed an 11-point first-half deficit to three by intermission, but the Utes built the edge back to 11, 49-38, early in the second half after back-to-back 3-pointers.

But Colorado rallied again and chipped away at the lead. A Clifford 3-pointer off an assist from Battey — coming after Clifford dived to save a loose ball from going out of bounds — pulled Colorado to within five at the 9:41 mark and a Barthelemy trey two minutes later closed the gap to two, 61-59.

Walker, who had been whistled for his fourth foul with 13:41 still to play, re-entered soon after Barthelemy's 3-pointer and took control.

The CU sophomore drained a 3-pointer to pull CU within one, then gave CU its first lead of the game, 66-65, with a pair of free throws at the 4:30 mark.

Utah momentarily regained the lead before Walker went on a personal 7-0 run. He knocked down a shot off the glass, went inside for another bucket and then muscled his way to a three-point play at the rim to give Colorado its biggest cushion of the game, 73-67, with 1:48 to play.

Walker then added two more free throws with 1:10 remaining, giving him 11 straight points for the Buffs and a 75-69 Colorado lead. Walker scored 14 points, grabbed three rebounds and recorded two steals in the final 6:25 of the game — all with four fouls.

The Buffs then held the Utes off in the final minute for the win, hitting eight free throws in the final 1:10.

The Buffs started slowly and never really found their rhythm in the first half — something Utah's Carlson had no trouble doing.

The Utah big man scored the first six points of the game as Utah jumped out to an 8-0 lead, and CU's deficit hit as much as 11 after a pair of Carlson 3-pointers gave the Utes a 25-14 lead with 8:17 to play in the half.

Carlson finished the half with a career-high 21 points, but the Buffs did manage to chip away at the lead. Colorado outscored the Utes 15-7 over the last five minutes of the half to pull within three, 36-33, at intermission.

Walker also fueled the late first-half surge, returning to the game with two fouls and scoring four quick points. Battey added a 3-pointer in the final minute and Clifford closed the half with an alley-oop dunk off a pass from Barthelemy to pull the Buffs within three at the buzzer.

The Buffs once again were hounded by turnovers, committing nine in the first half that led to 10 Utah points.

CORVALLIS, Ore. — Colorado's Jabari Walker recorded his fourth straight double-double and 13th of the season Tuesday to lead the Buffaloes to a 90-64 win over Oregon State at Gill Coliseum.

Tad Boyle's Buffs, playing the opener of a three-game road trip, won their third in a row to improve to 16-9 overall and 8-7 in Pac-12 play. The Beavers lost their 10th straight and fell to 3-20, 1-12.

Colorado led by 12 at the half, then withstood a minor OSU comeback after intermission before putting the game away for good. The Buffs outscored the Beavers 21-5 over the final eight minutes of the contest to win going away.

Walker, the leading rebounder in the Pac-12, had 24 points and 15 rebounds to lead five Buffs in double-figure scoring. Tristan da Silva scored 15, Nique Clifford and Luke O'Brien each added 14 (a career high for O'Brien) and K.J. Simpson tallied 10.

DaShawn Davis led OSU with 22 points.

The Buffs were dominant in almost every statistical category, including a 45-25 edge on the boards that led to a 17-4 advantage in second-chance points. Along with Walker's 15 rebounds, Clifford finished with seven and Simpson grabbed five.

The Buffs also had 20 assists on 31 baskets, with Clifford, da Silva and Keeshawn Barthelemy each handing out four. Colorado finished shooting 50 percent from the floor (31-for-62) while holding OSU to 44 percent (28-for-63). CU also shot 10-for-21 from 3-point range while the Beavers missed their first 13 shots from beyond the arc, finishing 3-for-19.

"Overall, I'm really pleased with the effort tonight," Boyle said. "When you win going away on the road, you have to enjoy it."

HOW IT HAPPENED: Colorado closed the first half with a 14-2 run to break open a tight game and take a 44-32 lead into intermission.

But the Buffs then committed three turnovers in the first three minutes of the second half, fueling a 9-2 OSU run that helped cut Colorado's cushion to four, 48-44.

That prompted a Colorado timeout and the Buffs regrouped after the break. CU slowly built its lead back to double digits with a 13-6 surge, getting 3-pointers from da Silva and O'Brien and a pair of buckets from Simpson to take a 61-50 lead at the 11:29 mark.

"We played free," Walker said. "It was just about effort and who wanted it more. We have a lot of young guys and we're still learning. We haven't reached our peak yet."

The Buffs continued to apply the pressure down the stretch. After Oregon State pulled to within 69-59 with 8:22 to play, the Buffs put the game away with a 17-0 run over the next six minutes.

O'Brien started the surge with another 3-pointer, and a Clifford trey with 5:33 to play pushed the Buffs' edge to 20. Colorado then extended its lead to as much as 27 in the final minutes, 86-59, before the Beavers finally ended a six-minute scoring drought.

Colorado's final tally put the Buffs over the 80-point mark for the third straight game and 10th time this season.

Along with his fourth straight double-double, Walker was perfect from the free throw line for the third straight game, going 10-for-10 from the stripe, making him 21-for-21 over the last three games.

The Buffs displayed good balance in the first half en route to a 44-32 lead at intermission. Colorado had 13 assists on 15 baskets, led by four from Clifford. Walker had 12 points and seven rebounds in the first half while da Silva had nine points and five rebounds.

BERKELEY, Calif. — Colorado's Jabari Walker recorded his fifth straight double-double Thursday to spark a big second-half CU rally and the Buffaloes claimed a 70-62 win over Cal at Haas Pavilion.

Tad Boyle's Buffs won their fourth straight game to improve to 17-9 overall and 9-7 in Pac-12 play. The Bears fell to 11-16 and 4-12.

The Buffs trailed by seven at the half, 35-28, but used a pair of 14-1 runs after intermission to take control and the Bears never mounted a rally down the stretch.

Walker continued his outstanding February run with 19 points and a career-high tying 15 rebounds for his Pac-12 leading 14th double-double of the season. Walker was also a perfect 6-for-6 from the free throw line, his fourth straight game without a miss from the stripe, giving him 27 consecutive made free throws.

K.J. Simpson tallied a career-high 19 points and Evan Battey added 18 points and six boards for the Buffs.

Grant Anticevich and Jalen Celestine lead Cal with 11 points apiece.

After allowing the Bears to shoot 52 percent from the floor in the first half, Colorado held Cal to 25 percent shooting after intermission (8-for-32). That included a 2-for-19 start to fuel CU's decisive second-half runs.

The Buffs also held a 43-28 edge on the boards, including a 29-11 advantage after halftime, and Colorado finished a respectable 43 percent from the floor (22-for-51).

The Buffs also finished with just 10 turnovers, their lowest total in their last 19 games, and they hit 21 of 24 free throw attempts.

"A good win for us," said Boyle, whose Buffs presented him with his 250th win at Colorado. "I'm really pleased with the toughness we showed. Cal's a physical team. We had to be tougher and stronger and we played that way."

HOW IT HAPPENED: Colorado trailed by seven at the half, 35-28, after Cal led by as much as 11 in the first half after shooting 52 percent from the floor (15-for-29).

The Buffs' defense — or lack thereof — proved to be the topic of Boyle's halftime address.

"He was on fire," Battey said. "It was all defense."

The message found its mark. CU forced seven consecutive Cal misses to start the second half, sparking a 14-1 run that gave CU a 42-36 lead less than four minutes in. Battey and Keeshawn Barthelemy both had five points in the surge while the Bears missed their first seven field goal attempts.

"We clawed our way back in by getting stops," Boyle said. "We adjusted in the second half and turned it around."

The Bears did manage to briefly pull back to within two before Colorado responded with another 14-1 run to build a 15-point cushion, 58-43, with 6:44 to play. Simpson and Walker each had five points in the run while Colorado's defense held Cal to 2-for-19 shooting over the first 14 minutes of the period.

The Buffs then maintained control down the stretch as Cal never came closer than eight again.

Walker was once again a big catalyst in CU's second-half comeback, tallying 13 of his points and nine rebounds in the second half. In five games in February, the Pac-12's leading rebounder is averaging 18.2 points and 13.2 rebounds per game.

The first half didn't look promising for Colorado.

After an opening eight minutes that produced three lead changes, the Buffs gave up a 10-0 run that turned a 14-13 lead into a 23-14 deficit. Colorado missed nine straight field goal tries in the drought while the Bears hit five of six attempts.

The Bears then extended their cushion to 11 before the Buffs narrowed the lead to seven by halftime. Simpson scored five in a row for Colorado and Tristan da Silva hit two free throws in the final minute to pull Colorado to within 35-28 at intermission.

The Buffs finished the first half shooting just 40 percent (10-for-25) while allowing the Bears to hit 52 percent of their shots (15-for-29).

STANFORD, Calif. — Colorado put five players in double figures and CU's defense was stellar down the stretch Saturday, paving the way for a 70-53 win over Stanford at Maples Pavilion to give the Buffaloes a three-game road trip sweep.

Tad Boyle's Buffs won their fifth straight overall to improve to 18-9 overall and 10-7 in Pac-12 play. The Cardinal fell to 15-12, 8-9.

Evan Battey led the Buffs with 15 points. Nique Clifford added 14 and Keeshawn Barthelemy, Jabari Walker and K.J. Simpson each chipped in 10.

Jaiden Delaire led Stanford with 12 points.

The victory, on the heels of wins at Oregon State and Cal, gave Colorado just its second three-game conference road trip win streak since 2001 and its first ever three-game sweep on the same road trip.

Colorado rallied from a nine-point first-half deficit to trail by just two at the half, then used a 15-1 run midway through the second half to take the lead for good. The Buffs defense produced a six-minute Cardinal scoring drought in the second half and recorded 16 stops on Stanford's last 20 possessions of the game.

The Buffs finished 24-for-46 from the floor (52 percent) while holding the Cardinal to 21-for-54 shooting. CU also forced 15 Stanford turnovers, converting them into 17 points.

While Walker's streak of consecutive double-doubles came to an end at five, the Buffs had plenty of production up and down the lineup. Clifford collected seven rebounds and Luke O'Brien had five boards and a team-high four assists.

"I'm really proud of this team," Boyle said. "They're really coming into their own. The last couple of weeks we've seen a lot of maturity and growth."

HOW IT HAPPENED: Colorado trailed by nine early and by two at the half, 31-29.

But the Buffs stayed close over the first few minutes of the second half, then finally went ahead for good with a 15-1 run. Walker started the surge with a 3-pointer, Tristan da Silva hit a pair of buckets and a Simpson's basket gave CU a 51-46 lead midway through the half.

The Buffs then continued the run with two free throws from Simpson, an O'Brien bucket inside and a Walker dunk to give Colorado a 57-46 advantage with 5:27 remaining.

CU's defense played a big role in the surge, as the Buffs held Stanford to 1-for-11 shooting over an eight-minute stretch.

"Our defense won this game tonight," Boyle said. "We did a good job of keeping them out of the paint in the second half and we did a better job on the boards."

Stanford finally ended a six-minute scoring drought with back-to-back baskets to narrow Colorado's lead to seven with under five minutes remaining. But the Buffs regained momentum with eight straight points, capped by Battey's third 3-pointer of the night, to push their lead back to 15 with 2:09 to play and Stanford was finished for the night.

"Player-led teams, which is what we are now, are so much more dangerous than coach-led teams," Boyle said. "It starts with Evan Battey but doesn't end with Evan. This whole team is really coming together as a group. They love each other, they like being around each other, they have a lot of fun on the bus or plane, at practice. They really care about each other and it shows."

Colorado started the night slowly, committing four turnovers on its first six possessions and the Cardinal took advantage, carving out a 15-6 lead seven minutes in.

But the Buffs slowly chipped away at the deficit, putting together a 15-3 run to take a 21-18 lead with 7:31 to play in the half. Clifford had four points to start the surge, Simpson added six in a row, Will Loughlin tallied a basket and free throw and Clifford finished the burst with a shot off the glass.

But Colorado couldn't maintain the momentum and Stanford came back to take the lead by intermission, getting a Delaire 3-pointer in the final seconds of the half to take a 31-29 lead into halftime.

BOULDER — Colorado's five-game win streak game to a crashing halt Thursday, as the Buffaloes dropped an 82-65 decision to Arizona State at the CU Events Center.

Tad Boyle's Buffs fell to 18-10 overall and 10-8 in Pac-12 play while the Sun Devils avenged a home loss to Colorado earlier this season to improve to 11-16, 7-10.

The loss, coming on the heels of a win streak that saw the Buffs win three in a row on the road, dropped Colorado to 11-5 at home this year. That matches the most home losses for the Buffs in Boyle's 12 years in Boulder, with one home game — Saturday's matchup with No. 2 Arizona — remaining.

After a fast start, the Buffs fell behind midway through the first half and trailed by 11 at intermission, 37-26. Colorado missed nine straight 3-pointers in the first half and did not have a field goal in the final 5:37 of the period. The Sun Devils then steadily built their lead after intermission, pushing their cushion to as much as 26 down the stretch.

Evan Battey led CU with 13 points, Jabari Walker added 12 and Keeshawn Barthelemy chipped in 10.

The Sun Devils had four players in double figures, led by 18 from Jay Heath. ASU also won for just the second time in 11 tries in Boulder and ended a six-game losing streak on CU's floor.

The Buffs were dominated in just about every statistical category. The Sun Devils shot 49 percent for the game (30-for-61) while CU shot just 39 percent from the floor (21-for-54). ASU also thoroughly beat Colorado on the boards, 37-25 — CU's lowest rebound total of the season — and the Sun Devils had a 35-15 edge in points off the bench.

The Buffs also tied a season low with just eight assists.

HOW IT HAPPENED: Early on, the Buffs looked ready to extend their win streak to six. CU jumped out to a quick 5-0 lead on a Nique Clifford bucket and Battey 3-pointer, and still had a 16-14 advantage midway through the half.

But the situation quickly went south for the Buffs after that. ASU used an 11-0 run to claim a 25-16 lead and the Buffs never led again.

Colorado's offense indeed went stone cold over the last 10 minutes of the half. After Battey's opening 3-pointer, the Buffs missed nine in a row from long distance, and they failed to record a field goal in the final 5:37 of the half.

That opened the door for ASU to slowly build its lead into double digits. The Sun Devils went ahead 34-23 on the heels of an 8-0 run late in the half and pushed the margin to 13 before Colorado narrowed the deficit to 11, 37-26, with two Battey free throws just before halftime.

The Buffs' problems were compounded by foul troubles, with Walker whistled for three infractions before halftime. Walker drew his second less than six minutes in and headed to the bench, then his third at the 4:46 mark of the half soon after re-entering the game.

In their first matchup this season, the Buffs had a 46-31 rebounding edge in a 75-57 victory in Tempe.

But the Sun Devils flipped the script in Boulder, outrebounding Colorado by three in the first half and by nine in the second.

While Colorado has been a good second half team this year, the Buffs couldn't create anything resembling a rally after intermission. Instead, Arizona State steadily built its lead throughout the second half, extending its cushion to as much as 26 down the stretch.

The Buffs missed 13 of their first 18 shots of the half while ASU was 15-for-22 over the same stretch. That included an 8-for-8 ASU surge that helped produce a 10-0 run and a 26-point cushion, 72-46, with just under seven minutes to play.

BOULDER — Colorado followed its worst performance of the season with its best Saturday, as the Buffaloes carved out a 79-63 win over No. 2 Arizona before a sellout crowd of 11,079 at the CU Events Center.

The win, which matched the highest-ranked opponent Colorado has beaten in its history, improved the Buffs to 19-10 overall and 11-8 in Pac-12 play. The Wildcats fell to 25-3 and 15-2.

The victory also came against the highest-ranked opponent in the Tad Boyle era and the fourth against an AP top five team.

CU's only other win against a No. 2 team came in 1992, when Colorado knocked off No. 2 Oklahoma State.

The Buffs put five players in double figures, with Jabari Walker scoring 15 points and grabbing 14 rebounds for his 15th double-double of the season. Tristan da Silva led CU in scoring with 19 points, Keeshawn Barthelemy added 15, K.J. Simpson chipped in 13 and Evan Battey celebrated senior night with 11.

Azuolas Tubelis led Arizona with 13 while the Buffs held Wildcats leading scorer Benedict Mathurin to just 12 points on 3-for-11 shooting.

The victory came on the heels of Thursday's lethargic 82-65 loss to Arizona State, but the Buffs were a completely different team Saturday. CU overcame a five-point halftime deficit to dominate the Wildcats on both ends of the floor, holding the Wildcats to 39 percent shooting for the game and collecting a 35-33 rebounding edge.

CU shot 48 percent (31-for-64), hit 13 of 15 free throws and had a 54-26 edge on points in the paint, but the big difference came on the defensive end and in the intangibles that are Boyle's foundational cornerstones.

HOW IT HAPPENED: Colorado trailed by five at intermission, 37-32, but used a 13-5 surge over the first 3:20 of the second half to take a 45-42 lead and the Buffs never trailed again.

Colorado received key contributions from every scholarship player in uniform. Freshman Julian Hammond III, in his first start for the Buffs, had two baskets in the game-changing surge while Battey also delivered a pair, including a long 3-pointer. A da Silva basket at the 17:16 mark gave CU a 43-42 lead and the Buffs were in control the rest of the night.

The Buffs didn't stop after their opening second-half surge. Colorado's defense continued to apply pressure and the offense continued to deliver. The Buffs put together a 9-2 run, getting six points from Simpson, to extend their cushion to 54-46 with 13:33 to play.

Colorado held Arizona to 3-for-8 shooting over the first five minutes of the half while the Buffs were 7-for-9.

CU proceeded to build its lead to 13 with a 9-0 run for a 63-50 lead with seven minutes to play. The biggest play of the run came when Nique Clifford refused to give up in a scramble for a loose ball and gathered it in before flipping it to Simpson, who swished a long trey.

The Wildcats had one more run in their pocket, scoring seven in a row to cut CU's advantage to six. But the Buffs pushed their cushion back to nine, 68-59, with two da Silva free throws at the 4:44 mark, then put the game away over the next two minutes.

Battey hit two free throws with 3:10 to play after Barthelemy drew a charge on the defensive end. Walker followed with a drive inside and a da Silva 3-pointer — following two straight steals from the Buffs — gave CU a 75-59 lead with 2:01 remaining.

Colorado started slowly, missing its first 11 field goal tries as Arizona jumped out to an 8-2 lead.

But the Buffs finally hit a field goal at the 13:42 mark with a Barthelemy layup, and a minute later they started a 12-0 run to take a 16-11 lead. CU hit six of seven shots in the surge, with da Silva hitting a pair of buckets and Battey, Barthelemy, Walker and Luke O'Brien all scoring as well.

But the Wildcats withstood the charge and finally regained the lead, building their cushion back to six late in the half before a Simpson free throw pulled Colorado to within 37-32 at intermission.

SALT LAKE CITY — Colorado jumped out to a big early lead Saturday and the Buffaloes cruised to an 84-71 win over Utah at the Huntsman Center, giving CU its fourth straight 20-win season and the fourth seed in next week's Pac-12 tournament.

Tad Boyle's Buffaloes improved to 20-10 overall and 12-8 in conference play while the Utes fell to 11-19, 4-16.

The Buffs will open play in the conference tournament Thursday with a 3:30 p.m. (MT) game against the winner of Wednesday's Oregon-Oregon State game.

The win marked only the second time in CU history that the Buffs have won at least 20 games four years in a row, matching Boyle's 2010-2014 teams. It is the 13th 20-win season overall in CU history and the ninth in Boyle's 12 years in Boulder, and Colorado's 6-4 finish on the road is also the Buffs' first winning road record for a season since the 1968-69 season.

Colorado jumped out to a 23-9 lead eight minutes in and held a 50-29 edge at intermission, thanks in large part to 9-for-13 shooting from 3-point range. The Buffs extended the lead to as much as 29 early in the second half and the Utes never came closer than 13 again.

The Buffs were hot from the beginning, led by a career-high 27 points from senior Evan Battey, who also had a career-high six 3-pointers on 6-for-9 shooting from long distance. Sophomore Jabari Walker recorded his 16th double-double of the year with 27 points and 12 rebounds, and Nique Clifford chipped in 11 points.

David Jenkins led Utah with 18 points.

CU shot 51 percent from the floor (30-for-59), including 14-for-23 from long distance, while holding the Utes to 44 percent (24-for-54). Colorado also had a comfortable 36-30 edge on the boards and finished with 18 assists and just nine turnovers.

"A good win for us," Boyle said. "We could have let down (after last week's win over No. 2 Arizona), but we didn't. This is the first time in 53 years a Colorado team has had a winning record on the road. I challenged them with that and they rose to the challenge."

HOW IT HAPPENED: The Buffs put together one of their best halves of the season to open the game, jumping out to a 23-9 lead eight minutes in and extending the margin to 50-29 by halftime.

Colorado dominated the first 20 minutes on both ends. Battey, the Pac-12's leading 3-point percentage shooter, hit three treys in the first six minutes of the game as CU finished the half hitting 9 of 13 tries from long distance.

The Buffs used an 8-0 run early to take a 17-7 lead, then added an 11-1 surge minutes later to push their advantage to 28-10. Utah momentarily cut CU's lead down to 12, but Colorado quickly bumped the margin back up to 21, with Battey collecting three buckets inside, then draining a 3-pointer to give CU a 45-24 edge with just under two minutes to play in the half.

Clifford capped the half with a baseline jumper to send the Buffs into the locker room with a 21-point lead, 50-29.

CU finished the half 19-for-34 from the floor, including 9-for-13 from beyond the arc. The Buffs also had a 23-11 edge on the boards that helped produce 11 second-chance points and CU held Utah to 38 percent shooting (11-for-29) for the half.

"We really guarded in the first half," Boyle said. "We took our defensive assignments and really locked in."

The Buffs continued to apply the pressure early in the second half. Another Battey 3-pointer at the 16:43 mark — his fifth of the game — gave Colorado a 58-32 edge before the Buffs built their biggest lead of the game, a 29-point margin, on a K.J. Simpson three-point play just six minutes in for a 64-35 CU lead.

Utah never really threatened after that, coming no closer than 13 in the final minutes.

Along with his 22 points and 12 boards, Walker also had a career-high five assists and just two turnovers.

LAS VEGAS — Colorado made a statement Thursday in the Pac-12 tournament.

Now, the Buffaloes hope the NCAA Selection Committee is paying attention after Evan Battey and Jabari Walker each recorded double-doubles to lead the Buffaloes to an 80-69 Pac-12 quarterfinal win over Oregon at T-Mobile Arena.

Tad Boyle's fourth-seeded Buffs, who improved to 21-10 with the win, will face top-seeded and nationally second-ranked Arizona in a 7 p.m. semifinal Friday at T-Mobile.

The Buffs trailed by seven midway through the first half, but used a 12-0 run to take a 36-30 halftime lead and they never trailed again en route to posting their eighth win in their last nine games.

Walker finished with 18 points and 16 rebounds for his 17th double-double of the year while Battey recorded his first of the season, finishing with 19 points and 12 rebounds. Freshman K.J. Simpson had 11 points, seven rebounds, six assists and a pair of steals and Tristan da Silva chipped in 12 points.

Quincy Guerrier had 25 points for the fifth seed Ducks, who fell to 19-14 on the season.

Colorado's defense was stellar for most of 40 minutes. CU held Oregon to 34 percent shooting (24-for-70), including a critical 1-for-13 effort by the Ducks in the final 7:42 of the first half. The Buffs shot just 40.5 percent (30-for-74), but had a dominant 55-42 edge on the boards, giving Colorado a season-high in rebounds. CU's rebound total included 17 on the offensive end that produced 15 second-chance points.

Colorado also had a 25-10 edge in points off the bench.

HOW IT HAPPENED: Colorado trailed by seven with just more than six minutes to play in the first half, but used a 12-0 run to take a 36-30 halftime lead. The Ducks managed to pull within one early in the second half, but CU never panicked and never allowed the Ducks to put together anything resembling a big run.

That patience on the offensive end and continued outstanding defense finally allowed the Buffs to take control for good over the last seven minutes, as Colorado turned a four-point lead with 6:31 to play into a 13-point cushion with three minutes to go, thanks to a decisive 13-4 run.

Walker had eight points in the surge, Simpson added a pair of baskets and da Silva and Nique Clifford each chipped in a bucket. Defensively, CU forced six empty Oregon possessions in the stretch, leading to five Colorado baskets in six trips down the court.

The Buffs held the Ducks at bay down the stretch, never allowing Oregon to get closer than eight the rest of the way to earn their third trip to the conference tourney semifinals in the last four seasons.

Colorado led in the opening minutes, but a 10-2 Oregon run gave the Ducks an 18-11 lead midway through the half.

But the Buffs stepped up on the defensive end, helping spark a 12-0 run that turned a 25-18 deficit into a 30-25 lead. CU produced seven straight defensive stops in the stretch while the offense produced a Keeshawn Barthelemy three-point play, a long 3-pointer from Walker, dunks from Tristan da Silva and K.J. Simpson and a Battey bucket off an offensive rebound.

Oregon finally ended a 3:45 scoring drought with a pair of free throws and then ended a 6:36 drought without a field goal on a Quincy Guerrier basket to pull within 33-30.

But the Buffs perfectly executed a play out of a timeout to get a 3-pointer from Luke O'Brien and Colorado took a 36-30 lead into intermission.

CU held Oregon to 28 percent shooting in the half (10-for-36), including a 1-for-13 stretch over the last 7:42 of the period, and Battey led CU with 12 points and six rebounds.

LAS VEGAS — Colorado's bid for a Pac-12 tournament title game berth came up short Friday, as the fourth-seeded Buffaloes fell 82-72 to top seed Arizona in the tourney semifinals at T-Mobile Arena.

The loss dropped Tad Boyle's Buffs to 21-11, and the Buffs will now await the NCAA and NIT bracket announcements on Sunday to see if their season continues.

Arizona improved to 30-3 and is expected to be among the top-level seeds when the NCAA bracket is announced.

The Buffs trailed by 11 early in the second half, but used a 12-2 run to pull within one, 51-50, less than four minutes in and stayed within striking range for much of the rest of the half. But foul trouble plagued the Buffs over the final 10 minutes and Arizona slowly pulled away to take control down the stretch.

Jabari Walker led the Buffs with 19 points, including five 3-pointers, as CU finished with 16 treys, a program-best in Pac-12 tourney play and tied for the third-most in CU history. Keeshawn Barthelemy scored 12 points for CU and Evan Battey added 10.

Arizona was led by Azuolas Tubelis' 20 points, as the Wildcats posted a 30-14 edge on points in the paint.

The Buffs finished the game shooting just 39 percent (24-for-62), but hit 16 of their 32 3-point tries — meaning they were 8-for-30 on two-point attempts. Arizona shot 52 percent (26-for-50) and also had a 36-27 edge on the boards, along with a 30-14 advantage in the paint. CU also shot just 10 free throws — the third-fewest attempts of the season — and made eight.

"Arizona was terrific tonight," Boyle said. "They played like a No. 1 seed and a top-five team in the country. I'm really proud of our guys for the way we fought and competed … What this team has done in terms of grown from November and December — I couldn't be more proud of a group of young men."

HOW IT HAPPENED: Colorado trailed by nine at intermission and Arizona pushed its lead to 11 in the opening seconds of the second half.

But the Buffs regained their composure to put together a 12-2 run, getting two 3-pointers from Battey and one each from Nique Clifford and Julian Hammond III. That cut Arizona's lead to just one, 51-50, less than four minutes into the half.

Colorado then stayed within striking range over the next six minutes, with a Barthelemy 3-pointer pulling CU to within one again, 58-57, with 11:19 to play.

But foul woes took their toll on the Buffs at the same time. Battey went to the bench with his fourth at the 11:41 mark and Walker drew his fourth barely a minute later, leaving the Buffs without their big men against Arizona's towering lineup.

With Battey and Walker on the bench, the Wildcats began pounding it inside. Wildcats 7-footer Oumar Ballo scored six unanswered points to push UA's cushion back to seven, 64-57, with 8:40 left to play before the Buffs got another Barthelemy 3-pointer to stop the surge.

Battey and Walker returned to the game at the 6:38 mark with the Buffs trailing by seven. Battey cut CU's deficit to six with a bucket inside, but the Wildcats built the cushion back to 11 with five unanswered points for a 76-65 lead with just more than two minutes remaining and the Buffs couldn't close the gap down the stretch.

Colorado fell to 16-10 all-time in the Pac-12 tournament, with six of the 10 losses coming to the top two seeds.

The Buffs started the game on fire, hitting their first five shots en route to taking a 16-8 lead less than five minutes in. CU hit four 3-pointers in the stretch — two from Walker — and looked ready to take control.

But the Wildcats battled back, putting together an 11-3 run to regain the lead midway through the half. Colorado briefly went back ahead one more time before Arizona put together a 16-3 run to take a seven-point lead, 31-24, with just under eight minutes to play in the half. The Buffs provided Arizona with four turnovers in the stretch to fuel the surge.

Colorado had a chance to close the gap to four in the final seconds of the half but a turnover led to a Tubelis layup and three-point play just before the buzzer to give the Wildcats a 47-38 lead at intermission.

BOULDER — Colorado's postseason came to a disappointing and abrupt end Tuesday night, as the Buffaloes dropped a 76-68 decision to St. Bonaventure in the opening round of the NIT at the CU Events Center.

Tad Boyle's Buffs finished the year at 21-12 while the Bonnies improved to 21-9 and will face Oklahoma in the second round.

CU led by three at intermission and by 10 early in the second half, but could not sustain the margin as the Bonnies came back by shooting nearly 56 percent from the floor in the final 20 minutes.

The game was tied at 68-68 with just more than two minutes to play, but the Buffs were outscored 8-0 over the final two minutes.

Keeshawn Barthelemy scored 15 points for Colorado while senior Evan Battey had 14 points in his final game in a Buff uniform and Tristan da Silva added 13.

Jalen Adaway led five Bonnies in double figures with 17 points.

CU's defense never found an answer for St. Bonaventure's balance, as the Bonnies shot 53 percent for the game (29-for-55), including 10-for-20 from 3-point range. The Buffs, meanwhile, were just 25-for-58 from the floor, including a 7-for-25 effort from beyond the arc.

"They were the better team, they were the tougher team and it showed from the get-go," said Boyle, whose team lost six games at home this year — the most in his 12 years in Boulder. "We couldn't stop them. I thought our guys wanted to play, wanted to extend the season, but St. Bonaventure wanted to extend their season more than we did. A really disappointing loss."

HOW IT HAPPENED: The Buffs led by three at intermission and looked ready to take control for good with a 7-0 run to start the second half. Da Silva opened with a dunk, Battey followed with a bucket inside and Julian Hammond III nailed a long 3-pointer to give the Buffs a 46-36 edge two minutes in.

But the Bonnie regrouped and put together a 13-2 run to regain the lead, dropping in a pair of 3-pointers in the surge to take a 49-48 edge.

"You can't keep trading baskets in a game like this," Boyle said. "At some point you better figure out how to guard somebody."

Colorado did momentarily regain the lead, but St. Bonaventure again answered with a 5-0 run for a 62-57 lead with 7:41 to play.

The Buffs managed to stay within range over the next three minutes, closing the gap to one, 66-65, on three Battey free throws, then tying it up at 68-68 on a da Silva three-point play with 2:16 remaining.

But the Bonnies answered with eight straight points over the next 1:50 for a 76-68 lead as the Buffs came up empty on their last four offensive possessions.

CU finished by hitting just one of its last 10 shots and did not score in the last 2:16 of the game.

"We had too many empty possessions," Boyle said. "We had two shot clock violations at some really big moments. If you have a shot clock violation you're not mentally into the game."

Colorado started slowly, as St. Bonaventure hit four of its first five shots to jump out to a 10-2 lead less than three minutes in.

That prompted a Boyle timeout and his message evidently sank in. Led by Barthelemy, CU emerged from the stoppage to slowly chip away at the deficit before putting together an 8-0 run to take an 18-17 lead, with Barthelemy scoring nine points in a five minute stretch.

The Bonnies came back to momentarily take the lead, but the Buffs regained the edge again with five straight points, capped by a Jabari Walker dunk, and Colorado took a 39-36 lead into intermission.

2021-22 IN REVIEW

ABOUT THE BUFFALOES: Colorado finished the 2021-22 season at 21-12 overall and in sole possession of fourth place in the Pac-12 Conference regular season standings at 12-8. The Buffaloes advanced to the semifinals of the Pac-12 Tournament and earned a bid to the National Invitation Tournament (NIT).

20 WINS: Colorado has 13 20-win seasons in program history, nine of which have come under head coach Tad Boyle. The Buffaloes have won at least 20 games the last four seasons, a feat equaled by only teams of 2010-14 - Boyle's first four seasons.

The Buffaloes have won 20 games by the close of the regular season eight times and three in a row (1968-69, '96-97, 2012-13, '13-14, '15-16, '19-20, '20-21 & '21-22). Boyle coached teams own the top five and six of the top seven single-season win totals in team history.

Most Wins In One Season:

	24 - 2010-11	8.	21 - 2021-22
3.	23 - 2020-21		21 - 2019-20
	23 - 2018-19		21 - 2012-13
	23 - 2013-14		21 - 1968-69
6.	22 - 2015-16	12.	20 - 2005-06
			20 - 2002-03

The Buffaloes finished above .500 for the 11th time in Boyle's 12 seasons. Colorado finished with a .500 or better conference record for the fourth-straight year and ninth time in his 12 seasons (eight Pac-12, one Big 12).

Boyle will enter the 2022-23 season with 254 wins at Colorado, seven from Sox Walseth's program record of 261. Boyle has 110 Pac-12 regular season wins, tying California's Ben Braun (1997-08) for 19th in conference history.

Overall, Colorado finished the season having won eight of 11 and has won 44 of 65 (44-21) over the past two seasons.

SEASON LEADERS: Colorado led the Pac-12 in 3-point accuracy both overall, at 36.6 percent, and in league-only games at 38.9 percent. The overall mark ranks as the seventh-best single-season percentage in team history:

Colorado made 227 3-pointers on the season which ranks as the ninth-most in one season on the team charts, but also the fewest since 2014-15 (179):

Colorado was second in the Pac-12 in free throw accuracy at 75.6 percent, and much like its season 3-point shooting effort, increased that number to 76.9 percent during the conference schedule.

The Buffaloes didn't quite match last year's team and Pac-12 record-setting 81.9 percent, but the 2021-22 season mark still ranks as the fourth-best in team history:

Colorado had the second-best rebounding defense team (32.0 rpg) in the Pac-12 and ranked fourth in rebounding offense (37.1 rpg) and rebounding margin (+5.0). The Buffaloes' rebounding margin ranks as the 10th best in one season in team history.

Sophomore forward Jabari Walker led the Buffaloes at 14.6 points and 9.4 rebounds per game while shooting 46 percent from the field and 78 percent from the foul line. He averaged a double-double during the conference season at 15.7 points and 10.4 rebounds an outing. He averaged 18.5 points, 10.5 rebounds and made 7 of 11 from 3-point range at the Pac-12 Tournament.

Walker topped the Pac-12 in overall rebounding, defensive boards (7.3 drpg) and double-doubles (17) while ranking fourth in scoring, 11th in offensive boards (2.1 orpg) and 13th in free throw percentage.

On the national leaderboard, Walker finished 10th in double-doubles, 14th in defensive rebounds and 26th in overall rebounding.

Walker's 310 rebounds ranked 12th on CU's single-season list and he became the eighth different player to reach 300 in one season, joining Cliff Meely (three times), Andre Roberson (twice), Jim Davis (twice), Shaun Vandiver (twice), Tyler Bey, Stephane Pelle and Burdette Haldorson.

Walker's 17 double-doubles is tied for eighth on CU's season-single list and most since Tyler Bey also had 17 in 2018-19. His 19 career double-doubles is 14th on CU's all-time list.

Senior forward Evan Battey averaged 12.4 points and 4.7 rebounds over his final season while shooting a team-best 50 percent from the field. He led the Buffaloes in scoring during postseason play at 14.3 per game.

Battey led the Pac-12 in 3-point accuracy overall (.488) and in conference play (.541). He was ninth in overall field goal percentage and 18th in scoring.

Against Oregon in the Pac-12 Tournament, Battey had a team-high 19 points and added 12 rebounds for his first double-double of the season and the eighth of his career. Battey had a career-best and team season-high 27 points to lead the Buffaloes over Utah. He hit 10 of 17 from the field including 6 of 9 from 3-point range, all career-highs.

Sophomore guard Keeshawn Barthelemy led Colorado in free throw shooting (.826) and 3-pointers made (43) while ranking second in assists (78) and third in scoring at 11.1 points per game. Barthelemy ended his season on a high-note, averaging 12.0 points and shooting 54 percent in three postseason games.

Barthelemy was second in the Pac-12 in free throw shooting during conference games at 85.7 percent. He had a season-best string of 16 consecutive made end at Arizona State and followed that up with 15 in a row which ended at Washington. During second run, he had a career-best 9 for 9 performance at Oregon, which at the time was the best mark in the Pac-12 this season and ended up being tied for second.

Sophomore Tristan da Silva averaged 9.4 points and 3.5 rebounds while shooting 48 percent. He was third on the team in assists with 61. Da Silva was 12th in the Pac-12 in overall field goal percentage while third in the Pac-12 in 3-point percentage during conference games (.477) and sixth in free throw percentage (.822).

Nique Clifford tied Walker for the team lead in blocked shots (22) and was third in rebounding (4.6 rpg) while averaging 6.7 points an outing. He ranked 13th in the Pac-12 in blocked shots during conference games (0.9 bpg).

K.J. Simpson is averaged 7.4 points and 2.5 rebounds per game while leading the Buffaloes in assists (86). Simpson's 86 assists tied for the seventh-best by a freshman in team history.

FOUR-YEAR HISTORIC NUMBERS: Colorado's 88 wins since the beginning of the 2018-19 season, is second most in any four-year span in team history. The 88 wins trails only the 92 recorded from 2010-14, Tad Boyle's first four seasons on the CU bench which included three NCAA Tournaments, the 2012 Pac-12 Tournament title and the 2011 NIT semifinals. Colorado's win at Stanford put this four-year group ahead of the previous four years, 2017-21, that had won 84.

Evan Battey is the only one of the four-year seniors (Elijah Parquet and Benan Ersek the others) to have been on the floor for all 88 games, giving him the title of playing in the most wins in team history. The 2010-14 run had only one four-year player, Ben Mills, who appeared in 58 games in his career.

Battey has also appeared in more conference games in team history with 76, passing former teammate D'Shawn Schwartz who played in 74 from 2017-21.

COLORADO BASKETBALL HISTORY

A program first known as the Silver and Gold, won its first game back on Jan. 10, 1902 defeating State Prep School, 34-10. That game marked the beginning of what was to become an outstanding tradition of basketball at the University of Colorado.

The Silver and Gold became known as the Buffaloes in 1934, after CU students rented a buffalo calf for the final football game that year. Colorado has been a member of six conferences, joining the Rocky Mountain Conference in 1909, and then the Mountain States in 1937. The Buffs became a member of the Big Seven Conference in 1947, which became the Big Eight in 1958. The Big Eight and Southwest Conferences merged to create the Big 12 Conference in 1996, which Colorado was a member of until joining the Pac-12 Conference in 2011.

A total of 18 coaches have guided the Buffs to victory, but none more so than past leaders of Forrest B. "Frosty" Cox, H.B. Lee, Russell "Sox" Walseth, Ricardo Patton, and Tad Boyle.

1940 NIT Champions, Two Final Fours

Cox spent 13 years roaming the Balch Fieldhouse from 1936-50, collecting a 147-89 record. While at the helm, Cox's teams won four Mountain States titles, was the 1938 NIT runner-up, won the 1940 NIT, advanced to the 1940 NCAA Tournament and 1942 NCAA Final Four. He concluded his CU career with the best won-lost percentage (.623) of any CU coach of more than one season.

Some of CU basketball's finest moments were orchestrated by Lee from 1950-56. In six seasons, he guided the Buffaloes to a pair of Big Seven titles and back-to-back NCAA Tournaments, including the 1955 Final Four. It was the second Final Four trip for Colorado, who fell to eventual champion San Francisco in the semifinals. The Buffaloes rebounded to defeat Iowa in the third place game, cementing the program's best-ever national finish. That 1954-55 season saw Lee's squad win a then-school-best 19 games.

From 1957-76, basketball was under the direction of Walseth. His 261 wins are the most by any coach in school basketball history. Walseth led the Buffs to back-to-back Big Eight titles in 1961-62 and 1962- 63, and both teams reached the NCAA second round before being eliminated by Cincinnati.

Walseth also engineered six Big Eight seasons where his teams finished third or better in the conference, including three titles (one shared). During the 1968-69 season, Walseth's team won a then-school best 21 games and during his tenure won 14 or more games in a season 11 times. His teams also had 13 winning seasons. Today, CU now plays on the "Sox Walseth Floor" in the CU Events Center, a tribute to Walseth's success as a Buff.

Coaches are not solely responsible for the success of each season, and the Buffs have had a wealth of outstanding talent on the hardwood in its proud past. Outstanding Buff performers range from Jack Harvey, CU's first All-American, to Chauncey Billups, the third pick in the 1997 NBA Draft. During that span players such as Hall of Famer Burdette Haldorson, Cliff Meely, Scott Wedman and Jay Humphries donned the Buffaloes' uniform.

The "Big Burd," as Haldorson was called, won the league scoring race in Colorado's 1953-54 and 1954-55 Big Seven championship seasons, netting 21.3 and 23.9 points per game, respectively. After CU finished third in the 1955 NCAA Tournament, Haldorson was selected to the AAU All-America team. His 13.8 rebounds per game that year is still a CU single season record. He would go on to win Olympic Gold with the 1956 and 1960 USA basketball teams.

Meely became another legendary player at Colorado from 1968-71. The sensational center-forward is the Buffaloes' all-time leader in rebounding average (12.1 rpg) and remains fourth in total boards with 971. In addition, Meely held a number of Big Eight scoring marks when his collegiate career ended in 1971.

Named an All-American for his performance during his senior campaign, Meely averaged 28.0 points and hauled in 11.9 rebounds per game. His 47-point, 25-rebound outing against Oklahoma was one highlight of that milestone season. Meely was a two-time Big Eight Player of the Year and led the Buffaloes to the conference title and NCAA Tournament in 1968-69.

The next Buff to make an impact was Wedman, a sharp-shooting forward from 1971-74. Wedman came to CU from Denver's Mullen High School and led the team in scoring and rebounding for two years, field goal percentage three years, and free throw percentage one year. Before leaving Colorado, Wedman was firmly established in the school record books.

His numbers placed him sixth in rebounding (No. 13 today), seventh in scoring (No. 22 today), and eighth in field goal percentage. After enjoying a successful 12-year stint in the NBA, Wedman concluded his professional career in 1987 with the Boston Celtics.

CU Events Center and the Rise of the '90s

A major change in Colorado basketball came in 1979, when the team moved into the Colorado Events/Conference Center with its spacious seating capacity of 11,076. The facility was renamed the Coors Events/Conference Center in 1990, in honor of a donation made by Coors to the campus. The Coors name was synonymous with the arena for just under 28 years, before being renamed the CU Events Center on July 1, 2018.

Arguably the best and most exciting Buff of the 1980s was guard Jay Humphries. While running the Colorado offense from 1980-84, Humphries became the school's all-time assist leader (562), and graduated as the program's fourth-leading scorer with 1,306 points. His specialty, however, was defensive play. He's Colorado's all-time leader in steals with 309; 64 more than the closest alum. Humphries is the only Colorado player with 100-plus steals in a season and led the nation in thefts in 1982-83 with 115.

CU closed out the 1980s and began a new decade of Buffalo basketball with two greats, Shaun Vandiver and Stevie Wise. Both Vandiver and Wise were instrumental in the school's run through the 1991 NIT, CU's first postseason appearance since making the NCAA Tourney in 1969. Colorado finished third in that NIT at the famed Madison Square Garden. Prior to the trip to New York City, the Buffaloes played in front of a standing-room only crowd and cut down the nets after defeating Arkansas State to advance to the semifinals.

Vandiver, a 6'10" center, who transferred to CU in 1988 after leading Hutchinson CC to the junior college national championship, worked his way up the Buff charts with an excellent shooting touch and a desire to hit the boards. A three-time All-Big Eight performer, Vandiver scored 1,876 points and grabbed 962 rebounds while shooting 54.7 percent from the field. All three of those numbers remain in the top five on Colorado's record book.

Wise too, left his mark in the CU record books. Coming to Boulder as a guard in 1987, he managed to suit up for 119 games in a Colorado uniform, at the time the fifth most in team history. Like Vandiver, he too loved to shoot, and is one of the Buffs' all-time three-point specialists. Wise also finished his career as the No. 3 scorer (1,727 points) and sits in seventh today.

Donnie Boyce marked the onset of the 1990s, as the Maywood, Ill., product took CU and the Big Eight by storm. After four incredible seasons, Boyce graduated as Colorado's all-time leading scorer with 1,995 points, a mark that would hold up for 13 seasons. He led the Buffaloes to an NIT bid as a senior in 1994-95.

Chauncey Billups continued CU's tradition of great players as he made his mark early in his career. In only his fourth game as a freshman, Billups posted the first triple-double in CU history. His 24-point, 11-assist, 11-rebound game against George Mason was a harbinger of great things to come for the 6'3" product from George Washington High School in Denver.

As a sophomore, Billups would lead Colorado to its first NCAA appearance (1996-97) in 28 years and earn many postseason accolades, including All-Big 12 first-team honors and first-team freshman All-America kudos from Basketball Weekly and Basketball Times. In two years, Billups scored over 1,000 points (1,020), becoming the 20th player in CU history to accomplish that feat.

Into the 21st Century

The next great point-guard, Jaquay Walls, guided CU toward back-to-back 18 win seasons, both of which brought NIT bids. A junior college transfer who made his impact immediately, Walls was named honorable mention All-Big 12 and to the All-Newcomer team in his junior season. As a senior, he was twice named Big 12 Player of the Week and had a 42-point performance against Iowa State, which set a Big 12 record and remains the top scoring performance by a Colorado player at the CU Events Center. His 15 overtime points in that game was also an NCAA record. That spring, he was selected by the Indiana Pacers in the NBA Draft.

Seven-footer David Harrison made his presence felt during the 2001-02 season being named to the Big 12 All-Freshman team and leading the Buffaloes in scoring (13.9 ppg). The only other players in CU history to stand over seven feet are Frank Wilcox (1955-56), Ben Mills (2010-14) and Dallas Walton (2017-present). Harrison also rewrote the CU record book in field goal percentage finishing the season with a stellar 63.8 percentage and third nationally.

Harrison set a school-record with 106 swats during the 2002-03 season, shattering the previous mark of 73. He also became the first player in school history and in the Big 12 to record a pair of triple-doubles (31 pts., 17 reb., 10 blocks against Stetson; 20 pts., 11 blocks, 10 rebs. versus Nebraska).

In 2002-03, CU made its first NCAA Tournament appearance since 1996-97. With 20 victories on the season, another feat only accomplished twice before by Patton in 1996-97 (22-10) and Sox Walseth in 1968-69 (21-7), the Buffaloes also upset four nationally ranked teams – all at home for the first-time ever.

CU greats Jay Humphries and the late-Cliff Meely on the night when the Coors Events Center set an attendance record Dec. 5, 2012. The Buffs defeated Colorado State, 70-61 in front of 11,708 spectators.

CU IN THE HISTORY BOOKS

Colorado is one of just 12 schools to have ever qualified for the NCAA Tournament and the National Invitation Tournament (NIT) in the same year, as the Buffaloes made dual appearances in 1940, becoming the first school to ever do that. That year, CU won the NIT and finished fourth in the NCAA West Region. The other schools that have matched this feat are: Arizona (1951), Bradley (1950), Brigham Young (1951), City College of New York (which won both tourneys in 1950), Dayton (1952), Duquesne (1952), Kentucky (1949), North Carolina State (1951), St. John's (1951 and 1952), St. Louis University (1952), and Utah (1944).

David Harrison

Individually, the Buffaloes received four All-Big 12 honors with Michel Morandais (second team) along with Stephane Pelle earning third-team. Morandais and Harrison also were named to the Big 12's specialty teams as two of the conference's most-improved players. Pelle capped his four-year career with 1,367 points and 1,054 rebounds becoming the first of two CU men's basketball players to secure both 1,000 plateaus (Andre Roberson: 2010-13: 1,012pts., 1,045 rebs.). Pelle would go on to become – and to this day – is the school's all-time leading rebounder (1,054).

During the 2003-04 campaign, CU won 18 games for the fifth time under Patton and earned its third NIT berth in eight years. More impressively, the Buffaloes won 10 conference games, the most since recording 11 back in 1996-97 and earning the number four seed at the Big 12 Tournament in Dallas. Harrison also broke the school record for blocks in a career (225) and would on go to rewrite the blocked shot record book despite playing only three years and opting for the 2004 NBA Draft (29th overall, first round, Indiana Pacers).

The Buffaloes saw the arrival of Richard Roby in 2004-05 as he would become the first freshman since Billups (1995-96) to lead CU in scoring with 16 points per game and net double-digits 26 times in 30 games.

The 2005-06 Buffaloes won 20 games for the fourth time in their history en route to the NIT, with 14 of those coming at the Events Center tying the 2002-03 season for the most ever up until that time. The Buffs also re-wrote the school's 3-point record for made (240) and attempts (701), and Roby became the first CU player since 2003-04 and only the fourth player since 1996-97 to be named All-Big 12 first team. CU also reached the national stage by being ranked in back-to-back ESPN/USA Today Coaches' Polls, a school first since the 1996-97 campaign.

From 2007-10 the program was led by Jeff Bzdelik, who came from the United States Air Force Academy, where he led the Buffaloes to a 36-58 (.383) record. His best season was his last, a 15-16 mark and 6-10 in the Big 12 in 2009-10. Over his three seasons with the Buffs, Bzdelik experienced a series of near-misses, losing 27 single-digit games, 18 of those in the Big 12. The 27 losses were an average of 4.6 points.

In 2007-08, Richard Roby set the school scoring record becoming the first CU men's basketball player to eclipse the 2,000-point barrier netting 2,001 points (Cory Higgins would tie the mark in 2011). He would go on to set numerous school records over his outstanding four-year career. The Buffaloes became the first team in Big 12 history as the No. 12 seed in its post-season tournament to beat a No. 5 seed (Baylor).

Roby became the second Buff in its history to lead the team in scoring all four years (Boyce was the other).

In 2009-10, the Buffs provided a duel offensive punch with Higgins and super freshman Alec Burks. Higgins, garnered his second straight All-Big 12 third team honor, while Burks performed a CU first in the Buffs Big 12 history becoming the first Boulder athlete to earn conference freshman of the year honors.

Higgins and Burks scored 587 and 512 points, respectively becoming the first tandem to net over 500 points in the same season since the 1990-91 campaign. Burks would also lead the team in rebounding, only the second freshman since Matt Bullard in 1985-86.

Burks was also named to a number of post-season teams including the Big 12 All-Rookie Team, CollegeInsider.com All-America Freshman Team, 2009-10 Basketball Times' All-Freshman first team, CU Sports Performers of the Year (CUSPY) Male Freshman of the Year, and Sporting News Magazine All-Freshman second team.

Donnie Boyce

He became the first CU freshman to surpass 500 points in a single-season (512). He ranked fourth nationally of all freshmen in points per game (17.1) and field goal percentage (53.8).

The Tad Boyle Era

Over the last 12 years of Colorado Basketball, head coach Tad Boyle and his coaching staff, have built the Buffaloes into one of the elite Pac-12 Conference basketball programs, if not the nation.

In those 12 years the Buffaloes have made 10 postseason appearances, five NCAA Tournament berths; nine 20-plus winning seasons, and a Pac-12 Conference Tournament championship. Under his tutelage, Boyle has won an impressive 254 games at CU, and his winning percentage of .621 ranks second in history for those coaches with at least four seasons.

Very impressive for coach and a basketball program that had only four 20-plus winning seasons before his arrival during the spring of 2010.

In those 12 years, CU basketball history has been re-written altogether. Boyle's success has brought ESPN College GameDay to Boulder (Feb. 22, 2014); he has won a school record 24 games in a single-season, twice; home dominance at the CU Events Center with a 164-34 record (.828), in addition to school attendance records being broken, then re-broken a year later.

On the court, there have been 10 all-tournament team selections; 12 conference first-team recipients; two Most Improved Players of the Year, two Pac-12 Conference Defensive Players of the Year, two "Sixth Man of the Year" winners, and finalists for both the Wooden and Cousy Awards.

Over the last 12 years, nine student-athletes have gone on to reach the NBA; seven hearing their names announced on draft day, most recently Jabari Walker in 2022 who was selected 57th overall by the Portland Trail Blazers.

Tyler Bey was selected 36th overall in 2020 by Philadelphia before landing in Dallas after a draft night trade. George King was the 59th overall pick by the Phoenix Suns in 2018. Derrick White was the 29th overall pick by the San Antonio Spurs in 2017. Spencer Dinwiddie left school after his junior year (2013-14), where he was selected by Detroit in the second round of the 2014 NBA Draft (No. 38 overall). In 2012-13, Andre Roberson was selected in the first round (No. 26 overall) by Minnesota then traded to Oklahoma City. In the 2011 draft, Alec Burks, became CU's second-ever lottery pick, selected No. 12 overall by Utah.

Rounding out the nine former players who have gone on to the NBA after playing for Boyle while at CU is McKinley Wright IV who signed a two-way contract with his hometown Minnesota Timberwolves in 2021 and Cory Higgins the school's all-time co-scoring leader (2,001 points). Higgins played with the Charlotte Bobcats from 2011-13. It should be noted that Higgins is one of several former Buffs to enjoy a successful professional career overseas, helping CSKA Moscow to a pair of EuroLeague championships.

Named the 18th head coach in CU men's basketball history (on April 19, 2010), Boyle made the most of his "dream job" in his first year, guiding the Buffaloes to a school-record 24 victories in 2010-11, capping the season with a spot in the NIT semifinals. CU also won a school-record 18 home games at the Events Center and achieved their highest Big 12 finish (t-5th) since 2005-06.

Statistically, CU ranked first in the Big 12 and fifth nationally in free throw percentage (77.8). Boyle's efficient attack also ranked 12th nationally in scoring (79.6 ppg) and 19th nationally in field goal percentage (47.3).

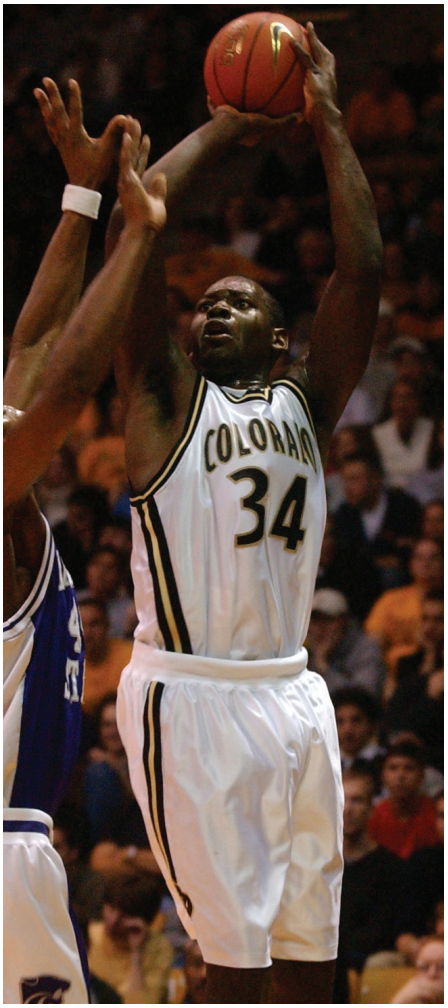
Individually, the Buffs were led by Burks, who would score a single-season school record 779 points, in addition setting the school mark for most free throws made (249) and attempts (302) in a single-season. He would also become the first player at CU to score over 770 points, 240 rebounds, 100 assists in same season.

A Top-20 Wooden Award finalist and unanimous Big 12 Conference first team selection, Burks was 18th nationally in scoring with 20.5 points per game.

And for the first time in the 15-year Big 12 Championship history, the Buffs advanced to the conference semifinals where Burks became the first CU player to be named to the all-tourney team. Later in the season, the Grandview, Mo. native would be named to the NIT All-Tournament Team (97 points in four games, 24.3 ppg.).

The 2010-11 team was not comprised by one individual, but a cast of others who led to the Buffs success throughout the season. Cory Higgins would end his stellar four-year with 2,001 points. tying former teammate Richard Roby (2004-08), for the most In team history. Higgins was a three-time third team conference selection, also set a number of school records also becoming the career leader in minutes (4,478), games (132, today he's second), starts (131), and single-season minutes played (1,222) set in 2010-11.

The 2011-12 season welcomed a new addition to the Events Center since the building first opened in 1979. A basketball and volleyball practice facility located adjacent to the north side of Events Center. The facility is 43,000 square feet of space featuring two basketball/volleyball courts; women's basketball locker rooms; and volleyball coaches' offices costing $10.8 million, funded from private funds.



Stephane Pelle

It was nine years since CU last danced in the NCAA Tournament and in one of the greatest seasons ever, then-second year head coach Tad Boyle equaled the previous season's win total (24), advanced to the NCAA Tourney third round, and won the inaugural Pac-12 Tournament championship by winning four games in four days as the No. 6 seed.

The conference regular season had its ups and downs where at one point, CU could have ended the season as the number one or two seed in the tournament. However, losing three of its last four games and dropping to the No. 6 overall seed, the Buffs overcame No. 11 seed Utah, 53-41 on the opening night at the Staples Center in Los Angeles.

On the day two CU edged No. 3 seed Oregon, 63-62. In the semifinals, CU took care of No. 2 Cal, 70-59 on 59.1 percent shooting from the field in the second half. Senior guard Carlon Brown breakaway windmill dunk served as an exclamation point in the final minute of CU's victory. The play was No. 4 on SportsCenter's Top 10 plays of the day.

In the finals, the Buffs held on again for another upset, edging No. 4 seed Arizona, 53-51 after leading the Wildcats by 12 points in the second half. CU scored only three points in the last nine minutes of the game, however, Brown had a highlight reel dunk in the final minute, snapping a streak of 8:19 without a field goal. CU became the first team to win four games in Pac-12 Conference Tournament history, and just the 10th team from the "big six" conferences to do so since 1952. At the NCAA Tournament, the Buffs, seeded No. 11 upset No. 6 and No. 23/25 ranked UNLV in the first round, then fell to No. 3 Baylor, 80-63, two days later.

Brown was named the tournament's most outstanding player, in addition being named to the all-tournament. Andre Roberson also earned all-tournament team had a superb sophomore year becoming the first CU player to average a double-double for the entire season (11.6 ppg., 11.1 rpg.) since Stephane Pelle (2001-02; 12.8 ppg., 10.8 rpg.). Roberson also became the 12th player in school history to lead the team in rebounding in back-to-back seasons, and just the third CU player to lead the team in rebounds, blocks, and steals in the same season, duplicating that feat during his freshman season.

In addition, Roberson set the single-season rebounding record (401) breaking a 58-year old record (Burdette Haldorson, 1954-55); set the single-season defensive rebounding record (290) breaking the 225 by Shaun Vandiver (1989-90), 23 years prior; and shattered sophomore season record for most rebounds, topping the old mark of 337 (Cliff Meely in 1968-69).

Roberson ranked third nationally in rebounds per game, and his 11.1 average was the program's highest since Alex Stivrins in 1984-85 (11.7 rpg). Roberson finished the season with 20 double-doubles, fifth nationally and was No. 54 nationally in blocked shots (1.86).

Attendance records also set a brand new high standard as the men's basketball team was the best ticket in town setting a number of school records, including seven sellouts; 12 of 15 home games exceeded 10,000 fans or better, in addition to season total (155,884); season average (10,392); conference total (94,371); conference average (10,486); and non-conference total (61,513).

In year two of the conference, Roberson (first team, defensive player of the year, all-defensive team); Dinwiddie (first team) and Josh Scott (all-freshman team) all earned post-season accolades.

Although the 2012-13 season did not capture the exciting moments of another Pac-12 Tournament championship, the Buffs did see another exciting year ranking No. 1 in Pac-12 Conference-only defense (62.2 ppg.); No. 1 in Pac-12 Conference Team (all games); 3-Point Defense (32.0). They also defeated four ranked opponents, a first since 2002-03 and won three-straight road conference games for the first time since 2000-01.

The 2011-12 and 2012-13 seasons marked back-to-back NCAA Tournament berths for the first time in 50 years. The Buffaloes have reached unprecedented heights in the win column. CU won a school record 24 games in both 2010-11 and 2011-12, with another 21 victories in 2012-13. The 69 wins were the most in any three-year span in school history.

In 2013-14, the Buffaloes produced another banner year for the program by being seeded eighth at the NCAA Tournament, the highest seed since being the number nine in the 1997 tournament. The 23 victories were the third-most in school history and the Buffaloes' third place Pac-12 finish was the program's best in 18 years.

Attendance records fell once again as the Buffaloes drew 173,429 overall and 84,133 during the nonconference schedule.

For the first time in program history the men's basketball team had seen four-straight seasons where conference attendance exceeded 9,000 fans per game while overall season attendance reached 124,000 each year.

Cory Higgins

Josh Scott was named All-Pac-12 first team; Askia Booker was an All-Pac-12 honorable mention; and Wesley Gordon an honorable mention on All-Freshman team. Wesley Gordon finished with 41 blocks, the second-most by a freshman.

After a 16-18 record in 2014-15, which still saw the Buffaloes reach a fifth-straight postseason tournament (CBI), Colorado recorded its ninth 20-win season in 2015-16, and fifth in six years while also advancing to the program's 14th NCAA Tournament. The Buffaloes won 21 regular season games, tying a school record, before finishing off the campaign at 22-12.

Colorado made its school-record seventh straight postseason appearance in 2016-17, earning a berth in the NIT.

In 2017-18, Colorado had the youngest team of the Boyle tenure, with nine players that had not played a minute in a Buffaloes' uniform prior to the season. Colorado still had 17 wins, including back-to-back wins over Top 15 teams for the first time in program history.

That core group returned in 2018-19 finishing with a 23-13 record, advancing to the NIT Quarterfinals. The 23 wins tied for the third most in team history and just one off the school record. Colorado won 12 of 16 games down the stretch, giving the program its sixth 20-win season in the Boyle era.

In 2019-20, Boyle guided to Buffaloes to what undoubtedly would have been a fifth NCAA Tournament appeareance during his tenure before the cancelation of the postseason due to the coronavirus pandemic. Colorado spent a school-record 13 weeks in the Associated Press Top 25, peaking at No. 16 in mid February. The Buffaloes ended at 21-11 on the season and ranked No. 25 in the final NCAA Evaluation Tool (NET) ratings.

In 2020-21, the Buffaloes navigated through the pandemic, managing to achieve one of the best seasons in team history. Colorado finished 23-9 overall and third in the Pac-12 Conference at 14-6. The Buffaloes were the runner up at the 2021 Pac-12 Tournament and advanced to the second round of the NCAA Tournament as a No. 5 seed - the best in program history.

With a young team in 2021-22, Boyle led the Buffaloes to their fourth-straight 20-win season, finishing at 21-12, a fourth place finish in the Pac-12 and an appearance in the Postseason NIT. The 2021-22 campaign capped off a four-year run with 88 wins, second in program history only to his first four-year stretch with 92 wins from 2010-14.

Entering 2022-23, the Buffaloes boast an all-time record of 1,381-1,246 (.526) in 119 seasons.

ESPN COLLEGE GAMEDAY

ESPN's basketball rendition of College GameDay, in existence for a decade, made its first appearance at the University of Colorado, February 22, 2014.

The telecast from the Coors Events Center was a spectacle from start to finish, with the C-Unit making its presence more than apparent to the national TV audience.

For over two hours, the collective body of CU students – dubbed the C-Unit in 2004 – brought energy, costumes, and witty signs to the GameDay party as a way to kick off the day's national basketball schedule. The lead attraction was Saturday night's Pac-12 Conference game matching CU against No. 4 Arizona.

GameDay was hosted by Rece Davis and featured insights from former Notre Dame head coach Digger Phelps and former Duke star Jay Williams.

After the morning event, Davis spoke with CU athletic director Rick George and told him the "environment and the enthusiasm was right up there with the best that they have seen" for GameDay. "The crowd was attentive, they were into it, they listened to what we were saying on the show and responded accordingly," Davis said. "CU put on a great show."

Students began lining up outside the Events Center, Friday at 11 p.m. and by 5:45 a.m. Saturday there was about 300 students clamoring for their chance to be on national TV. Conditions weren't ideal (high winds and low temperatures), but that wasn't going to stop any crazed fans.

The event goes beyond students showing off their creative humor and asking parents for money via home-made signs; it provides the university a stage to tell the rest of the country what CU is all about – and the school did that Saturday.

Colorado coach Tad Boyle is also hoping to use the exposure for his own recruiting purposes as he seeks to build a national power in Boulder.

Boyle had previously said that being selected to host GameDay was, "a testament to our players, a testament to our fans, a testament to our coaches and how far this program has come."

It's no coincidence that GameDay chose to come to Boulder when the Buffaloes host the nation's fourth-ranked team. However, Saturday's event was more about CU basketball and the atmosphere that has developed at the Coors Events Center during the Boyle regime.

Arizona hosted its first GameDay event on January 28, 2012, and according to Bruce Pascoe of the Arizona Daily Star, the turnout Colorado received was comparable – if not better – than that of the Wildcats, who boast four Final Four appearances and one national championship.

Colorado is proving that its fan support belongs with some of the best in the nation and hopes to prove that its level of play belongs in the same category.

Reflecting on the days when the average attendance at the Coors Events Center was about 3,000 – compared to the nearly 10,000 this season – GameDay being on campus is a culmination of everything we could have ever envisioned when we first moved the C-Unit to behind the basket where they stand today.

"Our students showed themselves well, and their enthusiasm to be out here at six in the morning says a lot about our fans," George said. "It was awesome, you can't measure this kind of exposure."

PAC-12 TOURNAMENT CHAMPIONS

LOS ANGELES - Dust off those dancing shoes, Buffs fans. Pac-12 hoops, who's your Taddy?

The improbable, unflappable, and in the very end undeniable Colorado Buffaloes made history, outlasting Arizona 53-51 at the Staples Center to win the Pac-12 Conference tournament championship in their debut season in the expanded league.

CU is a conference tournament champion for the first time in program history and in the NCAA Tournament for the first time since 2003 after earning the Pac-12's automatic berth.

A season after being denied an NCAA Tournament berth and losing 75 percent of his offense, CU coach Tad Boyle reloaded as best he could and hoped for the best. But Boyle constructed his second season in Boulder with more determination than dreams, ultimately squeezing and coaxing every ounce of effort out of the Buffs during a taxing four-day Pac-12 run that followed a dismaying regular-season finish.

Losing three of its final four games, CU dropped from regular-season title contenders to a sixth tournament seed. No problem; rising up in L.A. was the Buffs' mission. They did it in grand - if gut-wrenching -style, and they did it the hard way, winning four games in four days.

CU (23-11) almost squandered a 12-point lead, scoring only three points in the last 9 minutes but still denying No. 4 seed Arizona (23-11) in its comeback attempt.

"Saying I'm proud of these guys is the biggest understatement I've ever made," Boyle said. "If you believe in destiny, you believe in the Colorado Buffaloes."

Freshman Spencer Dinwiddie led CU with 14 points, and senior Carlon Brown - the Buffs leading scorer in the tournament - added 13, including a dunk in the final minute that was his team's last field goal. Sophomore Andre Roberson submitted his third double-double (10 points, 11 rebounds) in four tournament games.

Brown was named the tournament MVP, highlighting a two-week run that saw him hit lows, highs and finish as high as he's ever been.

Said Boyle on Brown: "I think what you saw out of Carlon these last four games is he's a guy who put this team on his shoulders. He's been more vocal than he's been all year in timeouts, in huddles, on the floor, encouraging his teammates . . . (He) deserves the MVP of this tournament because he was big when we needed him to be big."

Brown, the only member of the CU roster to play in the NCAA Tournament (with Utah), said the late-season scoring slump he encountered finally was put behind him: "I just tried to put everything in the past, knowing I had this opportunity to be aggressive and play in this tournament . . . I just let everything go."

Roberson also was named to the all-tournament team, joining Jared Cunningham (Oregon State), Kyle Fogg (Arizona), Solomon Hill (Arizona) and Jesse Perry (Arizona). That trio led the Wildcats in scoring Saturday - Fogg with 14, Hill with 13 and Perry with 11.

Arizona coach Sean Miller was effusive in congratulating CU and Boyle: "I want to say the job that Tad Boyle has done at Colorado and what Colorado represents to the future of the Pac-12, I can make the argument that there's been no greater gift to college basketball in the Pac-12 than adding Colorado."

Miller said whoever draws CU in the NCAA Tournament "is running into a hungry, well-coached, disciplined team. I really believe that's the story of today. They beat us. They were the better team."

CU had 8- to 10-point cushions in the final 10 minutes of the previous two games and held on - barely against Oregon, handily against Cal. But could the Buffs stay composed in their biggest tournament game thus far?

Some doubt surfaced when Arizona scored five straight and cut its deficit to 50-43 on one of two free throws by Perry with 5:29 remaining. And no nerves were calmed when Tomlinson and Askia Booker both misfired badly on consecutive possessions from the same spot in the left corner.

The Wildcats capitalized on those botched trips with a layup by Hill to cap a 7-0 run and close to 50-45 with 4 minutes remaining. At the 1:41 mark, without a field goal in almost 8 minutes and seven consecutive missed shots, Boyle called a timeout.

It might not have been what Boyle had drawn up, but Roberson drove to the basket as the shot clock wound down and was fouled with 1:23 showing. He hit one of two, sending CU up 51-46.

At the other end, 22 seconds later, Perry sank two free throws, but Brown drove the lane and countered with a thunderous dunk to push the Buffs ahead 53-47 with 49 seconds to play.

CU's first trip to the NCAA Tournament in nine seasons appeared all but booked . . . but not quite. Fogg's pair of free throws at 34.5 cut CU's lead to 53-49, and Hill also converted at the other end to make the score 53-51.

Dufault, who let a pass from Tomlinson bound away from him for a turnover, also missed a pair of free throws with 14.4 to play.

"It would have been nice if we had ended the game smoother . . . if I could have knocked down a couple of free throws or caught that pass," Dufault said.

Arizona had a final chance, but Fogg's tightly contested shot with 1.4 seconds left was badly off to the left.

Continued Dufault: "We went down to the other end, and once again we just dug in defensively and got a stop."

It was done . . . CU in the Big Dance.

The Buffaloes at 21-11 and NET ranking of 25 were well in line for a NCAA Tournament bid.

Nov. 25, 2020 — After a summer and fall of uncertainty, Colorado tips off the 2020-21 season with an 84-61 win over South Dakota in Manhattan, Kan. The season was delayed by two weeks and shortened to 27 regular season games due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

Jan. 14, 2021 — McKinley Wright IV becomes Colorado's all-time leader in assists during an 89-60 win over Cal. Wright, who dished out 12 in the game, passed Jay Humphries' previous record of 562 from 1980-84. Wright would cement his record at 683.

Mar. 4, 2021 — Colorado defeated Arizona State 75-61 at the CU Events Center, giving the Buffaloes a school-record 14th conference win. Colorado also secured its third-straight 20-win season.

Mar. 20, 2021 — Colorado drilled 16 3-pointers, running away with a 96-73 win over Georgetown, giving the Buffaloes their first NCAA Tournament win in nine years. The Buffaloes were the No. 5 seed in the tournament, their best in the seeding era.

Feb. 26, 2022 — On a Senior Night to remember, Evan Battey leads the Buffaloes to defeated No. 2/2 ranked Arizona, matching the highest ranked opponent Colorado has ever defeated. It's also the highest ranked win in the Tad Boyle era and the fourth against an AP Top 5 team.

NCAA TOURNAMENT TEAMS

Colorado finished the 2020-21 season at 23-9 overall and third in the Pac-12 Conference at 14-6. The Buffaloes were the runner up at the 2021 Pac-12 Tournament and advanced to the second round of the NCAA Tournament. The Buffaloes ended the season having won seven of nine, 10 of 14 and 16 of their last 22.

CU's 14 conference wins are the most in program history, surpassing the 13 by the 1961-62 Big Eight Conference championship team (13-1). Colorado's five road conference wins are the program's most since the 1961-62 team had six (6-1). The 12 wins away from home are the most in CU history; topping 10 in each of the 1941-42, 1954-55 and 2011-12 seasons (the 11 in the regular season tied for the seventh-most in the NCAA).

Colorado finished second in the nation in free throw shooting at 81.9 percent, just a fraction behind Oral Roberts which made 82.1 percent. The 81.9 mark, which set school and Pac-12 records, is the third best all-time in NCAA Division I history.

Along with owning the Pac-12's top spot in free throw percentage, the Buffaloes took conference statistical titles in scoring defense (63.8 ppg) and rebounding defense (30.6 rpg). Colorado, which ranked 30th in the nation in scoring defense, held its opponents under 70 points in eight of the final 13 and 10 of the last 17 contests.

Colorado's No. 5 seed in the bracket was its highest since the NCAA began seeding the entire field in 1979. The Buffaloes previous best was a No. 8 seed, achieved in their previous two tournaments in 2014 and '16.

Colorado was No. 9 in the final NCAA Evaluation Tool rankings (NET) and ranked in both final national polls for the first time since 1996-97; No. 22 in the Associated Press poll and No. 23 in the Ferris Mowers Coaches Poll.

McKinley Wright IV earned honorable mention to the AP All-America team while claiming his third-straight All-Pac-12 selection. Wright finished his illustrious career as the school's all-time leader in assists and the first player in Pac-12 history with 1,800 points, 600 rebounds and 600 assists.

Colorado finished the 2015-16 season at 22-12 overall and claimed sole possession of fifth place in the Pac-12 Conference regular season standings at 10-8. It was the fourth time in head coach Tad Boyle's tenure that Colorado has finished with at least 10 conference wins and fifth time in six seasons the Buffaloes finished league play with a record of .500 or better.

Colorado reached 20 wins for the ninth time in program history and fifth in six years. The Buffaloes reached their overall win total from 2014-15 (16-18) in 13 fewer games (16-5). Colorado advanced to postseason play, past the conference tournament, for the sixth straight season, the best stretch in program history. The season included an 11-game win streak during the nonconference schedule.

The Buffaloes' NCAA RPI on Selection Sunday was 35. The Pac-12, had a phenomenal season as a whole, had six teams ranked in the top 50 and 10 in the top 100. Colorado was 9-10 against NCAA RPI top 100 teams during the regular season and 4-8 against the top 50. The Pac-12 advanced seven teams to the NCAA Tournament.

Colorado led the Pac-12 in free throw percentage (.734), 3-point percentage (.398), overall rebounding (42.1 rpg) and defensive boards (29.0 drpg) while ranking second in rebounding margin (+8.6) and offensive rebounds (13.1 orpg) and fourth in 3-pointers made (7.4 3mpg).

Senior forward Josh Scott was named to the 2016 All-Pac-12 first team while sophomore wing George King was named the Pac-12's Most Improved Player of the Year.

The Buffaloes earned their third straight NCAA Tournament bid with an eighth seed in the South Region played in Orlando. It was CU's highest NCAA Tourney seed since the 1997 when they were ninth in the East Region. The Buffaloes won 23 games, the third most victories in school history, in fact, it was the fourth straight season CU won at least 20 or more games in a season (a school record). The team won 10-straight games during November and most of December, tying for the fourth longest streak in school history. CU was nationally ranked for six straight weeks in the AP Poll (5-straight in the Coaches' Poll) reaching its peak at No. 15 with a 14-2 record. With a 3-0 Pac-12 record, junior guard Spencer Dinwiddie suffered a season-ending ACL injury to his left knee at Washington on Jan. 12. From there, the Buffs closed the season with a 9-9 record, however still defended their home court winning five of seven games. They still managed to reach the Pac-12 Tournament semifinals and finished the conference season with a 10-8 record, tying four other schools for third place. It was CU's highest conference finish in 18 years. The faithful Buff Nation reached a record number who attended games at Coors Events Center with a school-best 173,429 spectators over the 18 home games, and of the nine non-conference home games, another school-best of 84,133 fans were in attendance.

2012-13

The defending Pac-12 Tournament champions won their first six games of the season en route to being nationally ranked for the first time since the 2005-06 campaign. CU made the national tournament for the second straight season, a school-first in 50 years (since Sox Walseth). Head Coach Tad Boyle and his staff won 21 games, the third-straight season over 20 wins (a school-first) and the 69 victories over the last three years, are the most in any three-year span. The Buffs finished fifth in the conference standings and earned an at-large seed at No. 10 in the East Region falling to No. 7 Illinois, 57-49 in Austin, Texas. Andre Roberson was named Pac-12 Defensive Player of the Year as well as a first team selection. Spencer Dinwiddie led the Buffs in scoring, assists and free throw shooting, was also named to the conference first team, while Josh Scott was named to the freshman team. The fifth place conference finish was the first time since the Cliff Meely era (1968-71), the Buffs finished fifth or better in three straight years. The Buffs also set a number of attendance records including seven sellouts, 12 of 15 home games exceeding 10,000 fans, in addition to season total (155,884); season average (10,392); conference total (94,371); conference average (10,486). Over the last three years, there have been 16 sellouts with 13 wins. The Buffs would finish second Pac-12 attendance average (all games) and third in conference-only games.

2011-12

It was nine years since CU last danced in the NCAA Tournament and in one of the greatest seasons ever, second year head coach Tad Boyle equaled the previous season's win total (24), advanced to the NCAA Tourney second round, and won the inaugural Pac-12 Tournament championship by winning four games in four days as the No. 6 seed. The conference regular season had its ups and downs where at one point, CU could have ended the season as the number one or two seed in the tournament. However, losing three of its last four games and dropping to the No. 6 overall seed, the Buffs overcame No. 11 seed Utah, 53-41 on 34.9 percent shooting on the opening night at the Staples Center in Los Angeles. On the day two and against No. 3 seed Oregon, CU edged the Ducks, 63-62 for the second time in three meetings this season. A put-back field goal by sophomore forward Andre Roberson with 13 seconds remaining and a defensive stand by senior point guard Nate Tomlinson proved to be the difference in the one point win. In the semifinals, CU took care of No. 2 Cal, 70-59 on 59.1 percent shooting from the field in the second half. Senior guard Carlon Brown breakaway windmill dunk served as an exclamation point in the final minute of CU's victory. The play was No. 4 on SportsCenter's Top 10 plays of the day. In the finals, the Buffs held on again for another upset, edging No. 4 seed Arizona, 53-51 after leading the Wildcats by 12 points in the second half. CU scored only three points in the last nine minutes of the game, however, Brown had a highlight reel dunk in the final minute, snapping a streak of 8:19 without a field goal. CU became the first team to win four games in Pac-12 Conference Tournament history, and just the 10th team from the "Big Six" conferences to do so since 1952. At the NCAA Tournament, the Buffs, seeded No. 11 upset No. 6 UNLV in the first round, then fell to No. 3 Baylor, 80-63, two days later.

The 2002-03 season was one of the most successful campaigns in Colorado history. Standards were set high as the team returned five of their top six scorers from a year ago. Rarely in athletic competition can a team live up to the expectations of the media, and the fans; but the Buffs were able to not only meet expectations, but surpass them. CU finished the season 20-12, the third time in school history that a 20 win season had been accomplished. That included a nearly perfect record at home, as they went 14-1 on Sox Walseth Court. The game of the year came on January 22nd when the Buffs were able to topple the #6 ranked Kansas Jayhawks; a feat not accomplished since 1991. Sophomore David Harrison had a breakout year, setting several school records. Harrison broke, and then re-broke the record for blocked shots in a game when he recorded 10 against Stetson, and then 11 at home against Nebraska. Harrison also added two triple-doubles that year against Stetson and Nebraska.

The Buffs were back. Not since the late 1960s had CU basketball made the NCAA Tournament, or had an AP top 25 ranking. Both of those droughts ended during the season, as Colorado made it back to the big dance. Led by sophomore phenom Chauncey Billups, the Buffs stormed to a 22-10 record. Conference play did not change their winning ways, as they went 11-5 in the Big 12. The 22 wins, along with their 11 Big 12 victories each are school records. With their stellar record, break into the AP Poll for the first time since 1968-69 at #24. The season was highlighted by two upsets, as the Buffs were able to defeat #20 ranked Texas Tech, and then exactly one week later topple the #8 ranked Cyclones of Iowa State. Billups turned in one of the best seasons ever by a Buffalo. He finished the season with 555 total points, the first time a sophomore had scored that many points since Cliff Meely put up 667 points during the '68-'69 season. Electing for the NBA Draft, Billups left Colorado after his sophomore year, but not after becoming the 23rd all time scorer in school history in just two years.

Coming off an uninspiring 9-16 overall record the previous year, Colorado was looking for a way to get the program back on track. A 3-11 conference record had coach Sox Walseth reeling. The Buffs were in need of a spark plug; and they found it in Cliff Meely. Never in school history had a first-year player given the program a jolt in the way Meely was able to do in the 1968-69 season. The Buffs tore through the season, finishing with a 21-7 mark and an 11-4 conference schedule. That record included a perfect 11-0 at home. The 21 wins were a school record that would stand for 27 years. Colorado earned a #18 national ranking for its success, the first time the Buffs were able to crack the top 25 since 1963. Meely finished the season with 667 points, the most ever by a sophomore and fourth overall. His ability to score was complimented by superb rebounding. Meely finished the '68-'69 campaign with 337 rebounds. This mark is also the most by any sophomore, and ranks second all time in CU history.

The 1962-63 season opened with all eyes on the Buffs. Coming off an impressive 19-win campaign and NCAA Tournament berth the year before, Colorado was receiving national attention. Coach Sox Walseth knew his team was under the microscope from the very beginning. Some critics thought a team who was not used to being in the spotlight would crumble under the pressure; these Buffaloes proved them wrong. CU stormed through the season, accumulating a 19-7 record while going 11-3 in conference play. It was the second year in a row that Colorado had gone 19-7 overall. A perfect home record and a #10 national ranking helped to keep Boulder in a basketball induced frenzy. The previous year had ended with CU having 499 wins as a program, and they seized first opportunity they had during the '62-'63 campaign to reach that 500-win milestone. CU defeated Wichita State 79-69 in double overtime on Dec. 3, 1962, for the 500th win in program history. Senior Ken Charlton paced the Buffs in scoring for the season. En route to an All-American selection, the fifth in CU's history, Charlton put up 514 points and 214 rebounds. His point total was well above the rest of the team, outpacing the second best scorer, Jim Davis, by 154 points.

A 19-win season was something the Colorado Buffaloes had seen only once in their history. The last time they won 19 games (in 1955), was the last time CU received a bid to play in the NCAA Tournament. With that goal in their heads, Sox Walseth and his Buffs marched to a 19-7 record, and a near perfect 13-1 mark in conference play. The #9 ranked Buffaloes finished the regular season on a torrid pace, winning 14 of their 15 final games. The one loss was their one conference loss as well, falling at Kansas State. That span included a 12-game winning streak, as CU decimated their Big Eight opponents. Colorado finished the season at #9 in the AP Poll, its highest-ever final ranking. Colorado scorers were paced by junior forward Ken Charlton, who finished the season with 498 points and 216 rebounds. Charlton was the only member of the team to record 400 points and 200 rebounds. One of the great storylines of the season was the play of senior forward Wilky Gilmore. Gilmore was the only member of the team to play in all 26 contests, as he accumulated 330 points and 163 rebounds. Gilmore left the program as the second all time leading scorer in CU history with 1026 career points.

1954-55 FINAL FOUR

It was a season of firsts for the Buffaloes. The year marked the first time in school history the Buffs were offered an invitation to the NCAA Tournament. Once they arrived, the success they had during the big dance is unmatched in school history to this day. Advancing to the national semifinals, they were eventually defeated by San Francisco. CU won the consolation game two days later, to finish third, the Buffaloes' highest NCAA finish. The season also saw the first time Colorado could put the number 19 in the win column. They finished with a 19-6 overall record, going 11-1 in conference play. The season opened with a bang, as CU set a school scoring record as they took down Brigham Young by a score of 88-66. Colorado had an amazing winning streak during the season, capturing 15 of 16 games spanning from December to March. Colorado was ranked #15 in the final AP Poll. The '54-'55 Buffs were blessed to have the single most dominating rebounder in the history of Colorado. Senior Burdette Haldorson tore apart record after record, many of which are still standing today. His accomplishments were highlighted by a 21-rebound effort against Oklahoma, and later a 22-rebound game against Nebraska. His season mark of 346 rebounds is still the school record, as his single season rebounds/game average. He also knew how to put the ball in the basket; his 1125 career points was the best in school history when he left.

1953-54

Under the direction of coach H.B. Lee, the Buffs finished the season with a less than stellar 10-10 regular season mark. It was their inspired 10-2 Big Seven record, however, that helped the Buffs reach the NCAA Tournament for the fourth time in school history. Colorado started its season by losing seven in a row. Fans and the media had already stuck the proverbial fork in the Buffs' season. After a loss at home to Iowa State though, a fire was lit under the Buffs, and they went flying to finish out the season. They won 11 of their next 13 games to storm back into tournament contention. That win streak was highlighted by a home win against the defending champion Kansas Jayhawks, along with road wins against contenders Iowa State, Nebraska, and Oklahoma. At season's end, the impressive winning streak was not enough to ensure an NCAA berth. The selection was eventually made when Colorado's name was literally pulled out of a hat. Talk about luck of the draw. CU was paced by junior center Burdette Haldorson. The 6'7 center led the team with 367 points and 199 rebounds. At the time, Haldorson's average of nine rebounds per game tied him for the all time high with Frank Gompert.

One of the youngest CU teams to ever make the NCAA Tournament came in the 1945-46 season. The Buffs did not have one senior to help coach Forrest Cox direct the untested youth. Thankfully for Coach Cox, and for Buffs fans, they didn't need one. Colorado battled their way to a 12-6 overall record, and a 9-3 Mountain States Conference record. The season was highlighted by a five-game win streak during the heart of the schedule. During that span they were able to defeat conference foes Denver, Colorado State, Utah, and Brigham Young. The inexperienced Buffs were lead by center Hank Knocke. The sophomore transfer exploded out of the gates: scoring 49 points in his first four games as a Buffalo. With a sturdy 6-4 frame, Knocke was able to control the area under the basket, and maintain CU's distinction as a force to be reckoned with. Knocke's season was highlighted by two 26-point efforts; once against Utah State, and again just two weeks later against Denver. At the time, those stood as the third and fourth all-time, single-game scoring records. The Buffs ended their season with an NCAA Regional consolation game victory over Baylor.

1941-42 FINAL FOUR

Very little could stop Colorado in its march toward its second NCAA Tournament appearance. The Buffs decimated their competition, going 15-1 in the regular season. Behind the direction of head coach Forrest B. Cox, CU's explosive attack and stingy defensive work won them their first 14 games. The Buffs finally lost their first game of the season on March 3, a 40-39 loss to conference foe Wyoming. A perfect 6-0 home record had the fans in Boulder excited; and their 9-1 away record had the rest of the nation trembling. Colorado would eventually finish their season 16-2, as they took down Kansas in the NCAA Western Region semifinals. They would later bow out to Stanford in the regional finals. Their stellar play helped the Buffs capture their fourth Mountain States Conference title in five years. Two All-American players helped to pace CU during this dominating season: Robert Doll and Leason McCloud. Doll was the big play man for the Buffs. His imposing presence down in the paint allowed him to out rebound all of his opponents. He would later go on to play for the Boston Celtics in the NBA. Doll was supplemented by the stellar play of McCloud. The leading scorer on the team, McCloud was seen by coach Cox as the Buffs "go to guy." McCloud's inspired 19-point performance was the turning factor in Colorado's first round victory against Kansas.

1939-40 NCAA and NIT

Coming off of an impressive NIT championship, Colorado was invited to play in the NCAA Tournament for the first time in school history. Under the direction of coach Forrest Cox, the Buffs had compiled an impressive 17-2 record previous to the NCAA Tournament. This included a near perfect 11-1 record in conference play, a flawless 8-0 home performance, and a mid-season 12-game winning streak. Although CU had to bow out after the first round of the tournament, they did not end the season without some hardware to show. They had earlier defeated Duquesne University for the NIT championship. A 52-37 romping of the University of Denver had given the Buffs their third-straight Mountain States Conference title. Colorado was lead by Jack Harvey: a two time All-American selection. Over a two year span, CU went 31-8 with Harvey wearing the silver and gold. Harvey was a dominating presence in the defensive end of the court; as well as being the catalyst in an explosive fast break offense.

NIT TEAMS

Colorado was 21-12 overall and finished in sole possession of fourth place in the Pac-12 Conference regular season standings at 12-8. Colorado closed the regular season by winning seven of eight games to clinch a first round bye in the Pac-12 Tournament for the second-straight season and advanced to the semifinal round for the fifth time. Colorado's 6-4 record on the road in the Pac-12 marked its first winning conference road record since 1963-64. Colorado's six conference road wins were the program's most since the 1961-62 team had six (6-1). The Buffaloes earned a No. 4 seed in one of four eight-team brackets for the NIT, falling to St. Bonaventure, 76-68, in a first round game at the CU Events Center. Sophomore forward Jabari Walker earned All-District and All-Pac-12 First team honors and would be a second round pick by the Portland Trail Blazers in the 2022 NBA Draft. Colorado's senior class capped off a four-year run with 88 wins, the second most in any four-year span in team history. Evan Battey was the only one of the four-year seniors (Elijah Parquet and Benan Ersek the others) to have been on the floor for all 88 games, giving him the title of playing in the most wins in team history.

Colorado was 23-13 overall and finished in a tie for fourth place in the Pac-12 regular season standings at 10-8. After a 2-6 start to Pac-12 play, the Buffaloes won 12 of their final 16 games, reaching the NIT Quarterfinals. Colorado's 8-2 run in the final 10 games of the regular season tied for the program's fourth-best in the NCAA Tournament era (since 1938) and the best since 1961-62. It was the 10th 20-win season in team history and sixth under head coach Tad Boyle. Colorado's 23 wins tied for the third most in team history and just one away from the school record of 24. The Buffaloes recorded double-digit conference wins for the fifth time in eight seasons of the Pac-12 era and the first since 2015-16. Colorado claimed record of .500 or better in conference play (includes Big 12) for the sixth time in nine seasons. Following a run to the Pac-12 Tournament semifinals, Colorado claimed a No. 4 seed in the NIT, defeating Dayton and Norfolk State at home, before falling to eventual champion Texas in the quarterfinals. Sophomores McKinley Wright IV and Tyler Bey were selected to the All-Pac-12 First Team while Bey was voted the league's Most Improved Player of the Year.

Colorado made its school-record seventh-straight postseason appearance after a seventh place finish in the Pac-12 Conference. The Buffaloes rebounded from an 0-7 start to their league season to win nine of 13 down the stretch to claim their 10th NIT invite. Colorado had its share of big moments throughout the season. The Buffaloes won three games against ranked opponents, including a 74-65 triumph over No. 10/10 Oregon at the Coors Events Center; a Ducks team that would eventually reach the Final Four. Colorado also took down No. 22/21 Texas in Brooklyn and topped No. 13/14 Xavier during the nonconference schedule. Senior guard Derrick White had one of the finest seasons by an individual in a Buffaloes uniform. White earned All-Pac-12 first team and All-District honors averaging 18.1 points, 4.1 rebounds and 4.4 assists per game. He joined Shaun Vandiver as the only CU players to score 30 or more points twice in a single postseason. White had 31 points in the Pac-12 quarterfinals vs. Arizona and then would score 30 in CU's NIT opening round loss at UCF. A former Division II All-American at UCCS, White catapulted into the national spotlight during his one year at Colorado and was selected 29th overall in the 2017 NBA Draft by the San Antonio Spurs.

In Tad Boyle's first season as Colorado's head coach, the Buffs won a school-record 24 games (14 losses) in reaching the NIT semifinals at Madison Square Garden. Considered by most analysts to have been the NCAA Tournament's biggest snub, CU made the most of their NIT appearance by winning three-straight games before ultimately falling to Alabama in the semis. Led by senior Cory Higgins, who tied Richard Roby for CU's all-time career scoring title (2,001 points), and All-Big 12 unanimous first team selection Alec Burks, the Buffs boasted a potent offensive attack that ranked 12th nationally in scoring (79.6 ppg) and fifth nationally in free throw percentage (77.8 percent). Burks set a CU record for most points in a season with 779, surpassing Cliff Meely's mark that stood for 40 years. The season marked the first time that the Buffs had six players record over 100 made field goals in a season (Burks 251, Higgins 200, Levi Knutson 158, Marcus Relphorde 148, Austin Dufault 104, Andre Roberson 101). Roberson set a CU freshmen record by recording 297 rebounds for the season, and also became the first freshman in school history to lead the team in rebounds, steals (51) and blocks (42). Knutson was honored with the co-Big 12 Sixth Man of the Year Award.

Led by a veteran roster of 10 seniors and an All-Big 12 first team selection, in sophomore Richard Roby, the Buffs tallied a 20-10 overall record to earn the school's eighth NIT berth. Coach Ricardo Patton's club ran off to one of the best starts in the program's history, with a 10-1 record before conference play. The season marked the first time three players had made over 50 3-pointers in a season (Roby 63, Andy Osborn 53, Chris Copeland 50). CU became nationally ranked for the first time since the 1996-97 season, coming in at No. 25 team in the country by the USA Today/Coaches' Poll for two straight weeks (Jan. 30-Feb. 12), and tied the school record for home wins in a season, with 14.

Colorado won 18 games for the fifth time under coach Ricardo Patton, including 10 in conference play, the most since recording 11 back in the 1996-97 season, and earned a number four seed in the Big 12 Tournament in Dallas. The trio of David Harrison, Blair Wilson, and Michel Morandais each surpassed the 1,000 points in a career mark, en route to the Buffaloes' third NIT berth during Patton's eight years as head coach. Harrison would break the CU record for blocks in a career with a three-block performance against Utah. Harrison went on to block 85 shots during the season and after only three years in a CU uniform, would hold every blocked shot record category. Wilson also broke a bundle of records during the season, as the senior made six treys in a game against Iowa State to break or tie four school records, most notably the school record for career 3-pointers. The Buffaloes ended the year with a first round loss at Oregon, 77-72, in overtime.

1999-2000

The Buffaloes marched out to an 11-5 pre-conference record to start out the 1999-2000 season, led by senior guard Jaquay Walls' 17-point scoring average and Jamahl Mosley and Stephane Pelle's control of the paint, with 7.1 and 6.9 rebounds per game, respectively. On Dec. 3 in Hawaii's Rainbow Classic, Colorado defeated Gonzaga 81-77, making it the Buffs' third-straight victory over 1999 NCAA Tournament teams. In what many CU fans believe to be the best game at the Coors Events Center, CU came from behind to defeat Iowa State 102-90 in overtime. Walls scored a NCAA-record 15 points in the overtime, on his way to an astounding 42-point performance. At regular season's end the Buffs were invited to play in the NIT, only to fall in the first round to Southern Illinois 94-92. The invitation marked the third time in four years the Buffs had played in post-season tournaments.

Colorado opened the 1998-99 campaign 9-3, where it would see five Buffs average double digits in scoring over the season. By the year's end, many Colorado players had established themselves as some of the elite in the Big 12. Junior Jaquay Walls was named to the All-Big 12 All-Underrated Team, as well as earning All-Big 12 Honorable Mention status. Senior guard Kenny Price was named to the All-Big 12 Third team, while also ranking third in the conference in points per game. Price's nine three-pointers in a Big 12 second round game against Texas would set a single game record, breaking his mark of eight from the year before. With his nine treys, Price would bring his total for the year to 97, the highest single-season total in CU history. In March, Colorado was selected to the NIT, marking the second time in three years that the Buffs made a post-season appearance. CU defeated first round opponent Pepperdine 65-61 in the tournament's opening round, before losing to intra-state rival Colorado State 76-86 in the second round.

Colorado started off the 1994-95 season with a 10-3 record, including a convincing win of the Mile High Classic. The Buffs beat Eastern Washington and Hofstra by a combined 39 points for CU's fifth consecutive victory of their home tournament. On Jan. 7 in Boulder, the Buffs ended their 16-game losing streak against ranked teams, when they defeated No. 16 Iowa State 71-57, forcing a school record 31 turnovers by the opponent. After throwing down a fast break dunk, senior guard Donnie Boyce surpassed Cliff Meely (1967-71) to become Colorado's all-time leading scorer, finishing his illustrious career with 1,995 points. Boyce remains the only Colorado player to lead his team in scoring for four consecutive years. On Jan. 17 against Texas-San Antonio, senior Ted Allen blocked five shots to become CU's all-time leader in blocks, finishing with 53 on the year. At the season's end, Colorado qualified for the NIT, for only the second invitation to post-season play in 25 years and the first since the 1990-91 season. The Buffs finished the year with an above .500 winning percentage, for the first time since coach Joe Harrington's debut season with the team.

1990-91

The inside-outside combination of Shaun Vandiver and Steve Wise led the way for the Buffaloes in the 1990-91 season, where the duo combined for an average 41 points per game. The Buffs scored a school record 124 points, twice, in pre-conference match-ups against Central Connecticut State and Tennessee State, both ending in CU victories. Colorado ended a 22-year post-season drought by receiving an invitation to play in the NIT. The Buffaloes beat Michigan (71-64), Wyoming (83-75), Arkansas State (81-75), and Massachusetts (98-91) en route to a third place finish. Vandiver finished the year averaging 21.2 points and 10 rebounds per game, which was good enough to earn the senior center first team All-Big Eight honors, and a spot on the NIT All-Tournament team. Colorado finished the season with a 19-14 record, the team's best in 21 seasons.

1939-40

The 1939-40 edition of the Buffaloes tallied one of the best records in school history, finishing the year at 17-4. The team, led by coach Forrest Cox, dominated the Mountain States Conference with a conference record of 11-1, the sole loss coming from Utah State 31-29. Colorado qualified for the 1940 NIT in New York City, beating DePaul 52-37 and Duquesne 51-40. The Buffaloes then went on to participate in the NCAA Tournament, losing close games to Southern California (32-38) and Rice (60-56 OT). Colorado was the first team, and one of a select few, to play in both the NIT and NCAA tournaments in the same year.

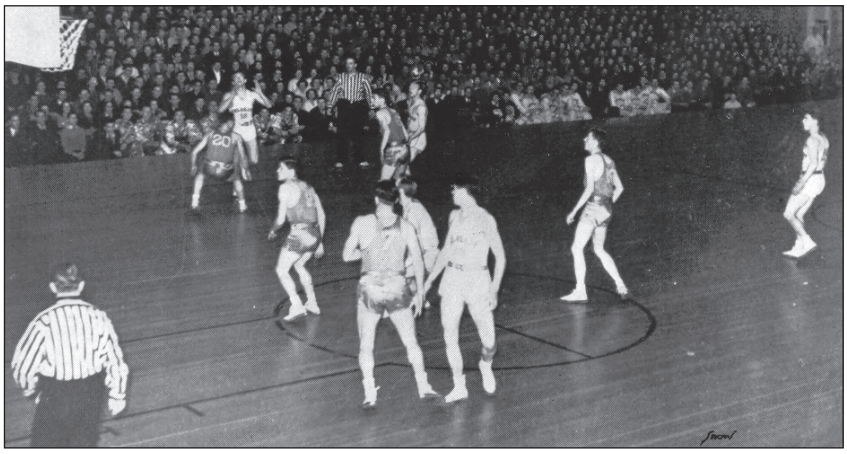
The Colorado men's basketball program earned its first postseason berth in the 1937-38 season, under the direction of third-year head coach Forrest Cox, in which the Buffs went undefeated at home during the season. 1938 featured the debut of the Mountain States Conference, in which the Buffaloes stacked up a record of 10-2 in conference play. Colorado went on to the NIT in New York City, where the Buffs edged out New York University 48-47 in their first game, before succumbing to Temple University by a score of 60-34, turning in a 15-6 record on the season.



Balch Fieldhouse was the home floor for the Buffaloes during the 1937-38 season.

BUFFS IN THE PROS

Chauncey Billups

Boston Celtics, 1997-98 • Toronto Raptors, 1997-98 • Denver Nuggets, 1998-2000 • Minnesota Timberwolves, 2000-02 • Detroit Pistons, 2002-08 • Denver Nuggets, 2008-11 • New York Knicks, 2010-11 • Los Angeles Clippers, 2011-13 • Detroit Pistons, 2013-14

One of the most talented players in Colorado basketball history, Chauncey Billups helped transform the Buffaloes into an NCAA tournament contender in the two years he played in Boulder. His hard work, dedication and exceptional basketball skills not only drew the attention of college basketball aficionados, but of professional teams as well. Billups was the No. 3 overall selection of the first round of the NBA Draft in 1997 by the Boston Celtics. As a captain of the Detroit Pistons, he led the team to the NBA championship in 2004 earning the NBA Finals Most Valuable Player award honors by averaging 21 points and 5.2 assists in the five games.

NBA

- Retired in Sept. 2014 after 17 seasons.
- Career averages: 15.2 points, 5.4 assists, 2.9 rebounds per game.
- Five-time NBA All-Star (2006, 2007, 2008, 2009, 2010).
- Helped lead the Nuggets to a franchise-best 54 wins in 2008-09, the most since moving to the NBA.
- Retired fifth in free throw percentage (.894), sixth in 3-pointers made (1,830) and ninth in 3-pointers attempted (4,725) in NBA history.
- Still ranks fifth in free throw percentage and 20th in 3-pointers made and attempted.
- NBA Champion (2004)
- NBA Finals MVP (2004)
- Five-time NBA All-Star (2006–2010)
- All-NBA Second Team (2006)
- Two-time All-NBA Third Team (2007, 2009)
- Two-time NBA All-Defensive Second Team (2005–2006)
- J. Walter Kennedy Citizenship Award (2008)
- NBA Sportsmanship Award (2009)
- Colorado Sports Hall of Fame (2015)
- CU Athletic Hall of Fame (2015)

CHAUNCEY BILLUPS

George Washington High School

- named Mr. Colorado Basketball three times and in 1995 was a McDonald's High School All-American
- averaged 23.8 ppg. during his four years

USA Basketball

- selected to be a part of Team USA that competed at the 2007 FIBA Americas Championship, a qualifying tournament for the Beijing Olympics
- played for USA Basketball's Men's 22-and-under team against the Dream Team III during the summer of 1996
- played at the 1995 Olympic Festival in Denver, competing for the North team that won the gold medal
- played for Team USA at 2010 FIBA Summer World Championships in Turkey (9-0, Gold Medal)

Colorado

- Led the Buffs to their first NCAA Tournament in over two decades, where CU topped perennial power Indiana in the opening round of the 1997 tournament.
- As a sophomore was named a first-team All-American by The Basketball News, becoming the eighth All-American in Colorado history; named 1996-97 All-Big 12 first team by the league coaches and Associated Press.
- In two seasons in Boulder, averaged 18.5 points, 5.6 rebounds, 5.1 assists in 55 games; also connected on 120 3-pointers and shot .857 (306-for-357) from the free throw line.
- Set then-CU freshman records for points (465) and assists (143).
- One of two players at CU to score over 1,000 career points in only two seasons
- Holds the school record in scoring average by a freshman (17.9 ppg.)
- Second fastest player to record 500 points scored in only 28 games played

Tyler Bey

Dallas Mavericks, 2020-21

Named the 2019-20 Pac-12 Defensive Player of the Year along with earning league All-Defensive Team and All-Pac-12 Second Team honors. As a sophomore, he was the Pac-12 Most Improved Player of the Year while earning First Team All-Pac-12 honors. At the end of his three-year career he ranked eighth in rebounds (800), ninth in double-doubles (31), 10th in blocks (102) and field goal percentage (.530) and 29th in points (1,113) on Colorado's all-time lists. One of only seven Colorado players to eclipse 1,000 points and 800 rebounds and only the third documented player to reach 1,000 points, 750 rebounds and 100 blocks. Averaged 11.2 points, 8.1 rebounds, 1.0 steal and 1.0 block over 99 career games with 87 starting assignments.

Donnie Boyce

Atlanta Hawks, 1995-97

Donnie Boyce finished his career in 1994-95 as Colorado's all-time leading scorer with 1,995 points (he's currently third). However, Boyce's career ended prematurely when he broke his leg during the first half of CU's 1995 Big Eight Tournament game against Oklahoma. During his career in Boulder, Boyce was named All-Conference three times, twice on the league's first team. Boyce also held school records for games started (107), field goals attempted (1,648), free throws made (480) and free throws attempted (721). In four consecutive seasons (1991-95), Boyce led the Buffaloes in scoring, and led the Big Eight in scoring (league games only) as a junior (26.8 ppg). A gifted player on all levels, Boyce will be remembered as one of the greatest players in CU and Big Eight history.

Matt Bullard

Houston Rockets 1990-94, 1996-2001 • Atlanta Hawks, 1995-96 • Charlotte Hornets, 2001-02

Matt Bullard was a Big Eight All-Freshman and honorable mention all-conference selection in 1985-86. The next year he led the team in both scoring (16.6 ppg) and rebounding (9.3). He finished the 1986 season ranked 18th in the country in field goal percentage. Bullard joined the Rockets as a free agent in 1990, and was a member of Houston's 1994 NBA Championship team. He is the third-leading three-point shooter in franchise history.

Alec Burks

Utah Jazz, 2011-2019 • Cleveland Cavaliers, 2018-19 • Sacramento Kings, 2018-19 • Golden State Warriors, 2019-20 • Philadelphia 76ers, 2019-20 • New York Knicks, 2020-22 • Detroit Pistons, 2022-present

An electrifying guard for two years, Burks showcased on a nightly basis he was something special in a Buffs uniform. The holder of numerous school records in just two years, Burks owns the freshman (512) and sophomore (779) scoring records for those seasons. His 19.0 career points per game average ranks third all-time behind CU greats, Cliff Meely (24.3) and Shaun Vandiver (20.6). Named to the Big 12 Conference and NIT All-Tournament teams, Burks was also a conference unanimous first team selection, in addition being named a finalist (top 20) for the 2010-11 John R. Wooden Award. Burks scored a career-best 36 points (w/ a personal-high 12 field goals) in an upset win over No. 9/8 Missouri (Jan. 8, 2011). He's the 18th player in school history to score that many in a single game and the 36-point performance was the third highest ever at the Coors Events Center.

Chris Copeland

New York Knicks, 2012-13 • Indiana Pacers, 2013-15 • Milwaukee Bucks, 2015-16

Chris Copeland had an interesting path in order to fulfill his dream of playing in the NBA after graduating from CU in 2006. Copeland originally signed with the NBA D-League's Fort Worth Flyers for the 2007 season. He then moved on to play overseas for teams in Spain, the Netherlands, Germany, and Belgium. Finally, Copeland got his shot with an NBA team in 2012 when he signed with his hometown New York Knicks, where he averaged 8.7 points on 47.9 percent shooting (including an impressive 42.1 percent from three-point range) and 2.1 rebounds per game. At CU, Copeland was a four-year letterwinner helping the Buffs to a pair of NIT Tournaments (2004, 2005) as well an NCAA Tournament appearance (2003). During his junior and senior seasons he was second on the team in scoring, trailing only Richard Roby. In his senior season he led the team in blocked shots with 32.

Jim Creighton

After playing in the shadows of Cliff Meely for two years, Jim Creighton came into his own during his junior and senior seasons. He quickly became a stalwart performer for the Buffs. Not big for a center (6-7, 190), Creighton played much bigger with his great jumping ability. Following an excellent senior season, he was named to the NCAA's District V All-Star squad. Creighton enjoyed a one-year stint with the Atlanta Hawks. Used primarily for his defensive ability, he played in 32 games, averaging one point and 1.4 boards per game.

Jim Davis

St. Louis/Atlanta Hawks, 1967-72 • Houston Rockets, 1971-72 • Detroit Pistons, 1971-75

Jim Davis guided Colorado to two Big Eight championships during a brilliant three-year career. During that time, Davis emerged as one of the school's all-time top rebounders (863 boards) and scorers (1,110 points). In addition to being a fine rebounder and scorer, Davis was also known for his defensive skills. As a professional ball player, Davis played for three different clubs, St. Louis/Atlanta, Houston and Detroit. His most successful seasons were spent with St. Louis/Atlanta as he averaged 7.9 points per game and totaled 1,484 career boards.

Spencer Dinwiddie

Detroit Pistons, 2014-16 • Brooklyn Nets, 2016-21 • Washington Wizards, 2021-22 • Dallas Mavericks, 2021-present

One of the most outspoken, clutch players in CU basketball history, Spencer Dinwiddie helped the Buffaloes to three-straight NCAA Tournament appearances and a Pac-12 Tournament Championship during his outstanding three seasons in Boulder. With a career scoring average of 13.0 points per game, Dinwiddie was the 30th player in school history to reach the 1,000-point plateau (1,115 points). He started every game (86) as a Buff and also averaged 3.4 rebounds, 2.6 assists, 1.1 steals per game. He ranks in a number of all-time top-10 statistical categories, including No. 3 in free throw percentage (.830), No. 4 in 3-point field goal percentage (.386), No. 5 in FT made (420), and No. 7 in FT attempts (506). He once made 33-straight free throws (Feb. 7-21, 2013; 5 games), which is the fourth longest streak in school history. During his junior season cut short by an ACL injury, Dinwiddie's biggest scoring game of the campaign came against in-state rival Colorado State, where he lit up the Rams for 28 points and a 67-62 win at Colorado State (Dec. 3, 2013). During his sophomore year, he victimized the Rams once again in Boulder, scoring a career-high 29 points with a personal-best five treys. On Feb. 10, 2013, he set school record by scoring the most points by a Buff without missing a shot at Oregon State (6-of-6 FG; 4-of-4 3 pt.; 8-of-8 FT). Dinwiddie was selected by the Detroit Pistons in the second round of the 2014 NBA Draft (38th overall).

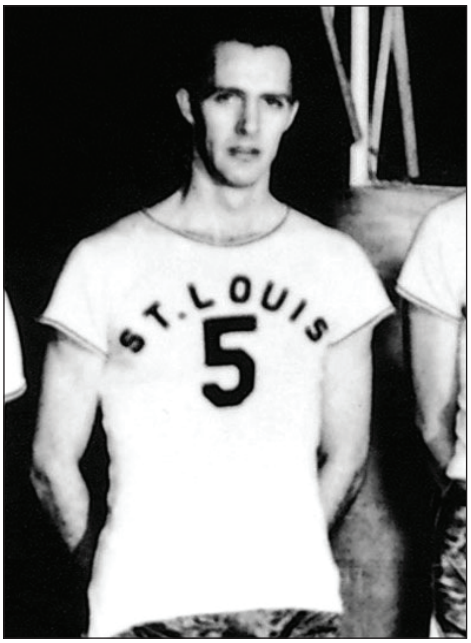
Robert Doll

St. Louis Bombers, 1946-48 • Boston Celtics, 1948-50



One of the key players for Coach Forrest "Frosty" Cox's 1941-42 Big Seven championship squad, Robert "Ichabod" Doll was known for his aggressive defense as he was named a unanimous first-team All-Conference player following his senior season. That same year, he also garnered All-America honors in Look, Pic and Time magazines. In 1940, Doll led the Buffaloes to bids in both the NCAA Tournament and NIT. He was named the NIT Most Valuable Player after averaging 15.5 points per game. Two years later, Doll was named a consensus second team All-American and led Colorado to its first Final Four. Doll played professionally for two years with the St. Louis Bombers, then joined the Boston Celtics as a free agent. During his two-year stint with the Celtics. Doll averaged 8.4 points and 1.4 assists per game.

Pat Frink

Cincinnati Royals, 1968-69

Known as an excellent shooter, Pat Frink finished his career at Colorado as the second leading scorer in Buff basketball history at that time (1,288 points). He accomplished that feat even though he missed the 1966 season due to a knee injury. Frink was also chosen as a member of the second-team academic All-America squad in 1968. After graduation, Frink went on to play professionally with the Cincinnati Royals for one season. While a member of the ABA team, he played in 48 games and averaged 2.6 points per game.

Chuck Gardner

Denver Rockets, 1967-68

Chuck Gardner led the Buffs his senior year in scoring (20.2 ppg), rebounding (9.8 rpg), field goal percentage (.524) and free throw percentage (.650). A two-time All-Big Eight selection, Gardner was also chosen as a scholastic All-American his senior season. His excellent touch around the basket and dangerous hook shot enabled him to be an outstanding inside scorer. Although he only played one year professionally, he did record some notable marks with the ABA's Denver Rockets. In 42 games, he averaged 4.7 points and 3.2 boards per game.

David Harrison

Indiana Pacers, 2004-08

David Harrison had his best season with the Buffs during his junior year leading the Buffaloes in scoring (17.1 ppg.) and shooting an impressive 63.1 percentage from the field. The seven-foot, 250-pound presence led the Big 12 Conference in field goal percentage and more impressively was third nationally. Following his junior season in 2003-04, he opted for the NBA Draft where he was the 29th overall pick by Indiana. In four seasons with the Pacers he averaged 5.0 points, 2.9 rebounds a game and shot 53 percent from the field. Although his NBA career would not produce the numbers he performed in college, Harrison is currently the CU blocked shot record holder (225) and eclipsed the 1,000-point barrier (1,317 pts.). Harrison holds or shares every blocked shot record in school history and helped the Buffs to the 2002-03 NCAA Tournament and a 2003-04 NIT appearance.

A solid four-year letterwinner who played a then-school record 132 games, Higgins is the only player in CU history with at least 2,000 points (2,001); 500 rebounds (547); 300 assists (320); and 150 steals (192) during his career. He shares the all-time scoring record with 2,001 points and at the time of his graduation was the holder of 17 school records. He's also the CU and Big 12 record holder with 45 consecutive free throws made (Dec. 10, 2008–Jan. 14, 2009) covering eight games as a sophomore. Higgins was a three-time All-Big 12 third team selection and a Wooden Award Preseason Top 50 Watch List nominee entering his senior year. His 2,001 career points ranked sixth all-time among Big 12 Conference scorers (in all games played) and during his junior and sophomore seasons, led the Big 12 (conference games-only) in steals with a 2.1 steals per game average.

Jay Humphries

Phoenix Suns, 1984-88 • Milwaukee Bucks, 1988-92 • Utah Jazz, 1992-1995 • Boston Celtics, 1994-95

Jay Humphries had an outstanding career at CU, as he was elected twice for both All-America and All-Conference honors. Humphries is the current all-time leader in both steals (309) and assists (586), evidence of both his great quickness and ball handling abilities. Humphries finished his career with the Utah Jazz, after spending four seasons with Phoenix and four with Milwaukee. He reached two milestones in 1992-93, tallying his 4,000th assist and 8,000th point. He averaged a career-high 15.3 points per game in 1989-90, and never averaged under 7.5 points per game. Humphries joined the Jazz on draft day '92, when he was traded from Milwaukee to Utah.

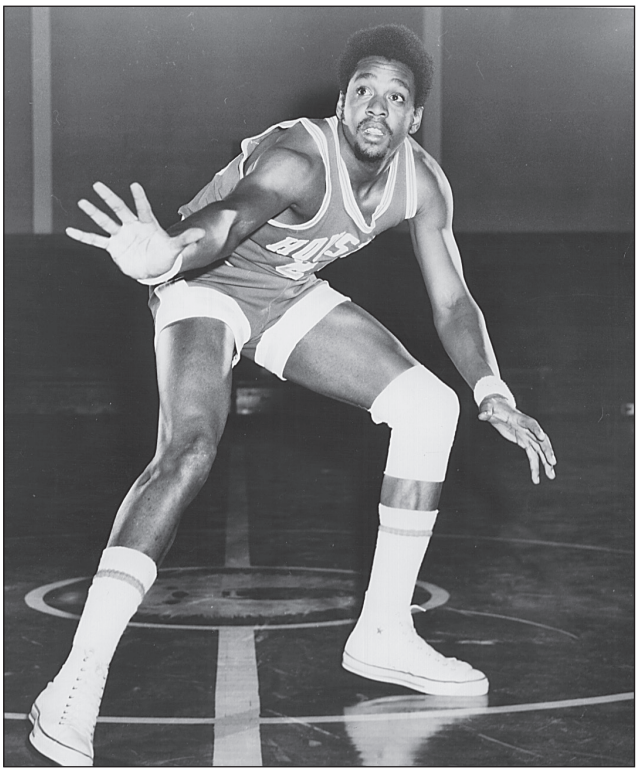
George King

Phoenix Suns, 2018-19 • Dallas Mavericks, 2021-22

George King was a 2017-18 All-Pac-12 Conference Second Team pick and the 2015-16 Pac-12 Most Improved Player of the Year. After playing sparingly as a freshman, and taking a redshirt season in 2014-15, he averaged 12.5 points and 6.4 rebounds over his final three seasons at Colorado. He led the Buffaloes in rebounding over his final two seasons and ranked fifth in the Pac-12 as a senior at 7.8 per game. King also finished as one of the greatest 3-point shooters in Colorado history. His 40.1 3-point percentage is the second best in team history while his 181 3-pointers rank fifth. He finished with 1,294 points and 681 rebounds, ranking 18th and 14th respectively on Colorado's career charts. King won the Pac-12 3-point shooting title as a sophomore, hitting 45.6 percent. He played in the annual NABC All-Star game prior to the 2018 Final Four where he was named MVP of the East team after scoring 21 points on 8 of 11 shooting with nine rebounds and three blocked shots. He then participated in the Portsmouth Invitational, a pre-NBA Draft showcase for college seniors. King was named to the Portsmouth All-Tournament team averaging 18 points and 7.7 rebounds in three games. For his efforts, he received an invitation to the 2018 NBA Draft Combine. King was selected in the second round of the 2018 NBA Draft by the Phoenix Suns (59th pick overall). He signed a two-way deal and spent the majority of the season with the Northern Arizona Suns of the NBA G-League. King appeared in one game with Phoenix during the 2018-19 season, grabbing one rebound.



Cliff Meely

Houston Rockets, 1971-76 • Los Angeles Lakers, 1975-76

One of two players in Colorado basketball history to have his jersey number retired (20), Cliff Meely was named an All-American following the 1970-71 season. Meely was truly a graceful performer who could shoot from anywhere on the court. He finished his career at CU possessing eight Big Eight Conference marks and 16 school records, including at the time CU's all-time scoring record (1,940 points). He still owns the school mark averaging 24.3 points per game. Meely transferred to CU as a junior college All-American from Northeastern JC. While there, he scored 40 or more points on five separate occasions. Meely played in more than 300 professional games over six seasons with the NBA's Houston Rockets and Los Angeles Lakers. He averaged 8.7 points and 5.6 boards per game throughout his career with the Rockets, only playing in 20 games with the Lakers at the end of the 1975-76 season.

André Roberson

Oklahoma City, 2013-20 • Brooklyn Nets, 2020-21

After three record-breaking seasons at CU, Roberson chose to forego his senior year and enter the 2013 NBA Draft. The decision proved to be a wise one as the 6-7 power forward was selected with the 26th overall pick in the draft. Roberson left Boulder as the only CU men's basketball player with 1,000 points (1,012), 1,000 rebounds (1,045), 150 blocks (150), 150 steals (164), and 100 assists (119). He was also the first CU player to lead the team three straight years in rebounding, steals, and blocked shots. His 1,045 rebounds were only 10 boards short of the school record set by Stephane Pelle; however Pelle did so over the course of four seasons (1999-2003), while Roberson only played three seasons. Roberson's 150 blocks ranks fifth all-time at CU. In 105 career games, he tallied double-digit rebounds in 59 games, and scored in double-figures 52 times. Roberson also holds the freshman (297), sophomore (401), and junior (347) season rebounding records. Roberson helped Oklahoma City to the 2016 Western Conference Finals. He was named to the 2016-17 NBA All-Defensive Second Team.

Scott Wedman

Kansas City Kings, 1975-81 • Cleveland Cavaliers, 1981-83 • Boston Celtics, 1982-87

Scott Wedman provided the backbone for CU basketball in the early '70s. Head Coach Sox Walseth called Wedman "one of the best we've ever had here." With his great touch, he was smooth as silk with the ball, and was also a big factor on the boards. Wedman's outstanding play earned him All-Big Eight honors in both his junior and senior seasons. Wedman began his professional career with the NBA's Kansas City franchise, where he played for six seasons. While there, he averaged 17.4 points per game and 6.0 rebounds in 466 games. He was traded to Cleveland for the '81-82 season and then was sent to Boston where he averaged 5.6 points per game in 301 contests. He was named to the 1979-80 NBA All-Defensive Second team as a member of the Kings.

Chuck Williams

Denver Nuggets, 1971-72, 1975-76 (ABA); 1976-77 (NBA) • Kentucky Colonels, 1972-75 • Buffalo Braves, 1977-78

A floor leader, Chuck Williams was known for his precision passing, slashing drives to the basket and his tenacious defense. He possessed exceptional quickness and speed. Following a serious knee injury his junior year, he rebounded his final campaign to have an excellent season. Williams began his professional basketball career with Denver. He played in 163 games with the Nuggets franchise during two different stints in both the ABA and NBA, and had a scoring average of 9.8 points per game. He also played for three years with the ABA's Kentucky Colonels and finished his career with the Buffalo Braves.

Derrick White

San Antonio Spurs, 2017-22 • Boston Celtics, 2021-present

Derrick White made the most out of his one season in Boulder. He led the Buffaloes with 18.1 points, 4.4 assists and 1.2 steals per game while shooting 51 percent from the field and 81 percent from the free throw in 2016-17. He was named to the Pac-12's 2017 All-Conference First Team, All-Defensive Team and All-Tournament Team. He was also selected to the USBWA All-District VIII First Team and NABC All-District 20 Second Team. On the Pac-12 leaderboard, White ranked third in scoring, fifth in free throw percentage, sixth in assists, seventh in blocks (1.4 bpg), 10th in assist-to-turnover ratio (1.8), 14th in 3-point percentage (.396) and steals and 15th in field goal percentage. White was one of two players, joining the 2017 No. 1 overall pick Markelle Fultz, to rank in the Pac-12 Top 10 in scoring, assists and blocked shots. White was the league's second-leading scorer during the conference season at 18.5 points an outing. He had 14 games with at least 20 points, 11 of those coming against Pac-12 competition and included in that were three of his four 30-point outings. He's the ninth player with four or more 30 point games in a CU career and first with four in one season since Chauncey Billups in 1995-96. Following a memorable summer where he shined at the Portsmouth Invitational and NBA Combine, White was selected by the San Antonio Spurs in the first round with the 29th overall pick in the 2017 NBA Draft.

McKinley Wright IV

Minnesota Timberwolves, 2021-22 • Dallas Mavericks, 2022-present

Colorado's all-time leader in assists with 683 and also owns school career records for double-figure scoring games (109), double-figure assists games (10) and points-assists double-doubles (10). He is the only men's basketball player in Pac-12 Conference history with 1,800 points, 600 assists and 600 rebounds and one of just seven to reach that mark in NCAA Division I (since 1985-86); was one of just 10 at 1,600-600-600. On other Colorado career charts ranks second in starts (130) and minutes played (4,339), fifth in games played (131), sixth in points (1,857), field goals made (668) and field goals attempted (1,429), ninth in free throws made (388), 10th in 3-pointers made (133), 3-point attempts (405) and steals (140) and 20th in rebounds (644). He earned a school-record six conference Player of the Week awards during his career and owns four of the top nine single-season assist totals in team history. He led, or shared the team lead, in asssists in 116 of 131 career games. Wright went undrafted, but signed a two-way contract with his hometown Minnesota Timberwolves for the 2021-22 season.

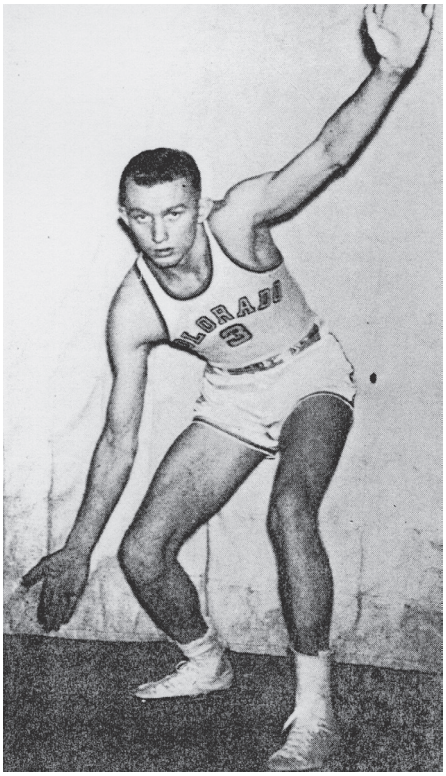
ALL-AMERICA SELECTIONS



Jack Harvey

In his back-to-back All-America campaigns, Jack Harvey led the Buffs to two conference championships and a trip to the NCAA Tournament in his senior season. During those two years, CU posted an amazing 31-8 mark and received recognition as the No. 1 team in the land. Known for his tough defense, Harvey proved to be key in numerous Buff victories. He was also an outstanding ball-handler for a big man and was a key component in the CU fast break. A solid All-Conference performer, Harvey is the only CU cager to be selected twice as an All-American

Bob Doll was the big-play man for coach Frosty Cox's 1941-42 Big Seven Championship squad. Doll, along with fellow All-American Leason McCloud helped lead CU to a 16-2 record and the NCAA Western Tournament finals as a senior. He scored 168 points (9.4 ppg.) and was known as an outstanding rebounder and controlled the paint in many CU wins. He was also renowned for his shooting prowess, finishing second to McCloud in scoring. An unanimous All-Big Seven selection, Doll was selected to All-America teams by Look, Pic and Time magazines. He was also tabbed as MVP of New York's Metropolitan Tournament as a sophomore and was a huge factor in CU's three conference titles in a four-year span. After graduation, Doll went on to play for the Boston Celtics.

Jim Willcoxon

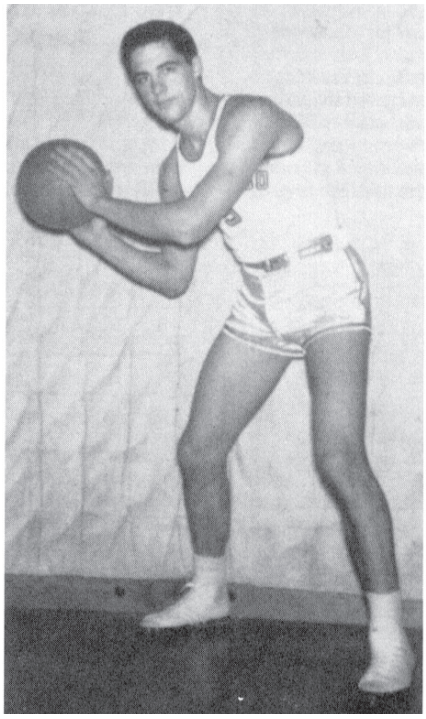
Known for his defense, Jim Willcoxon continued Coach Frosty Cox's tradition of talented cagers. Willcoxon helped anchor the 1937-38 and 1938-39 Big Seven Championship teams with tough play on the defensive end. He also led the Buffs to national prominence with strong showings on East Coast road trips. His hard-nosed style of play earned him both All-Big Seven and All-America honors as a senior.



Leason McCloud

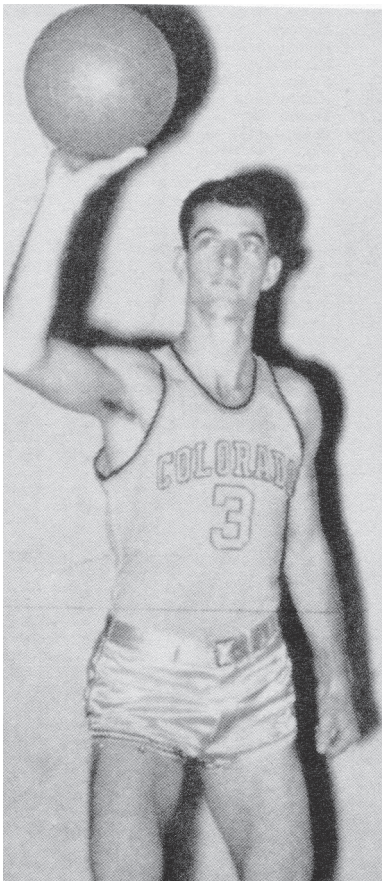
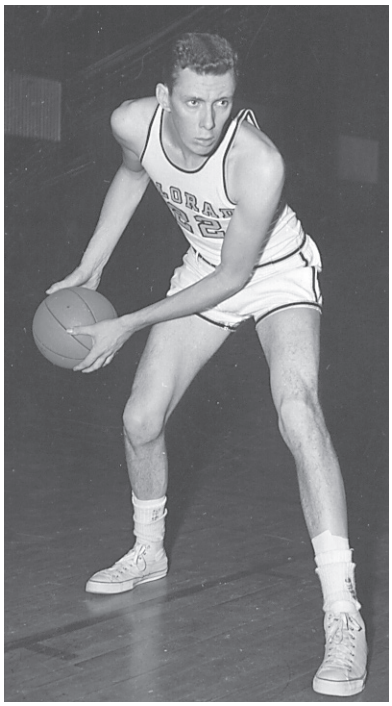
The leading scorer for the 1942 Big Seven Champion Buffs, Leason McCloud was Coach Frosty Cox's "go-to guy." Known for his silky-smooth shot, McCloud was also a great passer and rebounder. McCloud was key in CU's NCAA Western Tournament semifinal win over Kansas, pacing the Buffs with 19 points. His play caught the attention of national media and he joined fellow Buff Bob Doll on the Look, Pic and Time magazines' All-America squads and was a unanimous All-Big Seven selection.





Burdette Haldorson

Burdette Haldorson was virtually unstoppable in 1955. Prior to the season, Coach H.B. Lee said, "We'll be just as good as Haldorson. We need the big man to play well for us." And play well he did, leading CU to a conference championship and a third-place finish in the National Collegiate Tournament. The big man led the Big Seven in scoring at 23.9 points per game and set what still stands as a CU record with an amazing 346 boards on the year. For his efforts, the Amateur Athletic Union tabbed Haldorson a first-team All-American. Haldorson's talents were nationally recognized, as the standout was selected to the 1956 and 1960 U.S. Olympic teams. Upon graduation, Haldorson turned down a $7,000 contract with the NBA's St. Louis franchise. He did continue playing, however, and led amateur powerhouse Phillips 66 to a National Industrial Basketball League title. Haldorson joined Cliff Meely as the only two Buffs to have their jerseys retired in 1994, and was named to the CU Hall of Fame in 1999.

Ken Charlton

Ranking No.12 on CU's all-time scoring charts, Ken Charlton battled through a history of knee problems to lead Colorado to two Big Eight titles and in 1963, Charlton was named an All-American by the United States Basketball Writers Association and Look magazine. Along with his penchant for scoring, Charlton was also a force inside, ranking in the top 10 on the CU rebounding charts with 671 career caroms (No. 11 at CU). He also succeeded in the classroom and was named an Academic All-American in 1963 as well. Buff Coach Sox Walseth said of Charlton's play, "On a leg and a half, he's better than anyone else in the Big Eight." Charlton was elected to the CU Hall of Fame in 2010.

In 1971, Cliff Meely was a scoring machine. He tallied a then-CU record 729 points and set a Big Eight record with 427 points in conference. Coach Sox Walseth said of Meely, "He is the most complete player I have ever coached." Known for his quickness and agility, Meely could play any position on the floor. He was named to several All-America teams as a junior and senior and played in numerous all-star games after graduation. Meely went on to play in over 300 games in the NBA for the Houston Rockets and the Los Angeles Lakers.

One of CU's top perimeter threats in hoops history, Chauncey Billups graced the CU campus for two seasons before departing for the NBA. As a sophomore in 1997, Billups was named a first-team All-American by Basketball News, becoming the eighth All-American in Colorado history. Known for his playmaking skills and ability to penetrate, Billups also led the Buffs to their first NCAA Tournament in over two decades, where CU topped perennial-power Indiana in the opening round. Billups went on to be the third pick in the NBA draft by the Boston Celtics. In 2004, Billups helped lead the Detroit Pistons to the NBA title, in addition was named The NBA Finals Most Valuable Player.

HALDORSON NAISMITH HALL OF FAME

Burdette "Burdie" Haldorson, one of the early stars in the history of the University of Colorado men's basketball program, was inducted along with his teammates from the 1960 United States Olympic team into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame. The 2010 class was inducted on August 13 in Springfield, Mass.

That 1960 team brought home the gold medal from Rome and also featured Jerry West (West Virginia), Oscar Robertson (Cincinnati), Jerry Lucas (Ohio State) and Walt Bellamy (Indiana). The 12-man squad cruised to an 8-0 record, the average winning margin a gaudy 42.4 points. The team beat Brazil, 90-63, to clinch the gold after disposing of the USSR (81-57) and host Italy (112-81) leading up to the gold medal contest.

The 1992 "Dream Team" also will be inducted, along with Karl Malone and Scottie Pippen, among others. The 1960 and 1992 squads are generally considered the top two men's basketball teams in U.S. Olympic history.

They will become the seventh and eighth teams that the Hall is inducting, the first Olympic ones, joining others that include the Harlem Globetrotters, the original Celtics, and the 1966 Texas Western team that shattered the race barrier when it beat Kentucky to win the NCAA title. Members of inducted teams go into the Hall as a full group, not as individuals.

"I don't really know that much about it yet, but it will be a real honor to go into the Hall with the group of players that was on that team," Haldorson said from his winter home in Scottsdale, Ariz. "There were 12 guys, and all but two of us went into the NBA. I was one of those two, and I had invitations to turn pro as well, but I was basically ending my career. Some of those guys were outright starts, and I really believe Jerry West and Oscar Robertson would be stars in the game today."

"I've run into Oscar and Jerry a few times, but we all really went our own directions, so most of us haven't really seen each other since we parted ways that summer," he added. "We've never had a reunion so we kind of lost track of each other, but I can't think of a better way to finally get us all together again."

Haldorson averaged 2.9 points and 4.3 rebounds per game on the '60 team, and also won a gold medal as a member of the '56 team, when he averaged 8.6 points per contest. With Haldorson as a team member, the United States went 16-0 in the two Olympic games.

Haldorson's uniform, No. 22, is one of just two retired basketball jerseys in CU history. He left quite an imprint in the school's basketball annals, and the 6-foot-7 Austin, Minn., native still holds four school rebounding records some five-plus decades after his CU playing days, including the most in a half (21), game (31) and season (346).

As a senior in 1954-55, he led the Buffs to the Big Seven Conference title by averaging 23.9 points per game, and was named a first-team All-American. CU eventually went on to finish third in the nation, losing in the Final Four to eventual champion San Francisco and the legendary Bill Russell.

He averaged 15.0 points and 9.5 rebounds for his CU career, and was the first of only eight players to this day to score at least 1,100 points and record 700 or more rebounds. He was inducted into CU's Athletic Hall of Fame in the school's second class in 1999; he previously had been inducted into the Colorado Sports Hall of Fame, the first with ties to CU's basketball programs, in 1977.

Haldorson went on to have a brilliant career in the National Industrial Basketball League as a member of the Phillips 66ers, the team entry for Phillips 66, who then hired him after his career. He then moved to Colorado Springs to form his own gas and oil distribution business. In October 2011, Haldorson was inducted into the 12th class of the Colorado Springs Hall of Fame at the Colorado Springs World Arena, and in March 2012, he was named to the Pac-12 Conference Men's Basketball Hall of Honor, recognizing former men's college basketball players and coaches who have made a significant impact to the tradition and heritage of the conference.

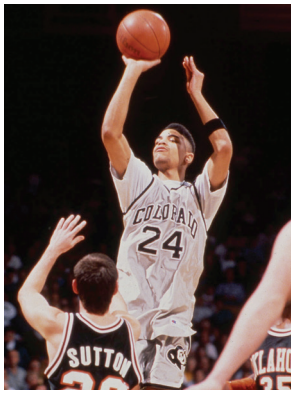
COLORADO ATHLETIC HALL OF FAME

CHAUNCEY BILLUPS

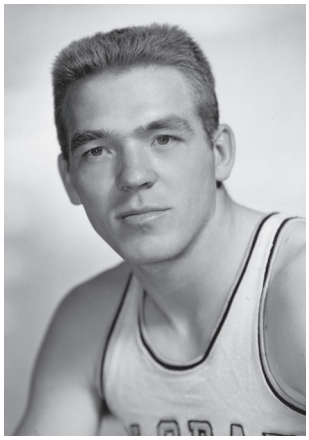
A first-team All-American and unanimous All-Big 12 performer as a sophomore in the 1996-97 season, he led the Buffaloes to a 22-10 record, including an 11-5 mark and a second place finish in the inaugural season of the Big 12, as well as their first NCAA Tournament appearance in 28 years … In two seasons at Colorado before declaring for the NBA Draft, he averaged 18.5 points, 5.6 rebounds and 5.1 assists in 55 games played; he also connected on 120 three-point field goals and converted at 85.7 percent from the free throw line … He averaged 19.1 points as a sophomore, and scored 24 in an 80-62 upset over Indiana and its legendary coach Bobby Knight in the first round of the NCAA's … In 1995-96, he set the school freshman records for points (465), scoring average (17.9) and assists (143), and was the second fastest player to score 500 points in a career, doing so in just 28 games (and is one of just two players to score 1,000 points in just two seasons in Boulder) … The Boston Celtics made him the third pick overall in the 1997 NBA Draft, but would trade him to Toronto a little over halfway into the season … Played 17 seasons in the NBA with seven teams (Boston, Toronto, Denver—twice, Minnesota, Detroit—twice, New York and the Los Angeles Clippers), but would rise to the ultimate stardom with Detroit, as he led the Pistons to the 2003-04 NBA title and would be named the Finals MVP...In 2013, he was inducted into the National High School Sports Hall of Fame (one of just four CU athletes to be honored, along with Byron White, Joe Romig and Bill Fanning), and in 2015, he was inducted into the Colorado Sports Hall of Fame, and in November 2015, the CU Hall of Fame.

DONNIE BOYCE



A two-time, first-team All-Big Eight Conference performer at guard as a sophomore and junior (1992-93, 1993-94; second-team as a senior, honorable mention as a freshman), a USBWA first-team All-District 7 selection as a senior (second-team as a junior) and earned Big Eight All-Freshman team honors in '91-92 … A candidate for the prestigious John Wooden Award as a senior … A member of the Kansas City Star's Players' Team as a junior and senior … Finished his career as CU's all-time leading scorer with 1,995 points, which still ranks third all-time; he was set reach the 2,000-point plateau but suffered a broken leg in the first half of CU's 71-53 loss to Oklahoma in the first round of the 1995 Big Eight postseason tournament (he thus missed the Buffs' first round NIT game at New Mexico) … He also exited as CU's all-time leader in games started (107), field goals attempted (1,648), free throws made (480) and attempted (721) … The second player in school history to lead the team in scoring for all four years of his career (joining Emmett Lewis, 1976-79; Richard Roby later did it from 2005-08) … He averaged 18.8 points per game over his career … Scored a career-high 46 points in the '94 regular season finale at Oklahoma State (second-most ever in a single game by a Buff) and had five career 30-plus point performances… Also led the team in assists his sophomore through senior seasons and twice led the team in steals … He led the Big Eight in scoring in conference games as a junior with an impressive 26.8 points per game … He was a second round pick (42nd overall) by the Atlanta Hawks in the 1995 National Basketball Association draft.

DON BRANBY

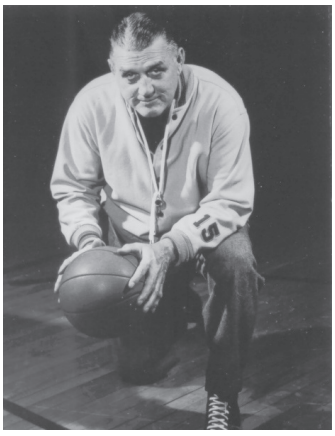


Don Branby was one of the last three-sport lettermen in Colorado history, as he earned nine in all playing football, basketball and baseball ... His top honor was being named an Associated Press All American in football in 1952 ... A seventh round draft pick by the New York Giants in the 1953 Draft (the 79th player selected overall), he went on After his playing days, he went into coaching in college at Montana State, and then in the Canadian Football League with the British Columbia Lions and the Ottawa Roughriders ... In basketball, he scored 165 points in 45 career games in primarily a reserve role, though he led the Buffaloes in free throw percentage in 1951-52, making a then unheard of 39-of-48 tries (81.3%) ... In baseball, he played first base, third base and in the outfield; his 16 runs batted in were the third most on the team his senior year ... He also spent four years in the Air Force, playing service football in which he also earned high accolades.

KEN CHARLTON

Ken Charlton was a member of back-to-back Big 8 Conference titles and two straight NCAA tournament appearances under the late-Sox Walseth ... Often going out and scoring 20-plus points a day or two after having his knees drained of excess fluid, Charlton was CU's all-time leading scorer at the time of his graduation with 1,352 points in just three seasons ... Walseth often referred to him as, "the finest offensive player I ever coached." ... Thirteen on CU's all-time scoring chart, Charlton was named an All-American in 1963 by the United States Basketball Writers Association and Look magazine ... Two-time All-Big 8 Selection ... Along with his penchant for scoring, he was also a force inside, ranking in the top 10 on the CU rebounding charts with 671 career caroms (he's 15th today) ... He also succeeded in the classroom and was named a 1963 Academic All-American ... Charlton's 514 points scored during the 1961-62 season ranks 22nd today for most points tallied in a single season ... Owns a pair of 35-point efforts at Kansas (Jan. 5, 1963), and at Missouri (Mar. 5, 1962) that still rank among the top-20 scoring games in school history ... Walseth said of Charlton's play, "On a leg and a half, he's better than anyone else in the Big Eight." ... Inducted in the CU Hall of Fame in 1989.

FORREST "FROSTY" COX



The winningest men's basketball coach in CU history in terms of percentage ... Forrest B. "Frosty" Cox coached the Buffaloes to a 147-89 record (.623) in 13 seasons in Boulder (1935-42, 1944-50) ... He led Colorado to three NCAA tournament appearances (1940, 1942, 1946) and to a pair of NIT berths (1938, 1940), the latter considered the more significant postseason tourney at the time ... His 1940 won the NIT championship in New York City, defeating DePaul and Duquesne at Madison Square Garden (in 1938, the Buffs defeated BYU but lost to Temple in the title game) ... In 1942, CU defeated Kansas, 46-44, in the NCAA quarterfinals to advance to the Final Four, one of two appearances by CU to this day; the Buffs lost to eventual champion Stanford, 46-35 ... Colorado was considered by many to have the top basketball program west of the Mississippi during the first half of Cox's tenure … His four teams that made the postseason were the most by any coach in CU history until Tad Boyle surpassed that with his fifth team in 2014-15 ... During Cox's tenure, CU won four Mountain State Conference titles (1938, 1939, 1940, 1942) and the 14-game winning streak by his '41-42 squad is still the longest in CU annals ... He coached CU's first four All-Americans in basketball: Jack Harvey, Jim Willcoxon, Robert Doll and Leason "Pete" McCloud ... Five of his former players are in the Colorado Sports Hall of Fame: Harvey, Byron White, Harry Simmons, Art Unger and Russell "Sox" Walseth ... He passed away on May 22, 1962 at the age of 54 ... Inducted into the Colorado Sports Hall of Fame (April, 2014).

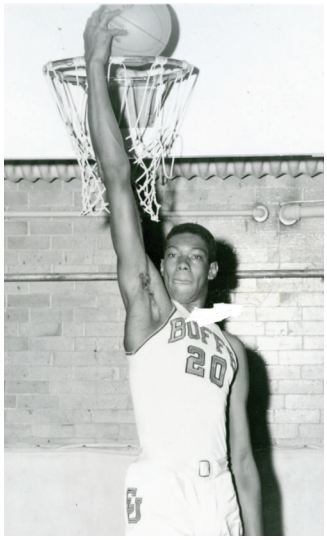
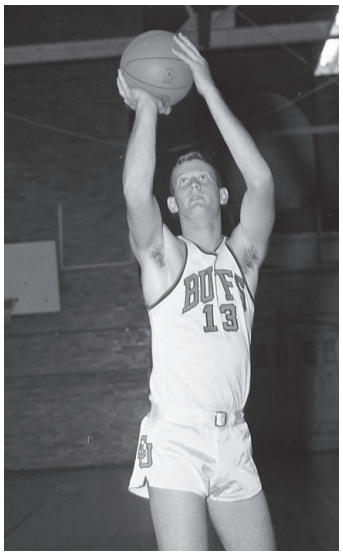
JIM DAVIS



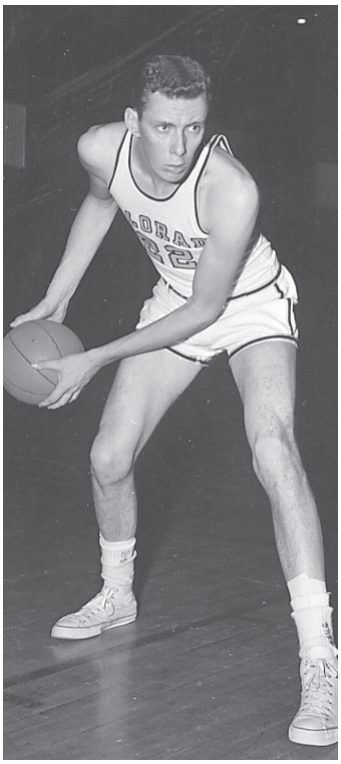
Three-year letterman under the legendary Sox Walseth, he earned first-team All-Big 8 honors from both the Associated Press and United Press International his junior (1962-63) and senior (1963-64) seasons … CU was 53-24 in his career, winning two Big 8 titles and earning two trips to the NCAA Tournament … Scored 1,110 career points, converting 411-of-841 field goal attempts for a 48.9 percentage, considered very good for the day … Averaged 14.4 points per game over his career, including 18.5 his senior season, when he also averaged 12.7 rebounds for a second straight season, leading the Big 8 both years … With a 13.8 scoring norm as a junior, that makes him one of the few players in school history to average a double-double for two seasons … He averaged 11.2 rebounds per game over his career (77 games) … At the time of his graduation, he was CU's all-time leading rebounder and third all-time scorer … Fourth round selection by Detroit in the 1964 NBA Draft, but the 27th player overall in a 9-team league at the time … Waived by the Pistons that September, he persevered and eventually signed as a free agent with the St. Louis Hawks in 1967; he went on to play for the Hawks, both in St. Louis and when they moved to Atlanta … He was traded to Houston for a month during the 1971 season and finished up his career after being traded to Detroit … He played eight seasons in all, scoring 3,997 points with his best year coming in 1969-70 when he averaged 13.6 points and 9.7 rebounds for Atlanta, helping the Hawks to a 48-34 record and first place in the NBA West Division … From Muncie, Ind., where he prepped at Central High, and currently resides in Windsor, Ontario.



CARLIE GARDNER

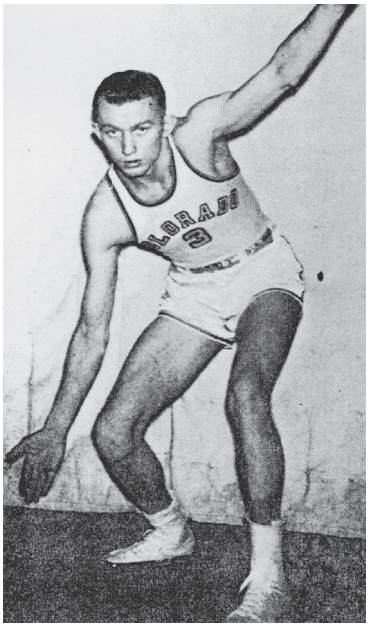
A three-time letterman under the legendary CU basketball coach Sox Walseth, Gardner was a two-time first-team all-Big Eight Conference performer at center … He was noted for having an excellent touch around the basket and a dangerous hook shot that made him an outstanding inside scorer … The 6-foot-8 Gardner led the Big Eight in scoring in conference games as a senior in 1965-66, owning a 20.2 average (third in overall games), and the same year was second in rebounding (9.8) and field goal percentage (52.4) as well as fourth in free throw percentage (65.0); his finishing first or second in three categories and fourth in a fourth was the best all-around effort at the time in Big Eight history … The 20.2 average was the second-highest in program history at the time and it still ranks as the 10th-best … He scored 845 points in 70 career games (12.1 per), the fifth-most points in CU annals at the time; he had 456 rebounds (6.9 per), which ranked seventh at the end of his career … He was a two-time Academic All-Big 8 team member and a honorable mention Scholastic All-American … He played one year of professional ball with the Denver Rockets of the American Basketball Association, playing in 42 games in the '67-68 season (averaging 4.7 points and 3.2 rebounds per game) … He then spent four seasons as an assistant coach under Walseth (1968-72), and was instrumental in recruiting Cliff Meely to Boulder before entering private business … He is a member of CU's National Buff Club Cabinet and is an annual contributor to the Sox Walseth Basketball Endowment.

BURDETTE HALDORSON



Burdette Haldorson, No. 22 is one of just two retired basketball jerseys in CU history, left quite an imprint in the school's basketball annals … The 6-7, 210-pound Austin, Minn., native still holds a pair of school rebounding records some five decades after his CU playing days, including the most in a half (21) and game (31) … As a senior in 1954-55, he led the Buffs to the Big Seven title by averaging 23.9 points per game, and was also named as a first-team All-American … CU eventually went on to finish third in the nation, losing at the Final Four to eventual champion San Francisco and the legendary Bill Russell … Haldorson earned two gold medals in 1956 and 1960 as a member of the United States Olympic team, went on to have a brilliant career in the National Industrial Basketball League as a member of the Phillips 66ers, the team entry for Phillips 66, who then hired him after his career … He then moved to Colorado Springs to form his own gas and oil distribution business ... In August 2010, Haldorson and his 1960 United States Olympic teammates were inducted into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Mass.

JACK HARVEY

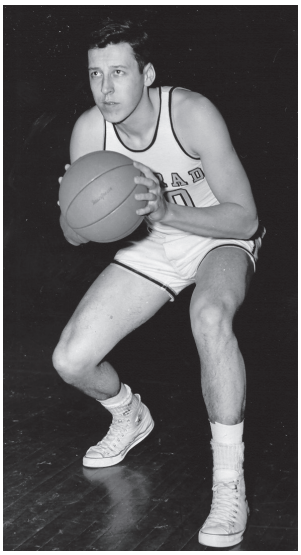


Jack Harvey remains the only CU basketball player to be selected twice as a first-team All-American (1938-39, 1939-40), when he led the Buffs to two Mountain States Conference titles, and as a senior, an N.I.T. title and a trip to the NCAA Tournament … Scored 27 points in CU's 52-37 win at Denver in 1940, at the time the most points scored by a Buff in a single game and virtually an unheard total west of the Mississippi at the time … Known for his tough defense, he was a key performer in limiting the opponent to just 31.2 points per game his junior season and only 37.0 his senior year.

JAY HUMPHRIES

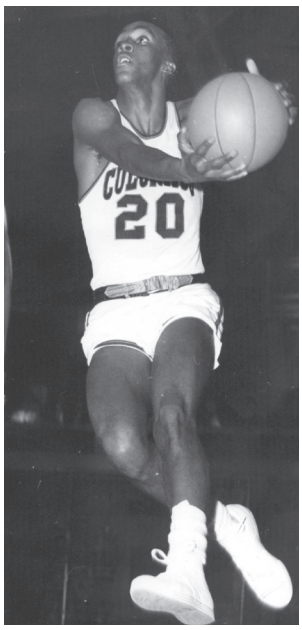
He was a two-time Associated Press honorable mention All-American as a junior and senior (1982-83, 1983-84), when he earned first-team All-Big Eight honors … Arguably the best and most exciting Buff of the 1980s, he became the school's all-time leader in assists (562) and steals (309) … He finished his stellar career averaging five assists and 2.8 steals per game … On the scoreboard, Humphries became the then-fourth all-time scorer (1,306 points, or 11.7 per game) … His specialty, however, was his defensive play, as he led the nation in steals with 115 for the 1982-83 season, which remains CU's single-season mark; his 101 thefts his senior year (1983-84), ranks second on the CU list and was third in the NCAA … He had an incredible 10 steals against Wisconsin-Milwaukee as a junior … He owned a career field goal percentage of 49.8 percent, shooting .500 or better in three of his four seasons … He named to the league's All-Freshman team for 1980-81 and was a member of the Big Eight's All-Decade Team for the 1980's (honorable mention) … The Phoenix Suns selected him in the first round of the 1984 National Basketball Association Draft (the 13th player overall); he went on to play 11 seasons in the NBA with four teams (Phoenix, Milwaukee, Utah and Boston), playing in 794 games and finishing with an 11.3 scoring average; he racked up 8,938 points, 4,424 assists, 2,033 rebounds and 1,161 steals

BOB JEANGERARD



Three-year letterman (1952-1955) under head coach H.B. Lee … Two-time All-Big Seven Conference first-team selection … Member of two NCAA Tournament teams in 1953-54 and 1954-55 (Final Four) … Averaged 12.4 points and 6.1 rebounds per game during his collegiate career… His senior year, he averaged 16 points and 6.8 rebounds per game, ranking second on the team in both categories … CU won a then-school-best 19 games and reached the national semifinals falling to eventual champion San Francisco … Named the NCAA Tournament Regional Most Outstanding Player … Also that season, member of the CU team that rallied from a 23-point first half road deficit to edge Kansas State. The 23-point deficit remains to this day, a school record … As a junior, he was second on the team in scoring (12.8 ppg) and rebounding (6.1 rpg.) … as a sophomore, his tip-in at the buzzer defeated Oklahoma, 56-55 (Dec. 20, 1952) … Entering the 2015-16 season, ranks No. 43 in rebounding (413) and No. 46 in scoring (842) … Member of the 1956 Olympic Gold Medal basketball team in Melbourne and scored a team-high 16 points in the gold medal game against the Soviet Union … The U.S. team dominated the games and brought home the gold medal after going undefeated (8-0), winning those games by an average of 53.5 points; the U.S. defeated the USSR twice, 85-55 in the quarterfinals and 89-55 in the gold medal game.

BILLY LEWIS

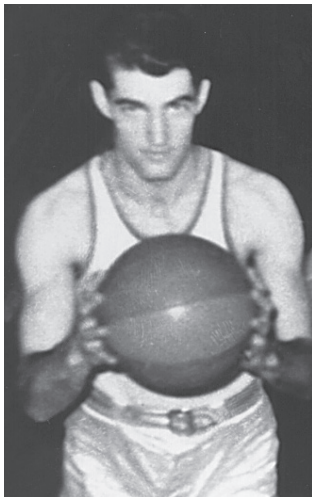


The first African-American varsity basketball player at Colorado (and the first to letter), enrolling at CU in September 1956; at that time, freshmen were ineligible to play and he thus made his debut in the 1957-58 season … As with his football counterparts, though treated well in Boulder, he often had to endure harsh racism on the road in pre-Civil Rights America and thus blazed the trail for all those who would follow him to CU … The 6-3 forward played in 67 career games, scoring 244 points and grabbing 197 rebounds in lettering three times … His best season on the court was his junior year, when he averaged 5.9 points per game with a career-high 21 against Nebraska … In 1959, after the basketball season was complete, he decided to come back out for track in his specialty, the high jump; he cleared 6-6¾ and finished second in the CU Invitational (to Wyoming's Jerry Lane, who jumped an inch higher) which topped his previous personal best of 6-2 as a senior at Denver's Manual High School, where he was coached by CU great and Hall of Fame member Gil Cruter … Just as important if not more so were his contributions as a student leader, becoming the first African-American elected by the student body as commissioner of the ASUC (Associated Students of the University of Colorado); he led a delegation of students and testified on the resolutions against discrimination in housing and employment practices and headed the SFHD, Students For Human Dignity, two of many causes he championed that helped change CU in a positive way forever.

DAVE LOGAN

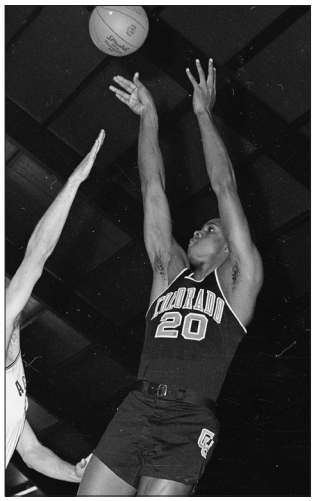
A first-team All-American as a senior in 1975 as selected by The Sporting News and a Playboy Preseason All-American prior to his junior season (1974), the lone Buff to ever make the squad as a non-senior … Logan caught 68 passes for 1,078 yards in his CU career, numbers that both ranked second at the time of his graduation and remain in the top 20 all-time … He led the Buffs in receiving in both 1974 and 1975, after finishing second to the late J.V. Cain as a sophomore in 1973 … A two-sport star at CU (he also lettered in basketball, averaging 14.1 points in 58 career games), Logan is one of a handful to ever be drafted in three sports: he was a third round pick by Cleveland in the 1976 NFL Draft (65th overall); the Kansas City Kings nabbed him in the ninth round of the 1976 NBA Draft; and the Cincinnati Reds had drafted him as an infielder and pitcher in the 19th round of baseball's June draft out of high school (longtime MLB outfielder Dave Winfield was also drafted in three) … Played in 119 NFL games with Cleveland (1976-83) and Denver (1984) catching 263 passes for 4,250 yards and 24 touchdowns in his pro career. Logan settled back home in Colorado where he starred as a prep … Is a longtime participant in the radio sports talk scene in Denver, and was the radio play-by-play voice of the Denver Broncos after several years as the color analyst … Also worked several CU football games for KCNC-TV in the 1990s as the color commentator.

LEASON "PETE" McCLOUD



A first-team All-American, the third in CU basketball history … Just the sixth CU athlete in any sport at the time, he was the Buffs' leading scorer on the 1941-42 team that reached the Final Four … Scored 19 points in a 46-44 win over Kansas that enabled CU to advance in the tournament … Member of the 1939-40 team that won the N.I.T. and was invited to the first NCAA tournament … Two-time All-Mountain States performer (junior, senior seasons), he led the league in scoring both as a junior (14.1 per game) and senior (16.5, big for its day).

CLIFF MEELY

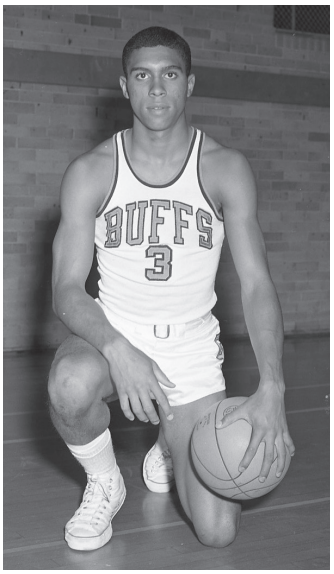


In exiting CU following his senior year with all the scoring records and as the runner-up in all the rebounding marks, some three-plus decades later Cliff Meely still holds the mark for a single game (47) … Today he's third in rebounds (971) and fourth in career points (1,940) … His name remains either at or near the top in over a dozen statistical categories, and he still owns the two top single season scoring averages in CU history: 28.0 as a senior in 1970-71, and 23.8 as a sophomore in 1968-69 … The 12.1 rebounds per game average for his career remains one of the top numbers ever posted collegiately … Led Colorado to the Big Eight title in 1968-69, as the Buffaloes were 21-7 with a 10-4 mark in league play … A three-time All-Big Eight team member, he earned first-team All-America honors as a senior, and set 16 school and eight conference records during his career … Additionally, Meely's 24.3 points per game scoring average is still a school record … Leader on the Buffs' last Big Eight Conference title team … Overall, the Buffs won 49 games during his time on the CU campus under late coach Russell "Sox" Walseth, the fourth most over any three-year span in CU history, with his jersey number (20) just one of two retired in CU annals … Went on to play six seasons in the National Basketball Association with the Houston Rockets and Los Angeles Lakers.

SHAUN VANDIVER

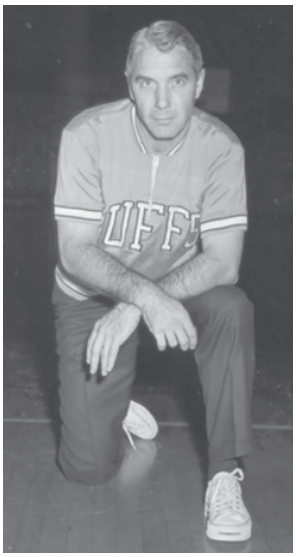
A three-year letterman (1988-91) … Two-time All-Big 8 and Associated Press first team selection (1989-90, 1990-91) … After leading Hutchinson Community College to the national junior college championship in 1988, he transferred to Colorado where he was the Big 8 Newcomer of the Year as a sophomore in 1988-89 … Ranks among the top five in both career scoring (fifth, 1,876 points) and rebounding (third, 962) … Holds the school-record for career double-doubles (59) and is tied for most doubles in a season (21) … One of two players in school history to average a double-double in each of his three years as a Buff … Also one of two players at CU to have a pair of single-season scoring averages among the top 10 … His junior season was his finest as a player, being named an 1989-90 UPI Honorable Mention All-American after leading the team in scoring (22.3 points per game), rebounding (11.2 per game), blocks (36) and field goal percentage (59.3), in addition leading the Big 8 in scoring … His 668 points during the season became the most scored by a CU big man, a feat he surpassed as a senior in 1990-91 with 699 … In the 1989-90 Big 8 Tournament, Vandiver earned most valuable player honors after he helped CU upset Missouri and Oklahoma State in back-to-back games, as CU became the first No. 8 seed to advance to the title game (he scored 75 points and had 41 rebounds in the three games) … Other school marks he holds are career rebounds by a center (962); consecutive double-figure rebounding games (16); and is tied for first in career field goals made (750) … He is third in career in field goal percentage (.574) … Selected No. 25 overall in the 1991 NBA Draft by the Golden State Warriors, but would play nine seasons overseas in Europe..

CHUCK WILLIAMS



A three-year letterman at guard under Coach Sox Walseth for the 1965-66, 1966-67 and 1967-68 seasons … Stood 6-foot-2 and weighed 185 pounds, one of the bigger guards in the nation for his day … A floor leader, he was known for his precision passing, slashing drives to the basket and his tenacious defense, possessing exceptional quickness and speed … Following a serious knee injury his junior year that cost him over a third of the season, he rebounded his final campaign to have an excellent year … An honorable mention All-Big Eight Conference performer as a senior, when he was second on the team in scoring (18.0 points per game), along with averaging 5.1 rebounds per game (assists and steals were not official statistics at the time) … Led the team that season in both field goal percentage (.439) and free throw percentage (.748) … Scored a career-high 38 points against Iowa State in Boulder on Feb. 28, 1968; still tied for the 13th-most points in a single game in CU history, at the time it was the fourth-most … His 802 career points were the ninth-most upon his graduation … He was drafted by the Philadelphia 76ers in the 1968 National Basketball Association Draft (sixth round, No. 76 overall), but began his professional basketball career with the Pittsburgh Condors and then the Denver Rockets in the old American Basketball Association … Between 1970-71 and 1977-78, he would play in 638 regular season games in the pros, 500 in the ABA and 138 in the NBA, averaging 10.8 points and 4.5 assists per game .

RUSSELL "SOX" WALSETH



A player and long-time basketball coach at Colorado, Russell "Sox" Walseth was likely the first and one of just a few to have coached both the men's and women's program at the same NCAA school … His time at CU spanned 38 years, starting as an athlete in the 1940s when he lettered in both basketball and baseball a total of six letters He then worked as the head freshman coach for five years (three under his coach, Frosty Cox, and two under H.B. Lee); after two years as head coach at South Dakota State, he replaced Lee for the 1956-57 season and would proceed to coach 20 Buffalo teams … The winningest coach in CU men's basketball history, posting a 261-245 record, the Buffs won three Big Eight titles under his direction, in 1961-62, 1962-63 and 1968-69 … He was the Big Eight Conference coach of the year on five occasions, and his star players included Ken Charlton, Jim Davis, Cliff Meely and Scott Wedman … Coached the women's team from 1980-83, then known as the "Lady Buffs," compiling an impressive 77-21 record … That mark included an incredible 43-0 record at home, and once again, he earned coach of the year accolades … The basketball floor at the Coors Events Center is named after him, and he is a member of the Colorado Sports Hall of Fame.

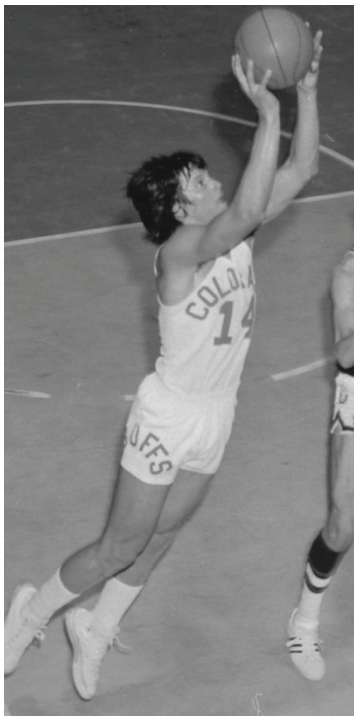
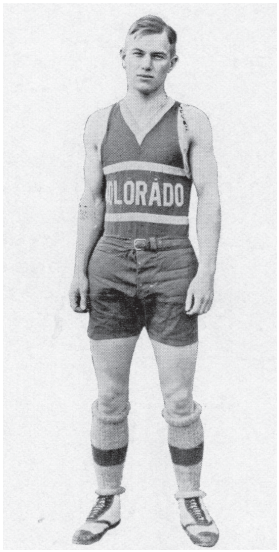
SCOTT WEDMAN



A three-time letterman for Sox Walseth at Colorado, he still ranks 20th all-time on CU's scoring charts with 1,251 career points (16.7 per game, which remains eighth-best for a player with 75-plus games in a Buff uniform) … At the time of his graduation, he was CU's fourth all-time leading scorer and rebounder … In 75 games, he converted 516 of 1,046 field goal attempts, a solid 49.3 percent … He twice earned All-Big Eight Conference honors, leading the Buffs in scoring as a junior (17.7 per game in 1972-73) and as a senior (20.0 in 1973-74); he was second as a sophomore with a 12.8 average in '71-72 … One of just 12 players in school history to average 20 or more points in a season … Scored a career-high 32 points against Long Beach State his senior year … Led the team in rebounds with 9.3 per game both his junior and senior campaigns, with his 684 career boards still the 11th-most ever by a player in a CU uniform (his career-high of 19 came against Nebraska his junior year) … Selected as a second-team member of the conference's all-decade team for the 1970s … Sixth overall pick in the 1974 NBA Draft by the Kansas City-Omaha Kings, he was just the second CU player in history at the time to be drafted in the first round, as well as the highest pick; to date, only Chauncey Billups has been a higher selection (third overall); he was the second pick in the '74 ABA Draft by Memphis but opted for the NBA … 13-year NBA veteran with Kansas City, Cleveland and Boston, he played in 906 games with a 13.2 career scoring average, pouring in 11,916 points; he shot 48.1 percent from floor, 79.4 percent from the free throw line and averaged 4.8 rebounds per game ... The first former Buffalo to play on an NBA championship team, he won two rings with the Celtics (1984, 1986) as he participated in all three of the classic Celtic-Los Angeles Laker NBA Finals battles in the mid-80s … A two-time NBA All-Star.

LEE WILLARD



Willard enrolled at CU after graduating from Denver West High School in 1918 after he was unable to join the Navy due to a suspected medical condition. The Navy's loss was Colorado's gain, as from 1918-22 he would go to earn 16 letters and be a 10-time first-team All-Rocky Mountain Athletic conference performer in four sports: four each in football, basketball, baseball and track (and was a captain for one or more seasons in all four sports) … No other student-athlete since has earned as many letters, even when freshmen could play participate for a brief time after World War II and permanently since 1972 … A 155-pound "battler," he started his football career as an end, played mainly at halfback the next two seasons and finished at quarterback, earning All-RMAC honors his sophomore through senior years … He led the basketball team in scoring for three years (the conference for two), and led the baseball team in hitting for three as well. Playing centerfield (and occasionally third base) and batting leadoff, he set a conference record with seven home runs in nine league games as a junior in 1921 ... He batted .546 as a junior and .525 as a senior … On the track, he specialized in sprints (career best of 9.8 in the 100-yard dash), relays and the broad jump while also throwing the javelin (winning multiple conference titles in all) … He helped rebuild CU's athletic programs after the war, the three team sports combining for a 55-30-1 record, including two RMAC titles in basketball … He was also an excellent tennis player, but no way he could compete on three sports teams in the spring semester … His accomplishments extended off the field as well, as he was an honors student in Civil Engineering and president of CU's sophomore and senior classes.

LARRY ZIMMER
Announcer

Larry Zimmer is the first inductee into the Hall who is not a former athlete, coach or administrator; but he's been a part of more football and men's basketball games than perhaps anyone else in school history, calling 478 for football, including a string of 251 in a row until he fell ill, along with 525 men's basketball contests … He is a member of both the Colorado Sports and CU's Athletic Hall of Fames … Almost as synonymous with CU as Ralphie, the school's live buffalo mascot, Zimmer has spent 41 years in the booth at Folsom Field and traveling with the team, broadcasting some of the Buffaloes' greatest moments … "Zim" has missed only 12 football games CU overall; prior to the six due to illness, he had missed three bowls (two due to contracts forbidding teams to originate broadcasts) and three regular season games due to travel conflicts; his 400th at CU was also the 1,000 of his professional career … At their current school, only Bob Robertson, Washington State (535) has called more games than Zim, who is tied for fourth in consecutive years calling major college football (41st) behind Robertson (48), Bill Hillgrove, Pitt (45) and Don Fischer, Indiana (42) … Awarded an Honorary "C" in 1992, and was honored as the 15th recipient of the Chris Schenkel Award by the National Football Foundation in 2009, which recognizes those who have enjoyed a long and distinguished career broadcasting college football at a single institution.

CHAUNCEY BILLUPS MVP AWARD (voted by the players)

2021-22: Jabari Walker - Walker led Colorado at 14.6 points and 9.4 rebounds per game while shooting 46 percent from the field and 78 percent from the foul line. He was an All-Pac-12 Conference First Team pick while also earning all-district honors from the NABC and USBWA

2020-21: McKinley Wright IV - Wright led the Buffaloes at 15.2 points, 5.7 assists and 1.1 steals per game. A three-time All-Pac-12 Conference selection, Wright is the only player in league history with 1,800 points, 600 assists and 600 rebounds.

2019-20: McKinley Wright IV - Wright led the Buffaloes at 14.4 points and 5.0 assists per game. A two-time All-Pac-12 Conference selection, Wright was second on the team in steals (36), blocks (11) and free throws made (95) and third in rebounding (5.7 rpg) and 3-point field goals (39).

2018-19: McKinley Wright IV - A first team All-Pac-12 pick, he averaged 13.0 points and 4.8 rebounds per game while leading the Buffaloes in assists and steals – all while dealing with a shoulder injury that kept him less than 100 percent since the beginning of the conference season.

2017-18: McKinley Wright IV - Wright led Colorado by averaging 14.2 points, 5.5 assists and 1.0 steal per game while shooting 45 percent from the field and 77 percent from the foul line. The freshman point guard was named to the Pac-12 Conference All-Freshman Team while earning honorable mention to both the overall All-Conference and All-Defensive teams. He topped all Pac-12 freshmen in assists and assist-to-turnover ratio (1.9) and ranked third in scoring.

2016-17: Derrick White - White led the Buffaloes at 18.1 points, 4.4 assists and 1.2 steals per game while shooting 51 percent from the field and 81 percent from the free throw line. He was named to the Pac-12's 2017 All-Conference First Team, All-Defensive Team and All-Tournament Team. He was also selected to the USBWA All-District VIII First Team and NABC All-District 20 Second Team.

2015-16: Josh Scott - The All-Pac-12 senior forward finished off his illustrious career by leading the Buffaloes at 16.3 points and 8.8 rebounds while hitting 53 percent from the field and 75 percent from the free throw line. He was one of 10 finalists for the 2016 Kareem Abdul-Jabbar Award given to the nation's top big man. Scott was also a Pac-12 All-Defensive team selection and a NABC All-District second team member.

2014-15: Josh Scott – Despite missing eight games due to injury, Scott was second in points per game (14.5), rebounds (219), blocked shots (46), and FG% (.544); his 8.4 rebounds per game average led the team. He topped the team in scoring/rebounding in the same game, nine times.

2013-14: Josh Scott – Led the Buffaloes in scoring (14.1) and rebounding (8.4), along with a team-best 51.1 field goal percentage from the field. He also shot 81 percent at the free throw line and was named All-Pac-12 Conference first team. His 493 points ranks sixth by a forward, and 10th by a sophomore. Scott also had 40 blocks and led the Buffs in scoring & rebounding in the same game 11 times.

2012-13: Spencer Dinwiddie – Led CU in scoring with 15.3 points per game and a team-best 82.5 percent from the free throw line. He was also named a Pac-12 Conference first team selection and his 15.3 average was tied for the eighth in the conference (all games). Dinwiddie also led the Buffs with eight, 20+ point scoring games.

2011-12: Carlon Brown – Led the Buffaloes in scoring, in his only year with the team averaging 12.6 points per game. He earned the Pac-12 Tournament Most Outstanding Player award, helping CU win four games in four days en route to the conference championship. Brown averaged 15.8 points, 4.8 rebounds 2.3 steals per game. He shot 50 percent from the field and scored the game-winning basket with an uncontested dunk in the final seconds against Arizona in the conference title game.

2010-11: Alec Burks – Led CU in scoring with a 20.5 points per game average, the highest scoring average in a single season over the 20-point plateau in 16 years. Burks also scored a school record 779 points breaking a 40-year mark. He was an unanimous Big 12 Conference selection who also led the Buffs in assists with 112.

MOST IMPROVED PLAYER (voted by the players)

2021-22: Nique Clifford & Julian Hammond III - Clifford, who played sparingly as a freshman on CU's senior-laden 2021 NCAA Tournament team, played in all 33 games as a sophomore, averaging 6.7 points and 4.6 rebounds per game while shooting 45 percent from the field. Hammond, a true freshman, saw action in 29 games averaging 3.0 points and just over one assist per game. His minutes grew down the stretch and ended up starting the last five games of the season, including a memorable starting debut where he helped the Buffaloes defeat No. 2 Arizona on Senior Night

2020-21: Tristan da Silva & Eli Parquet - Da Silva averaged 2.7 points while shooting 53 percent in just over nine minutes per game as a first-year Buffalo, but displayed his progression during the second half of the season. Over the final 14 games, da Silva averaged 3.9 points and shot 62 percent while delivering some key minutes to the Buffaloes' rotation. Parquet, was a Pac-12 All-Defensive Team member, but also made considerable improvement in his all-around game. He doubled his scoring and rebounding output from the previous season, averaging 5.2 points and 2.1 rebounds per game. Parquet shot 48 percent overall from the field including a 42 percent clip from 3-point range – nearly a 10 percent increase in both categories

2019-20: Eli Parquet - After playing limited minutes early, averaged over 19 minutes per game over the final 11 contests, highlighted by a career-high eight points in 36 minutes against Utah. Ranked fourth on the team in blocked shots with nine

2018-19: Tyler Bey - Named the Pac-12 Most Improved Player of the Year, Bey led Colorado at 13.6 points and 9.9 rebounds per game. An All-Pac-12 pick, he led the conference with 17 double-doubles.

2017-18: Dallas Walton - Began the season coming off the bench, but when senior Tory Miller-Stewart went down with a season-ending injury just six games in, the freshman forward was called on to step up. He responded by leading the team in blocked shots (34) while also averaging 5.7 points and 3.4 rebounds per game.

2016-17: Tory Miller – Averaged 5.6 points and 4.0 rebounds, shooting 53.7 percent from the field. Tallied 16 assists in 32 games.

SEASON NOTES

- Art Bunte claimed All Big-Seven first team honors leading the team in points and rebounds per game.
- Bunte averaged 22 points per game in Big Seven Conference games.
- The 1952-53 team had only five letterwinners return from a year ago after losing five seniors the previous season.
- Bob Jeangerard's tip-in at the buzzer defeated Oklahoma State (Dec. 20).
- One of CU's three conference wins came against eventual Big Seven champion and national runner-up Kansas.
- Mel Coffman came to CU after spending three years in the Marine Corps.
- Charlie Mock is a member of the Indiana High School Basketball Hall of Fame.
- Tommy Harold was Mr. Basketball in Indiana (1951) where both played on the state championship team at Muncie Central, coached by Art Beckner, father of later CU basketballer Joe Beckner.

SEASON NOTES

- The Buffs were the Big Seven co-champions, earning their first major [Big Seven] league title.
- CU received a NCAA Tournament Western Regional berth on a draw from a hat.
- Started the season with a seven-game losing streak, the first time a Buff team would begin a season with that many consecutive losses.
- On Feb. 2, CU established itself as a serious championship contender by defeating defending conference champion Kansas, 70-62, to move into a first-place tie.
- An eight-game conference win streak was highlighted by road wins at Iowa State, at Nebraska and at Oklahoma.
- In the game at Ames, CU trailed at the half by 12 points and by two points with seconds to play. Wilbert Walter made a free throw, then Jim Ranglos tipped-in Walter's second free throw at the buzzer.
- Burdette Haldorson led the Big Seven in conference scoring at 21.3 ppg. During CU's eight-game winning streak, Haldorson averaged 21.9 per game, including 33 points at Oklahoma.

Burdette Haldorson

SEASON NOTES

- CU won a school-record 19 games and its first outright Big Seven basketball championship with an 11-1 record (fourth time CU had won 11 conference games in a season).
- Bob Jeangerard and Burdette Haldorson earned All-Big Seven honors on both AP and UPI teams (a school-first that two CU players on the same teams together).
- Jeangerard was named outstanding player at the NCAA Regional Tournament, while Jim Ranglos was named to the Big Seven All-Tournament team.
- Haldorson became the first CU player to average a double-double for a season (21.0 ppg, 13.8 rpg.).
- On Feb. 26, CU completed one of the most improbable comebacks in Big Seven history, overcoming a 23 point first-half deficit to edge Kansas State 63-60.
- On March 21, CU defeated Big Ten champs Iowa, 75-74, to finish with a No. 15 (AP)/No. 11 (UPI) national ranking.
- Burdette Haldorson set school records in points (524), conference points (287), rebounds (346), free throws (160). He also led the conference in scoring (23.9 ppg.).
- CU set school marks for most points scored in a season (1772), conference season (885), points scored in a game (93).

Jim Ranglos

SEASON NOTES

- Jim Ranglos was the lone Buffalo to earn All-Big Seven honors after a season in which he finished ninth in league scoring (14.8 points per game).
- On Feb. 11, CU beat Kansas State for its 19th straight home victory.
- In the final game for both coaches, CU's H.B. "Bebe" Lee and the Buffs, defeated Dr. Forrest C. "Phog" Allen's Kansas squad, 75-67, to bring an end to two illustrious coaching careers.
- Lee resigned as head coach to become the athletic director at Kansas State College. He coached CU for six years with 63 victories. His teams generated a pair of eight-game winning streaks in 1953-54 and 1954-55.

SEASON NOTES

- The CU head-coaching job was taken over by 30-year-old Russell "Sox" Walseth, who replaced H.B. Lee.
- In his first season, Walseth was named Big Seven Coach of the Year.
- On Dec. 3, the Buffs stunned highly regarded Oregon State, 67-58, in Sox Walseth's coaching debut. Jim Jochems scored 18 points, Bob Helzer and Dave Mowbray each added 14. Jochems would be plagued by a knee injury the rest of the season, played in only 10 games.
- After upsetting Missouri, the Buffs set a Big Seven Christmas Tournament record shooting 42-of-49 from the free throw line in a 90-87 victory over Michigan State. This marked the first time a CU team reached the finals of the tournament. CU lost the title game to Kansas, who was led by Wilt Chamberlain's 45 points.
- CU guard Dave Mowbray was selected to the All-Big Seven All-Tournament second team. Mowbray led the Buffs in total points with 273, an average of 11.9 per game.
- After pre-season predictions labeled CU for not much success (five top scorers from a year ago did not return), the Buffs finished 14-9 and tied for fourth in the conference. Only six other CU teams had won more than 14 games.

SEASON NOTES

- On Dec. 7, the Buffs beat Montana and former CU coach Frosty Cox, 77-60.
- On Jan. 20, CU upset conference leader Iowa State to earn Colorado's first victory in Big Eight Conference play.
- On March 8, CU's Gerry Schroeder tipped in a shot at the final buzzer to beat Nebraska, 54-52, for a thrilling finish to the basketball season.
- Schroeder was the lone CU player to average over 10 points a game (13.2 ppg.). His 304 points was the most scored ever by a CU guard.
- On Feb. 10 against Kansas, the Buffaloes "held" Wilt Chamberlain to his lowest point total in his high school, college, and professional career of six points. Chamberlain deliberately held onto the ball choosing to pass the ball to his teammates opposed to shooting.
- Gerry Schroeder (8-of-14) and Larry Pitts (7-of-12) combined for all of CU's 15 made field goals (the rest of the team went 0-for-14) in CU's 59-45 victory at Missouri (Mar. 3). The only two players to score all of CU's points from the field, is believed to be a school record for fewest players to score a basket.

SEASON NOTES

- On Dec. 5, the Buffs shocked highly favored Washington, 70-63, in an overtime thriller.
- On Dec. 8, former CU coach Frosty Cox's return to Boulder was spoiled by an 86-55 drubbing by the Buffs.
- On Jan. 19, in one of the most accurate shooting performances in CU history, Russ Lind scored 25 points, shooting 10-of-11 from the field and 5-of-5 from the free throw line in a 73-64 victory over Iowa State.
- On Jan. 31, CU upset Kansas, 66-64, in the Buffaloes' first nationally televised appearance.
- CU guard Gerry Schroeder was named to both the AP and UPI All-Big Eight teams. Schroeder finished a brilliant three-year career with a total of 813 points, the third highest career total for a Buff, only topped by and Burdette Haldorson (1125) and Bob Jeangerard (842).
- Schroeder set a school-record for points scored in a season by a guard (321 points).
- Schroeder (13.4 ppg.) and Don Walker (13.1 ppg.) finished ninth and 10th, respectively in Big Eight scoring (all games).
- CU's 8-6 conference mark tied for third, its best conference finish over the last four seasons.

Wilky Gilmore

SEASON NOTES

- Wilky Gilmore earned UPI All-Big Eight first team honors. He led CU in scoring (13.9 ppg.) and rebounding (10.6 rpg.). It's just the second time a Buff player averaged a double-double for a season (Burdette Haldorson (21.0 ppg, 13.8 rpg., 1954-55).
- On Feb. 6, CU, without two starters, managed to down Kansas State, 65-50, to snap the Wildcats 19-game conference winning streak.
- On Feb. 27, the Buffs lost to Iowa State, 83-80, in five overtimes, which was the longest game ever played in the Big Eight.
- On March 5, Wilky Gilmore ended the Buffs season on a winning note by tipping in a missed Russ Lind shot with two seconds remaining to give CU a 41-39 victory over Oklahoma State.
- Gilmore scored the most points (334) and rebounds (254) by a first-year player.
- Gilmore (13.9 ppg.), Russ Lind (11.8) and Stan Williams (10.0) ranked the top-15 in Big Eight scoring. Gilmore was seventh, Lind was ninth, Williams 14th.
- The 1959-60 team also marked the first time four players eclipsed the 200-point plateau in a single season.
- CU also played four overtime games (going 2-2),it's the most overtime games in any season.

%-In a special ruling by the Big Eight Conference faculty representatives in September, Colorado was forced to forfeit seven victories during the 1960-61 season, six in conference play and the Buffs' lone victory in the pre-season tournament the previous December. The ruling came as a result of CU's Wilky Gilmore's playing in an organized summer league during 1960. At that time, such play was prohibited by conference rules, since rescinded. The ruling revised Colorado's record from 15-10 to 8-17, and the conference finish from a fourthplace tie to last.

SEASON NOTES

- On Dec. 5, former CU teammates Sox Walseth and Bob Sweeney pitted their teams against each other with favored Colorado rallying late to secure a 74-65 win over New Mexico.
- Head Coach Sox Walseth was named Big Eight Coach of the Year (his second).
- On Dec. 14, with the score tied at the end of the second overtime, Wilky Gilmore hit two free throws to give CU the win, and the free throws capped a CU season-high 35-point performance by Gilmore.
- On Dec. 19, the Buffs set a new school scoring record in a 99-79 victory over Missouri.
- Gilmore garnered NCAA All-District Five honors. District five was comprised of schools in Missouri, North Dakota, South Dakota, Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Iowa and parts of Illinois, Ohio, Colorado and Texas.
- The 1960-61 team marked the first time three players scored over 300 points in season. Juniors Roger Voss (441) and Wilky Gilmore (362), sophomore Ken Charlton (340). CU also broke a school record with 1,246 rebounds highlighted with another mark of three players averaging over eight rebounds a game.
- Voss would become just the third player in school history to average a double-double (17.6 ppg., 10.1 rpg.).

SEASON NOTES

- This was only the second team in CU history to win 19 games. The other was the 1955 team, which went 19-6.
- On March 10, CU rallied from 10 points down with 4:14 remaining to beat Kansas, 63-59 to win the Big Eight Conference title.
- On March 17, CU defeated Texas Tech, 67-60, in the first round of the NCAA playoffs. In the Midwest Regional Championship game, the Buffs fell to defending national champion Cincinnati, 73-46.
- Jim Davis' .502 FG% was the highest ever by a Buff, topping the old mark of .487 by Wilky Gilmore (1960-61).
- Ken Charlton set the single-game and single-season records in free throws for the Buffs, making 19 free throws against Missouri and converting 172 on the season. Charlton's mark of 498 points scored was the second highest single-season total in CU history.
- Wilky Gilmore became the second most prolific scorer in CU history (1,026 points in three years as a Buff).
- Gilmore and Charlton were both named to the All-Big Eight team, marking only the second time CU placed two men on the first team. Burdette Haldorson and Bob Jeangerard were the first duo in 1954-55.
- Charlton was named to the All-Big Eight Tournament team. He finished second in conference-only scoring (19.3). Gilmore finished eighth in scoring (13.7).
- CU went unbeaten at home (11-0), the second time with a minimum of 10 games played at home (1937-38:10-0).

SEASON NOTES

- CU won 19 games for the second straight season, a school-first. The 38 overall wins and 24 conference truimphs were the best in school history over a two-year span.
- CU went unbeaten at home (12-0) for just the third time with a minimum of 10 home games (1937-38, 1961-62).
- Ken Charlton and Jim Davis became the third CU pair named to All-Big Eight Conference AP & UPI teams (Gilmore/Charlton, 1961-62; Haldorson/Jeangerard, 1954-55).
- Charlton scored 514 points, only the second CU player to reach the 500-point plateau in a single season. He would be named to the All-Big Eight All-Tournament team and lead the conference in scoring (19.2).
- Davis led the Big Eight in rebounding (329). He would become the fourth CU player to average a double-double in a season (13.8 ppg.,12.7 rpg.).
- On Dec. 3, CU beat Wichita State, 79-69, in double overtime for the 500th win in CU history.
- On March 9, CU's 69-56 victory over Kansas State in Manhattan gave CU a share of the Big Eight title with the Wildcats. The Buffs advanced to the NCAA playoffs because they had more wins.
- On March 16, CU defeated Oklahoma City in Lawrence, Kan., 72-82, to advance to the NCAA Midwest Regional championship for the second straight year. CU would lose to familiar foe Cincinnati, who had beaten the Buffs in the Midwest Regional championship the previous year.

SEASON NOTES

- CU finished the season with a 15-10 record, marking the Buffs' seventh winning season in eight years. The Buffs also recorded their first second-place Big Eight finish.
- On Dec. 16, the Buffs set a new fieldhouse single game high in points with a 93-70 win over Arizona State. The previous high was 92 against Missouri during the 1962-63 season.
- CU set two new team scoring records during the 1963-64 season-1,812 total points (old mark 1,779 previous year) and 1,013 points in Big Eight play (old mark 947 previous year).
- Center Jim Davis finished his career as the Buffs' all-time rebound leader (836 boards). He left CU as the third highest scorer with 1,110 points (Ken Charlton: 1,352 and Burdette Haldorson: 1,125).
- Jim Davis led the conference in rebounding (184, 13.1 rpg.) for the second consecutive year and was selected to the All-Big Eight Conference AP & UPI first team.
- Sox Walseth was named the Big Eight Conference Coach of the Year, his second coaching honor (1956-57, Big Seven).
- Jim Davis was fourth (19.3 ppg.) in conference-only scoring, while Bob Joyce (12.6) and Mike Frink (12.2) were ninth, and tenth, respectively.
- Davis is the only CU player to have a pair of 300-plus rebounding seasons in career (1962-63: 329; 1963-64: 318).
- Davis would average a double-double (18.5 ppg., 12.7 rpg.) for the second straight season. It's the fifth time a CU player has accomplished that feat.

SEASON NOTES

- Chuck Gardner (AP, UPI) and Pat Frink (UPI) were selected to the All-Big Eight first team. Frink was named the conference's Sophomore of the Year and to the Big Eight Tournament team.
- Gardner and Frink are the fourth CU pair to make first team honors (Charlton/Davis, 1962-63; Gilmore/Charlton, 1961-62; Haldorson/Jeangerard, 1954-55).
- On Jan. 9, four Buffs scored in double figures with Pat Fink (25) leading the way as the Buffs upset conference foe Kansas State, 80-77.
- On Jan. 11, Colorado beat Kansas and snapped the Jayhawks seven-game win streak to record CU's second straight upset in a three day span.
- On Feb. 20, the Buffs never trailed as they knocked off conference leader Oklahoma State, 57-54 to move within one game of the Cowboys for the conference lead.
- Gardner ranked fifth in conference-only scoring (16.4); Frink came in sixth (15.0)
- Gardner was named to the All-Big Eight Academic first team and was a scholastic All-American honorable mention.

SEASON NOTES

- Injuries plagued the 1965-66 season: Pat Frink did not play due to an injury that he suffered at practice in early November; Lynn Baker injured his knee in the season opener against Texas Tech and was forced to sit out the remainder of the season.
- Chuck Gardner earned All-Big Eight first team honors (AP & UPI). He led the conference in scoring, finished second in rebounding and field goal percentage and finished fourth in free throw percentage. This 1-2-2-4 finish was the best the Big Eight had on record.
- Gardner became the third player in school history to score over 500 points in a season. His 506 total ranks third all-time.
- On March 5, CU defeated ninth ranked Nebraska 95-88 to knock the Cornhuskers out of a Big Eight Championship tie. CU forward Chuck Gardner drove Nebraska's middle defense crazy scoring 42 points to set a new school scoring record.
- Gardner led the Big Eight (conference-only games) in scoring (20.3 ppg.).

SEASON NOTES

- CU won 17 games, the most in four years, in addition winning 10 games in conference play.
- Although the Buffs and the Huskers had identical 10-4 records tying for second place, CU was snubbed by the National Invitational Tournament, despite beating tournament-bound Nebraska in the final game of the season.
- Pat Frink and Lynn Baker were both selected to the All-Big Eight second team.
- Bob Bauers capped his collegiate career leading CU in rebounding (7.4) and finishing second in scoring (13.5). Both were career highs for a season average.
- On Dec. 5, Frink scored 36 points in a 93-89 victory over Utah. This was Frink's first season back after a year of inactivity due to a knee surgery.
- On Jan. 7, CU shot 59.9 percent from the field and stunned highly touted Kansas State 71-68.
- On Jan. 17, CU upset Kansas 62-59 at the CU Fieldhouse. The Jayhawks suffered their lone conference loss and would finish the season No. 3 (AP) and No. 4 UPI in the final polls.

Cliff Meely

SEASON NOTES

- CU won 20 games for the first time in its history (21) and went unbeaten at home (12-0) for just the fourth time with a minimum of 10 home games (1937-38, 1961-62, 1962-63).
- The Buffs finished the season No. 12 in the final UPI top-20 poll, and No. 18 in the Associated Press poll.
- Cliff Meely closed out the conference portion of his first season with 348 points, an average of 24.9 points per game, to become the first player to win the conference scoring title in his first season since KU's Wilt Chamberlin (25.4 ppg. in 1957). In the process, Meely topped Chamberlain's total points (310) record for sophomores.
- Meely became the fifth CU player to lead the Big Eight in conference-only scoring. He also led in all games (23.8). Overall, Ron Smith (12.6) was 13th; Gordon Tope (12.4) was 15th, and Mike Coleman (11.1) was 20th.
- Meely was named unanimous Big Eight Player of the Year, and Sophomore Player of the Year.
- Meely shattered CU's single season scoring mark (667 pts.) and became just the fourth player to grab 300+ rebounds in a season (337, second all-time).
- On Mar. 8, CU won the Big Eight championship, beating Missouri 92-73 for the Buffs' school record 20th win. It was CU's fifth Big Eight title.
- On Mar. 15, CU capped the season with a 97-82 victory over Texas A&M, securing a third-place finish in the NCAA Midwest Regional Tournament.
- CU set a team record for most points scored in a season (2,146). It's also the first time four players averaged over 10 points a game.
- Head Coach Sox Walseth was named Big Eight Coach of the Year. It was his third conference coach of the year honor.

Gordon Tope

SEASON NOTES

- The Buffs started the season ranked 10th in the AP pre-season basketball poll.
- Cliff Meely and Gordon Tope were named Big Eight Conference first team selections. It's the fifth time a CU pair were named to the first team (Gardner/P. Frink, 1964-65; Charlton/Davis, 1962-63; Gilmore/Charlton, 1961-62; Haldorson/Jeangerard, 1954-55).
- Cliff Meely finished third in Big Eight scoring (20.9), while teammate Gordon Tope was 10th (13.8 ppg.). Meely was second in rebounding (12.8); Tope (.731) and Jim Creighton (.711) were 10th and 11th, respectively in FT%. Creighton finished second in FG% (.531).
- On Dec. 27, the Buffs defeated Nebraska, 72-60, for CU's 11th straight win over the Huskers.
- On Dec. 29, after trailing by 15 points at the half, the Buffs rallied to beat Missouri 75-73 and advanced to the Big Eight Christmas Tournament final.
- Cliff Meely finished second in the conference in rebounding (196) and third in scoring (295).
- Meely scored 544 points to rank second among all CU scorers; his 332 rebounds ranks third.

SEASON NOTES

- Senior Cliff Meely firmly established himself as the greatest scorer in Big Eight history. Meely was the first player in the Big Eight to average more than 30 points per game in conference play during a single season.
- Meely garnered first-team All-America and All-Big Eight honors.
- Meely scored 427 conference points, an average of 30.5 points per game, in 14 league contests to win the scoring title for the second time in three years.
- On Dec. 22, Meely became CU's all-time leading scorer with a 22-point performance against Texas Tech, surpassing Ken Charlton (1,342 points).
- On Feb. 13, Meely scored a Big Eight record 47 points with 25 rebounds in a 99-69 win over Oklahoma.
- Jim Creighton was 13th in Big Eight scoring (13.2 ppg.), all games, and fifth in FG% (.538).
- Meely became the first CU player to average at least 20 points in three straight seasons. He was the fifth different player to record a season double-double, doing it three times.
- Meely held 14 of 19 Fieldhouse single-game records including points (47), rebounds (25) and field goals made (19).

Jim Creighton

SEASON NOTES

- Jim Creighton, a Big Eight first team selection, capped his final season leading the Buffs in scoring (17.5 ppg.) and rebounding (10.2 rpg.). He would also become the sixth different player at CU to average a double-double, ninth time overall
- Creighton finished fourth in the Big Eight in both scoring and rebounding.
- First-year standout Scott Wedman was 14th in scoring (12.8 ppg.) and seventh in rebounding (8.8 rpg.).
- Forward Doug Mitchell missed the 1971-72 campaign after undergoing knee surgery to repair ligament damage before the season.
- On Jan. 4, the Buffs edged Tulane in overtime, 75-74, after trailing 64-58 with 90 seconds remaining in regulation.
- On Jan. 22, the Buffs beat Kansas 74-69 for CU's first Big Eight victory of the season.
- On March 8, the Buffs finished the season by defeating Oklahoma State 61-59 behind Jim Creighton's 16 points and 12 rebounds.

Scott Wedman

SEASON NOTES

- Head Coach Sox Walseth won his fifth conference coach of the year honor (Big Eight: 1961-62, 1962-63, 1968-69, 1972-73. Big Seven: 1956-57).
- Forward Scott Wedman was named All-Big Eight First Team.
- Wedman finished second in the conference in totaling 278 points and an 19.8 per game average. He led the Buffs with a 17.7 ppg. and 9.3 rpg. average.
- Dave Logan (12.4 ppg.) became the first CU freshman to average over 10 points in a season.
- On Jan. 15, the Buffs defeated nationally ranked Missouri, 81-79, in overtime behind Lee Haven's 28 points. The Tigers would finish the season No. 15 AP/ No. 17 UPI.
- On Feb. 3, CU played its best all-around game of the season in an 83-81 upset of Iowa State, which saw the Buffs shoot a blistering 66.7 percent from the field.
- On March 6, the Buffs beat Nebraska, 71-63, for CU's 14th win against the Cornhuskers in the last 18 games.

Emmett Lewis

SEASON NOTES

- On Nov. 29, freshman guard Emmett Lewis scored 31 points in his first collegiate game, a 78-75 loss to New Mexico.
- Lewis' 31 points is a CU freshman record in a college debut since the NCAA allowed freshmen to participate (Jan. 8, 1972).
- Lewis would become the first CU freshman to lead the team in scoring (15.0 ppg.) and first of four straight years leading the team in scoring.
- On Jan. 17, CU opened Big Eight Conference play with a 71-69 victory over Oklahoma. Dave Logan led the way for the Buffs with 19 points and eight rebounds.
- CU led the Big Eight in free throw percentage, connecting on 188-255 free throws for a .737 team average.
- Sox Walseth would coach his last season (20 years) with the men's basketball team becoming the all-time winningest coach in school history (261-245, .516). He was conference coach of the year five times; won three Big Eight titles; won 19 or more games three times; and tallied a top-4 or better placing in the conference 11 times.
- On April 4, Bill Blair was named CU's 12th head coach.

SEASON NOTES

- Emmett Lewis finished second in Big Eight scoring (16.9 ppg.) and was named to the Big Eight All-Conference first team (AP & UPI) for the first time in his career.
- Lewis moved into second place on the Buffs' all-time scoring list finishing his four-year career (1,680 points). His career point total ranked ninth on the Big Eight's all-time scoring list.
- CU came roaring out of the gates, winning 10 of its first 11 games of the season to mark the best start in school history.
- On Dec. 2, CU's 66-62 victory over South Dakota State in Boulder marked the program's 700th win.
- On Dec. 30, in the Big Eight Christmas Tournament, the Buffs finished a surprising second, losing to Kansas. Lewis was named to the all-tournament team.
- The Buffs finished the season 14-13. It was the first time that a CU team had finished above .500 since the 1970-71 season.
- CU played its last game at the Balch Fieldhouse on Feb. 24 falling to KU, 71-60. The Buffaloes played 41 seasons in Balch (1937-42, '44-79) with a record of 298-115 (.722), including 11 undefeated seasons.
- Brian Johnson was named to the All-Big Eight Academic team.

SEASON NOTES

- CU's 17-10 record marked the program's best since 1968-69 (21-7). This was only the sixth time in history that CU had won 17 games in a single season.
- On Nov. 8, the first game at the new CU Events/Conference Center was played as the Russian National Team defeated the Buffaloes 88-73 in an exhibition in front of 9,679 fans.
- On Dec. 21, the Buffs played Colorado State for the first time in a decade. CU defeated the Rams, 96-82, before a crowd of 7,812, the largest audience of the season.
- On Jan. 30, against Iowa State, CU sank 36-of-39 free throws, including a record-setting 16-of-16 by Jo Jo Hunter, as CU defeated the Cyclones 78-68.
- Craig Austin set a school record for field goal percentage in a season, hitting 116-of-204 shots for a .569 mark. He was an honorable mention among the Big Eight AP and UPI teams.
- Brian Johnson was named to the All-Big Eight Academic team for the second straight year.
- Jo Jo Hunter was named to the Big Eight Conference UPI second team and the AP's third team.
- CU won a then-school-best 13 home games.

SEASON NOTES

- Jacques Tuz earned All-Big Eight honorable mention.
- The 1981-82 had four players average 10 or more points in a season for the first since 1968-69
- On Dec. 8, the Buffs fell to Tennessee in Boulder 64-63, marking the first win by a non-Big Eight team in the CU Events Center in the building's three-year history.
- On Dec. 10, the Buffs' late rally helped propel CU over nationally ranked Wyoming, 75-73.
- On Feb. 17, the Buffs upset Kansas in Boulder, 89-80. Jacques Tuz scored 26 points (8-of-13 from the field; 10-of-11 from the free throw line). He also added 12 rebounds, six assists, five steals and two blocked shots. His performance helped earn him Big Eight Player-of-the-Week honors.
- Tuz led CU in scoring (13.9 ppg.), rebounding (7.5), and field goal percentage (.530).

SEASON NOTES

- Jay Humphries (third nationally in steals) was selected to the Big Eight All-Conference (AP & UPI) first team and an honorable mention All-American. He was also named to the UPI All-Defensive conference team.
- Alex Stivrins was a Big Eight Conference (AP & UPI) second team selection.
- Humphries finished his career with 562 assists and 309 steals, both are first all-time among CU players.
- On Nov. 25, in a season opening 87-77 victory over Rockhurst College, Humphries led the Buffs with 31 points, nine assists, seven rebounds and six steals.
- On March 7, CU's 65-62 win at Iowa State earned the team its second trip to the league's final four in Kansas City. CU became the first team in league history to win twice on the road in league playoffs.
- For the second consecutive season, CU set a new attendance record. In 14 games, CU drew a record 104,545 fans, only the second time in history the Buffs eclipsed the magical 100,000-mark.
- The Buffs posted a 13-2 home mark, second best home record in the Big Eight Conference.
- Stivrins was named to the Big Eight All-Academic first team.
- Randy Downs named to the Big Eight All-Tournament team; he shot a school-record best 58.2 FG%.
- CU tied the school mark for home wins (13).

Randy Downs

SEASON NOTES

- Alex Stivrins was selected to the Big Eight All-Conference (AP & UPI) second team.
- Randy Downs led the Buffs in scoring (16.4 ppg.). He became only the third player in CU history to reach the 1,000-point plateau as a junior.
- Stivrins finished sixth nationally in rebounding (11.7 rpg.) and averaged a double-double (15.7 ppg.).
- Michael Lee was named to the UPI All-Off-The-Bench first team.
- CU enjoyed another fine season at home, as the Buffs posted an 11-4 mark in Boulder, including a 5-2 in league play.
- Stivrins became the seventh player at CU to average a double-double, and CU's first since 1971-72 (Jim Creighton).
- Stivrins was named the Big Eight NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship winner, he also made the Academic All-Conference team for the second straight year.
- From Feb. 7 through Feb. 16, CU won three-straight conference games - all at home (Iowa State, Nebraska, Oklahoma State). It was CU's first three game win streak in conference play in nine years (1976-77).

Matt Bullard

SEASON NOTES

- Matt Bullard was named to UPI's All-Freshman team, as he became only the second player ever to lead CU in scoring as a freshman. He was named an AP & UPI conference honorable mention.
- Bullard's 12.7 ppg. average was the second best ever by a frosh, topped only by Emmett Lewis (14.9 in 1975-76). Bullard also shot school record 60.4 FG%, that ranked second in the conference. Bullard is the fourth CU frosh to average 10+ or points a game.
- On Dec. 11, CU's 78-65 victory over Colorado State marked the 800th win in the program's history.
- On March 1, a 94-86 loss to Missouri gave Colorado the dubious distinction of being the only team in Big Eight history to go winless in league play.
- This was only the second 20-loss season in CU history, as the Buffs also ended the year with a seven-game home losing streak and a nine-game road losing skid.
- Mike Reid was named to the Big Eight All-Academic first team.
- The 1985-86 team had at least three seniors on the roster for the fifth straight year.
- Tom Apke coached the Buffs for four years from 1981-86 (59-81, .421).
- On April 2, Tom Miller was named CU's 14th head basketball coach.

SEASON NOTES

- On Dec. 18, in CU's first ever ESPN appearance, the Buffs defeated Tulsa behind Matt Bullard's 15 points and nine assists.
- On Feb. 14, Bullard's 3-point shot with seven seconds remaining snapped CU's 26-game losing streak against Big Eight opponents, as the Buffaloes edged Iowa State 77-74.
- On Feb. 25, CU outscored Kansas 42-38 in the second half to stun the No. 16 Jayhawks 65-56 at the Coors Events Center.
- Ken Countryman became the first player since 1984-85 to lead the team in both assists (72) and steals (32).
- Matt Bullard scored 464 points ranking as the 11th most for a season in CU history; his 260 rebounds were the ninth highest season total.
- The Buffs' 1-2 scoring punch of Matt Bullard and Scott Wilke turned out to be the third highest scoring combination in CU history. Bullard and Wilke both received All-Big Eight AP & UPI honorable mention honors.

SEASON NOTES

- Scott Wilke was named to the All-Big Eight AP & UPI second team.
- Wilke averaged 21.5 points a game, the first time a CU player averaged that many since Scott Wedman in 1973-4 (20.0 ppg.).
- On Nov. 28, Wilke scored 24 points to lead CU to its 12th consecutive home-opening victory at the Events Center, as the Buffs defeated the Washington 75-61.
- On Jan. 9, CU broke a four-game losing streak as Wilke scored 24 points to lead the Buffs to a 83-72 victory over San Diego. Wilke's second basket of the evening gave him his 1000th career point, which made him the 14th Buff to reach the milestone.
- On Feb. 13, CU won its 500th game in Boulder, as the Buffs beat Oklahoma State 73-71.
- David Kuosman was named to the All-Big Eight Academic team.

SEASON NOTES

- Shaun Vandiver earned Big Eight Conference Newcomer of the Year (AP & UPI) and All-Big Eight second team honors (AP & UPI).
- Vandiver led the Big Eight in rebounding (10.5 rpg.) in all games and conference-only (10.0 rpg.).
- Vandiver became the eighth player at CU to average a double-double (18.2 ppg., 10.5 rpg.). His scoring average was sixth in the Big Eight and his rebounding average was No. 15 nationally.
- On Feb. 1, CU forward Brian Robinson scored 24 points with 12 rebounds, and Brent Vaughan added a career-high 20 points as CU knocked off Oklahoma State, 102-86, to snap a seven-game losing streak and picked up the teams' first conference victory of the season.
- On Feb. 8, Robinson poured in a career high 29 points with 11 rebounds, and Shaun Vandiver added 27 points and 15 rebounds, as CU held off Nebraska 83-80.
- CU forward Brent Vaughn was selected to the All-Big Eight Academic first-team.
- Vandiver was one of two Big Eight players to average a double-double (OU's Stacey King).
- Vandiver scored 509 points ranking ninth on the CU scoring list.

SEASON NOTES

- Shaun Vandiver (22.3 ppg.) and Steve Wise (20.0) finished the season as the Big Eight's No. 1 and 2 scorers, respectively, marking the first time two Buffs have accomplished that.
- Vandiver was selected to the All-Big Eight first team (AP & UPI); named honorable mention All-American.
- Wise earned All-Big Eight honorable mention honors (AP & UPI).
- On March 9-11, CU, seeded last at the conference tourney, pulled off back-to-back upsets over Missouri and Oklahoma State to become the first eighth-seeded team to make it to the championship game of the Big Eight Postseason Tournament.
- Vandiver scored 75 points (sixth-best all-time tourney effort) and grabbed 41 rebounds (tournament record) in CU's three games. He became only the third tournament MVP to come from a losing team.
- Vandiver scored the second-most points (668) in school history. Cliff Meely scored 729 in 1970-71.
- Head coach Tom Miller ended his four-year run (1986-90) with a record of 35-79 (.307).
- On March 29, Joe Harrington was named as CU's 15th head basketball coach.

Shaun Vandiver, Cliff Meely, Stevie Wise

SEASON NOTES

- Shaun Vandiver averaged 21.2 points and 10 rebounds per game, to earn first team All-Big Eight honors (AP & UPI) and a spot on the NIT all-tournament team.
- Vandiver is the first CU player to average a double-double in all three years since Cliff Meely (1968-71).
- Stevie Wise was an All-Big Eight second team selection (AP & UPI).
- The Buffs' win at Iowa State snapped their 56-game regular-season road-losing streak in league play.
- CU ended a 22-year postseason drought earning a berth to the 1991 National Invitation Tournament, finishing third.
- CU won their last game of the season for the first time in 16 seasons.
- The Buffs finished the season with a 19-14 record, their best in 21 seasons.
- The Events/Conference Center, home of the Buffaloes, was renamed the Coors Events Center.

SEASON NOTES

- Donnie Boyce led the team in points (14.9 ppg.), was second in assists (3.1 apg.), third in rebounds (4.8 rpg.); and was selected to the Big Eight All-Freshman team.
- Boyce became the third freshman to lead the team in scoring and first since Matt Bullard (1985-86).
- CU earned the nickname of "Wednesday Warriors" after pulling off three upset defeats of top-ranked teams on successive Wednesdays. During the first three Wednesdays of February, the Buffs surprised No. 22 Oklahoma, No. 2 Oklahoma State, and No. 9 Missouri.
- Poncho Hodges finished No. 16 nationally in blocked shots (73).
- Randy Robinson led the Buffs from the field with a 54.9 FG% tying for 10th at CU.
- Boyce scored 21 points in first game with CU making it the second-best debut since Emmett Lewis (31 pts.) in 1975.
- CU played their way to an 11-4 home record and a .733 winning percentage.

Poncho Hodges

- CU had multiple players receive post-season honors, including All-Big Eight first team (Donnie Boyce), Phillips 66 Academic All-Big Eight Team (Kirk Williams), All-Big Eight Defensive Team (Poncho Hodges), All-Big Eight Most Improved Team (Poncho Hodges).
- Donnie Boyce continued to develop and prove himself as a top-notch player in the Big Eight. Boyce led CU and was second in the Big Eight in points per game (19.1); he also led CU in assists per game (3.6), and was second in rebounds per game (6.2).
- Poncho Hodges (30, 2.1) and Ted Allen (27, 1.9) finished first and second, respectively in the conference blocked shots, marking the first time since 1953 that two teammates ranked one-two in that category.
- Ted Allen was named to the Hoosier Classic All-Tournament Team with a career-best 11 rebounds vs. IU.
- The Buffs began the season with a 5-1 mark after six games, notching the best starting record in the Joe Harrington era.
- For the fourth straight season the Buffaloes finished with an above .500 winning percentage at home.

Ted Allen

SEASON NOTES

- Donnie Boyce garnered All Big-Eight (AP) first team accolades for the second straight year. He led all conference-only scorers with 26.8 ppg. (second in all games, 22.4 ppg.).
- The 22.4 ppg. average was the third highest average by a Buff only behind Cliff Meely (28.0: 1970-71; 23.8: 1968-69).
- Ted Allen was second (all games) and fourth (conference) blocked shots; and Mark Dean was runner-up in games rebounding (9.5 rpg.).
- At the end of his junior year, Boyce ranked among CU's best on the career list: tied for second in steals (179); sixth in scoring (1,514 points); No. 7 in assists (299); and No. 20 in rebounds (474).
- Boyce scored 16 points against Colorado State (Dec. 16) putting him over the 1,000-point career; making him the 17th player in CU school history to reach the 1,000-point plateau.
- CU breezed its way through the Mile High Classic, notching its fourth straight title in the event. Boyce led the way for the Buffaloes, averaging 21 points and 5 rebounds on his way to earning the tournament's most outstanding player award.
- On March 5, in a game against Oklahoma State, Donnie Boyce set a school record for most points in a half with 31. Boyce ended the game with a team season-high 46 points.

Donnie Boyce

SEASON NOTES

- After throwing down a fast break dunk, Donnie Boyce surpassed Cliff Meely (1967-71) to become CU's all-time leading scorer. Boyce would finish his illustrious career with 1,995.
- In Boyce's final season he led the team at 18.5 points, 4.1 assists and 6.5 rebounds per game.
- CU received a bid to the 1995 NIT, only the second postseason invitation in 25 years.
- CU won four in a row from Feb. 22 thru Mar. 4, it's the longest win streak that late in the season since winning five straight Feb. 23-Mar. 15, 1963.
- The Buffs finished the season over .500 for the first time under Coach Joe Harrington.
- The Buffs again won the Mile High Classic in resounding fashion, beating Eastern Washington and Hofstra by a combined total of 39 points. It was the fifth consecutive time the Buffaloes won their home tournament.
- On Jan. 7, the Buffs ended their 16-game losing streak against ranked teams defeating No. 16 Iowa State 71-57. CU forced a school record 31 turnovers.
- On Jan. 17 against Texas-San Antonio, Ted Allen blocked five shots to become CU's all-time leader in blocks.

Chauncey Billups

SEASON NOTES

- Chauncey Billups became the fourth CU freshmen to lead the Buffs in scoring with a school record 17.9 ppg. He would score 31 points in his second career game, the most points by any CU freshman. He's the sixth CU frosh to average 10 or more points at the end of the season.
- Midway through the season, after suffering an 82-80 overtime loss to Southern Utah, head coach Joe Harrington resigned and Ricardo Patton was named interim head coach.
- On Jan. 29, 1996, Ricardo Patton won his first game as CU's head coach, as his Buffs beat Missouri 106-94. The game was televised on ESPN's "Big Monday," and the win was CU's first on ESPN since they upset No. 2 Oklahoma State in 1992.
- Billups earned Big Eight Freshman of the Year and the coaches All-Big Eight Second Team. He scored the most points by freshman (465) and the only CU frosh in history to break the 30-point in a single game (he did four times).
- On Dec. 2, Billups recorded the first ever triple-double by a Buff, and the sixth in Big Eight history with 24 points, 11 rebounds and 11 assists against George Mason.
- On Feb. 7, CU turned in one of its best performances of the year in a 64-63 overtime win at Kansas State. The win marked the first overtime road win in Big Eight play since beating Missouri 81-79 in January of 1973.
- On March 5, Patton was named head coach on a permanent basis, making him CU's 16th head coach.

- The Big Eight Conference adopted Texas, Texas A&M, Texas Tech, and Baylor and became the Big 12 Conference.
- Chauncey Billups was a first team Basketball Times All-American, a Big 12 First Team selection and an AP Second Team All-American. He's the eighth CU All-American (ninth overall honor).
- On Dec. 5, Chauncey Billups surpassed the career 500-point barrier. With his 17-point performance against Texas Arlington, Billups matched Shaun Vandiver as the fastest CU player to reach the 500-point plateau after only 28 games as a Buff.
- On Jan. 11, CU upset No. 20 Texas Tech in Lubbock, 80-78 breaking what was the nation's longest current home-court winning streak (35 games). It was also CU's first road win against a nationally ranked team since 1973. The win improved the Buffs' conference record to 3-0 for the first time since 1968-69.
- With a win over Wofford in February, CU recorded 20 wins for only the second time in program history.
- The Buffaloes were selected to play in the NCAA Tournament for the first time since 1968-69.
- In the first game of the NCAA Tournament against Indiana, Chauncey Billups scored 24 points and became just the 19th player in CU history to record 1,000 points in his career. The win over Indiana was the 22nd of the season, a then-school record.
- At season's end, Chauncey Billups closed the book on his storied collegiate career and declared for the NBA Draft. He was selected third overall by the Boston Celtics.

SEASON NOTES

- CU would cruise through their non-conference schedule, finishing with an 8-4 record, and the ninth consecutive season over .500 against non-conference opponents.
- Kenny Price scored a team season-high 28 points in a conference victory over Texas late in the season. Price drained eight 3-pointers to set a new single-game record.
- Price's eight treys against Texas brought his total to 90 on the season and moved him into first place atop CU's all-time single-season 3-pointers made list.
- On Feb. 16, against No. 4 Kansas, CU drew a season-high attendance of 10,822; it was also the third most attended game of the season, home or away.
- Kenny Price was named the Big 12 Newcomer of the Year.
- Price and Ronnie DeGray were conference honorable mentions.
- Jamahl Mosley was an All-Big 12 Academic First Team selection.

Kenny Price

SEASON NOTES

- Kenny Price set a school single-game record with nine 3-pointers against Texas at the Big 12 Championship. His 97 3-pointers on the season is also a school record.
- Jaquay Walls was named to the All-Big 12 All-Underrated Team as well as earning All-Big 12 Honorable Mention status. Kenny Price was named to the All-Big 12 third team, while ranking third in the conference in points per game.
- Nick Mohr became the seventh CU freshman to average double-digits points (10.6 ppg.) in his first year. He played only 10 games because of a torn ACL.
- With a win over Iowa State (March 4), the Buffs broke a nine-game conference tournament losing streak.
- In March, CU was selected to play in the National Invitational Tournament. It marked the second time in three years under head coach Ricardo Patton that the Buffs qualified for postseason play.

SEASON NOTES

- In the opening game of the season, sophomore Jose Winston tied his career-high with eight steals, the second-highest single-game total in CU history.
- On Jan. 19, CU beat No. 17 Oklahoma 88-80, breaking an 11-game losing streak to the Sooners.
- With a victory in late January over Kansas State, head coach Ricardo Patton moved into sole possession of fourth on the all-time coaching wins list at CU with 68.
- In what many CU fans believe to be the best game at the Coors Events Center, CU came from behind to defeat Iowa State in overtime 102-90. Jaquay Walls scored an NCAA-record 15 points in the overtime on his way to an arena single-game record 42 points.
- The Buffs were once again invited to play in the National Invitational Tournament. They lost to Southern Illinois in the first round, 94-92. The invitation marked the third time in four years that the Buffs had played in a postseason tournament.

SEASON NOTES

- On Nov. 18, in a 91-86 loss to Austin Peay, D.J. Harrison scored 38 points, a season-high and Colorado record for a neutral site game.
- On Nov. 19, Ricardo Patton took sole possession of third place for career wins for a CU basketball coach with 77.
- On Dec. 3, CU scored 119 points in a victory over UT-Arlington with the help of a school-record tying 15 3-pointers.
- On Dec. 6, the Buffs picked up one of their most lopsided road wins ever with a 105-61 victory over St. Mary's. It marked the first time in school history Colorado had scored 100 points in back-to-back games.
- On Jan. 2, in a 91-63 victory over Coppin State, Jose Winston dished out a school-record 15 assists, with no turnovers.
- On Jan. 13, five Buffaloes recorded double digit scoring efforts in CU's most lopsided conference victory in 32 years, as the Buffs routed the visiting Aggies 88-58.
- On Jan. 22, in front of a then-Coors Events Center record 11,363 fans, Jamahl Mosley eclipsed 1,000 career points against No. 5 ranked Kansas State.
- CU finished its season with a 15-15 record (.500), marking the first time in 35 years the Buffs posted three consecutive .500 seasons or better.

SEASON NOTES

- On Nov. 19, the CU men's basketball program claimed its 1,000th victory.
- With a victory over Morris Brown College on Jan. 9, Ricardo Patton improved his all-time non-conference record to 57-22 (.721).
- On Jan. 16, Patton earned his 100th career coaching victory with an exciting last-second home win over Iowa State, 63-61. Stephane Pelle converted a 10-foot fade away with 2.9 seconds remaining.
- On Mar. 6, Stephane Pelle garnered his first Big 12 postseason honor, earning a third team selection by the conference coaches. Pelle was the first Buff in 11 years to average a double-double in a single season (12.8 ppg., 10.8 rpg.).
- In a Big 12 quarterfinal game against Kansas, Stephane Pelle recorded two blocks, moving him to ninth on the all-time list. In that same game, CU gave up a Big 12 tournament record 102 points to the top-ranked Jayhawks.
- David Harrison became the fifth freshman to lead the team in scoring (13.9 ppg.) and eighth frosh to average 10 or more points.
- At the end of the 2001-02 season, Blair Wilson was selected to the third Big 12 all-star team that toured Scandinavia later that summer.

SEASON NOTES

- Colorado reached 20 wins for the third time, and second under Ricardo Patton (1996-97).
- For the first time in school history, CU went undefeated at home in Big 12 play (8-0); with a victory over Nebraska on March 8, CU secured their 14th home win, the most wins at home in any year.
- It was the first season in which CU defeated four ranked teams in the same year. CU defeated No. 6 Kansas 60-59, No. 3 Texas 93-80, No. 22 Missouri 89-68, and No. 20/18 Oklahoma State 68-56.
- David Harrison recorded a pair of triple-doubles: 31 points, 17 rebounds and 10 blocks against Stetson and 20 points, 10 rebounds and 11 blocks vs. Nebraska.
- CU lured their highest home attendance average in 20 years, 8,995 fans.
- For the first time in school history, CU had three players selected as the Phillips 66/Big 12 Players of the Week: Blair Wilson (Feb. 24), Stephane Pelle (Jan. 27), and David Harrison (Nov. 25).
- Michel Morandais earned Al-Big 12 second team honors, while Stephane Pelle made the conference third team.
- Head coach Ricardo Patton led the team to a .500 record or better for the fifth straight year, and for the fourth time in seven years as head coach, he led the team to more than 18 victories.

David Harrison

SEASON NOTES

• CU earned its third NIT berth during Coach Patton's eight years as head coach.

• Harrison and Michel Morandais would be named to the All-Big 12 first and second teams, respectively.

• The Buffs won 10 conference games; the most since recording 11 conference wins in 1996-97, and earned the fourth seed at the Big 12 Tournament in Dallas.

• Morandais became the 21st player in school history to eclipse 1,000 career points. He would finish his career ranked seventh on CU's all-time scoring charts with 1,428 points. • Blair Wilson reached the 1,000-point barrier on Dec. 31 against Richmond. He would leave Boulder ranked 14th on the Buffs' all-time scoring list with 1,253 points. • David Harrison scored his 1,000th point during the 2003-04 campaign amassing 1,317 career points for 11th on CU's all-time list.

• Harrison set Colorado's career record for blocked shots at 225, passing Ted Allen's eight-year old mark of 161 during the game against Utah.

• Wilson set Colorado's career 3-point mark in the Feb. 7 win over Kansas State. In that game, he matched a single-game record with six 3-pointers in one half. He matched his career-best with seven 3-pointers, which he also achieved against the Wildcats on Jan. 1, 2002.

Richard Roby

SEASON NOTES

- Richard Roby (Big 12 honorable mention) became the sixth CU player to lead the team in scoring as a freshman, and ninth frosh overall to average double digit scoring.
- On Dec. 28, Ricardo Patton won his 150th career game, defeating Gardner Webb 97-88.
- Marcus Hall scored CU's last 18 points of the first half and first two points of the second half at Oregon State, topping Donnie Boyce's mark (March 5, 1994) of consecutive points by one player.
- Richard Roby made seven 3-pointers against Texas Tech (Feb. 2) and Kansas State (Feb. 26) to become only the fourth CU player ever to record seven or more treys in two or more games.
- Seeded 11th in the Big 12 Tournament, CU upset Texas, 81-69, to become the first school in Big 12 Tournament history to knock off a No. 6 seed.
- Colorado set a school single-season record with 223 3-pointers made and fell one short of the record for attempts (632). The Buffs made 129 treys against Big 12 opponents, besting the previous school record for 3-pointers made during conference play (114 in 2003-04). CU's 380 three-point attempts during conference play topped a previous mark (297 in 2001-02).
- CU and Oklahoma State combined for 30 3-pointers in Boulder on Jan. 30. The Buffs made a school record 17, while the Cowboys added 13.

SEASON NOTES

- Richard Roby was named to the All-Big 12 First Team. Roby was also named NABC District 12 First Team, Big 12 Player of the Week (Jan. 10-16), Co-Big 12 Player of the Week (Jan. 16-22) and The Sporting News Player of the Week (Jan. 16-22).
- The 2005-06 season was the first time three players made over 50 3-pointers in a season (Roby 63, Osborn 53, Copeland 50).
- The Buffs broke school records in 3-pointers made (240, old: 223) and 3-pointers attempted (701, old: 633).
- CU won at Oklahoma State for the first time since Jan. 12, 1980 (20 games). The Buffaloes notched a road win at Missouri for the first time since 1996-97, which also marked the Buffs second win in Columbia since Jan. 15, 1973 (a span of 32 games).
- The Buffs started Big 12 play with a 5-2 record, a first since 1996-97. The 5-2 start is the 14th time CU started 5-2 or better in league play in 59 years.
- CU earned a NIT berth, their eighth appearance in school history.
- CU was nationally ranked for the first time since the 1996-97 season (USA Today). They were ranked No. 25th in the USA Today/ Coaches' Poll for two straight weeks (Jan. 30-Feb. 5; Feb. 6-12).
- Head Coach Ricardo Patton recorded his 175 career victory when CU defeated Missouri, 78-60 (Feb. 25).

SEASON NOTES

- With eight freshmen on the roster, the 2006-07 team was the youngest in CU's 105-year history.
- CU upset No. 12/14 Oklahoma State in Boulder, marking the fifth straight season CU defeated a nationally ranked opponent at home.
- Richard Roby was named All-Big 12 honorable mention.
- Xavier Silas became the 10th CU player to average double-digits as a freshman.
- Jermyl Jackson-Wilson was named to the Kansas City Star All-Newcomer team.
- Dominique Coleman set a school record for most rebounds (185) in a season by a guard.
- The Buffaloes suffered their most losses in a season (20) since 1988-89 (21). CU's 13 conference losses marked the most by a CU squad since 1985-86 (14).

SEASON NOTES

- Richard Roby became the school's all-time leading scorer (2,001 points). Roby is the third player in school history to lead the team in scoring four consecutive seasons.
- CU shot a season-best 62 percent from the field at Texas A&M (a school second-best .773 from the field in the second half).
- CU's win over Baylor at the Big 12 Championships marked the first time a No. 12 seed defeated a No. 5 seed.
- CU held its opponents to 64.4 points per game compared to an 80.1 average in 2006-07. The 64.4 points per game that the Buffs yielded marked the lowest opponent scoring average in 46 years.
- Nine of CU's losses were by an average of 4.8 points.
- The Buffaloes committed 13.4 turnovers per game-their lowest in 28 years- and the Buffs' 12.9 turnovers per game in conference play was the lowest average by any CU team in the 12-year history of the Big 12.
- In conference play, including the Big 12 Tournament, the Buffaloes lost games by: one point, two points, four points, five points, six points, and seven points.
- CU shot over 50 percent from the field in 11 conference games.

SEASON NOTES

- The Buffaloes youth of freshmen and sophomores attributed 72.3 percent of the team scoring, the highest percentage of any Buffs team since the Big 12 Conference began in 1996-97.
- CU fell short by single-digits 11 times, an average of 4.6 points; and in conference play on eight occasions by a 5.3 point margin. Four of those single-digit setbacks came against NCAA Tournament opponents, Texas (in overtime), at Kansas, at Oklahoma and Texas A&M.
- In two seasons, there have been 20 single-digit losses (15 in Big 12 play).
- All-Big 12 Conference Third Team selection Cory Higgins turned in a successful sophomore campaign that saw him become one of only 13 players nationally to lead or finish second on his team in five major statistical categories (points, rebounds, assists, steals, blocked shots). He also ranked nationally in a trio of categories (steals, FT%, scoring).
- Higgins' 538 points ranked the 13th best single-season mark in team history. It ranks third all-time among CU sophomores and seventh all-time among guards for a season.
- Dwight Thorne II made great strides putting together his best season-to-date recording 12 ppg. He made 48 percent of his shots and led CU from the three-point arc with 45.
- Levi Knutson was an All-Big 12 Academic First Team selection. During the spring 2009 semester, the men's basketball team achieved their highest grade point average on record a 2.926.

Alec Burks

SEASON NOTES

• Alec Burks became CU's first-ever Big 12 Conference Freshman of the Year recipient. Burks also made the Big 12 All-Rookie Team, CollegeInsider.com All-America Freshman Team, 2009-10 Basketball Times' All-Freshman First Team, CU Sports Performers of the Year: Male Freshman of the Year, Sporting News Magazine All-Freshman second team.

• Burks became the first CU freshman to surpass 500 points in a single-season (512). He was fourth nationally of all freshmen in ppg. (17.1) and FG% (53.8), and became only the second CU freshman to lead CU in rebounding (5.0 rpg.). He's also the 11th freshman to average 10 or more points in his initial season.

• Cory Higgins scored 587 points, the most in a season since 1991-92. His 1,391 career points ranks ninth all-time. He led the Big 12-only in steals for the second straight year (2.1).

• CU ranked third nationally in FT% (76.6) and for the first time led the Big 12. CU also ranked 21st nationally in 3-pt. percentage, 26th in FG%, 30th in steals. The 47.3 FG% tied for 10th in school history, was also the highest from any CU team since 1989-90 (47.9). The 409 turnovers, was a team low over 30 games played in a season since the stat was first kept in 1977-78.

• Attendance in eight Big 12 games was the highest ever at the CECC (65,607) with an average of 8,201 ranking second.

SEASON NOTES

- NCAA Tournament (second round) for the first time in nine years (2002-03).
- CU seeded No. 6, won the Pac-12 Tournament winning four games in four days.
- Became the first Pac-12 school to win four games in four days, in addition just the 10th team ever among the six major conferences to win four games en route to the title.
- Won 24 games for the second-straight year. The 48 wins over two seasons is the best two-year span in school history.
- Carlon Brown (15.8 ppg., 4.8 rpg.) named Pac-12 Tournament Most Outstanding Player. Brown & Andre Roberson named to All-Tournament team.
- Seeded No. 11 at the NCAA Tournament, CU upset No. 6 UNLV.
- Roberson set the CU single-season rebounding mark (401) breaking 58-year old mark held by Burdette Haldorson (1954-55).
- Roberson shattered sophomore season record for most rebounds (401) topping old mark of 337 (Cliff Meely, 1968-69).
- Roberson set defensive rebounding mark (290) breaking Shaun Vandiver (1989-90). Roberson was third nationally in rebounding; fifth in double-doubles (20); No. 54 in blocks.
- Dinwiddie (360 pts.) & Booker (317 pts.) became highest scoring frosh pair in CU history (677 pts). Only two with 250-plus points. Dinwiddie became the 12th freshman to average 10 or more points in his initial season.
- Austin Dufault set the school record for most games played in a career (136) & career conference games played (66).
- Dufault and Nate Tomlinson set the school mark for most wins over a four-year career (72-64, .529, 2008-12).

George King

SEASON NOTES

- Colorado reached 20 wins for the ninth time in program history and fifth in six years.
- The Buffaloes made their 14th NCAA Tournament appearance and fourth in the past five seasons.
- Senior Josh Scott was All-Pac-12 First Team and NABC All-District Second Team. He was a finalist for the Kareem Abdul-Jabbar Award.
- Scott was named to the Pac-12 All-Defensive team while Wesley Gordon was given honorable mention to that squad.
- Junior George King was the Pac-12's Most Improved Player of the Year and led the conference in 3-point shooting at 45.6 percent.
- Colorado won 21 games during the regular season, matching the school standard achieved previously by only the 1996-97 and 2013-14 squads. Including postseason play, Colorado's 22 wins tied for the fourth most in one season.
- Colorado led the Pac-12 in free throw percentage (.734), 3-point percentage (.398), overall rebounding (42.1 rpg) and defensive boards (29.0 drpg) while ranking second in rebounding margin (+8.6) and offensive rebounds (13.1 orpg) and fourth in 3-pointers made (7.4 3mpg).
- The Buffaloes won 11 straight games during the nonconference schedule, the fifth longest in team history. Colorado won 11 of its first 12 games, its best start to a season since the 1942 NCAA Final Four squad won their first 14.
- Colorado set new school single-season records for 3-pointers made and 3-point percentage.

SEASON NOTES

- Colorado made its school-record seventh-straight postseason appearance with its 10th all-time trip to the NIT.
- After beginning the Pac-12 season at 0-7, the Buffaloes rallied their way to the postseason with an 8-3 mark to finish the regular season and finished in sole possession of seventh in the league standings (8-10).
- Colorado's 19 wins tied for the 10th most in team history
- Colorado was 3-5 against ranked teams this season, marking the first time with three wins over ranked teams since 2012-13 (4-3 overall).
- Head coach Tad Boyle moved into third on CU's all-time coaching wins list at 149.
- Senior Derrick White was named to the Pac-12's 2017 All-Conference First Team, All-Defensive Team and All-Tournament Team. He was also selected to the USBWA All-District VIII First Team and NABC All-District 20 Second Team.
- White finished the 2016-17 season with 615 points, ranking seventh at Colorado in a single season while also ranking eighth in assists (148), 10th in field goals (205) and 11th in bocks. His 49 blocks are the most by a guard in a season in team history.
- White was selected by the San Antonio Spurs in the first round of the 2017 NBA Draft with the 29th overall pick.

- Colorado won the 2017 Paradise Jam which was relocated to Lynchburg, Va., from the U.S. Virgin Islands due to damage from Hurricanes Irma and Maria.
- Colorado defeated No. 4/6 Arizona State and No. 14/16 Arizona on the same weekend, marking the first time in program history the Buffaloes defeated AP Top 15 teams in back-to-back games. Colorado was named the NCAA Division I Team of the Week by the NABC, NCAA.com and Dick Vitale. Freshman guard McKinley Wright IV was named the Wayman Tisdale Freshman of the Week by the USBWA and the Pac-12 Player of the Week.
- Wright broke Chauncey Billups' freshman season assists record (143 in 1995-96) and his 175 assists rank second overall in one season.
- Wright was named to the 2018 Pac-12 All-Freshman Team while earning honorable mention to the overall All-Pac-12 and All-Defense teams.
- Senior Dominique Collier was named the co-Pac-12 Sixth Man of the Year. Collier was second in the Pac-12 in 3-point shooting during conference play while averaging 8.0 points and 1.6 assists during that span.
- Senior George King was named to the All-Pac-12 Conference Second Team.
- King was selected by the Phoenix Suns in the second round of the 2018 NBA Draft (59th pick overall).

SEASON NOTES

- The 10th 20-win season in team history and sixth under head coach Tad Boyle.
- Colorado's 23 wins tied for the third most in team history and just one away from the school record of 24.
- Colorado led the Pac-12 in rebounding defense and rebounding margin while ranking second in free throw percentage, scoring margin and 3-point defense.
- Colorado won 12 of its final 16 games after opening the conference season at 2-6.
- The Buffaloes recorded double-digit conference wins for the fifth time in eight seasons of the Pac-12 era and the first since 2015-16. Colorado claimed record of .500 or better in conference play (includes Big 12) for the sixth time in nine seasons.
- Colorado's 8-2 run in the final 10 games of the regular season tied for the program's fourth-best in the NCAA Tournament era (since 1938) and the best since 1961-62.
- Colorado made its 11th NIT appearance and second in three seasons. The Buffaloes were the No. 4 seed in one of four eight-team regions and advanced to the quarterfinals.
- Sophomores McKinley Wright IV and Tyler Bey were selected to the All-Pac-12 Conference First Team
- Bey was named the Pac-12 Most Improved Player of the Year.

SEASON NOTES

- The 11th 20-win season in team history and seventh under head coach Tad Boyle.
- Colorado's 21 regular season wins tied for the most in program history.
- Colorado was ranked in the Associated Press Top 25 poll for a school record 13 weeks while appearing in 11 USA Today/Coaches polls. The Buffaloes peaked at No. 15 in the Coaches poll and No. 16 in the AP poll on Feb. 10
- On the Pac-12 charts CU was second in scoring defense, 3-point field goals, rebounding margin, defensive rebounds and rebounding defense, third in rebounding and fourth in scoring margin, 3-point shooting and free throw percentage.
- The Buffaloes were well in line for an NCAA Tournament bid before the season was shut down on March 12 due to the coronavirus pandemic. Hours after CU's Pac-12 Tournament loss to WSU, the Pac-12 made the decision to cancel the remainder of its tournament and by mid-day on March 12, the NCAA had announced the cancellation of all its winter and spring sport championships.
- Junior Tyler Bey was named the 2019-20 Pac-12 Defensive Player of the Year and was an All-Pac-12 Second Team selection.
- Junior McKinley Wright IV was a 2019-20 All-Pac-12 First Team pick and was named to the league's All-Defensive team along with Bey.

SEASON NOTES

- The 12th 20-win season in team history and eighth under head coach Tad Boyle. The 23 wins tie for the third most in one season.
- CU's 14 conference wins are the most in program history, surpassing the 13 by the 1961-62 Big Eight Conference championship team (13-1).
- Colorado made its 15th appearance in the NCAA Tournament and first since 2016. The Buffaloes advanced to the second round for the first time since 2012. Colorado was a No. 5 seed, its highest in the NCAA seeding era.
- Colorado finished second in the nation in free throw shooting at 81.9 percent, setting a school and Pac-12 record. The percentage is the third-best all-time in NCAA Division I.
- Along with owning the Pac-12's top spot in free throw percentage, the Buffaloes took conference stats titles in scoring defense (63.8 ppg) and rebounding defense (30.6 rpg).
- Senior McKinley Wright IV broke CU's career assists mark (683) and became the first player in Pac-12 history to record 1,800 points, 600 rebounds and 600 assists.
- Wright earned honorable mention to the AP All-America team while taking home All-Pac-12 honors for the third-straight season.
- Evan Battey earned honorable mention to the All-Pac-12 Team, Eli Parquet was named to the Pac-12 All-Defensive Team and Jabari Walker was named to the Pac-12 All-Freshman team.

SEASON NOTES

- The 13th 20-win season in team history and ninth under head coach Tad Boyle.
- Colorado enjoyed its first winning conference road record (6-4) since 1963-64 and its six conference road wins are the program's ost since 1961-62.
- Colorado led the Pac-12 in 3-point accuracy both overall, at 36.6 percent, and in league-only games at 38.9 percent
- Colorado made its 12th National Invitation Tournament (NIT) appearance and first since 2019.
- Colorado completed a four-year cycle with 88 wins, the second most in any four-year span in team history. Evan Battey was the only one of the four-year seniors (Elijah Parquet and Benan Ersek the others) to have been on the floor for all 88 games, giving him the title of playing in the most wins in team history.
- Battey was an All-Pac-12 Second Team pick and a Senior CLASS All-American. He led the Pac-12 in 3-point shooting both overall (.488) and in conference play (.541).
- Battey became the 12th Colorado player to record 1,300 points and 600 rebounds.
- Jabari Walker was an All-Pac-12 First Team selection and earned All-District honors from the NABC and USBWA. Walker was selected by the Portland Trail Blazers with the 57th pick in the 2022 NBA Draft.
- KJ Simpson was named to the Pac-12 All-Freshman Team.

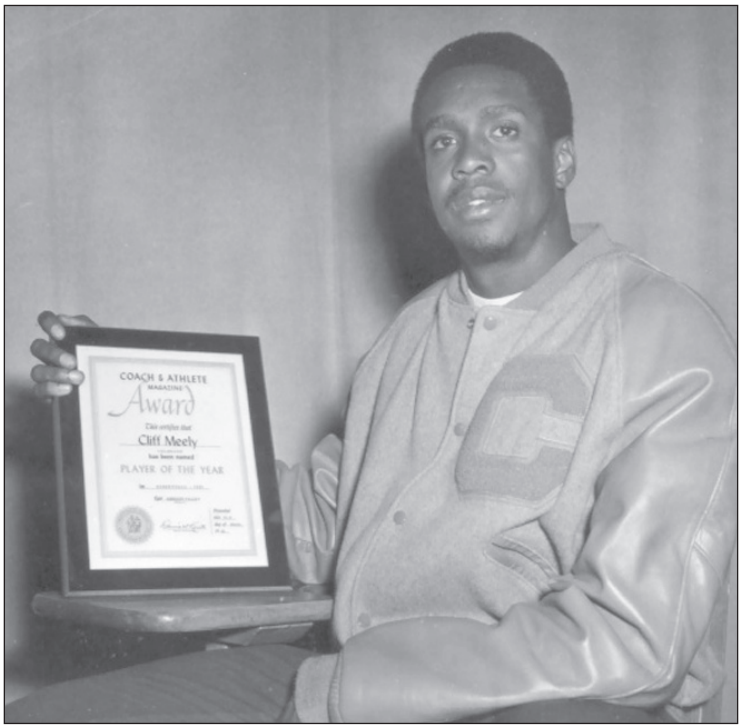
Chauncey Billups holds the freshman record averaging 17.9 points per game.



The late-great Cliff Meely holds Colorado's all-time single-game and single-season scoring records. In only three seasons, Meely tallied the second most double-doubles with 54.

McKinley Wright IV is the only player in Pac-12 Conference history to record 1,800 points, 600 rebounds and 600 assists.

FRESHMAN SCORING (Points Per Game)

When the NCAA allowed freshman to compete in varsity football and basketball on January 8, 1972, there's only been seven CU men's basketball players to lead the team in scoring their freshman year.

Emmett Lewis: 15.0, 1975-76
Matt Bullard: 12.7, 1985-86
Donnie Boyce: 14.9, 1991-92
Chauncey Billups: 17.9, 1995-96
David Harrison: 13.9, 2001-02
Richard Roby: 16.0, 2004-05
McKinley Wright IV: 14.2, 2017-18

Three freshman have led CU in scoring all four years:

Emmett Lewis: 15.0, 1975-76
Donnie Boyce: 14.9, 1991-92
Richard Roby: 16.0, 2004-05

Only 14 players since 1972 have averaged 10 or more points in their freshman year:

Emmett Lewis: 15.0, 1975-76
Dave Logan: 12.4, 1972-73
Randy Downs: 11.9, 1982-83
Matt Bullard: 12.7, 1985-86
Donnie Boyce: 14.9, 1991-92
Chauncey Billups: 17.9, 1995-96
Nick Mohr: 10.6, 1998-99
David Harrison: 13.9, 2001-02
Richard Roby: 16.0, 2004-05
Xavier Silas: 12.0, 2006-07
Alec Burks: 17.1, 2009-10
Spencer Dinwiddie: 10.0, 2011-12
Josh Scott: 10.2, 2012-13
McKinley Wright IV: 14.2, 2017-18

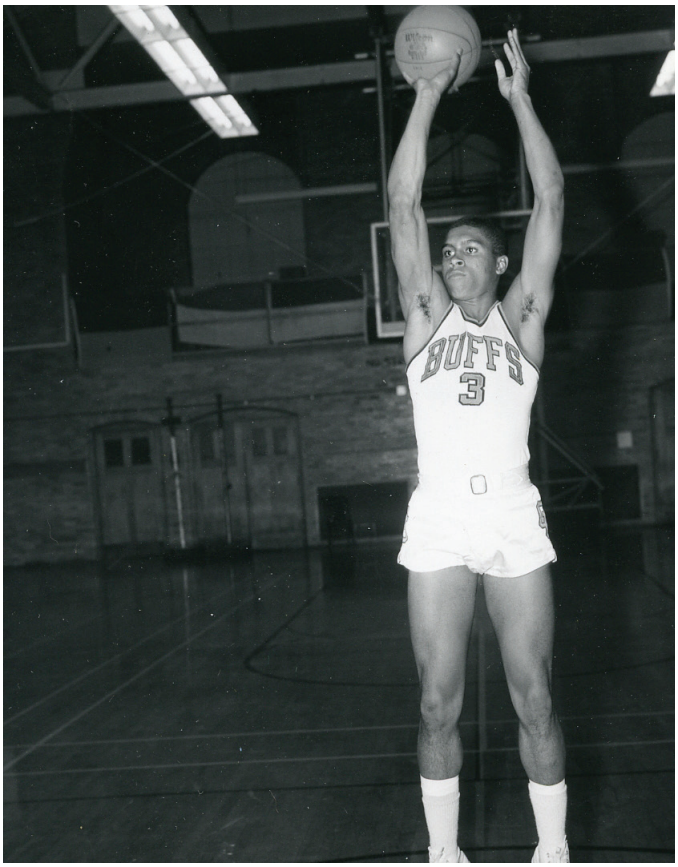
*-conference game



Since 1967-68, there have been three players to average at least 18 points per game in a season, only to finish second overall that year. Chuck Williams in 1967-68 (18.0 ppg.); Stevie Wise did it twice, 1989-90 (20.0) and 1990-91 (19.8).

Cory Higgins became the first player to score over 2,000 points, 500 rebounds, 300 assists, and 150 steals during his four-year collegiate career.

Jim Davis is one of seven players in school history to grab at least 860 career rebounds. Of the seven players, only three, including himself only played three years (Meely, Vandiver).

In his three years at CU, Andre Roberson was second nationally in rebounding during the 2012-13 season, and third nationally in 2011-12. He led the Pac-12 Conference on the glass (all games and conference-only) in each of those two seasons.

CONSECUTIVE FGS MADE: Then-sophomore Andre Roberson shot 66.7 percent during the Pac-12 Tournament (20-of-30). Roberson made 11 straight field goal attempts dating back to the game-winning put-back against Oregon in the quarterfinals. His streak tied for the third longest, and just one off the school record of 12 held by teammates House Guest and Shaun Vandiver one year apart. Roberson's 11-straight are the most on the road or at a neutral site. His 6-of-6 performance from the field against Cal, which included two 3-pointers, was a career-best percentage.
12—Shaun Vandiver vs. Illinois State in Boulder, Dec. 4, 1989.
12—Rodell "House" Guest vs. Central Connecticut State (5) & Eastern Michigan (7) in Boulder, Dec. 7-8, 1990.
11—Andre Roberson vs. Oregon (1), California (6) & Arizona (4) in Los Angeles, Mar. 8-10, 2012.
11—Jim Creighton vs. Iowa State in Boulder, Feb. 14, 1972.

Rodell Guest made 12 consecutive field goals tying for the most ever at CU.

David Harrison tops the list as CU's single-season and career leader in FG%.
